Provides tools to understand and critically assess the health care delivery system, its components, and the challenges created by its structure. The health care system will be considered from the perspective of several main players [e.g., patients, hospitals, doctors, health plans]. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst

H 220. INTRODUCTION TO HEALTH DATA ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the application of biostatistics and probability to the health sciences. Topics include quantitative analysis and inference, statistical methods in the biosciences, and quantitative study to evaluate and control health problems.

H 225. *SOCIAL AND INDIVIDUAL HEALTH DETERMINANTS. (4 Credits)
Overview of the macro (social/system/environmental) and micro (individual) contributors to premature disease, disability and population health. Selected behavioral theories supporting health risks and strategies for the prevention of premature disease/disability and the promotion of health. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst

H 250. INTRODUCTION TO HEALTH CARE MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Participants will learn key principles, practices and personalities of health care management. The content is broadly applicable to health care enterprises of every kind: public health organizations, physician practices and clinics, hospitals and health systems, agencies and service organizations, for-profit firms, not-for-profit enterprises, etc.
Prerequisites: H 210 (may be taken concurrently) with C- or better

H 309. PRACTICUM IN HEALTH CARE SERVICES. (3-6 Credits)
Supervised work experience in a health care service setting or health-related agency or program. Weekly progress reports and post-experience summary report and evaluation will be expected. Preplanned with instructor approval. Open to health care administration majors. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

H 310. HEALTH FIELD EXPERIENCES. (3-6 Credits)
Introductory field experience in a health or health-related worksite. Graded P/N.
Prerequisites: H 210 with C- or better
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

H 312. *HIV/AIDS AND STIS IN MODERN SOCIETY. (3 Credits)
Fundamental principles relating to etiology, nature, prevention, and control of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases in contemporary society; emphasis on social, psychological, legal, economic, and ethical issues surrounding these diseases. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

H 319. INTRODUCTION TO HEALTH POLICY. (3 Credits)
Describe the policy development process, including problem conceptualization, agenda setting, role of interest groups and public opinion, analysis of alternatives and selection of policy alternative.
Prerequisites: H 210 with C- or better and PS 201 [C-]

H 320. INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN DISEASE. (3 Credits)
Fundamental principles relating to etiology, nature, prevention, and control of communicable and noncommunicable diseases in human populations. Special emphasis on disease prevention and health promotion in the high risk diseases of modern, industrialized society.

H 333. *GLOBAL PUBLIC HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the field of global health, its history, methods, and key principles; understanding global health inequities through case studies; overview of major global health prevention programs. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst

H 344. FOUNDATIONS OF ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Introductory course examining environmentally-linked disease, and health effects associated with toxic substances, food quality, pesticides, air, water, and noise pollution, and solid/hazardous wastes.

H 349. PEER HELPER SKILLS DEVELOPMENT. (3 Credits)
Prepares the student for an active role as a peer helper in alcohol and drug abuse prevention and health education. Course work will include: drug, alcohol, addiction and other related health issues, basic listening and communication skills, conflict resolution, crisis recognition and referral. A major component will be affective learning situations designed to promote self-awareness and personal growth.

H 364. DRUGS, SOCIETY AND HUMAN BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Drug use and abuse; theories of addiction; basic principles of drug action regarding the use of sedative and stimulative compounds; alcohol; opiates; hallucinogens; designer drugs; cocaine; and over-the-counter products. Particular emphasis on the role of the individual's value orientation, decision-making, and self-responsibility in treatment and educational approaches to prevention.
Prerequisites: PSY 201 with C- or better or PSY 202 with C- or better
Equivalent to: H 364H

H 364H. DRUGS, SOCIETY AND HUMAN BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Drug use and abuse; theories of addiction; basic principles of drug action regarding the use of sedative and stimulative compounds; alcohol; opiates; hallucinogens; designer drugs; cocaine; and over-the-counter products. Particular emphasis on the role of the individual's value orientation.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Prerequisites: PSY 201 with C- or better or PSY 202 with C- or better
Equivalent to: H 364
H 385. SAFETY AND HEALTH STANDARDS AND LAWS. (3 Credits)
Emphasis on the Occupational Safety and Health Act; study includes the scope and duties under the act, enforcement, and adjudication procedures and OSHA litigation; components of Oregon-OSHA.

H 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: H 399H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 399H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: H 399
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 401. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 403. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 407. SEMINAR. (2 Credits)
Seminar to prepare students for their internship in public health. Focus is on professionalism, leadership skills, identifying strengths, and transitioning from college to graduate school or the working world.
Equivalent to: H 407H

H 407H. SEMINAR. (2 Credits)
Seminar to prepare students for their internship in public health. Focus is on professionalism, leadership skills, identifying strengths, and transitioning from college to graduate school or the working world.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: H 407

H 408. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
PREREQ: Departmental approval required.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 409. PRACTICUM. (1-6 Credits)
Supervised work experience in a public health or health care administration setting. Open to majors in public health. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-12 Credits)
Directed field experience with participation in a community, worksite, or health agency program. Experience is individually arranged to meet student needs. Graded P/N.
Prerequisites: H 407 with C- or better
This course is repeatable for 24 credits.

H 418. PUBLIC HEALTH ETHICS AND ISSUES. (3 Credits)
Current ethical issues in public health, including gender and ethnicity in employment, pharmaceutical controls, product liability, advertising, and export of high technology.

H 421. MENTAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Examination of social, governmental, legal and individual mental health issues. Brief overview of some major mental disorders.
Prerequisites: H 225 with C- or better and H 320 [C-]

H 422. HEALTH, AGING AND CONTROL OF CHRONIC DISEASES. (4 Credits)
Epidemiology of the major chronic diseases, risk factors, potential methods of prevention/intervention, ethical issues, and efficacy of current methods of prevention and control. Emphasis on adult populations and public health services, policies, and programs at the local, state, and federal levels designed to promote healthy aging.

H 425. FOUNDATIONS OF EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits) Measures of disease frequency; measures of effect; association and causation; sources of inaccuracy; experimental and observational study designs. Lec/rec.
Prerequisites: H 220 with C- or better or ST 201 with C- or better or ST 314 with C- or better or ST 351 with C- or better

H 431. HEALTH CARE MARKETING. (3 Credits)
Principles, elements and methods of marketing health care services. Role of the consumer, governing body, administration and medical staff as well as impact of professional ethics.

H 432. ECONOMIC ISSUES IN HEALTH AND MEDICAL CARE. (3 Credits)
Application of economic principles to the health care field: the demand for medical care and insurance, health care suppliers, health care markets.
Prerequisites: (ECON 201 with C- or better or ECON 201H with C- or better) and H 210 [C-]

H 434. *HEALTH CARE LAW AND REGULATION. (3 Credits)
Legal aspects of health care delivery; tort law and its applications; professional liability and liability insurance; laws relative to health care institutions, cost controls, antitrust and access. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Prerequisites: H 210 with C or better and H 250 [C-] and WR 222 [C-]

H 436. ADVANCED TOPICS IN HEALTH CARE MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Covers how health services are governed and organized; how health care organizations assess and adapt to change; constraints/opportunities in shaping organizational performance; leadership; strategic decision-making and the use of evidence-based management in health care.
Prerequisites: H 210 with C- or better and H 250 [C-]

H 445. *OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Current and historical topics in the area of occupational health, with particular emphasis on the types of materials that produce human health effects; clinical and epidemiologic data used to assess the public health importance of occupational pollutants and to evaluate control strategies.
(Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society

H 448. PUBLIC HEALTH TOXICOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the concepts and principles of toxicology as they apply to environmental and occupational health.
Prerequisites: H 344 with C- or better

H 449. MASS MEDIA AND HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Designed to examine the effects of mass media on population health, from the negative impact of advertising of cigarettes, alcohol and junk food, to the (hopefully) positive impact of public-health campaigns.
Prerequisites: H 225 with C- or better and H 320 [C-]
H 457. FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT OF HEALTH CARE ORGANIZATIONS. (3 Credits)
Utilization of standard financial tools needed to manage the capital resources of health care organizations. Includes funding capital projects, product costing, budgeting methods, capital formation and investment strategies.
Prerequisites: BA 215 with C- or better and H 210 [C-] and H 250 [C-]
H 458. REIMBURSEMENT MECHANISMS. (3 Credits)
Introduces and analyzes the different types of healthcare reimbursement methodologies used in the U.S. health care system.
Prerequisites: H 210 with C- or better
H 461. SEXUALITY: A HEALTH SCIENCE PERSPECTIVE. (3 Credits)
Exploration of the meaning of sexuality from a variety of contemporary health science perspectives; aspects of sex and sexuality fundamental to total health; issues central to the health educator role examined.
H 465. *PUBLIC HEALTH AND WOMEN: SOCIAL AND POLICY ISSUES. (3 Credits)
Public health approach to the identification of women's health needs in the United States and in other countries as it relates to the intersection of race, ethnicity, social class, sexual orientation, age, and ability. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
H 467. LONG-TERM CARE ALTERNATIVES. (3 Credits)
Overview of the long-term care alternatives. Comparisons of nursing homes with community based facilities; adult day care centers, respite to hospice facilities, social HMOs and other services; cost, quality of life and practicality are addressed.
H 468. FINANCING AND ADMINISTRATION OF LONG-TERM CARE. (3 Credits)
Examines the financing and administration of long term care. Emphasis is on a system-wide overview and specific application to nursing facility management.
H 474. PUBLIC HEALTH AND VIOLENCE IN SOCIETY. (3 Credits)
Examination of violence as a major public health issue. Historical, social, environmental, economic, behavioral and psychological aspects of assaultive violence, spousal abuse, rape and sexual assault, child abuse, child sexual abuse, suicide, the effects of the media on violence, drug abuse and violence, and related public health problems in contemporary American society. Emphasis on health and the efficacy of current efforts aimed at ameliorating these problems and potential for alternative public health models for prevention and intervention.
H 476. PLANNING AND EVALUATING HEALTH PROMOTION PROGRAMS. (4 Credits)
A systematic approach to planning, implementing and evaluating health promotion programs in a variety of health related settings. Students will be writing a series of drafts to effectively develop a health promotion program plan. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Prerequisites: H 225 with C- or better and H 320 [C-]
H 477. DIETARY INTERVENTIONS FOR PUBLIC HEALTH. (3 Credits)
A public health perspective on the practice of population-based dietary intervention. Examination of relevant theories, research, and practice that pertain to health promoters/educators.
Prerequisites: NUTR 225 with C- or better
H 480. UNDERGRADUATE EOH SEMINAR. (1 Credit)
Explores current topics in environmental health and safety. EOH faculty will discuss their current research interests; EOH graduate student speakers will share their environmental health and safety internship experiences. Documentaries will be viewed to introduce topics of discussion. Features will be discussions relating directly to ongoing, current environmental/occupational health crises, both in the United States and around the world. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 2 credits.
H 489. EMERGENCY AND DISASTER MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Study of preparedness, response, recovery and business resumption strategies, activities and applications needed to effectively deal with emergency and disaster incidents.
H 491. SELECTED TOPICS. (1-3 Credits)
Recent changes and advances in public health and health care administration and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term and year to year.
Equivalent to: H 491H
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.
H 491H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-3 Credits)
Recent changes and advances in public health and health care administration and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term and year to year.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: H 491
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.
H 494. APPLIED ERGONOMICS. (3 Credits)
Principles of occupational ergonomics for managing optimal worker performance and well-being.
H 495. DESIGN FOR ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY, AND HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Systematic consideration of environmental, safety, and health concerns at the earliest possible stage in the lifecycle design engineering of products, technologies, and manufacturing processes.
H 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.
H 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Section 1. Internship (1). Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 509. PRACTICUM. (1-16 Credits)
Supervised work experience in a public health or health care administration setting. Open to majors in public health. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Directed field experience with participation in a community, worksite, or health agency program. Experience is individually arranged to meet student needs. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
H 511. COMMUNITY, CULTURE, AND GLOBAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Overview of health issues across cultures, ethnic groups, and regional/national boundaries from a critical and interdisciplinary perspective. Special emphasis on understanding social and behavioral factors that influence health in underserved communities/groups, especially ethnic/racial minorities, women, children, and migrants.

H 512. INTRODUCTION TO ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH SCIENCES. (3 Credits)
Introduction to environmental and occupational health. Hazards affecting human health are examined in the context of current social, political and regulatory pressures.

H 513. INTEGRATED APPROACH TO PUBLIC HEALTH. (12 Credits)
An integrated approach to introduce students to the core knowledge and methods used in public health, including evidence-based approaches to public health, public health and health care systems, planning and management to promote health, and policy in public health.

H 514. ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY AND HEALTH SEMINAR. (1 Credit)
One-credit graduate seminar on current topics of interest and importance to the environmental health and occupational safety field. Critical reading of research publications, discussion of controversial issues facing ESH professionals, and/or presentation of current ESH research. This course is repeatable for 3 credits.

H 515. RESEARCH METHODS IN SOCIAL AND BEHAVIORAL HEALTH SCIENCES. (3 Credits)
Provides an introduction to quantitative research methods and design. Topics include definition of research problems and questions, hypothesis generation, research design, sampling, variable definition and measurement, data collection, and ethical considerations. Also provides a brief introduction to qualitative and mixed methods.

H 516. RESEARCH METHODS IN GLOBAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Overview of research methods used to understand health, illness, health care, and health-seeking behavior in international settings. Special emphasis on the use of qualitative and mixed methods in international health research.

H 518. PUBLIC HEALTH ETHICS AND ISSUES. (3 Credits)
Current ethical issues in public health, including gender and ethnicity in employment, pharmaceutical controls, product liability, advertising, and export of high technology.

H 519. DISPLACEMENT, MIGRATION, AND GLOBAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Critical examination of health of displaced/migrant populations with an emphasis on health disparities and social determinants. Understanding intersections of humanitarianism, migration, vulnerability, and displacement from a global health perspective.

H 520. HEALTH DISPARITIES. (3 Credits)
Health disparities based on race/ethnicity, culture, social class, and rural/urban residence, among others; strategies to reduce disparities, promote health, and prevent disease in diverse populations.

H 521. MENTAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Focus upon mental health policy development, in relation to federal and state government services and regulations, implementation of services.

H 522. HEALTH, AGING AND CONTROL OF CHRONIC DISEASES. (4 Credits)
Epidemiology of the major chronic diseases, risk factors, potential methods of prevention/intervention, ethical issues, and efficacy of current methods of prevention and control. Emphasis on adult populations and public health services, policies, and programs at the local, state, and federal levels designed to promote healthy aging.

H 523. FOUNDATIONS OF PUBLIC HEALTH. (4 Credits)
Fundamental principles, concepts and tools used in public health to promote the health of populations. Using a combination of case study method, lecture and discussion, students will develop a broad understanding of public health and recognition of how discipline-specializations address the social, behavioral and environmental determinants of public health.

H 524. INTRODUCTION TO BIOSTATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Quantitative analysis and interpretation of health data including probability distributions, estimation of effects, and hypothesis-tests such as Chi-square, one-way ANOVA, and simple linear regression.

H 525. EPIDEMIOLOGICAL METHODS I. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the concepts and methods of epidemiology. Topics include measures of population health, screening, study design, measures of association, and interpretation of epidemiological data.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better

H 526. EPIDEMIOLOGIC METHODS II. (3 Credits)
Concepts and methods of epidemiological analysis; standardization; stratified analysis; confounding and its control; planning and conducting epidemiologic research; role of multivariate analysis in epidemiologic research.
Prerequisites: H 524 with B- or better and H 525 [B-]

H 527. CRITICAL ASSESSMENT OF INTERNATIONAL HEALTH PROGRAMS. (3 Credits)
Introduces the critical evaluation framework of assessing international health development programs, based on self-determination and community ownership principles. The framework of assessment method includes three levels: upstream evaluation, midstream evaluation, and downstream evaluation.

H 528. GLOBAL HEALTH ISSUES. (3 Credits)
Examines major issues in health developments of global significance, their causes and impacts on international health, and methods and strategies to address them.

H 529. INTERNATIONAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Overview of the epidemiological, economic, political, sociological, and cultural factors that impact on international health. Special emphasis on the methods of prevention/intervention utilized in coping with health problems on an international level.

H 530. HEALTH POLICY ANALYSIS AND POLITICS. (3 Credits)
Examination of current health policy issues affecting health care programs, services, and organization as well as the role of politics in public health and health policy. Exploration of processes by which health policy proposals are generated, promoted, defeated, modified and implemented.
Prerequisites: H 533 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 532. ECONOMIC ISSUES IN HEALTH AND MEDICAL CARE. (3 Credits)
Application of economics principles to the health care field: the demand for medical care and insurance, health care suppliers, health care markets.

H 533. HEALTH SYSTEMS ORGANIZATION. (3 Credits)
Examines the nature of health and health care services and reviews the role of government and the free market on health services. Alternative ways of organizing, financing, and delivery of health care services are explored.

H 534. HEALTH CARE LAW AND REGULATION. (3 Credits)
Legal aspects of health care delivery; tort law and its applications; professional liability and liability insurance; laws relative to health care institutions, cost controls, antitrust and access.
H 535. INTERPRETING EPIDEMIOLOGIC EVIDENCE. (3 Credits)
Intended for students in the human sciences and allied health fields. Introduces basic epidemiology concepts. Topics will include measures of disease frequency, assessing population health, causal logic, quantifying associations between exposures and health outcomes, epidemiologic study design, and threats to study validity (random error, bias, confounding). Examples focus on application of epidemiological methods to a variety of health-related fields.

H 536. HEALTHCARE ORGANIZATION LEADERSHIP THEORY AND BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Overview of organization theory and behavior in health care organizations. Emphasis is on developing an understanding of the factors and forces that influence the structures, behaviors, and operations of health care delivery organizations. This understanding will be developed through consideration of organizations, their environments, and the roles of individuals working in management.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 537. INJURY EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
An overview of the distribution and determinants of injuries, methodological issues specific to injury epidemiology, and approaches to injury control.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better or HHS 513 with B- or better

H 538. PUBLIC AND PRIVATE HEALTH INSURANCE. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the principles and practices of public or social and commercial health insurance, and their financial reimbursement mechanisms.

