SCHOOL OF LANGUAGE, CULTURE, AND SOCIETY

Anthropology

Anthropology offers courses to meet the needs of students interested in a comprehensive understanding of human societies and cultures past and present. Prehistoric, historic, ethnographic, and linguistic study provides the basis for understanding how a variety of societies solve common problems. The anthropology curriculum provides a cross-cultural perspective, a sound basis for later professional or graduate education.

An anthropology degree enables students to pursue a broad range of jobs requiring a liberal arts background, for example, education, human and governmental services, law, business, media, and medicine. It prepares them especially well for work situations that emphasize cross-cultural awareness, international contacts, and management of cultural resources.

Anthropology bridges sciences and the humanities and develops critical thinking, communication skills, facility with group processes, and the ability to work independently. It can help students succeed in an increasingly interconnected and complex world.

Ethnic Studies

Ethnic studies is an established academic discipline traditionally defined by a concentration on the experiences and concerns of the four major ethnic minority groups historically under-represented in United States political and institutional life and in university curricula. Ethnic studies faculty bring a variety of methodological approaches to bear on the exploration of issues affecting African American, Asian American, Chicano/a-Latino/a, and American Indian and Alaskan Native communities. A degree in ethnic studies provides a sound basis for future work in graduate or professional programs and is of value to students interested in careers in a broad range of jobs requiring a liberal arts background and an understanding of race, ethnicity, and cultural competency.

World Languages

World languages and cultures (WLC) offers major programs leading to a BA degree in French, German, or Spanish, as well as minor programs in Asian Languages and Cultures, French, German, and Spanish for undergraduate students with majors in other disciplines. The major and minor programs provide students with the opportunity to develop language skills and to raise their understanding of and appreciation for world literatures and cultures.

Proficiency in a world language and knowledge of another culture can enhance career possibilities in fields that range from business, library work, and government service to park service, oceanography, agriculture, and forestry. Students often find it possible to combine languages with another major such as business administration, psychology, political science, sociology, and professional training to prepare for an exciting, internationally oriented career.

Study of a language other than English can help students improve communication skills in English, become more linguistically aware, develop analytical skills, and communicate on an equal basis with non-English-speaking people. Through language courses, students can gain a global perspective, more fully understand different cultures and value systems, and enhance their general knowledge of world development.

An undergraduate academic major (French, German, or Spanish) is required as a prerequisite to the Fifth-Year Teacher Education Program designed to prepare students for licensure and/or other graduate programs in education.

WLC cooperates with institutions of the Oregon University System and with other Northwest institutions of higher education in administering overseas study centers at Beijing and Fujian, China; Quito, Ecuador; Angers, Lyon, and Poitiers, France; Baden-Württemberg and Cologne, Germany; Tokyo, Japan; Seoul, Korea; Puebla, Mexico; Santander, Oviedo, and Segovia, Spain. Students may also study at different institutions in Russia and in the former Soviet republics. See the International Programs section of this catalog.

Liberal Studies

The BA degree in Liberal Studies offers area studies that allow students to use language and culture courses taken in the School of Language, Culture, and Society to fulfill core course requirements. Students majoring in liberal studies can elect to complete their undergraduate degree using prestructured programs in the following areas: Asian studies, Chinese studies, European studies, Japanese studies, and Russian studies [suspended].

A minimum of 45 credits of course work in the concentration area is required to complete the Liberal Studies major.

Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies

The Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Program at OSU relies on multi-disciplinary approaches to the study of gender and sexuality, particularly as they intersect with race, ethnicity, class, culture, religion, nation, and ability. Our program emphasizes academic excellence, the use of feminist and anti-racist pedagogies, and scholarship that contributes to social change and justice. We are committed to challenging all forms of oppression, and we center queer, transnational, and women of color feminisms in our curriculum. We encourage creative, innovative, and collaborative frameworks of study, and we work to meet the needs of women who wish to pursue careers in academia, as well as those who may be interested in community organizing, feminist nonprofit work, and/or other professional areas. The Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Program offers an undergraduate major, minor, and certificate, as well as the MA in Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies and the opportunity to declare Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies as a primary and/or secondary area in the MAIS. We also offer undergraduate and graduate minors in Queer Studies.

Certificate Programs

The School of Language, Culture, and Society participates in the Languages in Culture, Latin American Affairs and Russian Studies certificate programs. These interdisciplinary programs are designed for students who wish to combine their school major with a broad knowledge of Latin American or Russian affairs, past and present, or who wish to explore how languages and cultures interact. Core courses are typically taken in language, in the humanities and social sciences.

Graduate Programs

The School of Language, Culture, and Society offers master’s of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees in Applied Anthropology, College
Student Services Administration; Contemporary Hispanic Studies; and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. Graduate minors are offered in Anthropology; Applied Anthropology; Contemporary Hispanic Studies; Ethnic Studies; Food in Culture and Social Justice; Foreign Languages and Literatures; and Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies.

Students may earn the Master of Arts in Interdisciplinary Studies (MAIS) degree in the areas of anthropology, applied anthropology, ethnic studies, foreign languages and literatures, French, German, Spanish, and women studies. Typically, candidates who select French, German or Spanish as one of their primary areas complete graduate course work in language, linguistics, literature and culture studies. To be admitted to a world language component of the MAIS degree, students must meet the Graduate School’s general entrance requirements and obtain the consent of a graduate faculty member of the School of Language, Culture, and Society who agrees to serve as the field advisor. A maximum of 6 graduate credits completed at an overseas study center may be used to satisfy requirements for any one of three fields of the MAIS degree.