H 540. WATER AND HUMAN HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Critically examine the complex relationship between water quality, human activities, and population health.

H 541. AIR QUALITY AND HUMAN HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Examination of the major sources of air pollution, its impact on ecosystems and climate change, and population health. Will also discuss technologies and introduce regulations that are used to control air pollutants.

H 542. ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH RISK ASSESSMENT. (3 Credits)
Understand concepts, principles and practices in modern environmental and occupational risk analysis and how they are utilized to make evidence-based decisions by regulatory agencies.

H 543. EXPOSURE SCIENCE I. (4 Credits)
Overview of the concepts, principles and practices in modern environmental and occupational exposure assessment. Exposure Science I provides a broad introduction to environmental and occupational exposure assessment methods, while Exposure Science II focuses on sampling and measurement methods.

H 544. ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Examines exposure assessment methodology and epidemiological study designs that are commonly used in environmental and occupational health science in order to characterize the impact of environmental and occupational exposures on population health.
Prerequisites: H 525 with C or better

H 545. OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH. (3 Credits)
A broad overview of occupational health including recognizing and preventing risks from toxic chemical, radiation and physical hazards in the workplace.

H 546. PHYSICAL AGENTS AND HUMAN HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Focus on physical agents (heat, noise, vibration, radiation) and health risks associated with these agents. It covers the range and sources of exposure to physical agents, methods of characterizing these exposures, effects on human health, and the regulations/standards that set limits for physical agents. Lec/lab.

H 547. GIS AND PUBLIC HEALTH. (4 Credits)
Applications of geographic information systems (GIS) to public health are reviewed, including mapping, spatial analysis methods, estimating access, and exposure assessment. This course is geared toward individuals involved in public health who have no (or introductory level) knowledge of GIS. Lec/lab.

H 548. PUBLIC HEALTH TOXICOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the concepts and principles of toxicology as they apply to environmental and occupational health.

H 549. MASS MEDIA AND HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Examines the effects of mass media on population health, from the negative impact of advertising of cigarettes, alcohol and junk food, to the (hopefully) positive impact of public health campaigns.
Prerequisites: H 571 with C or better

H 550. SOCIAL EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Explores the social determinants of health at the population level. Primary focus is on introduction to methods specific to social epidemiology, but will also provide an overview of current understanding of the empirical associations between social factors and health.
Prerequisites: H 525 with B or better

H 551. APPLIED EPIDEMIOLOGICAL ANALYSIS OF SECONDARY DATA. (3 Credits)
Practical experience performing a hypothesis-driven epidemiological analysis utilizing secondary surveillance or other appropriate data set, writing an analytical plan, appropriate programming for the analysis (using STATA or SAS), understanding the analysis output, preparing tables, and interpreting results.
Prerequisites: H 526 with B- or better and H 560 [B-] and H 580 [B-]

H 552. DISASTER EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Describe the impact of natural and manmade disasters on human health, understand epidemiologic methods specific to disasters, and apply fundamental epidemiologic methods to identify and characterize disaster-related adverse health outcomes.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 554. EPIDEMIOLOGY OF AGING. (3 Credits)
An overview of the core principles of the epidemiology of aging is provided. There will be an emphasis on health and disease processes in older adults. Students will learn essential study design and analytic issues that may arise in studies of aging.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 555. CANCER EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Introduction to basic concepts and methodology in cancer epidemiology.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better

H 556. STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT OF HEALTH SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS. (3 Credits)
Theories and methodologies of long-range planning and strategic management in health care organizations.
H 557. FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT OF HEALTH CARE ORGANIZATIONS. (3 Credits)
Utilization of standard financial tools needed to manage the capital resources of health care organizations. Includes funding capital projects, product costing, budgeting methods, capital formation and investment strategies.

H 558. REIMBURSEMENT MECHANISMS. (3 Credits)
Techniques used in cost-effectiveness analysis. Examples are drawn from the public health and health economics literature.

H 560. PUBLIC HEALTH SURVEILLANCE. (3 Credits)
An introduction to public health surveillance systems (national and international) for chronic and infectious diseases. Utility of existing surveillance systems for secondary epidemiological data analysis.
Prerequisites: H 524 with B- or better and H 525 [B-]

H 562. INFECTIOUS DISEASE EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Understand epidemiologic methods specific to infectious diseases, apply fundamental epidemiologic methods to infectious disease questions, and describe the broad trends in global infectious disease burden. The application methods and principles will be explored through lectures, discussions, assignments and writing projects.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better or H 514 with B- or better

H 563. PHYSICAL ACTIVITY EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Physical activity epidemiology will focus on current research, controversial issues, and methodological problems in the epidemiology of physical activity, exercise, and health.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better

H 564. COMPUTING TOOLS AND HEALTH DATA ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Modern computational biostatistics for analyzing health data, emphasizing important technologies and methods for data processing and understanding of how they work. Topics will evolve over time as new procedures are developed.
Prerequisites: H 524 with C or better or HDFS 530 with C or better

H 565. PUBLIC HEALTH AND WOMEN: SOCIAL AND POLICY ISSUES. (3 Credits)
Public health approach to the identification of women's health needs in the United States and in other countries as it relates to the intersection of race, ethnicity, social class, sexual orientation, age, and ability.

H 566. DATA MINING IN PUBLIC HEALTH. (3 Credits)
An introduction to high-dimensional data analysis and data mining techniques used as an information technology tool to extract previously unknown and potentially useful information from large databases in biology, medicine, and public health.

H 567. LONG-TERM CARE ALTERNATIVES. (3 Credits)
Overview of the long-term care alternatives. Comparisons of nursing homes with community based facilities; adult day care centers, respite to hospice facilities, social HMOs and other services; cost, quality of life and practicality are addressed.

H 568. FINANCING AND ADMINISTRATION OF LONG-TERM CARE. (3 Credits)
Examines the financing and administration of long term care. Emphasis is on a system-wide overview and specific application to nursing facility management.

H 569. MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Women’s reproductive health and health of children stressing causation, management, and prevention of public health problems. Epidemiological analysis of morbidity and mortality in children and women of childbearing age; impact of social, political and economic influences on the health of women and children; comparison of issues and problems of industrialized versus developing nations. Consideration of health issues of interest to the many diverse racial and ethnic groups of women and children in the U.S. as well as the global village.

H 571. PRINCIPLES OF HEALTH BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Theoretical approaches to behavior change in health promotion/education research and practice; factors influencing health behaviors, ethical behavior change issues, behavioral interventions for special populations.

H 572. COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION FOR HEALTH PROMOTION AND EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
History, theory, and practice of community organizing for health advocacy; focus on group processes, use of media, leadership, coalitions, grass roots methods and social change.

H 573. INTRODUCTION TO MULTILEVEL/HIERARCHICAL MODELS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the theory and application of hierarchical models to problems in epidemiology and public health. Hierarchical models will be dealt with using both frequentist and Bayesian frameworks.

H 574. INTRODUCTION TO MOLECULAR EPIDEMIOLOGY I. (3 Credits)
A survey of and introduction to the methods and issues arising in genetics and molecular epidemiology, including key biostatistical methods, study designs, and technologies used in the conduct of these studies. Students will gain experience conducting critical reviews of research papers with respect to study design and biostatistical analysis.
Prerequisites: H 524 with C or better and H 526 [C]

H 575. EVALUATION OF HEALTH PROMOTION AND EDUCATION PROGRAMS. (3 Credits)
Provides theoretical and practical bases for program evaluation. Develops basic skills in a variety of approaches to evaluation, including techniques that are particularly suitable for evaluating health promotion, community health improvement, and related health and social services programs. Course learning is synthesized through designing an evaluation framework and methodology for a relevant program.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 515 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 576. PROGRAM PLANNING/PROPOSAL WRITING IN HEALTH/HUMAN SERVICES. (4 Credits)
Planning and preparing of proposals for program initiation, financing, delivery and evaluation in health-related settings; emphasis on funding sources, community, individual, and organizational support.

H 578. INTRODUCTION TO MOLECULAR EPIDEMIOLOGY I. (3 Credits)
A survey of and introduction to the methods and issues arising in genetics and molecular epidemiology, including key biostatistical methods, study designs, and technologies used in the conduct of these studies. Students will gain experience conducting critical reviews of research papers with respect to study design and biostatistical analysis.
Prerequisites: H 524 with C or better and H 526 [C]

H 580. LINEAR REGRESSION AND ANALYSIS OF TIME TO EVENT DATA. (4 Credits)
Multiple linear regression analysis for measurement data and survival analysis methods for time to event health data, including modes of inference, diagnostics, model selection, and reporting conclusions. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: H 524 with C or better or HDFS 530 with C or better
H 581. GENERALIZED LINEAR MODELS AND CATEGORICAL DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits) Biostatistical methods focusing on binary and count data will provide a foundation for understanding and implementing generalized linear regression and categorical data models that are commonly used to analyze epidemiological and public health data from cohort, case-control, and clinical trial study designs. Lec/lab.

H 582. ANALYSIS OF CORRELATED HEALTH DATA. (3 Credits)
Biostatistical methods for clustered, repeated measures, and longitudinal correlated health data, with an introduction to applications of linear and generalized linear mixed models and generalized estimating equations.
Prerequisites: H 581 with C or better

H 583. ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY MANAGEMENT. (4 Credits) Studies the design and management principles and practices in the environment, safety and health field.

H 584. ANALYSIS OF INTERVENTION STUDIES AND CLINICAL TRIALS. (3 Credits)
Principles of data analysis from intervention studies and clinical trials, including professional graphical and tabular presentation, reproducibility and reliability of measurements, and controlling the Type I error rate when analyzing multiple endpoints. Basic principles of designing experiments are also covered including blocking, stratification, interaction, and control of variability.
Prerequisites: (H 524 with C or better or HDFS 530 with C or better)

H 585. ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY AND HEALTH POLICY AND LAW. (3 Credits)
Survey of the environment, safety and health policy and law in the United States. Furnishes the basic knowledge and general understanding about policy and law-related issues important to all environmental health and safety professionals.

H 586. BAYESIAN BIOSTATISTICS IN PUBLIC HEALTH. (3 Credits)
An examination of methods for designing and implementing Bayesian analysis to address scientific questions through hands-on experience with health data. This survey course also covers proper interpretation and communication of results from practical Bayesian methods for biostatistics data analysis, with illustrations of the utility of Bayesian ideas in public health.
Prerequisites: H 581 with C or better

H 587. TIME TO EVENT ANALYSIS OF HEALTH DATA. (3 Credits)
Biostatistical models and methods for survival analysis of time to event data that are routinely encountered in biomedical and health research.
Prerequisites: (H 524 with C or better or HDFS 530 with C or better)

H 588. APPLIED OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH. (3 Credits)
The management and technical aspects of a workplace safety and health program are identified and assessed. Students completing the course receive a 30-hour OSHA General Industry card.

H 589. EMERGENCY AND DISASTER MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Study of preparedness, response, recovery and disaster resumption strategies, activities and applications needed to effectively deal with emergency and disaster incidents.

H 590. OCCUPATIONAL ERGONOMICS AND BIOMECHANICS. (3 Credits)
Examines the advanced theories, applications, and contemporary topics of occupational ergonomics and biomechanics. Topics include muscle physiology, work-related musculoskeletal disorders, assessing biomechanical exposure in the workplace, various material handling assessment tools, 3-Dimensional Static Strength Prediction Program, human vibrations, and implementing ergonomic interventions.

H 591. SELECTED TOPICS. (1-3 Credits)
Recent changes and advances in public health and health care administration and their application to special fields of study. Topics vary from term to term and year to year.
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

H 592. SPATIAL EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
An introduction to methods in spatial epidemiology is provided, including spatial exploration of health data, quantifying spatial patterns and clusters, spatial exposure assessment, and explaining patterns and associations.
Prerequisites: H 547 with C or better and H 581 [C]

H 593. REPRODUCTIVE EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Focuses on current research, controversial issues, and methodological problems in the epidemiology of reproductive health.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535 with B- or better

H 594. APPLIED ERGONOMICS. (3 Credits)
Principles of occupational ergonomics for managing optimal worker performance and well-being.

H 595. DESIGN FOR ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY, AND HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Systematic consideration of environmental, safety, and health concerns at the earliest possible stage in the lifecycle design engineering of products, technologies, and manufacturing processes.

H 596. HEALTHCARE EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Focus on current research, controversial issues, and methodological problems in the epidemiology of healthcare. Topics include institutional infection control, medical errors, screening and diagnostic testing, cost-effectiveness, and others related to the delivery and assessment of healthcare, with a focus on the US healthcare system specifically.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535
with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 597. METHODS IN FOODBORNE DISEASE OUTBREAK INVESTIGATION. (3 Credits) Focuses on the practical basis for developing and implementing methods for foodborne disease outbreak detection, investigation and control, using recent outbreaks to highlight underlying principles. Biological characteristics of major foodborne disease pathogens, clinical features of the illnesses its causes and epidemiologic presentations of foodborne outbreaks will be reviewed. The implications of these characteristics will be discussed in a problem solving, interactive format that examines theory and practice in the context of recent outbreaks. Strategies to promote timely decision-making will be emphasized.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better or H 525 with B- or better or H 535
with B- or better or HHS 514 with B- or better

H 598. HEALTH POLICY ANALYSIS METHODS. (3 Credits)
Analysis of public policies affecting health care programs, services and organizations and the impact of those programs on citizens. Health services research methods, including data sources for health policy research and health policy literature.
Prerequisites: H 513 with B- or better and H 533 [B-]

H 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 24 credits.

H 601. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
PREREQ: Departmental approval required.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.
H 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 608. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 610. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

H 612. DOCTORAL SEMINAR IN PUBLIC HEALTH: RESEARCH AND PRACTICE. (1 Credit)
Contemporary research and professional issues specific to the discipline of public health. Includes responsible conduct of research, writing for publication, professional development and leadership, and faculty research in public health. This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

H 613. INDEPENDENT RESEARCH PROJECT. (1-9 Credits)
Independent research project for PhD students, including research design, execution or research, and the formal presentation of findings in written form. Student will develop an original research topic based on knowledge and review of the literature in a public health-relevant area of inquiry. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

H 614. RESEARCH MANUSCRIPT. (4 Credits)
PhD students write a manuscript to submit to a peer-reviewed journal as part of the course requirements. Graded P/N.

H 615. ADVANCED EVALUATION AND RESEARCH DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Provides an in-depth examination of advanced research designs and methods for establishing causal statements about the efficacy, effectiveness and generalizability of public health and social service interventions designed to alter public health and social risk or protective factors.

H 620. ADVANCED TOPICS IN GLOBAL HEALTH INTERVENTION AND PRACTICE. (3 Credits)
Examines the processes and tools involved in planning and evaluating culturally competent health and human service prevention and intervention programs in the global context. Special considerations in program decision-making in the global context (community engagement, cultural competence, sustainability, feasibility, political/ethical issues) will be explored. Provides a key forum for doctoral students to share ongoing developments in their research and practice drawing from fieldwork as well as attended conferences and meetings.

H 622. GLOBAL HEALTH SYSTEMS, POLICY AND POLITICS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on learning to identify key stakeholders in the politics of global health, and to be able to describe political and policy processes involved in negotiating global health decisions. Employment of theories and evidence from both the global North and South to explain political processes affecting public health practice and programs.

H 626. GLOBAL HEALTH SYSTEM FINANCE AND STRENGTHENING. (3 Credits)
Introduces an analytical framework of health system finance strengthening for global health, from local community to national level and international level. Develops the analytical skill and knowledge for examining the source and mechanism of financing health systems and identify, mobilize, organize, and manage domestic and global health resources. Provides training to examine equity and efficiency of financial burden in a health system, and the strategies to strengthen it.

H 630. QUANTITATIVE HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH METHODS I. (4 Credits)
Contemporary doctoral-level quantitative health policy/services research methods emphasizing linear regression models, data sources for health policy research, and health policy research literature.
Prerequisites: H 524 with B- or better

H 632. APPLIED HEALTH ECONOMICS. (4 Credits)
Advanced doctoral-level quantitative health policy/services research methods emphasizing causal inference when potential endogeneity is present.
Prerequisites: H 630 with B- or better

H 635. COST EFFECTIVENESS ANALYSIS IN HEALTH AND MEDICAL CARE. (3 Credits)
The primary objective of this course is to introduce students to cost-effectiveness studies in health and medical care. Covers the core concepts of CEA, quality adjusted life years, cost calculations, and decision rules.

H 638. PUBLIC AND PRIVATE HEALTH INSURANCE. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the principles and practices of public or social and commercial health insurance, their finance mechanisms, and theoretical foundation behind the selection of certain system of health insurance and finance method.
Prerequisites: H 533 with C or better

H 639. COMMUNITY-BASED PARTICIPATORY RESEARCH. (4 Credits)
Focuses on initiating and conducting research in partnership with communities. Includes in-depth examination of community-based participatory research (CBPR) elements, principles, theories, and approaches; how researchers can successfully partner with communities; and research with minority and/or underprivileged communities; with examples from environmental health, gerontology, and health promotion.

H 642. ENVIRONMENTAL AND REGULATORY RISK ASSESSMENT. (3 Credits)
Understand concepts, principles and practices in modern risk analysis and how they are utilized to make evidence-based decisions in public health. Focus will be on real world examples of risk assessment by environmental and occupational regulatory agencies.

H 650. REPORTING RESULTS: WRITING FOR EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Applied experience writing a scientific paper to disseminate results, including deciding on authorship, preparing a lay summary, revising and responding to peer review, and serving as a reviewer.
Prerequisites: H 526 with B- or better and H 551 [B+] and H 580 [B-]

H 651. ADVANCED EPIDEMIOLOGICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Covers advanced topics in epidemiology. Course expands on many of the same topics as H 526, and explores them in greater breadth and depth. Topics include causal theory, measures of disease and association, confounding, selection bias, predictive models, directed acyclic graphs, effect modification, mediation, indirect and direct effects, study design, and other contemporary topics.
Prerequisites: H 526 with B- or better and H 581 [B-]
H 652. CAUSAL INFERENCE IN EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Discussion of the theoretical framework of causal statistics and the development of modern methods including propensity scores and marginal structural models. Focus is on the inverse probability of treatment weighting; discussion of other estimation methods will be included. Additional topics may include longitudinal causal models, causal mediation, instrumental variables, and other contemporary topics.
Applied examples will be used for illustration.
Prerequisites: H 651 with B- or better

H 659. QUANTITATIVE HEALTH POLICY RESEARCH METHODS II. (4 Credits)
Advanced doctoral-level quantitative health policy/services research methods emphasizing health care utilization, expenditures, and outcomes data.
Prerequisites: H 630 with B- or better

H 662. ADVANCED METHODS IN INFECTIOUS DISEASE EPIDEMIOLOGY.
(3 Credits)
Covers advanced methods and principles for infectious disease research, including framing infectious disease issues into testable hypotheses, designing epidemiologic studies using appropriate sampling strategies, and identifying strengths and weaknesses of various epidemiologic research methods.
Prerequisites: H 526 with B- or better and H 562 [B-]

H 671. ADVANCED THEORIES OF HEALTH BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Provides an in-depth examination of major theories of health behavior (both health compromising and health enhancing).

H 672. ADVANCED QUALITATIVE METHODS IN HEALTH BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Provides an in-depth examination of the use of qualitative methods in health behavior research and practice.

H 673. MEASUREMENT OF HEALTH BEHAVIOR CONCEPTS. (4 Credits)
Provides in-depth study and field work for graduate students in public health and related fields of the methods used in the conceptualization, development, and evaluation of quantitative measures of health behavior and related concepts.

H 675. DEVELOPMENT OF HEALTH BEHAVIOR INTERVENTIONS. (3 Credits)
Examines the application of social/behavioral theories in health promotion interventions and in conducting intervention research in diverse populations. The course will focus on program development, on implementation strategies, and on translation into practice.

H 676. ADVANCED TOPICS IN HEALTH PROMOTION AND HEALTH BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Examines topics of relevance to health promotion and health behavior.
Specific topics include current issues and emerging research findings, with a focus on social and behavior science perspectives, analysis of public health problems, and application of principles and practices of health promotion and health behavior.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

H 681. ADVANCED TOPICS IN ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY. (3 Credits)
Advanced topics in the environment, safety and health discipline. Content varies with each offering.

H 682. ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY:
MOVING FROM RESEARCH TO PRACTICE. (3 Credits)
An examination of research transfer models that can be adapted and implemented to environmental and occupational settings. Case studies and content will vary with each course offering.
PUBLIC POLICY (PPOL)

PPOL 413. ETHICS IN PUBLIC POLICY. (4 Credits)
Examines ethical dilemmas in public policy, and provides the opportunity to study the ethical theories of Hobbes, Kant, Mill, and Rawls.

PPOL 421. INTRODUCTION TO POLICY RESEARCH. (4 Credits)
Introduction to research design, research ethics, and quantitative and qualitative data collection and analysis. Activities include reading, review questions and exercises, discussion board participation, and data collection, analysis and reporting.
Prerequisites: ECON 201 with D- or better and PS 201 [D-] and SOC 204 [D-]

PPOL 441. *ENERGY AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
Explores the complex interrelationships between humans and energy, emphasizing the role of energy in critical social issues, including but not limited to: domestic and international conflict, poverty, social change, inter-generational equity, energy transitions and environmental justice. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society

PPOL 446. THE POLICY AND LAW OF U.S. COASTAL GOVERNANCE. (4 Credits)
Examines federal and state policy, legislative and judicial protections of public beach access; ownership and use of tide and submerged lands, including the public trust doctrine; wetland conservation; and the Federal Coastal Zone Management Act. This course is intended to equip future environmental and natural resource professionals with a foundation in US coastal management, especially areas where new professionals will be very involved (coastal development, offshore/alternative energy, and sea level rise/storm hazards). The format includes reading, discussion, and student presentations. Readings will be drawn from the textbook; additional readings will be posted on Canvas.

PPOL 447. INTEGRATED POLICY: FOOD, ENERGY, WATER, CLIMATE. (4 Credits)
Environmental decisions include trade-offs. Policy choices for sustainably providing Earth's eight billion people with food, energy, and water are urgently needed. Policy sectors (such as food) risk outcomes that are not beneficial, and impose long-term costs and potential catastrophic climate burdens. This transdisciplinary course examines emerging integrated policies concerning provision of food, energy, and water and their relationship to climate.

PPOL 448. MARINE POLICY IN THE UNITED STATES. (4 Credits)
Introduces students to the history, rationale, achievements, and gaps in American ocean policy. Students will acquire foundational tools of policy analysis and problem solving, and will synthesize and apply their knowledge creatively in order to propose integrated policy solutions to specific contemporary marine issues.

PPOL 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-12 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

PPOL 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

PPOL 507. SEMINAR. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

PPOL 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-12 Credits)
Supervised work experience in government, public policy, public affairs or non-profit organizations. Reports and appraisals required. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

PPOL 511. PUBLIC ORGANIZATIONS AND LEADERSHIP. (4 Credits)
Provides an historical overview of developments in, and theories associated with, the organization and control of public organizations. Students will critically examine various influential models of bureaucracy, while also learning about the strengths and weaknesses of emergent forms of bureaucratic organization, including networks, public-private partnerships, collaboration, and governance. The course also explores different theories of leadership, assisting students in the development of their own authentic leadership style, and thinking through the application of such theories and styles to the real world of public organization leadership, especially in the fragmented, decentralized, complex, and uncertain contemporary environment of networks, partnerships, and governance.

PPOL 512. PUBLIC POLICY THEORY. (4 Credits)
Theoretical approaches to the study of the policy process, policy elements, policy tools, (e.g., regulation), and policy typologies.

PPOL 521. UNDERSTANDING SOCIAL RESEARCH. (4 Credits)
Study of basic concepts and principles of qualitative and quantitative social research, including selection of general strategies and specific designs, conceptual and operational measurement, sample selection, data collection, data processing and analysis techniques, interpretation and reporting. Utilizes reports of social research in scholarly journals, popular media, and agency documents. Emphasis on critical evaluation and interpretation.

PPOL 522. CONDUCTING SOCIAL RESEARCH. (4 Credits)
Reviews concepts and principles covered in SOC 415 with emphasis on actual experiences in using techniques of social research and gaining greater depth of knowledge and skill. Assignments involve practicing techniques used in various phases of the research process, including both qualitative field observation and computerized processing and analysis of quantitative information. Individual or group research projects will be required.
Prerequisites: PPOL 521 with C or better

PPOL 523. QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS. (4 Credits)
An introduction to the theory and methods of qualitative research. Students will be exposed to various qualitative research methods through practical field exercises. These include ethnographic field observation, content analysis, interviewing, focus groups and unobtrusive measures. Other commonly used methods of collecting qualitative data are also examined.

PPOL 524. APPLIED RESEARCH METHODS. (4 Credits)
Application of sociological theory, concepts, and methods. Topics vary but may include program evaluation, social impact assessment, policy analysis, focus group research, survey research, among others.

PPOL 525. MANAGING AND GOVERNING PUBLIC AND NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATIONS. (4 Credits)
Provides students with an introduction to management in public and non-profit organizations. Public and non-profit managers face challenges that are not faced by their counterparts in the private sector. These challenges are often associated with a different legal structure, employee protections, and differences in ethos and motivation. Students will build on knowledge of public administration to examine contemporary issues of public management and public governance and the techniques and challenges of management in practice. Successful completion of the course will equip students to be critically reflective practitioners and scholars of the management of public and non-profit organizations.
PPOL 531. INFLUENCING PUBLIC POLICY: AN INTRODUCTION TO THE DARK ARTS. (4 Credits)
Explores the various tactical and strategic behaviors that individuals and groups use to influence public policy. Focusing on the ethical and pragmatic dimensions of policy consequential tactics and strategy, topics vary but may include policy communication, the use of science and evidence, human cognition and decision-making processes, lobbying, and vote and agenda manipulation.

PPOL 541. ENERGY AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
Explores the complex interrelationships between humans and energy, emphasizing the role of energy in critical social issues, including but not limited to: domestic and international conflict, poverty, social change, inter-generational equity, energy transitions and environmental justice.

PPOL 544. COLLABORATIVE GOVERNANCE. (4 Credits)
Explores and develops the norms, rules, institutional design, decision-making dynamic, and politics of collaborative governance arrangements for complex natural resource problem settings. Designed to bring together traditional adversaries, government agencies, and citizens to resolve and improve management of collective public problems, collaborative governance for natural resources is now an important problem-solving tool that is employed in thousands of communities, watersheds, and landscapes around the world.

PPOL 545. INTERNATIONAL MARINE POLICY. (4 Credits)
Explores the institutional, political and legal factors that impact international marine policy with an emphasis on the United Nations Law of the Sea Convention. Additional topics include marine resource exploitation, climate change, and national security issues as they pertain to the world's oceans, coasts, and national policies. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

PPOL 546. THE POLICY AND LAW OF UNITED STATES COASTAL GOVERNANCE. (4 Credits)
Examines federal and state policy, legislative and judicial protections of public beach access; ownership and use of tide and submerged lands, including the public trust doctrine; wetland conservation; and the Federal Coastal Zone Management Act. This course is intended to equip future environmental and natural resource professionals with a foundation in US coastal management, especially areas where new professionals will be very involved (coastal development, offshore/alternative energy, and sea level rise/storm hazards). The format includes reading, discussion, and student presentations. Readings will be drawn from the textbook; additional readings will be posted on Canvas.

PPOL 547. INTEGRATED POLICY: FOOD, ENERGY, WATER, CLIMATE. (4 Credits)
Environmental decisions include trade-offs. Policy choices for sustainably providing Earth’s eight billion people with food, energy, and water are urgently needed. Policy sectors (such as food) risk outcomes that are not beneficial, and impose long-term costs and potential catastrophic climate burdens. This transdisciplinary course examines emerging integrated policies concerning provision of food, energy, and water and their relationship to climate.

PPOL 548. MARINE POLICY IN THE UNITED STATES. (4 Credits)
Introduces students to the history, rationale, achievements, and gaps in American ocean and coastal policy. Students will acquire foundational tools of policy problem solving, critique, and analysis, and will synthesize and apply their knowledge creatively to propose integrated policy solutions to specific contemporary marine issues.

PPOL 551. HIGHER EDUCATION POLICY. (4 Credits)
An introduction to policy issues in the area of higher education and exploration of possible tensions within the policy goals of quality, equity, access and outcomes. Students will gain knowledge of the key pieces of legislation and constitutional law governing higher education policy at both federal and state levels, as well as an overview of the relevant research in this area. Begins with a short historical introduction to the U.S. higher education system and concludes with a discussion of its competing demands and functions.

PPOL 552. INTERNATIONAL COMPARATIVE RURAL POLICY. (4 Credits)
Examines and compares the role of rural policy in different cultural, political and administrative contexts at the international, national, state, regional and local levels. The course also provides the opportunity to study the nature and implications of new forms of governance in rural contexts in North America and Europe.

PPOL 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

PPOL 602. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

PPOL 603. THESIS. (1-12 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

PPOL 607. SEMINAR. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

PPOL 609. PRACTICUM. (1-12 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 24 credits.

PPOL 613. ADVANCED POLICY THEORY I. (4 Credits)
First of two-class series introducing a comprehensive review of public policy theory focused on examining theoretical approaches to understanding the complex and contentious assumptions and premises that pose challenges to the way we conduct public policy.

PPOL 614. ADVANCED POLICY THEORY II. (4 Credits)
Second course in a two-course series providing a comprehensive review of public policy theory. The course examines theoretical approaches to understanding the complex and contentious assumptions and premises that pose challenges to the way we conduct public policy.

PPOL 621. ADVANCED QUANTITATIVE METHODS. (4 Credits)
Methods used in research in the social sciences, focused on causal inference in public policy contexts. Covers methods used at the frontier of research to estimate the causal effect of policies on outcomes, including instrumental variables, regression discontinuity, and difference-in-differences estimation.

PPOL 622. ADVANCED POLICY ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Introduction to advanced quantitative modeling used in policy analysis, with an emphasis on the application of modeling techniques to research papers. Focus is predominantly on counts and zero-truncated modeling, time series, and panel regression.

Prerequisites: (ECON 524 with B+ or better and PPOL 522 [B+]) or PPOL 621 [C+] or (AEC 523 [C+] and AEC 525 [C+])

PPOL 628. ADVANCED QUALITATIVE METHODS. (4 Credits)
Focus on epistemological approaches, research design, data analysis techniques and critiques of qualitative research, with emphasis on participant observation and interviewing. Culminates in the written and oral presentation of a qualitative research proposal, including preliminary results from fieldwork conducted during the course.

Prerequisites: ANTH 591 with C or better or HDFS 538 with C or better or SOC 518 with C or better
PPOL 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
QUEER STUDIES (QS)

QS 262. INTRODUCTION TO QUEER STUDIES. (3 Credits)
Centering itself on activism and scholarship, this course examines homophobia's and transphobia's relationship with racism, colonialism, sexism, ableism, classism and other forms of oppression. Introduces key concepts, histories, and political frameworks within Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer political movements. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 262.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Equivalent to: QS 262H, WGSS 262, WGSS 262H

QS 262H. INTRODUCTION TO QUEER STUDIES. (3 Credits)
Centering itself on activism and scholarship, this course examines homophobia's and transphobia's relationship with racism, colonialism, sexism, ableism, classism and other forms of oppression. Introduces key concepts, histories, and political frameworks within Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer political movements. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 262H.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: QS 262, WGSS 262, WGSS 262H

QS 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (3 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

QS 321. QUEER POP CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Examines the concept of Queer popular culture through film, music, TV, image, and other mediums. Seeks to disrupt dominant discourses around gender and sexuality by centralizing women of color feminisms and queer of color critiques to analyze popular representations of gender, sexuality, race, class, disability, and other social locations. CROSSLISTED as WGSS 321. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst
Equivalent to: WGSS 321

QS 361. (RE)FRAMING RACE THROUGH FILM PRODUCTION. (4 Credits)
A critical engagement of ways race and ethnicity are treated in nonfiction short films as students produce their own short film as a means of challenging dominant racial representations and narratives. Requires a basic understanding of ways that notions about race and ethnicity combine with ideologies about gender, sexuality, ability, class, etc. to perpetuate unjust systems and institutions. Prior filmmaking experience is welcome but not required. CROSSLISTED as ES 361, WGSS 361, WLC 361.
Equivalent to: ES 361, WGSS 361, WLC 361

QS 362. SERVING LGBTQ+ COMMUNITIES. (3 Credits)
Engages the ethics and responsibilities involved in serving LGBTQ+ communities in fields such as education, health, law, and social services for those entering and/or continuing professions in fields that historically underserve LGBTQ+ people. Topics include LGBTQ+ youth; LGBTQ+ elders; issues affecting LGBTQ+ people across their lifespans; approaches to cultural competency; violence against LGBTQ+ people, forms of oppression including heterosexism, homophobia, and transphobia; and LGBTQ+ community resilience. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 362.
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst
Equivalent to: WGSS 362

QS 364. TRANSGENDER POLITICS. (3 Credits)
Addresses transgender politics—including transsexual, genderqueer, and gender non-conforming issues—through feminist and intersectional approaches by analyzing transgender theories, arts, and activism. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 364.
Equivalent to: QS 364H, WGSS 364, WGSS 364H

QS 364H. TRANSGENDER POLITICS. (3 Credits)
Addresses transgender politics—including transsexual, genderqueer, and gender non-conforming issues—through feminist and intersectional approaches by analyzing transgender theories, arts, and activism. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 364H.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: QS 364, WGSS 364, WGSS 364H

QS 375. ARTS AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. (4 Credits)
Explores concepts of structural inequality, difference, power, and discrimination through a critical survey of arts activism. Students will think critically about artwork and artists which address a number of social issues in the United States, including race, ethnicity, class, gender, sexuality, immigration, and indigeneity. CROSSLISTED as ES 375, WGSS 375.
Equivalent to: ES 375, WGSS 375

QS 399. SPECIAL TOPICS IN QUEER STUDIES. (3 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

QS 409. PRACTICUM: PROJECTS IN QUEER STUDIES. (1-12 Credits)
Capstone projects bring theory into practice through research, design, and implementation of a project that synthesizes and demonstrates learning in the Queer Studies program.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

QS 431. QUEER OF COLOR CRITIQUES. (4 Credits)
"Queer of color critiques" refers to political theories and activism that emerge from LGBTQ people of color to examine the intersections between race, sexuality and gender. This course addresses these intersections through theory, history, and activism. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as ES 431 and WGSS 431.
Equivalent to: ES 431, WGSS 431

QS 432. GENDER, SEXUALITY, AND THE PHOTOGRAPHIC IMAGE. (3 Credits)
A creative and discussion-based course focusing on ways in which photography can and has addressed issues of gender and sexuality. An introduction to key concepts and intersections in Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies; Queer Studies and photography theory. Students will create written and photographic responses to artworks, texts, personal experience and pop-culture. (Bacc Core Course)
Equivalent to: ART 432, WGSS 432

QS 462. QUEER THEORIES. (4 Credits)
Engages key themes and critical frameworks in queer theories. Topics include histories of sexuality; forms of oppression, including heterosexism, homophobia, and transphobia; resistance to oppression; violence against LGBTQ people; queer activism; diverse experiences of sexuality; and representations in literature, art, and popular media. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 462/WGSS 562.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: WGSS 462
QS 472. *INDIGENOUS TWO-SPIRIT AND QUEER STUDIES. (4 Credits)
"Two-spirit" refers to North American indigenous genders outside of European male/female binaries. Two-spirit communities argue for decolonization as a central political struggle, calling all people to unlearn settler colonial gender/sexuality on Native land. This course addresses indigenous two-spirit/GLBTQ issues through theory, literature, activism, and art. CROSSLISTED as ES 472, WGSS 472 (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWSI – Core, Skills, WIC
Equivalent to: ES 472, WGSS 472

QS 473. TRANSGENDER LIVES. (4 Credits)
With a particular focus on transgender people of color and transnational constructions of gender, this course will engage issues in the lives of Transgender people through autobiography, memoir, biography, poetry, and documentary film. CROSSLISTED as WGSS 473/WGSS 573.
Equivalent to: WGSS 473

QS 476. *TRANSNATIONAL SEXUALITIES. (4 Credits)
Explores contemporary experiences of sexualities within transnational contexts. Analyzes themes including queer and LGBTIQ organizing, same-sex desires, queer transnational immigration and labor flows, sex industries and discourses of trafficking, sex tourism, and reproductive justice, using feminist, queer, and postcolonial theoretical frameworks. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as WGSS 476/WGSS 576.
 Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Prerequisites: QS 262 with D- or better
Equivalent to: WGSS 476

QS 477. QUEER/TRANS PEOPLE OF COLOR ARTS AND ACTIVISM. (4 Credits)
LGBTQ people of color often engage struggles for social justice through artistic movements. This course will focus on arts by LGBTQ people of color and the way these artistic movements contribute to activism that interrupts interlocking systems of oppression. CROSSLISTED as ES 477/ES 577, WGSS 477/WGSS 577.
Equivalent to: ES 477, WGSS 477

QS 499. SPECIAL TOPICS IN QUEER STUDIES. (4 Credits)
Topics in gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and queer issues and scholarship. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

QS 524. TRANS/GENDER POLITICS. (4 Credits)
Addresses transgender politics— including transsexual, genderqueer, and gender non-conforming issues—through feminist and intersectional approaches by analyzing transgender theories, arts, and activism. CROSSLISTED as WGSS 524.
Equivalent to: WGSS 524

QS 531. QUEER OF COLOR CRITIQUES. (4 Credits)
"Queer of color critiques" refers to political theories and activism that emerge from LGBTQ people of color to examine the intersections between race, sexuality and gender. This course addresses these intersections through theory, history, and activism. CROSSLISTED as ES 531 and WGSS 531.
Equivalent to: ES 531, WGSS 531

QS 532. GENDER, SEXUALITY, AND THE PHOTOGRAPHIC IMAGE. (3 Credits)
A creative and discussion-based course focusing on ways in which photography can and has addressed issues of gender and sexuality. An introduction to key concepts and intersections in Women’s, Gender and Sexuality Studies; Queer Studies and photography theory. Students will create written and photographic responses to artworks, texts, personal experience and pop-culture. CROSSLISTED as ART 532, WGSS 532.