ANTH 110. *INTRODUCTION TO CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Located at the intersection of the humanities and the sciences, anthropology strives for a holistic understanding of the human condition. This course introduces students to the basic concepts, theories and methods of anthropology, including its four main sub-fields: archaeology, biological anthropology, cultural anthropology, and linguistic anthropology. The course is driven by fundamental questions, including: What is culture? How do anthropologists study human populations, both past and present? How can this field help us better understand contemporary human problems? (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst

ANTH 110. *INTRODUCTION TO CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Investigates cultural adaptation and change in different environmental and historical contexts. Compares the means by which cultures solve common human problems. Shows similarities and differences throughout the world in systems of values, family, religion, economics, and politics. Students are asked to consider future cultural conditions. Uses a video format. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

ANTH 159. *LANGUAGE, RACE AND RACISM IN THE US: AN INTRODUCTION. (4 Credits)
Students in this course will unpack language, race and racism—as well as the intersections between those ideas—as cornerstones to understanding identity and society as inherently socially constructed notions. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as ES 159 and WLC 159.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Equivalent to: ES 159, WLC 159

ANTH 199. SPECIAL STUDIES. (1-3 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 3 credits.

ANTH 208. *WESTERN CULTURE STUDY ABROAD. (3 Credits)
Overseas study of the history and contemporary form of important features of Western culture. Based on at least 10 weeks of studying abroad. CROSSTLISTED as LING 208. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: LING 208

ANTH 209. *CULTURAL DIVERSITY STUDY ABROAD. (3 Credits)
Overseas study of non-Western cultures. Based on at least 10 weeks of studying abroad. CROSSTLISTED as LING 209. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: LING 209

ANTH 210. *COMPARATIVE CULTURES. (3 Credits)
Compares the cultures originating in Asia, Africa, and precolonial Australia, Oceania, and North and South America. Introduces method and theory for comparative cultural analysis from historical, ethnographic, and indigenous viewpoints. Considers the contribution and influences of minority and ethnic groups on the mainstream culture in nation states. Summarizes the characteristics of cultures in the major world culture areas. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity

ANTH 230. TIME TRAVELERS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the historical developments of modern archaeology. The often romanticized public image of archaeology will be contrasted with scientific reality. The nature of archaeological data, modern field methods, analytical techniques, and theoretical background will be reviewed in order to illustrate how the unwritten record of human cultural behavior is deciphered. (SS)
Attributes: LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

ANTH 240. INTRODUCTION TO BIOLOGICAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (3 Credits)
An investigation of the origin of modern people (Homo sapiens) in a historical context; review of key discoveries and current research on the relationships between humans and other primates; exploration of contrasting views of humanity. (SS)
Attributes: LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

ANTH 251. *LANGUAGE IN THE USA. (3 Credits)
Examines the linguistic aspects of ethnic, class, and gender differences in the United States of America, with a focus on language attitudes. Uses both oral and written materials and quantitative and qualitative approaches. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Equivalent to: ANTH 251H
ANTH 251H. *LANGUAGE IN THE USA. (3 Credits)
Examines the linguistic aspects of ethnic, class, and gender differences in the United States of America, with a focus on language attitudes. Uses both oral and written materials and quantitative and qualitative approaches. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 251

ANTH 261. *FOOD IN AMERICAN CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Fosters understanding of the meanings of foods and foodways in American culture. Uses food as a lens to explore general topic areas such as work, family, ecology, and identity. Critically examines core issues that shape and have shaped American culture. (Bacc Core Course) (SS)
CROSSLISTED as FCSJ 261.
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core
Equivalent to: FCSJ 261

ANTH 284. *PRIMATE ADAPTATION AND EVOLUTION. (4 Credits)
Introduces students to our closest living relatives, the primates. Uses theories and concepts from evolutionary biology to explore the diverse anatomical and behavioral adaptations of different primate species. Also explores the relationships between anatomy, behavior, and ecology on the individual and community level. Provides an evolutionary and ecological framework with which to view primates (including humans) and all living organisms. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPBS – Core, Pers, Biological Science

ANTH 311. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-NORTH AMERICA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDC – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 311H

ANTH 311H. *PEOPLES WORLD-NORTH AMERICA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDC – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 311

ANTH 312. *PEOPLES WORLD-EUROPE. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: ANTH 312H

ANTH 312H. *PEOPLES WORLD-EUROPE. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDC – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 314

ANTH 314. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-MIDDLE EAST. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDC – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 314H

ANTH 315. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-AFRICA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDC – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 315H
ANTH 315H. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-AFRICA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 315

ANTH 316. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-SOUTH AND SOUTHEAST ASIA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

ANTH 317. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-PACIFIC. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

ANTH 318. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-CHINA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 318H

ANTH 318H. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-CHINA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Prerequisites: ANTH 110 with D- or better or ANTH 210 with D- or better
Equivalent to: ANTH 318

ANTH 319. *PEOPLES OF THE WORLD-JAPAN AND KOREA. (3 Credits)
Survey of peoples around the world. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

ANTH 330. *EVOLUTION OF PEOPLE, TECHNOLOGY, AND SOCIETY. (3 Credits)
Overview of the evolution and prehistory of the human species, including the development and interaction of human biology, technology, and society. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

ANTH 331. MESOAMERICAN PREHISTORY. (3 Credits)
Explores the archaeology and prehistory of Mesoamerica from Paleo-Indian times through the Olmec, Maya, Zapotec, and Aztec cultures to the Spanish Conquest. Themes include the transition to settled agriculture, emergence of social inequality and political authority, the role of the natural environment, and the rich cultural heritage of Mesoamerican civilizations.