QS 562. QUEER THEORIES. (4 Credits)
Engages key themes and critical frameworks in queer theories. Topics include histories of sexuality; forms of oppression, including heterosexism, homophobia, and transphobia; resistance to oppression; violence against LGBTQ people; queer activism; diverse experiences of sexuality; and representations in literature, art, and popular media. CROSSLISTED as WGSS 462/WGSS 562.
Equivalent to: WGSS 562

QS 569. TOPICS IN JOTERIA STUDIES. (3 Credits)
A space for engaging with arts, activism and scholarship emerging from queer Latin@/Chican@ experiences and consciousness is provided. Offered winter term in odd years. CROSSLISTED as ES 569, SPAN 569, WGSS 569.
Equivalent to: ES 569, SPAN 569, WGSS 569
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

QS 572. INDIGENOUS TWO-SPIRIT AND QUEER STUDIES. (4 Credits)
"Two-spirit" refers to North American indigenous genders outside of European male/female binaries. Two-spirit communities argue for decolonization as a central political struggle, calling all people to unlearn settler colonial gender/sexuality on Native land. This course addresses indigenous two-spirit/GLBTQ issues through theory, literature, activism, and art. CROSSLISTED as ES 572, WGSS 572.
Equivalent to: ES 572, WGSS 572

QS 573. TRANSGENDER LIVES. (4 Credits)
With a particular focus on transgender people of color and transnational constructions of gender, this course will engage issues in the lives of Transgender people through autobiography, memoir, biography, poetry, and documentary film. CROSSLISTED as WGSS 473/WGSS 573.
Equivalent to: WGSS 573

QS 576. TRANSNATIONAL SEXUALITIES. (4 Credits)
Explores contemporary experiences of sexualities within transnational contexts. Analyzes themes including queer and LGBTIQ organizing, same-sex desires, queer transnational immigration and labor flows, sex industries and disclosures of trafficking, sex tourism, and reproductive justice, using feminist, queer, and postcolonial theoretical frameworks. CROSSLISTED as WGSS 475/WGSS 575.
Equivalent to: WGSS 576

QS 577. QUEER/TRANS PEOPLE OF COLOR ARTS AND ACTIVISM. (4 Credits)
LGBTQ people of color often engage struggles for social justice through artistic movements. This course will focus on arts by LGBTQ people of color and the way these artistic movements contribute to activism that interrupts interlocking systems of oppression. CROSSLISTED as ES 477/ES 577, WGSS 477/WGSS 577.
Equivalent to: WGSS 577

QS 579. SPECIAL TOPICS IN QUEER STUDIES. (4 Credits)
Topics in gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, and queer issues and scholarship. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. This course is repeatable for 12 credits.
RANGELAND ECOLOGY & MANAGEMENT (RNG)

RNG 121. *INTRODUCTION TO WILDLAND ECOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Ecological principles will be applied to understand contemporary issues related to wildlands, specifically the rangeland biomes that comprises over 50% of the Earth's surface (FAO, SRM, USDA ERS). Topics to be covered fall into the following categories: Fundamentals of Ecology; Animals (wildlife & livestock); Disturbance (e.g., invasive species, fire, mineral extraction, etc.); Ecosystem Goods & Services (e.g., carbon sequestration, watersheds, biodiversity, recreation, etc.). The course will largely focus on U.S. wildlands, however a portion will examine the ecology and issues of international rangelands in Africa, Eurasia, Australia, and South America. (Bacc Core Course)

Attributes: CPBS – Core, Pers, Biological Science

RNG 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: RNG 299H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 299H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: RNG 299
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 341. RANGELAND ECOLOGY AND MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Nature and management of rangelands. Integrated land use with emphasis on plant-animal-soil interactions.

RNG 351. RANGE ECOLOGY I-GRASSLANDS. (3 Credits)
Principles and terminology of grassland ecology. Addresses the spatial-temporal dynamics of structure, function, and process in North American grassland ecosystems. Water, nutrient cycles and energy pathways are explored in context of the variable driving forces of climate (drought), herbivory, and fire.

RNG 352. RANGE ECOLOGY II-SHRUBLANDS. (3 Credits)
Introduces the ecology of shrublands using an autecological approach. Explores the effects of stressors such as temperature, drought, fire, and herbivory on plant morphology, physiology, reproduction, and growth. Covers life histories of common shrubs and descriptions of shrubland communities used to promote understanding of autecological principles.

RNG 353. WILDLAND PLANT IDENTIFICATION. (4 Credits)
Students will learn how to identify approximately 100 plant species found in wildlands of North America and Mexico. Individual plant species ecology, basic plant anatomy and identification characteristics observable only through a microscope or dissecting scope, and how to use a dichotomous key for plant ID will also be covered.

RNG 355. DESERT WATERSHED MANAGEMENT. (4 Credits)
A systems-based understanding of hydrologic processes in arid and semiarid landscapes. The class is focused on gaining knowledge of multiple ecological and hydrological interactions occurring in dryland watersheds and on discussing practical methodology aimed to enhance site productivity and ecosystem resilience. Emphasis is placed on land use effects on watershed function; monitoring of soil, water, and vegetation variables; and methods of rehabilitation of degraded landscapes. The course has a strong experiential learning component through a series of 'hands-on' practicums and a field trip to a semiarid location in eastern Oregon. Lec/lab.

May be repeated for a total of 16 credits. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 403. SENIOR THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 411. ADVANCED PLANT ID. (2 Credits)
Advanced rangeland plant taxonomy. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 421. WILDLAND RESTORATION AND ECOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Emphasis is placed on understanding the ecology of arid and semiarid ecosystems through the study of ecological processes responsible for ecosystem function. Range improvement practices for stabilizing and repairing degraded wildlands by directing autogenic recovery mechanisms are discussed. This involves manipulating plants, soil, animals and microenvironments for improved ecosystem function.

RNG 430. APPLIED GIS IN RANGELAND SCIENCE. (4 Credits)
Introducing the use of GIS and geospatial information (remote sensing for GIS, GPS, landscape ecology, and cartography principles) in rangeland sciences problem solving and analysis. Prerequisites: GEO 365 with D- or better or GEOG 360 with D- or better.

RNG 441. RANGELAND ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Techniques used to describe vegetation in shrublands, grasslands, and forests. Use of measurements in resource management. Course is field-oriented, emphasizing both theory and practice of wildland inventory methods.

RNG 442. RANGELAND-ANIMAL RELATIONS. (4 Credits)
Domestic and wild animal use of rangelands as related to environmental factors, palatability, food habits, nutrition, physiography, and their effects on management of rangeland-animal resources.

RNG 455. RIPARIAN ECOHYDROLOGY AND MANAGEMENT. (4 Credits)
A systems approach to study ecological and hydrological relationships occurring in riparian ecosystems. The class is focused on gaining knowledge of multiple connections between soil, water, and terrestrial vegetation occurring in riparian systems. Emphasis is placed on land use effects on the riparian ecologic and hydrologic function, methods of rehabilitation, and theories of the proper use of riparian ecosystems under a multiple-use philosophy (i.e., fish, wildlife, livestock, aesthetics, recreation, and silviculture).

RNG 470. PASTORAL SYSTEMS OF THE WORLD. (4 Credits)
Description and evaluation of ecosystems which support grazing animals and pastoralists. Biology, ecology and management of these landscapes will be explored through climate, soils, and plant communities and human-livestock interactions. The historic role of trade and contemporary challenges to the ecological, social and economic sustainability of pastoral systems will be examined.

RNG 490. RANGELAND MANAGEMENT PLANNING. (4 Credits)
Administration and management of rangelands; planning processes involving goal setting, inventories, personnel management, environment, conflict resolution, and other constraints necessary for decision-making. Use of data collected from field problems to support the execution of class plans. Field trip required. Lec/lab.
RNG 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 503. MASTER'S THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

RNG 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 507. SEMINAR. (1-2 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 521. WILDLAND RESTORATION AND ECOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Emphasis is placed on understanding the ecology of arid and semi-arid ecosystems through the study of ecological processes responsible for ecosystem function. Range improvement practices for stabilizing and repairing degraded wildlands by directing autogenic recovery mechanisms are discussed. This involves manipulating plants, soil, animals and microenvironments for improved ecosystem function.

RNG 541. Rangeland Analysis. (4 Credits)
Techniques used to describe vegetation in shrub-lands, grasslands, and forests. Use of measurements in resource management. Course is field-oriented, emphasizing both theory and practice of wildland inventory methods.

RNG 542. RANGELAND-ANIMAL RELATIONS. (4 Credits)
Domestic and wild animal use of rangelands as related to environmental factors, palatability, food habits, nutrition, physiography, and their effects on management of rangeland-animal resources.

RNG 555. RIPARIAN ECOHYDROLOGY AND MANAGEMENT. (4 Credits)

Emphasis is placed on land use effects on the riparian ecologic and hydrologic function, methods of rehabilitation, and theories of the proper use of riparian ecosystems under a multiple-use philosophy (i.e., fish, wildlife, livestock, aesthetics, recreation, and silviculture).

RNG 577. AGROFORESTRY. (3 Credits)
Theory and worldwide practice of multiple-crop low input sustainable systems involving concurrent production of tree and agricultural products. Biological, economic, social, and political factors that underlie the application of agroforestry technology. CROSSLISTED as FES 477/ FES 577, NR 477.
Equivalent to: FES 577

RNG 590. RANGELAND MANAGEMENT PLANNING. (4 Credits)
Administration and management of rangelands; planning processes involving goal setting, inventories, personnel management, environment, conflict resolution, and other constraints necessary for decision-making. Use of data collected from field problems to support the execution of class plans. Field trip required. Lec/lab.

RNG 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 607. SEMINAR. (1-2 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 608. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RNG 643. WILDLAND PLANT ECOPHYSIOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Emphasizes the physiological ecology of plants living in arid and semi-arid ecosystems. Primary class emphasis will include photosynthesis, respiration, water stress and water use efficiency, stable isotopes, root structure and function, nutrient uptake and stress, and defoliation. Offered every other winter, odd years.

RNG 662. RANGELAND ECOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Studies ecological theory and related resource management implications in rangelands and arid wildlands. Topics include the history and development of rangeland ecology, plant demography, invasive species, plant population dynamics, disturbance theory, succession, vegetation classification and range condition assessments. Offered every other winter, even years.

RNG 670. ECOLOGICAL INVASIVE PLANT MANAGEMENT. (2 Credits)

RNG 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
RELIGIOUS STUDIES (REL)

REL 160. *QUESTS FOR MEANING: WORLD RELIGIONS. (4 Credits)
A survey and analysis of the search for meaning and life fulfillment represented in major religious traditions of the world, such as Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, Zen, Confucianism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. (Lec/rec. (H) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as PHL 160.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: PHL 160, PHL 160H, REL 160

REL 160H. *QUESTS FOR MEANING: WORLD RELIGIONS. (0-4 Credits)
A survey and analysis of the search for meaning and life fulfillment represented in major religious traditions of the world, such as Hinduism, Buddhism, Taoism, Zen, Confucianism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. (Lec/rec. (H) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as PHL 160H.

Equivalent to: PHL 160, PHL 160H, REL 160

REL 170. *THE IDEA OF GOD. (4 Credits)
Concepts and images of God and their connections to world-views, experience, science, gender, society, self-understanding, and religions. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as PHL 170.
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: PHL 170

REL 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

REL 201. STUDY OF PEACE AND THE CAUSES OF CONFLICT. (3 Credits)
Examination of the causes of personal, social, and institutional conflict and peaceful, constructive means of dealing with conflict. The history and current status of peace movements within and outside governments; prospects for world peace. Case studies in peace and conflict (H) CROSSLISTED as PAX 201.
Attributes: LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: PAX 201

REL 202. INTRODUCTION TO RELIGIOUS STUDIES. (4 Credits)
An introduction to the academic study of religion. It examines the concepts of religion and the sacred, approaches to the study of religion, ubiquitous features of religious experience, including symbol, myth, ritual, and community understandings of the human condition in diverse religious traditions, and ways religious communities address challenges of pluralism and secularization. CROSSLISTED as PHL 202.
Equivalent to: PHL 202

REL 206. *RELIGIOUS ETHICS AND MORAL PROBLEMS. (4 Credits)
An examination of the practical ethics of the monotheistic religious traditions of the West–Judaism, Christianity, Islam–and their different approaches to concrete moral problems. Topics include sexuality and marriage, euthanasia, capital punishment, pacifism and just war, and environmentalism. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as PHL 206.
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: PHL 206

REL 208. INTRODUCTION TO BUDDHIST TRADITIONS. (4 Credits)
Survey of the historical development of Buddhism in India and its spread throughout Asia and beyond by investigating the literature, rituals, history and social structure of the Buddhist traditions of Sri Lanka and Southeast Asia, Tibet and the Himalayan region, China, Taiwan, Korea, Japan, and finally its growth in the West. (NC) CROSSLISTED as PHL 208.
Attributes: LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: PHL 208

REL 210. *RELIGION IN THE UNITED STATES. (4 Credits)
A thematic overview of the historical study of religion in the United States, with an eye toward ways that social and cultural contexts have shaped the religious experience of Americans in different places and times. Surveys a wide array of religious movements, groups, and individuals from the colonial period to present. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 210, PHL 210.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: HST 210, HST 210H, PHL 210, PHL 210H, REL 210H

REL 210H. *RELIGION IN THE UNITED STATES. (4 Credits)

Equivalent to: HST 210, HST 210H, PHL 210, PHL 210H, REL 210L

REL 213. *INTRODUCTION TO HINDU TRADITIONS. (4 Credits)
Survey of the historical development of Hinduism in India and the "Hindu Diaspora." Topics will include the Indus Valley civilization, the Vedic tradition, yoga, and Hindu renunciation, "Classical" Hindu theism and devotion, Hindu philosophy and ritual, and modern and contemporary Hinduism. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as PHL 213.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: PHL 213

REL 214. *INTRODUCTION TO ISLAMIC TRADITIONS. (4 Credits)
Development of Islamic traditions in the Arab world and in the global context. Origins of Islam, the narrative of the Prophet Mohammad, the development of the Qur’an, and the central tenets of Islamic faith and practice. Transformation of Islam from a regional to a global tradition. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 214.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: PHL 214

REL 215. *INTRODUCTION TO JEWISH TRADITIONS. (4 Credits)
An introduction to Judaism's traditions, histories, and practices. Covers historical origins and developments from the biblical period through the Middle Ages, and considers Judaism in the modern world. Topics include the Jewish calendar (including holidays and their traditions), Jewish life cycle events, Jewish prayer, and traditional texts such as the Mishnah and Talmud. CROSSLISTED as HST 215. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: HST 215

REL 220. *WORLD-VIEWS AND VALUES IN THE BIBLE. (4 Credits)
A study of central portions of the Bible (in the Old Testament: Torah, prophets, psalms, and wisdom; in the New Testament: Jesus, gospels, and letters) from the perspective of the academic discipline of biblical scholarship, exploring the philosophical questions of the relationships between story, myth, thought, values, and understandings of life. Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: HST 324, REL 324

REL 325. *EARLY CHRISTIANITY: ORIGINS TO 600. (4 Credits)
Traces early Christianity from its origins to the beginning of the Middle Ages. It deals with the origins and Jewish background of Christianity in Palestine, the ministry and teachings of Jesus, the spread of Christianity throughout the Roman Empire by his disciples and early missionaries, the formation of the New Testament canon, the development of Christian doctrine, controversies over heresy, and the origin of monasticism and the Papacy. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 325.
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: HST 325