ANTH 332. ARCHAEOLOGICAL INFERENCE. (4 Credits)
In this course on archaeological inference, or the thought process of forming our understanding about the past, we will take a guided tour of the main stages of archaeological research design and try our hand at making archaeological inferences. We begin by learning about the basic conceptual problems in the study of the past, then, we engage with the theories and models used to address them, and finally we apply this knowledge in hands-on analytical activities during the laboratory sessions with archaeological artifacts. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better

ANTH 345. *BIOLOGICAL AND CULTURAL CONSTRUCTIONS OF RACE. (3 Credits)
The social, cultural, and historical context of human biological diversity in the United States. Students become acquainted with primary resources relating to biological diversity within the modern human species and will offer a critical perspective on racial/ethnic categorization of that diversity. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination

ANTH 350. LANGUAGE, CULTURE AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
An examination of the communicative functions of language and the role of language in the construction of social relations. Covers the origins, structure, and diversity of language. Explores the relationships between language and thought and the use of linguistic models in the study of culture. (SS)
Attributes: LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

ANTH 352. *ANTHROPOLOGY, HEALTH, AND ENVIRONMENT. (3 Credits)
Major threats to human health are increasingly linked to global environmental changes. This course engages medical and environmental anthropology research to critically explore the values, meanings and ideologies associated with ecological and public health issues in given localities throughout the world. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

ANTH 361. *FOOD JUSTICE. (4 Credits)
Contemporary food systems are examined from a cultural and social justice perspective. The human right to food as recognized by the United Nations serves as the justice grounding point. Impediments to realizing the right to food will be examined in national and international contexts. (Bacc Core Course) (SS) CROSSLISTED as FCSJ 361.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core
Equivalent to: FCSJ 361
ANTH 370. *ANTHROPOLOGICAL THEORIES. (4 Credits)
Foundational theories, approaches, and concepts are explored and used as a means to understanding how anthropologists past and present use theory. Students compare and contrast prominent theories, analyze current events and situations, and write a major research paper using anthropological sources.
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Prerequisites: ANTH 110 with D- or better
ANTH 371. RESEARCH METHODS IN CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Designed for anthropology majors, this course involves students in learning about and practicing anthropological research methods. Students practice ethnographic fieldwork by conducting participant observation and interviews, writing fieldnotes, analyzing real-life material for cultural values and power differences, and writing up a research paper.
Prerequisites: ANTH 110 with D- or better
ANTH 372. *SOCIAL NETWORKS AND SOCIETY. (3 Credits)
Introduces the foundational theory and concepts of social network analysis (SNA) and explores practical applications of SNA in environmental science, public health, business, politics, education, and public life. Also explores how the Internet, social media, and other information and communication technologies are affecting social networks and culture in the 21st century. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
ANTH 373. APPROACHES TO SOCIAL JUSTICE. (3 Credits)
Students study various ways of thinking about social justice and evaluate these in case studies and current events. As a basis for the Social Justice minor, students write a research paper on the theoretical and practical aspects of a social justice issue. CROSSLISTED as ES 373, WGSS 373, WLC 373.
Equivalent to: ES 373, WGSS 373, WLC 373
ANTH 374. *ANTHROPOLOGY AND GLOBAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
An overview of historical and contemporary issues in gender health with emphasis on politics, globalization, and the complex outcomes of interventions in diverse cultural settings. Students will articulate a critical and evidence-based perspective on complex global health issues. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: ANTH 374H
ANTH 374H. *ANTHROPOLOGY AND GLOBAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
An overview of historical and contemporary issues in gender health with emphasis on politics, globalization, and the complex outcomes of interventions in diverse cultural settings. Students will articulate a critical and evidence-based perspective on complex global health issues. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 374
ANTH 380. *CULTURES IN CONFLICT. (3 Credits)
Communication and commerce draw East and West, industrial and pre-industrial, state and stateless societies together. Beliefs and values clash and complement one another. Explores the processes of intercultural contact, cross-cultural interaction, and the consequences of global penetration of European-American culture. Evaluates theoretical explanations for cultural persistence and change. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core
Equivalent to: ANTH 380H
ANTH 380H. *CULTURES IN CONFLICT. (3 Credits)
Communication and commerce draw East and West, industrial and pre-industrial, state and stateless societies together. Beliefs and values clash and complement one another. Explores the processes of intercultural contact, cross-cultural interaction, and the consequences of global penetration of European-American culture. Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 383
ANTH 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: ANTH 399H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 399H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 399
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 401. RESEARCH. (1-6 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-6 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 403. THESIS. (1-6 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-6 Credits)
Equivalent to: ANTH 405H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 405H. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-6 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 405
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 406. PROJECTS. (1-6 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ANTH 407H. SEMINAR. (1-3 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 407
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 409. PRACTICUM. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Opportunities for students at junior and first-term senior class levels to take advantage of off-campus work experiences during regular term sessions for academic credit. Allows students to broaden and deepen their understanding and appreciation of the value of their academic activity. Internship is supervised and evaluated by individual faculty members.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 420. WORLD CULTURES--TOPICS. (4 Credits)
In-depth study of world cultures. Early settlement, cultural history, ecological adaptations, population, family and gender roles, religious ideology, political and economic systems, modern social changes, and contemporary issues pertaining to indigenous peoples in culturally distinct regions of the world. Emphasis is placed on dispelling stereotypic images, both past and present. Includes three hours of lecture and one hour of seminar. Cannot be taken if student is taking or has completed the 300-level course in the same geographical area. Graded P/N.

ANTH 421. ANALYSIS OF LITHIC TECHNOLOGIES. (4 Credits)
Covers the principles, procedures, and purpose of archaeological lithic analysis and the anthropological interpretation of lithic technologies used by prehistoric hunter-gatherers.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better

ANTH 422. HISTORIC MATERIALS ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the analytical and descriptive methods and techniques used by historical archeologists to study late 18th through 20th century machine and handmade objects.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better

ANTH 423. METHOD AND THEORY IN HISTORICAL ARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Examines the origins and growth of historical archaeology in the Americas. Students will critically learn about the linkages between history and anthropology and explore the theoretical underpinnings of historical archaeology.

ANTH 424. SETTLEMENT ARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Explores the evolution of the theoretical underpinnings and field methods of settlement archaeology as well as the refinement of the meaning of

ANTH 425. CERAMIC ANALYSIS IN ARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Provides fundamental practical skills and theoretical perspectives for the analysis and interpretation of archaeological ceramics. On the practical side, students will learn both basic and advanced techniques for describing and analyzing pottery assemblages encountered by field archaeologists. On the theoretical side, the course will explore the diversity of research questions in which pottery can play a critical role, as well as the various ways in which ceramic data can be interpreted. Lec/ lab.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better

ANTH 430. TOPICS IN ARCHAEOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in archaeology and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better or ANTH 330 with D- or better
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

ANTH 432. *DOMESTICATION, URBANIZATION, AND THE RISE OF CIVILIZATION. (4 Credits)
Reviews the development of culture in the Old and New Worlds with special emphasis placed on the when, where, and how of early domestication of plants and animals. Examines the process of urbanization. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
Equivalent to: ANTH 432H

ANTH 433. FIRST AMERICANS, LAST FRONTIERS. (4 Credits)
The initial human occupation of the Western Hemisphere is explored with particular emphasis on northeast Siberian cultural progenitors, routes and timing of entry into the Americas, population dispersal theory, the paleoenvironmental record, and human cultural responses to the conditions of the last frontier prior to 8,000 years ago.

ANTH 434. NORTH AMERICA AFTER THE ICE AGE. (4 Credits)
The development of regional hunting and gathering adaptive strategies in North America from 8000 B.C. to the historic period are examined against a backdrop of changing climate, natural disasters, population growth, and human invention.

ANTH 435. CULTURAL RESOURCES: POLICY AND PROCEDURES. (4 Credits)
Description and analysis of requirements and demands of cultural resource management. Historical development of cultural resource laws and appropriate field techniques and strategies to implement legislation.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better

ANTH 436. NORTHWEST PREHISTORY. (4 Credits)
Materials and theories relating to prehistoric aboriginal cultures of the Northwest. Evaluation of different theories on the origins and adaptations of prehistoric populations to ecological zones within the Northwest; comparisons of the cultural development through prehistoric times of the Columbia Plateau, intermontane and coastal zones of Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia. Special emphasis on the theories of origin, subsequent development of prehistoric cultures in the Northwest, and the present circumstances of archaeology in the Northwest.

ANTH 437. GEOARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Provides an introduction to geoarchaeological concepts and methods. Emphasis will be placed on the use of geoscientific perspectives and datasets to solve archaeological problems.
Prerequisites: ANTH 230 with D- or better

ANTH 438. ARCHAEOLOGY FIELD SCHOOL. (10-12 Credits)
Practical skills, archaeological methods and techniques including use of equipment, site surveying and mapping techniques, site excavation strategies, record keeping, field cataloging, report writing, and field camp management.

ANTH 439. ARCHAEOLOGY OF FORAGERS. (4 Credits)
Provides an in-depth review of the concepts and approaches employed to study cultural aspects of past foraging peoples using archaeological research methods and theoretical perspectives.
ANTH 440. TOPICS IN PHYSICAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in physical anthropology and their applications to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term.
Prerequisites: ANTH 240 with D- or better or ANTH 330 with D- or better
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 441. HUMAN EVOLUTION. (4 Credits)
The evolutionary history of the primate order as it is represented by fossils of the Paleocene through the Holocene. Special attention given to development of the Hominoids in the Miocene, the Australopithecines in the Pliocene, and members of the genus Homo in the Pleistocene. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: (ANTH 110 with D- or better or ANTH 210 with D- or better) and ANTH 240 (D-)

ANTH 442. HUMAN ADAPTABILITY. (4 Credits)
Prerequisites: ANTH 240 with D- or better

ANTH 443. HUMAN OSTEOLOGY LAB. (4 Credits)
Identification and analysis of human skeletal materials in an archaeological context.
Prerequisites: ANTH 240 with D- or better

ANTH 444. NUTRITIONAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Examines human nutrition and food systems from comparative, biocultural and evolutionary perspectives. Long-term evolutionary processes are examined within an ecological framework as significant factors affecting human biology and susceptibility to diet-related disease. An emphasis on anthropological methods in nutritional assessment including anthropometry, palaeodietary assessment and nutritional participant-observation will provide students with the tools to evaluate human diet from skeletal and fossil collections through contemporary cross-cultural populations. CROSSLISTED as FCSJ 444.
Prerequisites: ANTH 240 with C or better or ANTH 330 with C or better
Equivalent to: FCSJ 444

ANTH 446. FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Concepts and practices in the use of anthropology in legal matters and police cases, especially involving identification of human remains.
Prerequisites: ANTH 443 with D- or better

ANTH 447. *ARCTIC PERSPECTIVES ON GLOBAL PROBLEMS. (4 Credits)
The Arctic is on the frontline of today's most pressing global problems. This course uses Arctic perspectives to explore issues affecting us all: climate change, environmental conservation, traditional ecological knowledge, development, energy extraction, indigenous rights, and indigenous media. Using insights from Arctic perspectives, we will plot pathways toward potential solutions. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: ANTH 447H

ANTH 447H. *ARCTIC PERSPECTIVES ON GLOBAL PROBLEMS. (4 Credits)
The Arctic is on the frontline of today's most pressing global problems. This course uses Arctic perspectives to explore issues affecting us all: climate change, environmental conservation, traditional ecological knowledge, development, energy extraction, indigenous rights, and indigenous media. Using insights from Arctic perspectives, we will plot pathways toward potential solutions. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ANTH 447

ANTH 448. EVOLUTIONARY MEDICINE. (4 Credits)
Evolutionary medicine is founded on the idea that many challenges to human health can be accounted for by discordances between contemporary environments and those under which humans evolved. This course examines ways anthropologists may help to reframe questions about diseases within long-term, evolutionary contexts.
Prerequisites: (ANTH 110 with D- or better or ANTH 210 with D- or better) and (ANTH 240 [D] or ANTH 330 [D-])

ANTH 449. BIOCULTURAL PERSPECTIVES ON HUMAN REPRODUCTION. (4 Credits)
Examines human reproduction and sexuality from the perspective of the New Biocultural Synthesis, a theoretical approach in anthropology that examines the interface of evolved biological, sociocultural and political-economic factors that interact to produce complex human behaviors and biology. Topics are presented from a life-history perspective where questions related to human reproduction and evolutionary history are examined across the lifespan from mating and conception through adulthood and menopause. Lec/lab.