REL 327. HISTORY OF MEDIEVAL EUROPE. (4 Credits)
Cultural, political, and economic history of the European Middle Ages from the fall of the Roman Empire in the West to the Renaissance. Covers 284 A.D. to 1000. Not offered every year. (H). CROSSLISTED as HST 327.
Attributes: LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: HST 327

REL 328. HISTORY OF MEDIEVAL EUROPE. (4 Credits)
Cultural, political, and economic history of the European Middle Ages from the fall of the Roman Empire in the West to the Renaissance. Covers 1000 to 1400. Not offered every year. (H) CROSSLISTED as HST 328.
Attributes: LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: HST 328

REL 330. HISTORY OF EARLY MODERN EUROPE. (4 Credits)
Political, social, intellectual, and cultural history of Europe from 1400-1789. Focuses on the Reformation. Not offered every year. (H) CROSSLISTED as HST 330.
Attributes: LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: HST 330

REL 333. MEDIEVAL AND EARLY MODERN SPANISH HISTORY. (4 Credits)
From Islamic conquest to conquest of America, the social, religious, political and economic history of Spain from 1000 to 1700. Offered fall term in odd years. (H) CROSSLISTED as HST 333.
Attributes: LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: HST 333

REL 344. *PACIFISM, JUST WAR, AND TERRORISM. (4 Credits)
An examination of the philosophical and theological issues pertaining to pacifism, justified war, and forms of terrorism in Islamic and Western traditions. Special attention is given to concepts of jihad, justifications of war, and restraints on conduct in war. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 344.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: PHL 344

REL 345. *FIRST FREEDOM: RELIGIOUS LIBERTY AND INTOLERANCE. (4 Credits)
An examination of the religious, philosophical, political, and historical issues regarding religious freedom, conscience, and disestablishment as enshrined in the First Amendment and as illustrated by historical and contemporary examples of religious intolerance in the United States. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 345.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Equivalent to: PHL 345
REL 350. *MODERN LATIN AMERICA. (4 Credits)
History of Latin America leading up to and after Spanish and Portuguese conquest. Focus on indigenous American, European and African cultures and religions in contact under colonial government and economic systems. Covers the period from 1400 to 1810. (H) (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 350.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: HST 350, HST 350H

REL 352. *AFRICANS IN LATIN AMERICAN HISTORY. (4 Credits)
A survey of the role of Africans and their descendants in Latin American history, linking the history of the Americas, Europe and Africa. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 352.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: HST 352

REL 353. *SLAVERY IN THE AMERICAS. (4 Credits)
A survey of the roles of Africans and their descendants in the history of the Atlantic World, linking Europe, Africa, and the Americas. Examines slavery and freedom in the African Diaspora, as well as social, cultural, and spiritual life. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 353.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: HST 353

REL 354. *UNITED STATES RELIGION AND SOCIAL REFORM. (4 Credits)
Provides an awareness of how various religious groups have thought about and engaged with social change pertaining to slavery, feminism, civil rights, same-sex marriage, and immigration. Focus on reading primary sources related to each of these issues. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 354.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Equivalent to: HST 364

REL 371. *PHILOSOPHIES OF CHINA. (4 Credits)
A study of the traditional philosophies of China, including Confucianism, Taoism, Mohism, Legalism, and Buddhism. Not offered every year. (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 371.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: PHL 371, PHL 371H

REL 376. *RELIGION AND GENDER: A GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE. (4 Credits)
Introduces students to the academic study of religion, as well as the academic study of gender. In order to offer a global perspective, we will read a series of case studies that deal with the religion as a gendered experience. Students will produce two essays, one of which will be based on independent research. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 376 and WGSS 378.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: HST 378, WGSS 378

REL 385. *ISLAMIC CIVILIZATION. (4 Credits)
Political, social, and religious developments from 600 to 1400. Early history and the formation of Islamic society to the Mongol invasion. (H) (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 385.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: HST 387

REL 388. *ISLAMIC CIVILIZATION. (4 Credits)
Political, social, and religious developments from 1400 to the present. The expansion of Islam, Turkic, and Asian dynasties, impact of Western imperialism and modern Islamic world. (H) (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 388.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: HST 388

REL 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

REL 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-12 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

REL 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

REL 407. *SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
(Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

REL 411. GREAT FIGURES IN PHILOSOPHY. (4 Credits)
Study of the works of a major philosopher such as Plato, Aristotle, Descartes, Hume, Kant, or Marx. Each course normally devoted to the work of a single figure. Need not be taken in sequence. Not offered every year. (H) CROSSLISTED as PHL 411/PHL 511.
Attributes: LACN – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: PHL 411
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

REL 415. SELECTED TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

REL 425. *THE HOLOCAUST IN ITS HISTORY. (4 Credits)
An inquiry into the causes, course, and impact of the Holocaust. The general theme of anti-Semitism in European history is explored for background. Topics discussed for comparative purposes include anti-Semitism in American history; other episodes of mass murder in the 20th century. Not offered every year. (H) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 425, HST 525.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; LACN – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: HST 425, HST 425H, REL 425H

REL 425H. *THE HOLOCAUST IN ITS HISTORY. (4 Credits)
An inquiry into the causes, course, and impact of the Holocaust. The general theme of anti-Semitism in European history is explored for background. Topics discussed for comparative purposes include anti-Semitism in American history; other episodes of mass murder in the 20th century. Not offered every year. (H) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as HST 425H.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: HST 425, HST 425H, REL 425

REL 430. HISTORY OF BUDDHIST PHILOSOPHY. (4 Credits)
Examination of the major philosophical schools, texts, and thinkers in Buddhist history, emphasizing its Indian origins, but looking beyond to the various Buddhist traditions throughout Asia. (NC) CROSSLISTED as PHL 430/PHL 530.
Attributes: LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: PHL 430, PHL 430H
REL 431. BUDDHISM, NON-VIOLENCE, AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. (4 Credits)
Investigates the philosophical grounding of Buddhist ideas about non-violence, justice and social responsibility. Looks at broad-based Buddhist social activism movements and leaders; their methods of training, issues and types of actions taken by "Socially Engaged Buddhists" living Buddhist traditions. CROSSLISTED as PHL 431.
Equivalent to: PHL 431, PHL 431H

REL 432. *YOGA AND TANTRIC TRADITIONS. (4 Credits)
An examination of the theory and practice of yoga and tantra in the traditions of Hinduism, Buddhism, and Jainism, and in their contemporary popular manifestations. Emphasis on the representation of yoga and tantra in Indian literature and history, including contemplative practices, bodily disciplines, and ritual. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 432/PHL 532.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: PHL 432

REL 433. *THEORY AND PRACTICE OF MODERN YOGA. (4 Credits)
An examination of the phenomenon of modern yoga in theory and in practice. Emphasis on the roots of contemporary forms of yoga in the intersection between traditional Hindu and Buddhist formulations of yoga, Indian wrestling and martial arts, European gymnastics, and cosmo-politan conceptions of "bodily culture" of both European and Indian origins. CROSSLISTED as PHL 433, PHL 533. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: PHL 433

REL 433H. *WORLD VIEWS AND ENVIRONMENTAL VALUES. (3 Credits)
A comparative study of world-views (secular and religious, Western and Eastern, modern and ancient) and how they affect concepts of nature, environmental values, and selected environmental issues. (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 443H.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: PHL 443, PHL 443H, REL 443

REL 434. *SPIRITUALITY AND ECOLOGY: GREEN YOGA. (4 Credits)
An exploration of the relationship between spirituality and ecological engagement in traditional contexts and in contemporary spirituality, with a global focus on contemplative practices rooted in Indian tradition, such as yoga. CROSSLISTED as PHL 434, PHL 534.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Equivalent to: PHL 434, PHL 434H, REL 434H

REL 434H. *SPIRITUALITY AND ECOLOGY: GREEN YOGA. (4 Credits)
An exploration of the relationship between spirituality and ecological engagement in traditional contexts and in contemporary spirituality, with a global focus on contemplative practices rooted in Indian tradition, such as yoga. CROSSLISTED as REL 434H, REL 534H.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: PHL 434, PHL 434H, REL 434

REL 436. PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION. (3 Credits)
Examination of significant philosophical issues or movements and their relationship to theology and religion. CROSSLISTED as PHL 436/PHL 536.
Equivalent to: PHL 436

REL 443. *WORLD VIEWS AND ENVIRONMENTAL VALUES. (3 Credits)
A comparative study of world-views (secular and religious, Western and Eastern, modern and ancient) and how they affect concepts of nature, environmental values, and selected environmental issues. (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 443, PHL 543.
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: PHL 443, PHL 443H, REL 443H

REL 444. *BIOMEDICAL ETHICS. (4 Credits)
Application of ethical principles and decision-making processes to selected problems in medicine, health care, and biotechnology. Special attention given to end-of-life choices, reproductive rights and technologies, organ transplantation, research ethics, genetic engineering, and allocating scarce resources. An interdisciplinary focus that draws on social, legal, economic, and scientific issues in ethical decisions in medicine. (H) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as PHL 444/PHL 544.
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: PHL 444, PHL 444H, REL 444H

REL 444H. *BIOMEDICAL ETHICS. (4 Credits)
Application of ethical principles and decision-making processes to selected problems in medicine, health care, and biotechnology. Special attention given to end-of-life choices, reproductive rights and technologies, organ transplantation, research ethics, genetic engineering, and allocating scarce resources. An interdisciplinary focus that draws on social, legal, economic, and scientific issues in ethical decisions in medicine. (H) (Bacc Core Course)

REL 448. NATIVE AMERICAN PHILOSOPHIES. (4 Credits)
Native American perspectives on ways of knowing, sources of meaning and ethics, the nature of reality, self, community, and cosmos. Includes lectures, scholarship, story-telling, poetry, theater, and music as forums for this exploration. Introduces ideas of leading Native American thinkers about the human relation to the natural world, sources of strength and wisdom, the nature of time and place and spirit, right ways of acting in communities, both civic and biotic, and the place of beauty in a well-lived life. (NC) CROSSLISTED as ES 448/ES 548, PHL 448/PHL 548.
Attributes: LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: ES 448, PHL 448

REL 455. DEATH AND DYING. (3 Credits)
A multidisciplinary study of cultural, philosophical, and religious perspectives on death, dying, and grieving. Not offered every year. CROSSLISTED as REL 455, PHL 555.
Equivalent to: PHL 455

REL 461. ART AND MORALITY. (4 Credits)
The arts in context of their connections to, and conflicts with, varied conceptions of the common good. Topics include free expression and community standards, museums and obligations toward cultural treasures, art in public places, public funding of art, the politics of taste. CROSSLISTED as PHL 461/PHL 561.
Equivalent to: PHL 461
REL 466. RELIGION AND U.S. FOREIGN RELATIONS. (4 Credits)
An examination of the intersection of religion and U.S. foreign relations from the late nineteenth century to the present. Surveys major events in U.S. diplomacy, including war and peace and explores the role of religion and religious ideas in shaping national identity, core values, and civil religion. CROSSTLISTED as HST 466/HST 566.
Equivalent to: HST 466

REL 470. RELIGION IN THE AMERICAN WEST. (4 Credits)
The history of religion in the American West. Examines four themes in the religious history of the American West: locations (the designation of particular places as special), migrations (movement in and out of the region), adaptations (changes over time, in response to changing conditions), and discrimination (recognition of difference, as well as prejudicial treatment based on difference). Engages with various primary and secondary sources, including texts, films, and photographs. CROSSTLISTED as HST 470.

REL 484. RELIGION AND LAW. (4 Credits)
Investigates the relationship between religion and law in Jewish, Christian, and Muslim society, as well as modern western "secular" society, considering the question from a theoretical, historical, and contemporary case-study perspective. We will look at the religious origins of legal systems, the ways in which members of religious communities engaged with their own and others' laws, and the ways in which modern societies have used law to separate "religion" from the state. CROSSTLISTED as HST 484.
Equivalent to: HST 484

REL 485. *POLITICS AND RELIGION IN THE MODERN MIDDLE EAST. (4 Credits)
The role of religious and secular ideologies in the politics of the 20th century Middle East. Topics include the impact of liberal and nationalist thought, the Iranian revolution, radical Islamist movements, and Zionism. (H) (NC) (Bacc Core Course) CROSSTLISTED as HST 485/HST 585.
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Equivalent to: HST 485

REL 511. GREAT FIGURES IN PHILOSOPHY. (4 Credits)
Study of the works of a major philosopher such as Plato, Aristotle, Descartes, Hume, Kant, or Marx. Each course normally devoted to the work of a single figure. Need not be taken in sequence. Not offered every year. CROSSLISTED as PHL 411/PHL 511.
Equivalent to: PHL 511

REL 525. THE HOLOCAUST IN ITS HISTORY. (4 Credits)
An inquiry into the causes, course, and impact of the Holocaust. The general theme of anti-Semitism in European history is explored for background. Topics discussed for comparative purposes include anti-Semitism in American history; other episodes of mass murder in the 20th century. Not offered every year. CROSSTLISTED as HST 425, HST 525.
Equivalent to: HST 525

REL 530. HISTORY OF BUDDHIST PHILOSOPHY. (4 Credits)
Examination of the major philosophical schools, texts, and thinkers in Buddhist history, emphasizing its Indian origins, but looking beyond to the various Buddhist traditions throughout Asia. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 430/PHL 530.
Equivalent to: PHL 530

REL 531. BUDDHISM, NON-VIOLENCE, AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. (4 Credits)
Investigates the philosophical grounding of Buddhist ideas about non-violence, justice and social responsibility. Looks at broad-based Buddhist social activism movements and leaders; their methods of training, issues and types of actions taken by "Socially Engaged Buddhists" living Buddhist traditions. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 531.

An examination of the theory and practice of yoga and tantra in the traditions of Hinduism, Buddhism, and Jainism, and in their contemporary popular manifestations. Emphasis on the representation of yoga and tantra in Indian literature and history, including contemplative practices, bodily disciplines, and ritual. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 432/PHL 532.
Equivalent to: PHL 532

REL 533. THEORY AND PRACTICE OF MODERN YOGA. (4 Credits)
An examination of the phenomenon of modern yoga in theory and in practice. Emphasis on the roots of contemporary forms of yoga in the intersection between traditional Hindu and Buddhist formulations of yoga, Indian wrestling and martial arts, European gymnastics, and cosmopolitan conceptions of "bodily culture" of both European and Indian origins. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 433, PHL 533.
Equivalent to: PHL 533

REL 534. SPIRITUALITY AND ECOCY: GREEN YOGA. (4 Credits)
An exploration of the relationship between spirituality and ecological engagement in traditional contexts and in contemporary spirituality, with a global focus on contemplative practices rooted in Indian tradition, such as yoga. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 434, PHL 534.
Equivalent to: PHL 534

REL 536. PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION. (3 Credits)
Examination of significant philosophical issues or movements and their relationship to theology and religion. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 436/PHL 536.
Equivalent to: PHL 536

REL 543. WORLD VIEWS AND ENVIRONMENTAL VALUES. (3 Credits)
A comparative study of world-views (secular and religious, Western and Eastern, modern and ancient) and how they affect concepts of nature, environmental values, and selected environmental issues. CROSSTLISTED as PHL 443, PHL 543.
Equivalent to: PHL 543

REL 544. BIOMEDICAL ETHICS. (4 Credits)
Application of ethical principles and decision-making processes to selected problems in medicine, health care, and biotechnology. Special attention given to end-of-life choices, reproductive rights and technologies, organ transplantation, research ethics, genetic engineering, and allocating scarce resources. Equivalent to: HST 585
ROB 421. APPLIED ROBOTICS. (4 Credits)
Multidisciplinary teams of students design, build, and demonstrate a robotic system, including all sensing, computation, and actuation. The specific task, such as checkers-playing robots, changes each year, and is designed to be challenging for ambitious students. Robots will compete in a friendly competition at the end of the term. Lec/lab.

ROB 456. INTELLIGENT ROBOTS. (4 Credits)
Foundations of probabilistic reasoning for robotics. Topics include state estimation, robot motion, perception, localization and decision making under uncertainty.

ROB 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

ROB 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

ROB 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ROB 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ROB 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ROB 514. INTRODUCTION TO ROBOTICS. (4 Credits)
A broad introduction to the field of robotics, and to the graduate Robotics program. The goal of the class is to take students with different backgrounds (mechanical engineering, computer science, electrical engineering, physics, etc.) and give them a common base in the fundamentals of robotics. A secondary goal is to introduce students to the Robotics program, and to give them some of the skills that will make them successful, both in the program and as a professional roboticist.

ROB 521. RESEARCH ROBOTICS. (4 Credits)
Multidisciplinary teams of students will use the backdrop of a robotics competition to generate a research question, then design, build, and demonstrate a robotic system that is used to answer this research question. An example may be a Jenga-playing robot, where students try a new computer vision algorithm, or test a theory on force control. This directly parallels graduate research in robotics, where systems-building is necessary, and toy problems can illustrate research results, but the important focus is a core research question. The specific competition task changes each year, and robots will compete at the end of the term. Lec/lab.

ROB 534. SEQUENTIAL DECISION MAKING IN ROBOTICS. (4 Credits)
Examines sequential decision making in robotics with a focus on motion planning and related optimization problems applied to fielded systems in marine, aerial, and ground domains. Discussions regarding both fundamental background material as well as cutting edge research in the following areas: discrete planning, sampling-based planning, planning under uncertainty, multi-robot systems, optimization, and performance guarantees.

ROB 537. LEARNING-BASED CONTROL. (4 Credits)
Provides an introduction to learning systems and their application to the control of nonlinear systems. Covered topics include neural networks, reinforcement learning, and evolutionary algorithms. Includes project component in which students write a technical paper and give a conference style presentation based on their project.