ANTH 450. TOPICS IN LINGUISTIC ANTHROPOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in the study of culture and communication and their application to special fields of knowledge. Topics vary from term to term.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 452. FOLKLORE AND EXPRESSIVE CULTURE. (4 Credits)
The study of folklore/popular culture in its social and historical context. Examines content, structure, communicative potential, and performative aspects of various forms of oral and written expression. Includes familiarization with the analysis of myths, legends, tall tales, proverbs, riddles, and play languages. (FA)
Attributes: LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core

ANTH 453. COMMUNITY HEALTH FIELD SCHOOL. (3-12 Credits)
Meets the growing need for international experiences for students in medical anthropology; international public health; and women, gender and sexuality studies. The field school is offered over a three- to seven-week period during the summer term. In-country time is flexible and can be adjusted depending on program requirements and financial constraints. Provides an intensive cross-cultural field experience in San Juan, Puerto Rico, that is premised on a model of community-engaged, service learning and applied, emancipatory research.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

ANTH 455. REPRODUCTIVE JUSTICE: A SERVICE LEARNING COURSE. (4 Credits)
Reproductive Justice is a service-learning course that aims to bridge theory and practice in reproductive health and social justice by developing connections between the university campus and members of the local community.

ANTH 459. LANGUAGE, RACE AND RACISM IN THE U.S.: ADVANCED STUDY. (4 Credits)
Students in this course will unpack language, race and racism—as well as the intersections between those ideas—as cornerstones to understanding identity and society as inherently socially constructed ideas. The goal of this course is to better understand how racism is produced and reproduced in talk and text (this will include symbols and signs), especially in the context of the denial of racism. Our course will specifically focus on the language of racism, and, more specifically, types of discourse that construct Whiteness as dominant over Color. CROSSLISTED as ES 459/ES 559, WLC 459/WLC 559.
Equivalent to: ES 459, WLC 459
ANTH 460. ETHNOGRAPHIC FIELD SCHOOL. (6 Credits)
Involves an intensive field experience, learning and developing practical skills for operating socially and culturally in another culture. Students engage in anthropological and mixed research topics, methods, and analysis, such as research ethics, research design, participant observation, ethnographic interviewing, community mapping, qualitative and quantitative data analysis.

ANTH 461. NEUROANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
The emerging interdisciplinary field of neuroanthropology combines anthropological understandings of human biological and cultural variation with recent findings in neuroscience. Key topics include socialization and enculturation, addiction, ritual, depression, and psychiatric disorders.
Prerequisites: ANTH 240 with C- or better or ANTH 345 with C- or better or ANTH 383 with C- or better

ANTH 463. ANTHROPOLOGICAL RESEARCH: PROFESSIONAL AND ETHICAL CONDUCT. (4 Credits)
Examines the history and scope of professional and ethical guidelines in anthropology; critically evaluate major issues involving ethics, confidentiality, and anonymity that academic and professional anthropologists face during their careers.

ANTH 465. POPULAR CULTURE: AN ANTHROPOLOGICAL PERSPECTIVE. (4 Credits)
Introduces some of the debates and issues swirling around analyses of late twentieth-, early twenty-first century popular/mass/public/mediated/commercial culture. Learning about its pervasive forms, its origins and effects, how we are situated in it, and how it situates us is vital to understanding the changes that characterize our postmodern world.

ANTH 466. *RURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Concentrates on study of the socio-cultural dynamics in rural communities as they develop in national and global contexts of political and economic change. Includes anthropological readings on rural issues in domestic and international contexts and a research paper on a contemporary rural issue. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

ANTH 468. ANTHROPOLOGY OF CHILDHOOD. (4 Credits)
Ethnographies of the organization of children's lives in different cultural contexts are combined with readings on the conceptual and methodological genealogies that have constructed children as research subjects in anthropology.

ANTH 469. ENERGY IN CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE. (4 Credits)
Examines historical and current trends in energy around the globe. Course themes include the role of energy in economic development, cultural innovation in energy production, social problems that arise from energy shortages or the uneven distribution of energy resources and social and cultural changes required as societies attempt to reduce their dependence on fossil fuels.
Prerequisites: ANTH 110 with D- or better or ANTH 210 with D- or better

ANTH 470. TOPICS IN CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (1-16 Credits)
Covers recent advances in cultural anthropology and their applications to the field. Topics vary from term to term.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 471. CASH, CLASS AND CULTURE: HUNTER-GATHERERS TO CAPITALISM. (4 Credits)
Students explore the cultural and social effects of capitalism in the contemporary world within the larger question of how economics and society intersect and change over time. Special emphases are put on food and work, but students explore the linkages of global forces and local life in a variety of ways.

ANTH 472. CONTEMPORARY INDIAN ISSUES. (4 Credits)
Examines the background of Indian treaties and reservations with discussions of present issues such as health care, education, the Indian Child Welfare Act, fishing rights, and religious freedom. Issues are discussed in class with considerable class participation and some role playing.

ANTH 473. *GENDER, ETHNICITY, AND CULTURE. (4 Credits)
Study of the practices and ideologies of gender as they intersect with those of ethnicity, race, class, and culture. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

ANTH 474. CROSS-CULTURAL HEALTH AND HEALING. (4 Credits)
A comprehensive overview of current issues in global health with particular emphasis on social, cultural, and behavioral interventions. Explores issues of health and development in the international context, focusing on such issues as inequality, structural adjustment, economic development, and community-based approaches to health care, specific cultural beliefs and practices, and the influence of people's perceptions of health, illness, and healing.

ANTH 475. ANTHROPOLOGY IN PRACTICE. (4 Credits)
Capstone course for Anthropology majors. Discusses the use of anthropological skills and methods to solve real-world problems. Addresses professional opportunities for anthropologists; provides career development opportunities; and assesses learning outcomes for Anthropology majors.

ANTH 476. CROSS-CULTURAL HEALTH AND HEALING. (4 Credits)
Examines past and present interactions between humans and their environments. Emphasizes the concept of system and process of human adaptation.

ANTH 477. ECOLOGICAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Focuses on the multiple aspects of population movements around the globe. Investigates the history of recent human migration; current theories, trends and policies; as well as issues of immigrant incorporation and anti-immigrant politics.

ANTH 478. *ANTHROPOLOGY OF TOURISM. (4 Credits)
Tourism is among the world's largest industries. The anthropology of tourism seeks to understand the relationships between the industry and the other cultural productions. Students explore the cultural practices and impacts of tourism in relation to both host and guest communities, and travel as cultural practice. Course is taught online and on Corvallis campus. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

ANTH 479. ANTHROPOLOGY OF MIGRATION. (4 Credits)
Focuses on the multiple aspects of population movements around the globe. Investigates the history of recent human migration; current theories, trends and policies; as well as issues of immigrant incorporation and anti-immigrant politics.

ANTH 480. TOPICS IN APPLIED ANTHROPOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in applied anthropology and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 481. *NATURAL RESOURCES AND COMMUNITY VALUES. (3 Credits)
Investigates relations between human communities and the values of community members. Resource issues integrate concepts from social science, economics, and ecology. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
ANTH 482. *ANTHROPOLOGY OF INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT. (4 Credits)
Examines the ideological and theoretical bases of world assistance programs and their effects on different sectors and classes, including women. Causes of world hunger in terms of agronomic, mainstream economic and radical economic paradigms are developed and contrasted. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: AG 482

ANTH 483. ADVANCED MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
An overview of anthropological studies of the health of human communities from a biological and behavioral perspective. Topics include prehistory of disease, cultural perspectives on causation of disease and approaches to healing; anthropological approach to international health issues; and case studies.
Prerequisites: (ANTH 110 with D- or better or ANTH 210 with D- or better) and (ANTH 240 [D-] or ANTH 330 [D-])

ANTH 484. *WEALTH AND POVERTY. (3 Credits)
Summarizes the distribution of wealth observed cross-culturally and through time. Determines the relation between wealth distribution and economic productivity. Shows the impact of industrialization and economic wealth distribution in Western civilization and cross-culturally. Evaluates how cultural practices affect wealth distribution in Western and non-Western societies. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

ANTH 485. CAPSTONE IN SOCIAL JUSTICE. (2 Credits)
Working with an advisor from the Social Justice minor, students conduct research to synthesize and extend analysis of a particular social justice issue, building on three previous papers or projects. Results are presented in a 10-15 page paper and a public poster, presentation or website. CROSSLISTED as ES 485, WGSS 485, WLC 485.
Prerequisites: (ANTH 373 with D- or better or ES 373 with D- or better or WGSS 373 with D- or better or WLC 373 with D- or better) and (ANTH 410 [D-] or ES 410 [D-] or WGSS 410 [D-] or WLC 410 [D-])
Equivalent to: ES 485, WGSS 485, WLC 485
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

ANTH 486. ANTHROPOLOGY OF FOOD. (4 Credits)
The role of food in human cultures, both past and present. Includes discussion of different food procurement styles, social movements and the political economy of food. Looks at the symbolic aspects of food as well as its relationship with the environment. CROSSLISTED as FCSJ 486.
Equivalent to: FCSJ 486

ANTH 487. LANGUAGE IN GLOBAL CONTEXT. (4 Credits)
Deals with practical uses of linguistics in the global political arena. Explores use of official vs. unofficial languages, language standardization, the preservation of dying languages; problems in learning first and second languages, and the relevance of linguistic knowledge to education and cross-cultural communication.
Prerequisites: ANTH 251 with D- or better or ANTH 350 with D- or better

ANTH 490. TOPICS IN METHODOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in anthropological methodologies and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 491. ARCHAEOLOGICAL LABORATORY METHODS. (1-3 Credits)
Provides information on the basics of archaeological laboratory work. Students learn the day-to-day operations of a lab, how to classify and catalog artifacts, and how to do artifact analysis, research hypothesis.
ANTH 519. BIOLOGIES OF POVERTY. (4 Credits)
A readings-based, discussion seminar on the applications of biological and biocultural anthropological theory to questions of embodiment and poverty. In it we will explore the ways key theoretical and methodological developments over the past two decades enable biocultural anthropologists to measure and explain the ways poverty and inequality become embedded beneath our skin—that is, the ways culture, belief, difference, power and discrimination are written on our bodies, and thus contribute to inequities in health outcomes across populations.

ANTH 521. ANALYSIS OF LITHIC TECHNOLOGIES. (4 Credits)
Covers the principles, procedures, and purpose of archaeological lithic analysis and the anthropological interpretation of lithic technologies used by prehistoric hunter-gatherers.

ANTH 522. HISTORIC MATERIALS ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the analytical and descriptive methods and techniques used by historical archaeologists to study late 18th through 20th century machine and handmade objects.

ANTH 523. METHOD AND THEORY IN HISTORICAL ARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Examines the origins and growth of historical archaeology in the Americas. Students will critically learn about the linkages with history and anthropology and explore the theoretical underpinnings of historical archaeology.

ANTH 524. SETTLEMENT ARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Explores the evolution of the theoretical underpinnings and field methods of settlement archaeology as well as the refinement of the meaning of .

ANTH 525. CERAMIC ANALYSIS IN ARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Provides fundamental practical skills and theoretical perspectives for the analysis and interpretation of archaeological ceramics. On the practical side, students will learn both basic and advanced techniques for describing and analyzing pottery assemblages encountered by field archaeologists. On the theoretical side, the course will explore the diversity of research questions in which pottery can play a critical role, as well as the various ways in which ceramic data can be interpreted. Lec/ lab.

ANTH 530. TOPICS IN ARCHAEOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in archaeology and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 531. ARCHAEOLOGICAL THEORY. (4 Credits)
Historical development of archaeological field techniques and theoretical concepts with an emphasis on modern method and theory in North American archaeology.

ANTH 533. FIRST AMERICANS, LAST FRONTIERS. (4 Credits)
The initial human occupation of the Western Hemisphere is explored with particular emphasis on northeast Siberian cultural progenitors, routes and timing of entry into the Americas, population dispersal theory, the paleoenvironmental record, and human cultural responses to the conditions of the last frontier prior to 8,000 years ago.