ROB 538. AUTONOMOUS AGENTS AND MULTI-AGENT SYSTEMS. (4 Credits)
Provides an introduction to autonomous agents and multi-agent systems. In particular, it focuses on how to use agents as building blocks for different autonomous systems. Covered topics include reinforcement learning, game theory, swarms, auctions, and collectives. Because this course covers a constantly evolving field, there will be a significant paper reading component in addition to the regular lectures. Students are expected to spend at least three hours a week reading, discussing and critiquing assigned papers.

ROB 541. GEOMETRIC MECHANICS. (4 Credits)
An introduction to geometric methods in the analysis of dynamic systems. Using the kinematics of simple robotic systems as a motivating example, we explore topics such as manifolds and Lie groups, representations of velocity, holonomic and nonholonomic constraints, constraint curvature and response to cyclic inputs, distance metrics.

ROB 542. ACTUATOR DYNAMICS. (4 Credits)
Focuses on how inertia, spring compliance, and other passive dynamics affect highly dynamic, software-controlled systems. Examples include robotic manipulation tasks, robot-human interaction, CNC machines, or legged locomotion. Lec/lab.

ROB 562. HUMAN CONTROL SYSTEMS. (4 Credits)
Covers mechanisms of human motor systems and control of the neuromusculoskeletal anatomy followed by functional analysis of these system components. Then all the components are integrated to study feedback control dynamics. Covers classic to modern theories of motor control, adaptation, cognitive involvement, and rehabilitation techniques. Equivalent to: ME 539

ROB 564. SOFT ROBOTICS. (4 Credits)
Soft robotics researchers propose building intelligent machines purely out of stretchable compressible soft materials. The course is centered on term-long projects that will result in real soft robots with the goal of presenting to the international community. The topics covered include rapid digital manufacturing, soft actuators, soft sensors, soft logic, soft energy, applications of soft robotics, and modeling soft mechanics.

ROB 566. HUMAN ROBOT INTERACTION. (4 Credits)
The field of human-robot interaction brings together research and application of methodology from robotics, human factors, human-computer interaction, interaction design, cognitive psychology, education and other fields to enable robots to have more natural and more rewarding interactions with humans throughout their spheres of functioning.

ROB 568. SOCIAL ROBOTICS. (4 Credits)
In-depth exploration of the leading research, design principles, and challenges in Human-Robot Interaction (HCI), with an emphasis on socially interactive robots. Topics include social embodiment, multi-modal communication, human-robot teamwork, social learning, aspects of social psychology and cognition, as well as applications and evaluation with human subjects. Requires participation, lightning talks, student-led lectures, written critiques of class readings, and a group project involving a hypothetical social robotics project.
ROB 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 32 credits.

ROB 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

ROB 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

ROB 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
RURAL STUDIES (RS)

RS 421. ECONOMICS OF RURAL POVERTY AND THE U.S. SOCIAL SAFETY NET. (4 Credits)
Examines the geography of poverty in the United States and the "social safety net" that the U.S. has constructed to reduce poverty and its negative effects. Understand the geographical consequences of federal policies and the challenges of providing social safety net programs in rural areas. CROSSLISTED as AEC 421.
Equivalent to: AEC 421

RS 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-5 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

RS 502. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-6 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

RS 512. INTRODUCTION TO RURAL STUDIES. (2 Credits)
Introduces students to the emerging theoretical perspectives, methodologies, and critical themes that define rural studies in the U.S. and elsewhere. It draws primarily from the disciplines of sociology, economics, anthropology, human development and geography, examining how each discipline understands and analyzes rural households and communities.

RS 513. CONTEMPORARY RURAL ISSUES. (2 Credits)
The focus will be on issues confronting rural Oregon. The class will also explore broader U.S. and international rural issues and examine commonalities and differences across cultures and development contexts. Weekly lecturers are drawn from the OSU community and beyond, including public policy makers, rural stakeholders, and nonprofit organizations.

RS 521. ECONOMICS OF RURAL POVERTY AND THE U.S. SOCIAL SAFETY NET. (4 Credits)
Examines the geography of poverty in the United States and the "social safety net" that the U.S. has constructed to reduce poverty and its negative effects. Understand the geographical consequences of federal policies and the challenges of providing social safety net programs in rural areas. CROSSLISTED as AEC 521.
Equivalent to: AEC 521

RS 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-5 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.
RUSSIAN (RUS)

RUS 111. FIRST-YEAR RUSSIAN. (4 Credits)
Pronunciation, intonation, grammar, reading, writing, listening comprehension and conversation. Designed for students with no prior training in Russian. Native and/or bilingual speakers of Russian will not receive credit for RUS 111, RUS 112, RUS 113.

Prerequisites: RUS 111 with D- or better

RUS 112. FIRST-YEAR RUSSIAN. (4 Credits)
Pronunciation, intonation, grammar, reading, writing, listening comprehension and conversation. Designed for students with no prior training in Russian. Native and/or bilingual speakers of Russian will not receive credit for RUS 111, RUS 112, RUS 113.

Prerequisites: RUS 111 with D- or better

RUS 113. FIRST-YEAR RUSSIAN. (4 Credits)
Pronunciation, intonation, grammar, reading, writing, listening comprehension and conversation. Designed for students with no prior training in Russian. Native and/or bilingual speakers of Russian will not receive credit for RUS 111, RUS 112, RUS 113.

Prerequisites: RUS 112 with D- or better

RUS 199. SPECIAL STUDIES. (1-16 Credits)
May be repeated for credit when topic varies. See Schedule of Classes for current offerings and prerequisites. Not offered every year.

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 211. SECOND-YEAR RUSSIAN. (4 Credits)
Further development of listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Native and/or bilingual speakers of Russian will not receive credit for RUS 211, RUS 212, RUS 213.

Prerequisites: RUS 211 with D- or better

RUS 212. SECOND-YEAR RUSSIAN. (4 Credits)
Further development of listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Native and/or bilingual speakers of Russian will not receive credit for RUS 211, RUS 212, RUS 213.

Prerequisites: RUS 211 with D- or better

RUS 213. SECOND-YEAR RUSSIAN. (4 Credits)
Further development of listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Native and/or bilingual speakers of Russian will not receive credit for RUS 211, RUS 212, RUS 213.

Completion of RUS 213 with a grade of C- or better satisfies BA requirement in foreign languages.

Prerequisites: RUS 212 with D- or better

RUS 299. SPECIAL STUDIES. (1-16 Credits)
May be repeated for credit when topic varies. See Schedule of Classes for current offerings and prerequisites. Not offered every year.

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 311. THIRD-YEAR RUSSIAN. (3 Credits)
Extensive practice in writing, reading, and speaking: refinement of grammar and pronunciation.

RUS 312. THIRD-YEAR RUSSIAN. (3 Credits)
Extensive practice in writing, reading, and speaking: refinement of grammar and pronunciation.

RUS 313. THIRD-YEAR RUSSIAN. (3 Credits)
Extensive practice in writing, reading, and speaking: refinement of grammar and pronunciation.

RUS 329. SPECIAL TOPICS IN LANGUAGE, CULTURE, AND/OR LITERATURE. (1-16 Credits)
May be repeated for credit when topic varies. See Schedule of Classes for current offerings and prerequisites. Not offered every year.

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-15 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 15 credits.

RUS 411. FOURTH-YEAR RUSSIAN. (3 Credits)
Emphasis on developing writing, speaking, and listening skills for proficiency progressing from textbook Russian to real-life Russian. Includes vocabulary study and some grammar review. Conducted in Russian.

RUS 412. FOURTH-YEAR RUSSIAN. (3 Credits)
Emphasis on developing writing, speaking, and listening skills, so that student's proficiency progresses from textbook Russian to real-life Russian. Includes vocabulary study and some grammar review. Conducted in Russian.

RUS 413. FOURTH-YEAR RUSSIAN. (3 Credits)
Emphasis on developing writing, speaking, and listening skills, so that student's proficiency progresses from textbook Russian to real-life Russian. Includes vocabulary study and some grammar review. Conducted in Russian.

RUS 502. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

RUS 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SCIENCE & MATHEMATICS EDUC (SED)

SED 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 409. FIELD PRACTICUM: SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS. (3 Credits)
Placement in middle or high school (grades 7-12) to assist in developing competencies with adolescents in science/mathematics classes.
This course is repeatable for 18 credits.

SED 412. TECHNOLOGY FOUNDATIONS FOR TEACHING MATH AND SCIENCE. (3 Credits)
Integration of instructional technologies with other strategies to teach math and science in elementary, middle, and secondary schools in the 21st century.

SED 413. INQUIRY IN SCIENCE AND SCIENCE EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Investigation of inquiry and the nature of inquiry in science as it relates to science education. Students will examine issues relating to integrating scientific understandings and practice into K-12 instruction.

SED 414. INQUIRY IN MATHEMATICS AND MATHEMATICS EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Investigation of mathematics as it relates to mathematics education. Students will examine issues related to integrating mathematical understanding, mathematics standards/curricula, and mathematics-specific strategies in K-12 instruction. Lec/lab.

SED 416. INQUIRY IN SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Investigation of inquiry and the nature of inquiry in mathematics and science as it relates to education. Students will examine issues relating to integrating mathematical and scientific understandings and practices into K-12 education.

SED 419. TEACHING MATHEMATICAL MODELING IN STEM. (3 Credits)
Provides students an overview of the content requirements in the Common Core Standards for Mathematics and the teaching practices that are central to those standards with a focus on the role of mathematical modeling. Students experience content lessons and lessons focused on supporting students in developing understanding of that content.

SED 431. OVERVIEW OF FREE-CHOICE LEARNING. (3 Credits)
Examines learning that occurs when people believe they have choices over what and how they learn, how much time they spend learning, and what their sources of information are. Covers current research on learning in museums, aquariums, zoos, botanical gardens, science centers, after-school programs, media and apprenticeships.

SED 435. COMMUNICATING OCEAN SCIENCES TO INFORMAL AUDIENCES. (3 Credits)
For students interested in improving their ability to communicate their scientific knowledge by helping general public and student audiences learn about ocean sciences in a wide variety of learning settings. Combines instruction in inquiry-based teaching methods and learning theory with work in student's local informal learning settings like museums, zoos, aquariums and libraries.

SED 459. SCIENCE AND THE NATURE OF INQUIRY. (3 Credits)
Focuses on inquiry approaches to the teaching and learning of science. Development of teaching strategies including materials and resources for teaching science using an inquiry approach as well as more teacher-directed approaches.

SED 473. SCIENCE PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
Development of pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12 science instruction: learning theory, nature of science, technology integration, and reform recommendations. Lec/lab/rec.

SED 474. MATHEMATICS PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
Development of pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12 mathematics instruction: learning theory, nature of mathematics, technology integration, and reform recommendations.

SED 476. MATHEMATICS PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY II. (4 Credits)
Development of additional pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12; stress on dominant themes of the school mathematics curriculum including problem solving, reasoning, communication, and connections as well as the integration of technology into the mathematics classroom. Prerequisites: SED 474 with D- or better

SED 477. SCIENCE PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY II. (4 Credits)
Development of pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12; science instruction; learning theory, nature of science, technology integration, and reform recommendations. Prerequisites: SED 473 with C or better

SED 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (3 Credits)
PREREQ: Provisional acceptance to Education Double Degree program. This course is repeatable for 18 credits.

SED 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

SED 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 509. PRACTICUM. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 510. PROFESSIONAL INTERNSHIP: SCIENCE OR MATHEMATICS EDUCATION. (1-16 Credits)
Supervised teaching experience at the elementary, middle or high school level; students experience general classroom and professional responsibilities common to the regular science or mathematics teacher. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SED 511. ANALYSIS OF CLASSROOMS I. (3 Credits)
Observation and analysis of the complex science/mathematics classroom (grades 3-12) and school culture and their impact on student learning.

SED 512. TECHNOLOGY FOUNDATIONS FOR TEACHING MATH AND SCIENCE. (3 Credits)
Integration of instructional technologies with other strategies to teach math and science in elementary, middle, and secondary schools in the 21st century.

SED 513. INQUIRY IN SCIENCE AND SCIENCE EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Investigation of inquiry and the nature of inquiry in science as it relates to science education. Students will examine issues relating to integrating scientific understandings and practice into K-12 instruction.

SED 514. INQUIRY IN MATHEMATICS AND MATHEMATICS EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Investigation of mathematics as it relates to mathematics education. Students will examine issues related to integrating mathematical understanding, mathematics standards/curricula, and mathematics-specific strategies in K-12 instruction. Lec/lab.

SED 516. INQUIRY IN SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Investigation of inquiry and the nature of inquiry in mathematics and science as it relates to education. Students will examine issue relating to integrating mathematical and scientific understandings and practices into K-12 education.

SED 519. TEACHING MATHEMATICAL MODELING IN STEM. (3 Credits)
Provides students an overview of the content requirements in the Common Core Standards for Mathematics and the teaching practices that are central to those standards with a focus on the role of mathematical modeling. Students experience content lessons and lessons focused on supporting students in developing understanding of that content.

SED 520. TECHNOLOGY FOR MATH AND SCIENCE EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Explore current and emerging technologies applied to math and science learning that promote critical thinking, communication, collaboration, and creativity. Gain technology skills and resources that can be transferred to formal and informal learning environments.

SED 531. OVERVIEW OF FREE-CHOICE LEARNING. (3 Credits)
Examines learning that occurs when people believe they have choices over what and how they learn, how much time they spend learning, and what their sources of information are. Covers current research on learning in museums, aquariums, zoos, botanical gardens, science centers, after-school programs, media and apprenticeships.

SED 535. COMMUNICATING OCEAN SCIENCES TO INFORMAL AUDIENCES. (3 Credits)
For students interested in improving their ability to communicate their scientific knowledge by helping general public and student audiences learn about ocean sciences in a wide variety of learning settings. Combines instruction in inquiry-based teaching methods and learning theory with work in student’s local informal learning settings like museums, zoos, aquariums and libraries.

SED 541. WEATHER CONCEPTS FOR SCIENCE AND MATH TEACHING. (3 Credits)
Science content and pedagogy in learning and teaching basic weather concepts.

SED 550. HIGH QUALITY SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS INSTRUCTION. (3 Credits)
Explores high quality science and mathematics instruction to prepare professional teachers in science and mathematics. Develops skills in high-leverage instructional practices and reviews research literature that supports these practices. Investigates social justice issues related to systems of schooling in the United States.

SED 552. MATHEMATICS METHODS: PRACTICUM I. (3 Credits)
Theoretical background, practical knowledge, and skills for teaching in mathematics classrooms (grades 3-12). Instructional methods/modes, classroom management, contemporary curriculum goals and instructional planning.

SED 553. SCIENCE METHODS/PRACTICUM I. (3 Credits)
Theoretical background, practical knowledge, and skills for teaching in science classrooms (grades 3-12). Instructional methods/modes, classroom management, contemporary curriculum goals and instructional planning.

SED 554. ENGINEERING AND SCIENCE IN THE LIVES OF STUDENTS. (3 Credits)
Explore the use of construction engineering as a vehicle to make science and math more relevant and useful for the everyday life of students.

SED 556. FOSTERING REFLECTIVE DISCOURSE IN SCIENCE AND MATH CONTEXTS. (3 Credits)
Examines ways of speaking that foster learning in science and mathematics contexts such as K-16 classrooms and free-choice learning settings (i.e., museums, zoos, science camps, etc.). Assignments assume the participant is a K-12 teacher or free-choice learning educator enrolled in a graduate licensure program or has access to an educational setting.

SED 573. SCIENCE PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
Development of pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12 science instruction: learning theory, nature of science, technology integration, and reform recommendations. Lec/lab/rec.

SED 574. MATHEMATICS PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
Development of pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12 mathematics instruction: learning theory, nature of mathematics, technology integration, and reform recommendations.

SED 576. MATHEMATICS PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY II. (4 Credits)
Development of additional pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12; stress on dominant themes of the school mathematics curriculum including problem solving, reasoning, communication, and connections as well as the integration of technology into the mathematics classroom.

Prerequisites: SED 574 with C or better

SED 577. SCIENCE PEDAGOGY AND TECHNOLOGY II. (4 Credits)
Development of pedagogical content knowledge in grades 6-12; science instruction; learning theory, nature of science, technology integration, and reform recommendations.

Prerequisites: SED 573 with C or better

SED 580. RESEARCH AND EVALUATION. (3 Credits)
Analysis of qualitative and quantitative empirical research in science education, mathematics education and education in general.
Development of data collection instruments for use by researchers and teachers of science education, mathematics education and education in general, including portfolio and other forms of alternative assessment.

SED 581. PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND PRACTICUM IN MATHEMATICS. (3 Credits)
Developing and implementing a program for continuing learning and evaluation in mathematics education.
SED 582. PERSONAL DIMENSIONS OF FREE-CHOICE LEARNING. (3 Credits)
Investigates the fundamental roles that identity, motivation, interest, prior knowledge and experience, and choice and control play in supporting learning and how learning leaders can build on these dimensions of learning in order to successfully engage lifelong learners.

SED 583. SOCIO-CULTURAL DIMENSIONS OF FREE-CHOICE LEARNING. (3 Credits)
Investigates connections between theories of free-choice learning and the fundamental concepts of sociology, social psychology and anthropology: social stratification, social structure and interaction, social institutions, and cultural background. Real world examples will be included to support learning leaders' efforts to facilitate the socio-cultural dimensions of lifelong science and mathematics learning.

SED 584. PHYSICAL DIMENSIONS OF FREE-CHOICE LEARNING. (3 Credits)
Learning is influenced by the interaction of variables within three contexts—personal, socio-cultural and physical. This course focuses on how macro-scale environmental factors (e.g. space, crowding, novelty) and micro-scale environmental factors (e.g. design elements, real objects, different media) support free-choice learning.

SED 592. PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND PRACTICUM IN SCIENCE. (3 Credits)
Developing and implementing a program for continuing learning and evaluation in science education.

SED 594. ADVANCED INSTRUCTIONAL STRATEGIES IN SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS. (3 Credits)
Explore instructional strategies and skills for K-12 science and math teachers to support student learning rigorous content.

SED 595. ASSESSMENT AND EVALUATION. (3 Credits)
Examines education assessment focusing on formative assessment in multiple contexts across learning environments.

SED 597. PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT IN MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Development of strategies and skills for developing, implementing and evaluating a program of professional development for mathematics or science educators considering various choices of program settings.

SED 598. MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE CURRICULUM. (3 Credits)
Current trends, history of these trends, and rationale for mathematics and science curriculum reform across learning environments.

SED 599. TOPICS IN SCIENCE EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Current issues, trends, and topics in science education. May be repeated for credit with different topics.

SED 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 603. DISSERTATION. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

SED 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 608. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 611. SURVEY OF RESEARCH ON TEACHING. (3 Credits)
Critical analysis of perspectives of research in science/math education with a focus on teaching as the unit of analysis.

SED 612. QUANTITATIVE RESEARCH DESIGN AND CRITICAL ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
A study of quantitative research designs and analytical procedures with specific applications in science or mathematics education.

SED 613. LEARNING THEORY. (3 Credits)
Provides a critical overview and analysis of current theories of learning and development, beginning with a discussion about what learning is, how it has been viewed and studied over time, and how seminal theories inform an understanding of lifelong learning and its facilitation.

SED 615. PRACTICUM IN MATHEMATICS/SCIENCE IN COLLEGE TEACHING. (3 Credits)
Supervised field practicum in college mathematics/science teaching. This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

SED 621. SURVEY OF RESEARCH ON LEARN. (3 Credits)
Critical analysis of perspectives on student thinking and learning in science/math education.

SED 622. QUALITATIVE RESEARCH TECHNIQUES. (3 Credits)
A study of qualitative research designs and analytical procedures with specific applications in science and mathematics education.

SED 623. CURRICULUM THEORY. (3 Credits)
Establishes theoretical grounding of curriculum. Includes theoretical background, practical knowledge, and skills related to science and mathematics curriculum, including the history, curriculum theory and practice.

SED 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SED 808. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.
SOCIAL SCIENCE (SSCI)

SSCI 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 8 credits.

SSCI 211. CAREER DEVELOPMENT IN THE SOCIAL SCIENCES. (1 Credit)
An introduction to career options available to students pursuing a social science degree. Students will explore career options and engage in exercises to help them reflect on their own interests, career goals, and aspirations. Hybrid class.

SSCI 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 8 credits.

SSCI 301. QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES. (4 Credits)
Introduces a variety of qualitative research methods including ethnography, interviewing, recording oral histories, and conducting focus groups. Students will develop their own research questions, collect data to answer that research question, code and analyze data, and write and disseminate results. The course will culminate in a final paper and in-class presentation of original research results. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC

SSCI 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 401. RESEARCH. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 403. THESIS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 406. PROJECTS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 407. SEMINAR. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 408. WORKSHOP. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SSCI 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-4 Credits)
An assignment in a private or public business or agency. The student observes or works in one or more departments of the enterprise, perhaps in one area of interest or specialization (e.g., community development, community dialogue, environmental leadership). Work is supervised by the agency staff, supervising school faculty members(s) provide academic evaluation. 12 credits maximum.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

SSCI 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SOCIETY (SOC)

SOC 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 204. *INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Development and application of sociological concepts and perspectives concerning human groups; includes attention to socialization, culture, organization, stratification, and societies. Consideration of fundamental concepts and research methodology. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

SOC 205. *INSTITUTIONS AND SOCIAL CHANGE. (3 Credits)
Sociological study of the dynamic organizational nature of society through analysis of social change and major social institutions such as family, education, religion, the economy, and political systems. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

SOC 206. *SOCIAL PROBLEMS AND ISSUES. (3 Credits)
Examination of social problems with particular focus upon U.S. society. Sociological perspectives on definition, description, and analysis of contemporary and recurrent problems in industrialized societies. Investigation of causes and consequences of social problems considered in societal context. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

SOC 241. INTRODUCTION TO CRIME AND JUSTICE. (3 Credits)
Provides a sociological understanding of criminal justice system institutions and processes. Emphasis is placed on understanding the criminal law; police and policing; courts and the prosecution process; and prisons, jails and corrections.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core

SOC 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 312. *SOCIOLOGY OF THE FAMILY. (4 Credits)
Survey of the family as a social institution. Addresses historical and cultural perspectives with emphasis on family diversity, variations in family form and life style, interdependence between family and other institutions, analysis of major family issues, forces for change in the family. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better or SOC 205 with D- or better or SOC 206 with D- or better
Equivalent to: SOC 312H

SOC 312H. *SOCIOLOGY OF THE FAMILY. (4 Credits)
Survey of the family as a social institution. Addresses historical and cultural perspectives with emphasis on family diversity, variations in family form and life style, interdependence between family and other institutions, analysis of major family issues, forces for change in the family. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
Equivalent to: SOC 312

SOC 313. SOCIOLOGY OF INTIMATE RELATIONSHIPS. (4 Credits)
Examines the microsociological dynamics of intimate relationships. Perceptions and expectations of intimate relationships are explored. Specific attention will be given to issues, processes, and factors that are involved in the construction and management of intimate relationships in contemporary society.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 315. *METHODS I: RESEARCH DESIGN. (4 Credits)
First in a two-course sequence required of all sociology majors. Students learn to formulate researchable questions, devise measures, select data collection techniques, and examine related and practical dilemmas in constructing sociological research. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 316. METHODS II: QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Second in a two-course sequence required of all sociology majors. The primary objective is to provide students with the statistical skills necessary to analyze sociological data. Covers the construction and interpretation of contingency tables, basic ideas of probability and statistical inference, and an introduction to correlation and regression.
Prerequisites: (SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better) and SOC 315 [C-]

SOC 340. DEVIANT BEHAVIOR AND SOCIAL CONTROL. (4 Credits)
Current perspectives, research and theories of deviant behavior. Review and analysis of various approaches and programs designed to prevent and deal with deviant behavior.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 345. *CRIMES AND VIOLENCE IN INTIMATE RELATIONSHIPS. (4 Credits)
Analyzes the historical, social, political, legal, cultural, and psychological aspects of domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking. Addresses definitions of the problem, demographics, survivors, perpetrators, witnesses, bystanders, strategies and tactics of abusers and survivors, along with strategies for prevention, intervention, treatment, and social change. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination

SOC 350. HEALTH, ILLNESS AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
Social and cultural factors in the identification, course, and treatment of illness; analysis of selected health settings and professions.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 355. DEATH AND DYING. (4 Credits)
An overview of cross-cultural and historical attitudes and practices around end of life, death and dying. Assessment of contemporary legal, professional, cultural and technological issues surrounding end of life/death and dying.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 360. *POPULATION TRENDS AND POLICY. (4 Credits)
Basic socio-demographic factors affecting population size, distribution, composition and change; examination of local, national, and international trends, and demographic policy. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 371. *SOCIAL MEDIA AND EVERYDAY LIFE. (4 Credits)
Examines key concepts, themes, and theories in the study of social media in today's world. Interconnected themes include communication and the public sphere, self representation, power, and new technologies. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
SOC 381. SOCIAL DIMENSIONS OF SUSTAINABILITY. (4 Credits)
Exploration of the social forces driving current views of sustainability. Specific attention will be given to values and belief systems, as well as social institutions in shaping sustainability issues related to ecologically sound, socially just, and economically viable outcomes.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
SOC 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Selected topics of special or current interest not covered in other courses.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
Equivalent to: SOC 399H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 399H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Selected topics of special or current interest not covered in other courses.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
Equivalent to: SOC 399
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 403. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 30 credits.

SOC 412. SOCIOLOGY OF WORK AND FAMILY. (4 Credits)
Survey of the intersections between families and work; variations in family structure, policies and paid and unpaid work in the United States; interdependence between paid and unpaid family labor and broader social change.

SOC 413. SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY. (4 Credits)
Historical and philosophical foundations of sociological theory; major schools of thought and their major contributors.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 418. QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS. (4 Credits)
An introduction to the theory and methods of qualitative research. Students will be exposed to various qualitative research methods through practical field exercises. These include ethnographic field observation, content analysis, interviewing, focus groups and unobtrusive measures. Other commonly used methods of collecting qualitative data are also examined.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 422. SOCIOLOGY OF ORGANIZATIONS. (4 Credits)
Introduces sociological thinking about organizations in contemporary society with an emphasis on exploring the range of frameworks used to think about and explain modern organizations; applies knowledge to specific contemporary organizations.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 424. SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Examines individuals in social context; explores dynamics of interpersonal relationships; evaluates link between self and society, including concepts of role/status/identity. Contemporary research design, problems, and findings pertinent to social psychology.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 426. ‘SOCIAL INEQUALITY. (4 Credits)
Evolution of social inequality in society. Emphasis upon the causes and consequences of inequality in power, privilege, and prestige in human societies, with special attention to the United States. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 430. GENDER AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
Examination of nature and consequences of social differentiation and stratification on the basis of sex and gender. Analysis of social position of women and men in society, focusing on their positions in institutional areas such as the family, politics, work and education. Evaluation of theories of biological, psychological, and sociological bases for the behavior and characteristics of women and men.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better or SOC 205 with D- or better or SOC 206 with D- or better

SOC 432. SOCIOLOGY OF AGING. (3 Credits)
Examination of the social significance of age, position and problems of the elderly in society; discusses the societal and individual consequences of an aging population; explores social theories of aging.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 437. RACE AND ETHNIC RELATIONS. (4 Credits)
Comparative/international perspective on the social construction of race and ethnicity. Social, economic and political experiences of selected groups in the U.S. and other countries are examined.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 438. US IMMIGRATION ISSUES IN THE 21ST CENTURY. (4 Credits)
Provides a critical overview of immigration to the United States from a socio-historic perspective. Examines how successive waves of immigrants have influenced American society from the earliest groups of Europeans in the 19th century to the most recently arriving immigrants from Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 439. WELFARE AND SOCIAL SERVICES. (4 Credits)
Analysis of social, political, and economic forces affecting welfare and social service systems, with overview of current programs, policy issues, public opinions, occupational aspects and societal impacts.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 440. JUVENILE DELINQUENCY. (4 Credits)
Contemporary research and theories of juvenile delinquency. Review and evaluation of various strategies and programs designed to prevent delinquency or for treatment of delinquents.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 441. CRIMINOLOGY AND PENOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Review of sociological perspectives on crime and criminal justice, with emphasis upon North America. Review of crime statistics, types of crime, theories of criminality, corrections programs and prisons, and programs to reduce crime.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
SOC 442. SOCIOLOGY OF DRUG USE AND ABUSE. (4 Credits)
Emphasizes a sociological understanding of drug use, drug problems and drug policy. In order to understand drug use and abuse it is necessary to understand the chemical properties of the substances at issue, the attributes of the people who use and abuse drugs, and the norms and characteristics of the society in which the substance use occurs.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 444. INSIDE-OUT: PRISONS, COMMUNITIES, AND PREVENTION. (4 Credits)
Course takes place in a state correctional facility, with OSU students learning alongside "inside" students from the facility for a full quarter. Course content examines prisons, communities, crime, and prevention from a sociological perspective. All students participate in service-learning projects.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with C or better
Equivalent to: SOC 444H

SOC 444H. INSIDE-OUT: PRISONS, COMMUNITIES, AND PREVENTION. (4 Credits)
Course takes place in a state correctional facility, with OSU students learning alongside "inside" students from the facility for a full quarter. Course content examines prisons, communities, crime, and prevention from a sociological perspective. All students participate in service-learning projects.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with C or better
Equivalent to: SOC 444

SOC 448. LAW AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
An introduction to social scientific approaches to law, covering major topics in the area. Topics may include disputing, legal consciousness, social movements and law, punishment, legal actors, and legal institutions.

SOC 449. LAW, CRIME, AND POLICY. (4 Credits)
Surveys criminal justice policies aimed at enforcing laws, reducing crime, punishing violators, and rehabilitating ex-offenders. Interrogates the behavioral assumptions used in creating and evaluating policies. Examines specific crimes and the policies used to address them.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 450. SOCIOLOGY OF EDUCATION. (4 Credits)
Contemporary perspectives and research on schools, students, teachers and social forces affecting the educational system. Review of comparative and evaluation research on alternative educational strategies and programs. Overview of the literature of educational critics.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 452. SOCIOLOGY OF RELIGION. (4 Credits)
Social patterns within U.S. religious groups, relation of religious groups to society, and the methodological problems in studying such groups.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 453. SOCIOLOGY OF SPORT. (4 Credits)
Critical analysis of sport. Examines sport socialization; deviance; violence; gender; race/ethnicity; professional sport careers; intercollegiate athletics; marriage/family; and the media.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 454. *LEISURE AND CULTURE. (4 Credits)
Examination of the social, cultural, and global significance of leisure activity (in particular, tourism and recreation) from a historical perspective relative to attitudes, values, behaviors, and use of natural resources. (SS) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; LACS – Liberal Arts Social Core
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 456. *SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY IN SOCIAL CONTEXT. (4 Credits)
Study of social aspects of science and technology (values, practices, organization, impacts) by analysis of issues revealing their relationship to other social and cultural processes. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 460. THE SOCIOLOGY OF GLOBALIZATION. (4 Credits)
Examines the sociological effect of globalization on Western and non-Western societies. The course focuses on changes in the global economy and how this has influenced the social structure, patterns of change, and mutual influences among societies. (NC)
Attributes: LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 466. INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT: GENDER ISSUES. (4 Credits)
Examines roles and statuses of women and men throughout the world and differential impact of development on men and women. Evaluates traditional development policies and programs and discusses theories of gender stratification and of modernization. (NC)
Attributes: LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 470. COLLECTIVE BEHAVIOR. (4 Credits)
Examines current theories; focuses on behavior in crowds and diverse social settings including fads/fashions, ecstatic crowds/miracles, natural/technological disasters, urban legends, collective delusions/mass hysteria, protest/demonstrations, riots/mobs.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 471. SOCIAL MOVEMENTS. (4 Credits)
Introduces core theoretical and methodological issues related to social movements in the US and abroad. Emphasizes social forces giving rise to movements, tactics employed by movements, and impacts of them on society.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 472. GIVING AND VOLUNTARISM. (4 Credits)
Examines concepts of donor motivation, giving, charity, voluntarism, philanthropy, and the nonprofit sector through the analysis of gender roles, ethnicity, power, status, and social institutions.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 475. RURAL SOCIOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Helps students understand the rich diversity in rural society, with an emphasis on the interdependencies between urban and rural contexts. Current issues and social problems experienced by rural populations and how sociology is used to understand and address issues affecting rural communities are explored.
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 480. *ENVIRONMENTAL SOCIOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Explores the evolution of environmental thought, paradigm shifts, and institutional structures associated with environmental concerns, social movements, and social impacts. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better
SOC 481. *SOCIETY AND NATURAL RESOURCES. (4 Credits)
Explores the complex interrelationships between humans and natural resources, emphasizing how management decisions and organizations are enmeshed in social and cultural contexts. (Bacc Core Course)

Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society

Prerequisites: SOC 204 with D- or better or SOC 204H with D- or better

SOC 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Selected topics of special or current interest not covered in other courses. For advanced undergraduate and graduate students.

Equivalent to: SOC 499H

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 499H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Selected topics of special or current interest not covered in other courses. For advanced undergraduate and graduate students.

Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator

Equivalent to: SOC 499

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 502. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

SOC 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.

This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 512. SOCIOLOGY OF WORK AND FAMILY. (4 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOC 518. QUALITATIVE RESEARCH METHODS. (4 Credits)
An introduction to the theory and methods of qualitative research. Students will be exposed to various qualitative research methods through practical field exercises. These include ethnographic field observation, content analysis, interviewing, focus groups and unobtrusive measures. Other commonly used methods of collecting qualitative data are also examined.

Equivalent to: PPOL 523

SOC 522. SOCIOLOGY OF ORGANIZATIONS. (4 Credits)
Introduces sociological thinking about organizations in contemporary society with an emphasis on exploring the range of frameworks used to think about and explain modern organizations; applies knowledge to specific contemporary organizations.

SOC 524. SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Examines individuals in social context; explores dynamics of interpersonal relationships; evaluates link between self and society, including concepts of role/status/identity. Contemporary research design, problems, and findings pertinent to social psychology.

SOC 526. SOCIAL INEQUALITY. (4 Credits)
Evolution of social inequality in society. Emphasis upon the causes and consequences of inequality in power, privilege, and prestige in human societies, with special attention to the United States.

SOC 530. GENDER AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
Analysis of social position of women and men in society, focusing on their positions in institutional areas such as the family, politics, work and education. Evaluation of theories of biological, psychological, and sociological bases for the behavior and characteristics of women and men.

SOC 532. SOCIOLOGY OF AGING. (3 Credits)
Examination of the social significance of age, position and problems of the elderly in society; discusses the societal and individual consequences of an aging population; explores social theories of aging.

SOC 537. RACE AND ETHNIC RELATIONS. (4 Credits)
Comparative/international perspective on the social construction of race and ethnicity. Social, economic and political experiences of selected groups in the U.S. and other countries are examined.

SOC 538. US IMMIGRATION ISSUES IN THE 21ST CENTURY. (4 Credits)
Provides a critical overview of immigration to the United States from a socio-historic perspective. Examines how successive waves of immigrants have influenced American society from the earliest groups of Europeans in the 19th century to the most recently arriving immigrants from Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean.

SOC 539. WELFARE AND SOCIAL SERVICES. (4 Credits)
Analysis of social, political, and economic forces affecting welfare and social service systems, with overview of current programs, policy issues, public opinions, occupational aspects and societal impacts.

SOC 540. JUVENILE DELINQUENCY. (4 Credits)
Contemporary research and theories of juvenile delinquency. Review and evaluation of various strategies and programs designed to prevent delinquency or for treatment of delinquents.