ANTH 534. NORTH AMERICA AFTER THE ICE AGE. (4 Credits)
The development of regional hunting and gathering adaptive strategies in North America from 8000 B.C. to the historic period are examined against a backdrop of changing climate, natural disasters, population growth, and human invention.

ANTH 535. CULTURAL RESOURCES: POLICY AND PROCEDURES. (4 Credits)
Description and analysis of requirements and demands of cultural resource management. Historical development of cultural resource laws and appropriate field techniques and strategies to implement legislation.

ANTH 536. NORTHWEST PREHISTORY. (4 Credits)
Materials and theories relating to prehistoric aboriginal cultures of the Northwest. Evaluation of different theories on the origins and adaptations of prehistoric populations to ecological zones within the Northwest; comparisons of the cultural development through prehistoric times of the Columbia Plateau, intermontane and coastal zones of Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia. Special emphasis on the theories of origin, subsequent development of prehistoric cultures in the Northwest, and the present circumstances of archaeology in the Northwest.

ANTH 537. GEOARCHAEOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Provides an introduction to geoarchaeological concepts and methods. Emphasis will be placed on the use of geoscientific perspectives and datasets to solve archaeological problems.

ANTH 538. ARCHAEOLOGY FIELD SCHOOL. (1-10 Credits)
Practical skills, archaeological methods and techniques including use of equipment, site surveying and mapping techniques, site excavation strategies, record keeping, field cataloging, report writing, and field camp management.

ANTH 539. ARCHAEOLOGY OF FORAGERS. (4 Credits)
Provides an in-depth review of the concepts and approaches employed to study cultural aspects of past foraging peoples using archaeological research methods and theoretical perspectives.

ANTH 540. TOPICS IN PHYSICAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
Recent advances in physical anthropology and their applications to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 541. HUMAN EVOLUTION. (4 Credits)
The evolutionary history of the primate order as it is represented by fossils of the Paleocene through the Holocene. Special attention given to development of the Hominoids in the Miocene, the Australopithecines in the Pliocene, and members of the genus Homo in the Pleistocene. Lec/ lab.

ANTH 542. HUMAN ADAPTABILITY. (4 Credits)
Overview of human biology and its various sub fields, applications of human biology in areas of nutrition, health, growth, adaptation, and demography. Understanding adaptive variations among populations and individuals in responses to environment, disease, and nutritional stress.

ANTH 543. HUMAN OSTEOLOGY LAB. (4 Credits)
Identification and analysis of human skeletal materials in an archaeological context.

ANTH 544. NUTRITIONAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Examines human nutrition and food systems from comparative, biocultural and evolutionary perspectives. Long-term evolutionary processes are examined within an ecological framework as significant factors affecting human biology and susceptibility to diet-related disease. An emphasis on anthropological methods in nutritional assessment including anthropometry, paleodietary assessment and nutritional participant-observation will provide students with the tools to evaluate human diet from skeletal and fossil collections through contemporary cross-cultural populations. CROSSTO: FCSJ 544.

</table>
ANTH 566. RURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Concentrates on study of socio-cultural dynamics in rural communities as they develop in national and global contexts of political and economic change. Includes anthropological readings on rural issues in domestic and international contexts and a research paper on a contemporary rural issue.

ANTH 567. AGRI-FOOD MOVEMENTS. (4 Credits)
Investigates the origins and contemporary status of producer and consumer food movements including, but not limited to, organic, agricultural labor movements, animal welfare, vegetarian and vegan movements, farmers’ markets, and permaculture. CROSSLISTED as FCSJ 567.
Equivalent to: FCSJ 567

ANTH 568. ANTHROPOLOGY OF CHILDHOOD. (4 Credits)
Ethnographies of the organization of children’s lives in different cultural contexts are combined with readings on the conceptual and methodological genealogies that have constructed children as research subjects in anthropology.

ANTH 569. ENERGY IN CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE. (4 Credits)
Examines historical and current trends in energy around the globe. Course themes include the role of energy in economic development, cultural innovation in energy production, social problems that arise from energy shortages or the uneven distribution of energy resources and social and cultural changes required as societies attempt to reduce their dependence on fossil fuels.

ANTH 570. TOPICS IN CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY. (1-16 Credits)
Covers recent advances in cultural anthropology and their applications to the field. Topics vary from term to term. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ANTH 571. CASH, CLASS AND CULTURE: HUNTER-GATHERERS TO CAPITALISM. (4 Credits)
Students explore the cultural and social effects of capitalism in the contemporary world within the larger question of how economics and society intersect and change over time. Special emphases are put on food and work, but students explore the linkages of global forces and local life in a variety of ways.

ANTH 572. CONTEMPORARY INDIAN ISSUES. (4 Credits)
Examines the background of Indian treaties and reservations with discussions of present issues such as health care, education, the Indian Child Welfare Act, fishing rights, and religious freedom. Issues are discussed in class with considerable class participation and some role playing.

ANTH 573. GENDER, ETHNICITY, AND CULTURE. (4 Credits)
Study of the practices and ideologies of gender as they intersect with those of ethnicity, race, class, and culture.

ANTH 574. CROSS-CULTURAL HEALTH AND HEALING. (4 Credits)
A comprehensive overview of current issues in global health with particular emphasis on social, cultural, and behavioral interventions. Explores issues of health and development in the international context, focusing on such issues as inequality, structural adjustment, economic development, and community-based approaches to health care, specific cultural beliefs and practices, and the influences of people’s perceptions of health, illness, and healing.

ANTH 575. THEORY OF CULTURE. (4 Credits)
Core ideas in the discipline of anthropology. Examination of the contributions to anthropological method and theory of the major schools of thought in the history of anthropology.

ANTH 576. ADVANCED ANTHROPOLOGICAL THEORY SEMINAR. (4 Credits)
Investigates theories used by current anthropologists to explicate issues of concern in a world of movement, fragmentation, global-local interactions, individuation via state and media unequal power relations, and neoliberal agendas. Students will participate in discussions, essays and a paper that links these theories to their research topics for theses or dissertations.

Equivalent to: ES 355

ES 357. *FARMWORKER JUSTICE MOVEMENTS. (4 Credits)
Justice movements for farmworkers have a long and storied past in the annals of US history. This course begins with the 1960s Chicano civil rights era struggles for social justice. Focus on the varied strategies of four farmworker justice movements: United Farm Workers, Farm Labor Organizing Committee, Pineros y Campesinos Unidos Noroeste, and the Coalition of Immokalee Workers. The course is structured around the question of the movement and its various articulations. Course covers central themes and strategies that comprise the core of farmworker movements but is designed to allow students to explore other articulations they find relevant. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination

ES 361. (RE)FRAMING RACE THROUGH FILM PRODUCTION. (4 Credits)
A critical engagement of ways race and ethnicity are treated in nonfiction short film as students produce their own short film as a means of challenging dominant racial representations and narratives. Requires a basic understanding of ways that notions about race and ethnicity combine with ideologies about gender, sexuality, ability, class, etc. to perpetuate unjust systems and institutions. Prior filmmaking experience is welcome but not required. CROSSLISTED as QS 361, WGSS 361, WLC 361.
Equivalent to: QS 361, WGSS 361, WLC 361

ES 373. APPROACHES TO SOCIAL JUSTICE. (3 Credits)
Students study various ways of thinking about social justice and evaluate these in case studies and current events. As a basis for the Social Justice minor, students write a research paper on the theoretical and practical aspects of a social justice issue. CROSSLISTED as ANTH 373, WGSS 373, WLC 373.
Equivalent to: ANTH 373, WGSS 373, WLC 373

ES 375. *ARTS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. (4 Credits)
Explores concepts of structural inequality, difference, power, and discrimination through a critical survey of arts activism. Students will think critically about artwork and artists which address a number of social issues in the United States, including race, ethnicity, class, gender, sexuality, immigration, and indigeneity. CROSSLISTED as QS 375, WGSS 375.

ES 458. RACIAL PATTERNS OF URBANIZATION. (4 Credits)
This interdisciplinary course will examine the linkages between race and patterns of urbanization. It will examine how ideologies about race, gender, and class have set the themes of debate and discussion about urbanization in both theoretical and popular discourses.

ES 459. LANGUAGE, RACE AND RACISM IN THE U.S.: ADVANCED STUDY. (4 Credits)
Students in this course will unpack language, race and racism–as well as the intersections between those ideas– as cornerstones to understanding identity and society as inherently socially constructed ideas. The goal of this course is to better understand how racism is produced and reproduced in talk and text (this will include symbols and signs), especially in the context of the denial of racism. Our course will specifically focus on the language of racism, and, more specifically, types of discourse that construct Whiteness as dominant over Color.

Equivalent to:
- ANTH 459/ANTH 559, WLC 459/WLC 559

ES 460. ETHNICITY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. (4 Credits)
Seminar examines inequities and social justice issues in contemporary U.S. society, particularly dimensions of race and ethnicity in our public policies and practices impacting communities in areas such as housing, poverty, employment, public health, education, law enforcement, and the environment.

ES 461. RACISM AND THE PRISON INDUSTRIAL COMPLEX. (4 Credits)
The prison industrial/punishment complex in the late 20th and early 21st centuries has become a growth industry with the privatization of prisons, and mass incarceration of mostly people-of-color. This course examines the history and growth of this industry and the implications that it has on this democracy.

ES 464. FOOD AND ETHNIC IDENTITY: DECOLONIZING OUR FOOD AND BODY. (3 Credits)
This interdisciplinary and comparative course will examine the relationship between food and identity. Food, from its production to consumption, is a powerful symbol of social and cultural meaning. As an expression of identity and subjectivity, food also marks borders between humans and non-humans, plants and animals, nature and culture, tradition and modernity, etc. CROSSLISTED as FCSJ 464. ES 472. INDIGENOUS TWO-SPIRIT AND QUEER STUDIES. (4 Credits)
"Two-spirit" refers to North American indigenous genders outside of European male/female binaries. Two-spirit communities argue for decolonization as a central political struggle, calling all people to unlearn settler colonial gender/sexuality on Native land. This course addresses indigenous two-spirit/GLBTQ issues through theory, literature, activism, and art. CROSSLISTED as QS 472, WGSS 472.
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Equivalent to: QS 472, WGSS 472

ES 477. QUEER/TRANS PEOPLE OF COLOR ARTS AND ACTIVISM. (4 Credits)
LGBTQ people of color often engage struggles for social justice through artistic movements. This course will focus on arts by LGBTQ people of color and the way these artistic movements contribute to activism that interrupts interlocking systems of oppression. CROSSLISTED as QS 477/
QS 577, WGSS 477/WGSS 577.
Equivalent to: QS 477, WGSS 477

ES 483. CUBAN CULTURE, POLITICS AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
One of two courses that comprise the Cuba Study Abroad Program. It introduces students to Cuban culture, politics (and particularly Cuba-U.S. relations during and after the Revolution) and arts via a combination of lectures/lessons led by invited specialists in their fields, readings, films and student activities. Students will learn about a variety of topics including migration, agriculture, health care, education, economics, religion/spirituality, gender, race, and the arts (literature, music and other performance). Given the interdisciplinary approach to this course, students will also be able to focus on other topics of interest to them/their program of study. CROSSLISTED as PS 483 and WLC 483.
Equivalent to: PS 483, WLC 483

ES 485. CAPSTONE IN SOCIAL JUSTICE. (2 Credits)
Working with an advisor from the Social Justice minor, students conduct research to synthesize and extend analysis of a particular social justice issue, building on three previous papers or projects. Results are presented in a 10-15 page paper and a public poster, presentation or website. CROSSLISTED as ANTH 485, WGSS 485, WLC 485.
Prerequisites: (ANTH 373 with D- or better or ES 373 with D- or better or WGSS 373 with D- or better or WLC 373 with D- or better) and (ANTH 410 [D-] or ES 410 [D-] or WGSS 410 [D-] or WLC 410 [D-]).