SOC 541. CRIMINOLOGY AND PENOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Review of sociological perspectives on crime and criminal justice, with emphasis upon North America. Review of crime statistics, types of crime, theories of criminality, corrections programs and prisons, and programs to reduce crime.
SOC 542. SOCIOLOGY OF DRUG USE AND ABUSE. (4 Credits)
Emphasizes a sociological understanding of drug use, drug problems and drug policy. In order to understand drug use and abuse it is necessary to understand the chemical properties of the substances at issue, the attributes of the people who use and abuse drugs, and the norms and characteristics of the society in which the substance use occurs.

SOC 544. INSIDE-OUT: PRISONS, COMMUNITIES, AND PREVENTION. (4 Credits)
Course takes place in a state correctional facility, with OSU students learning alongside "inside" students from the facility for a full quarter. Course content examines prisons, communities, crime, and prevention from a sociological perspective. All students participate in service-learning projects.

SOC 548. LAW AND SOCIETY. (4 Credits)
An introduction to social scientific approaches to law, covering major topics in the area. Topics may include disputing, legal consciousness, social movements and law, punishment, legal actors, and legal institutions.

SOC 549. LAW, CRIME, AND POLICY. (4 Credits)
Surveys criminal justice policies aimed at enforcing laws, reducing crime, punishing violators, and rehabilitating ex-offenders. Interrogates the behavioral assumptions used in creating and evaluating policies. Examines specific crimes and the policies used to address them.

SOC 550. SOCIOLOGY OF EDUCATION. (4 Credits)
Contemporary perspectives and research on schools, students, teachers and social forces affecting the educational system. Review of comparative and evaluation research on alternative educational strategies and programs. Overview of the literature of educational critics.

SOC 552. SOCIOLOGY OF RELIGION. (4 Credits)
Social patterns within U.S. religious groups, relation of religious groups to society, and the methodological problems in studying such groups.

SOC 553. SOCIOLOGY OF SPORT. (4 Credits)
Critical analysis of sport. Examines sport socialization; deviance; violence; gender; race/ethnicity; professional sport careers; intercollegiate athletics; marriage/family; and the media.

SOC 554. LEISURE AND CULTURE. (4 Credits)
Examination of the social, cultural, and global significance of leisure activity (in particular, tourism and recreation) from a historical perspective relative to attitudes, values, behaviors, and use of natural resources.

SOC 556. SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY IN SOCIAL CONTEXT. (4 Credits)
Study of social aspects of science and technology (values, practices, organization, impacts) by analysis of issues revealing their relationship to other social and cultural processes.

SOC 560. THE SOCIOLOGY OF GLOBALIZATION. (4 Credits)
Examines the sociological effect of globalization on Western and non-Western societies. The course focuses on changes in the global economy and how this has influenced the social structure, patterns of change, and mutual influences among societies.

SOC 566. INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT: GENDER ISSUES. (4 Credits)
Examines roles and statuses of women and men throughout the world and differential impact of development on men and women. Evaluates traditional development policies and programs and discusses theories of gender stratification and of modernization.
SOIL SCIENCE (SOIL)

SOIL 101. INTRODUCTION TO CROP, SOIL, AND INSECT SCIENCE. (1 Credit)
Introduces students with interests in crop, soil, and insect sciences to educational and professional opportunities in these disciplines. Speakers will discuss opportunities in research and academia as well as in the applied professional job market. Open to all students. CROSSLISTED as ENT 101, CROP 101.

SOIL 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: SOIL 199H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 199H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: SOIL 199
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 205. SOIL SCIENCE. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the chemical, physical and biological nature of soils. Examines how soils function in terms of plant growth, nutrient supply, the global carbon cycle, ecological habitat, and water purification. Community-based learning projects provide hands-on experience with fundamental soil science principles and the impact of human activities on soil quality and sustainability. Lec. (Bacc Core Course if taken with SOIL 206 or FOR 206)
Attributes: CPBL – Core, Pers, BioSci Attached Lec; CPPL – Core, Pers, PhySci Attached Lec
Prerequisites: SOIL 206 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or FOR 206 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better

SOIL 206. *SOIL SCIENCE LABORATORY FOR SOIL 205. (1 Credit)
Students will gain hands-on experience with soil science concepts and applications. Laboratory exercises and field trips will help students develop proficiency in the methods/tools for analyzing soil chemistry, biology, morphology, physical properties, and soil forming factors. Skills will be taught in the context of soils’ social, economic, and environmental importance. (Bacc Core Course if taken with SOIL 205)
Attributes: CPBS – Core, Pers, Biological Science; CPPS – Core, Pers, Physical Science
Corequisites: SOIL 205

SOIL 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: SOIL 299H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 299H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: SOIL 299
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 316. NUTRIENT CYCLING IN AGROECOSYSTEMS. (4 Credits)
Nutrient forms, transformations, and cycling. Diagnosis and correction of nutrient deficiencies, pH and salinity. Impact of nutrient management practices on crop production, soil health, nutrient use efficiency, and environmental quality. Organic and inorganic fertilization. Labs include soil sampling and testing procedures, data collection on soil and plants, computer applications for soil fertility management, and field trips. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: (CH 121 with D- or better or CH 231 with D- or better) and (SOIL 205 [C] or CSS 205 [C] or CSS 305 [C])

SOIL 360. SOIL MANAGEMENT FOR ORGANIC PRODUCTION. (3 Credits)
This is a skills-based soil management course that is part lecture and part student-centered learning. Significant class time will be devoted to making field-scale management decisions. The course includes individual and group work, presentation, and discussion. The intent is to prepare students for real-world application of soil management decisions in certified organic systems. Using the National Organic Program as a starting point as well as farm system descriptions with extensive long-term data sets, we will interpret soil nutrient analyses, cover cropping systems, and organic amendments, to design soil management plans for two model cropping systems (annual and perennial).
Prerequisites: (SOIL 205 with C or better and (SOIL 206 [C] or FOR 206 [C])) or CSS 205 [C]

SOIL 366. ECOSYSTEMS OF WILDLAND SOILS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on soils that occur in relatively undisturbed ecosystems such as forests and rangelands. Topics covered include properties and processes specific to understanding and managing the soil resource in these areas. An overview of US Soil Taxonomy will also be given.
Prerequisites: SOIL 205 with D- or better or CSS 205 with D- or better or CSS 305 with D- or better

SOIL 388. SOIL SYSTEMS AND PLANT GROWTH. (4 Credits)
Introduces soils as providers of critical resources for plant growth. Explains how soils supply water, air, thermal energy and nutrients to plants. Shows that sustainable management of soil resources requires substantial understanding of their role in the functioning of natural, forest, and agricultural systems. Explains controls on stocks and availabilities of individual soil resources and mechanisms making these resources plant-available.
Prerequisites: ((SOIL 205 with D- or better and (SOIL 206 [D-] or FOR 206 [D-]) or CSS 205 [D-]) and (CH 121 [D-] or CH 231 [D-]) and (BOT 220 [D-]) or (BI 204 [D-] or BI 205 [D-] or BI 206 [D-]) or (BI 211 [D-] or BI 212 [D-] or BI 213 [D-]))

SOIL 395. *WORLD SOIL RESOURCES. (3 Credits)
The properties, global distribution, and agricultural productivity of major world soil groups are described. Potential for human-accelerated soil degradation are introduced for each soil group, and reasons for conflicting assessments of degradation are discussed. Offered via Ecampus only. (Bacc Core Course) (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society; CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Prerequisites: CH 121 with D- or better or CH 122 with D- or better or CH 123 with D- or better or CH 201 with D- or better or CH 202 with D- or better or CH 231 with D- or better or CH 231H with D- or better or CH 232 with D- or better or CH 232H with D- or better or CH 233 with D- or better or CH 233H with D- or better

SOIL 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 403. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
Independent, original study and preparation of a senior thesis.

SOIL 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: SOIL 405H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SOIL 405H. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: SOIL 405
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 408. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
Evaluation and judging of soils in Oregon and other states; directed studies of soil morphology, soil survey, soil fertility, soil physics, soil chemistry, soil biology, and soil information systems. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 409. PRACTICUM. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-6 Credits)
Professional work experience previously approved and supervised by the department, written report required. This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

SOIL 435. ENVIRONMENTAL SOIL PHYSICS. (3 Credits)
Covers principles of soil physical properties and processes as they relate to agricultural, hydrological and environmental problems. Lec/lab. Offered odd years.
Prerequisites: CSS 205 with D- or better or CSS 305 with D- or better or SOIL 205 with D- or better.

SOIL 445. ENVIRONMENTAL SOIL CHEMISTRY. (3 Credits)
Structural chemistry of clay minerals and organic matter, cation and anion exchange, and soil solution equilibria of soils. Ion exchange, mineral-solution equilibria, and sorption reactions of silicate clays, oxides, and organic matter are emphasized. Covers the sorption behavior of environmental contaminants and the weathering reactions that govern the transport of reactive solutes through soils. Lec/rec. Offered odd years.

SOIL 455. BIOLOGY OF SOIL ECOSYSTEMS. (4 Credits)
A detailed study of the organisms that live in the soil and their activities in the soil ecosystems, soil as a habitat for organisms, taxonomy and biology of soil organisms, fundamentals of nutrient cycles, special topics in soil biology, review basis of soil microbial and ecological principles. Lec/rec/lab.

SOIL 466. SOIL MORPHOLOGY AND CLASSIFICATION. (4 Credits)
Observation and description of soil properties in the field; writing soil profile descriptions; evaluating criteria that define features used to classify soils; using soil classification keys. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: SOIL 205 with D- or better or CSS 205 with D- or better or CSS 305 with D- or better

SOIL 468. SOIL LANDSCAPE ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Principles of soil geomorphology, soil stratigraphy, and surficial processes as applied to understanding the soil system and landscape scales. Emphasis on field observations of soils, geomorphic surfaces, and environment. Field project entails design of soil survey map units, field mapping and GIS cartographic techniques. Lec/lab. Offered even years.
Prerequisites: SOIL 466 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or CSS 466 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better

SOIL 475. SOIL RESOURCE POTENTIALS. (4 Credits)
Course builds on knowledge from introductory pedology, soil chemistry, soil physics and soil biology to practice the evaluation of nutrient availability and soil moisture storage in the rooting space. Results from the application of pedotransfer functions to observations at the pit wall are translated into quantitative, numerical expressions of soil resource potentials. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: SOIL 435 with D- or better and SOIL 455 [D-] and SOIL 466 [D-]

SOIL 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: SOIL 499H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 499H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: SOIL 499
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 503. THESIS/DISSERTATION. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

SOIL 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
Evaluation and judging of soils in Oregon and other states; directed studies of soil morphology, soil survey, soil fertility, soil physics, soil chemistry, soil biology, and soil information systems. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 509. PRACTICUM IN TEACHING. (1-3 Credits)
Developing skills and competence in teaching under staff supervision; organization and presentation of instructional material by assisting in laboratory, recitation, and lectures. CROSSLISTED as ENT 509, CROP 509, PBG 509.
Equivalent to: CROP 509, ENT 509, PBG 509
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

SOIL 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-6 Credits)
Professional work experience previously approved and supervised by the department, written report required. This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

SOIL 511. SOIL: A NATURAL AND SOCIETAL RESOURCE. (3 Credits)
Serves degree- and non-degree-seeking graduate learners wanting soil science knowledge but having minimal science background. Understanding soil physical, chemical, and biological properties promotes informed soil management while supporting individual to global societal values. Established curriculum facilitates graduate degrees or certificates, continuing education, professional certification, and self-improvement goals. A highly interactive social media framework supports weekly student-student and instructor-student learning interactions.
SOIL 512. METHODS OF SOIL ANALYSIS - FIELD. (1 Credit)
Recognition and quantitative description of soil properties in agroecosystems. Assessments of soil environments used for crop production in Oregon. Demonstration and practice of volumetric and bulk soil sampling techniques as well as the application of pedotransfer functions. Each participant will be responsible for analyzing at least one soil sample in the chemical level. Five-day duration with four overnight stays at campgrounds. Participants will use their own or borrowed camping equipment.

SOIL 513. PROPERTIES, PROCESSES, AND FUNCTIONS OF SOILS. (4 Credits)
Physical, chemical, biological, and landscape properties; processes of fluid retention and movement, weathering and cation exchange, decomposition and C-N dynamics, erosion and sedimentation; functions of hydrologic regulation, nutrient cycling, environmental protection, ecological habitat.
Equivalent to: CSS 513

SOIL 514. METHODS OF SOIL ANALYSIS - LABORATORY. (2 Credits)
Provide the theoretical background, as well as practical experience needed to plan, select, execute, and interpret soil chemical and physical analyses such as those typically used for nutrient management recommendations. Individual and group activities involve classroom presentations, as well as hands-on work in a teaching laboratory. Samples processed are those collected in SOIL 512, Methods of Soil Analysis - Field. Duration is five full work days.
Prerequisites: SOIL 512 (may be taken concurrently) with C or better

SOIL 515. SOIL FERTILITY MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Management of plant nutrients in agronomic systems; diagnosis of nutrient availability and prediction of crop response to fertilizers; interactions between nutrient response and chemical, physical and biological properties of soils.

SOIL 523. PRINCIPLES OF STABLE ISOTOPES. (3 Credits)
An introduction to the theory and use of stable isotopes. Applications of stable isotopes to soil science, plant physiology, hydrology, and ecosystem studies. Offered every year.

SOIL 525. MINERAL-ORGANIC MATTER INTERACTIONS. (3 Credits)
Studies the fundamental properties of the mineral-organic interface and the mechanisms of interaction between mineral and organic soil properties.

SOIL 530. ORGANIC SOIL AND CROP MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Overview of organic soil and crop management, organic soil system management, soil microbiology under organic systems, cropping systems, organic cereal production systems, organic forage production system, organic horticultural systems management, organic field and horticulture cropping systems; recent research and case studies. CROSSLISTED AS CROP 530.
Equivalent to: CROP 530

SOIL 535. SOIL PHYSICS. (3 Credits)
Theoretical elements of soil physical properties and processes related to agricultural, hydrological and environmental problems. Offered fall term in even years.

SOIL 536. VADOSE ZONE HYDROLOGY LABORATORY. (1 Credit)
Experimental elements of soil physical properties and processes allowing practical experience in the measurement and analysis of soil physical processes related to agricultural, hydrological and environmental problems. Weekly laboratory. Offered even years.

SOIL 545. ENVIRONMENTAL SOIL CHEMISTRY. (3 Credits)
Structural chemistry of clay minerals and organic matter, cation and anion exchange, and soil solution equilibria of soils. Ion exchange, mineral-solution equilibria, and adsorption reactions of silicate clays, oxides, and organic matter are emphasized. Covers the sorption behavior of environmental contaminants and the weathering reactions that govern the transport of reactive solutes through soils. Lec/rec. Offered odd years.

SOIL 547. NUTRIENT CYCLING. (3 Credits)
Reviews and discusses ecosystem-level biogeochemical concepts for terrestrial and freshwater ecosystems, primarily by reading and discussing classic and current literature to determine the state-of-knowledge and uncertainties associated with it. Topics include root nutrient uptake mechanisms, soil chemical and biochemical transformations in different soil and ecosystems, measuring soil solution and watershed fluxes, soil organic matter formation and structure, the meaning of sustainability, the concept of N saturation in terrestrial ecosystems, and the use of natural abundance and tracer isotopes in ecosystem biogeochemistry. While forest biogeochemical processes will be emphasized, desert, aquatic, wetland, and prairie ecosystems will also be explored. CROSSLISTED as BOT 547.

SOIL 555. BIOLOGY OF SOIL ECOSYSTEMS. (4 Credits)
A detailed study of the organisms that live in the soil and their activities in the soil ecosystems, soil as a habitat for organisms, taxonomy and biology of soil organisms, fundamentals of nutrient cycles, special topics in soil biology, review basis of soil microbial and ecological principles. Lec/rec/lab.

SOIL 566. SOIL MORPHOLOGY AND CLASSIFICATION. (4 Credits)
Observation and description of soil properties in the field; writing soil profile descriptions; evaluating criteria that define features used to classify soils; using soil classification keys. Lec/lab. Offered odd years.

SOIL 568. SOIL LANDSCAPE ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Principles of soil geomorphology, soil stratigraphy, and surficial processes as applied to understanding the soil system at landscape scales. Emphasis on field observations of soils, geomorphic surfaces, and environment. Field project entails design of soil survey map units, field mapping and GIS cartographic techniques. Lec/lab. Offered odd years.
Prerequisites: CSS 566 (may be taken concurrently) with C or better or SOIL 566 (may be taken concurrently) with C or better

SOIL 591. SELECTED TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Course content and title will change with each offering. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 603. THESIS/DISSERTATION. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

SOIL 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 608. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SOIL 609. PRACTICUM IN TEACHING. (1-3 Credits)
Developing skills and competence in teaching under staff supervision; organization and presentation of instructional material by assisting in laboratory, recitation, and lectures. Graded P/N.
Equivalent to: CROP 609, ENT 609, PBG 609
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

SOIL 635. ADVANCED SOIL PHYSICS. (3 Credits)
Explores theoretical development of a key topic in soil physics. Topics may include evaporation from porous media, multiphase fluid movement, soil deformation, and soil salinization, with respect to either historical development, present day understanding or future needs of the field. Course structure incorporates lectures and discussion requiring intensive student participation. Offered odd years.
Prerequisites: CSS 535 with C or better or SOIL 535 with C or better

SOIL 645. SOIL MICROBIAL ECOLOGY. (3 Credits)
An advanced treatment of current topics in soil microbiology, with an emphasis on the ecology of soil microorganisms. Topics include the size, composition, diversity, and activity of soil microbial communities, linkage of microbial community structure to ecosystem functions, and applications of molecular biology to soil microbiology. Offered even years.

SOIL 684. GLOBAL BIOGEOCHEMICAL CYCLES. (4 Credits)
An in-depth treatment of global biogeochemical cycles, focusing on cycles of carbon, oxygen, nitrogen, phosphorus, and sulfur in the atmosphere, hydrosphere, and lithosphere. CROSSTLISTED as GEO 684.
Equivalent to: GEO 684

SOIL 691. SELECTED TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SOIL 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SPANISH (SPAN)

SPAN 111. FIRST-YEAR SPANISH. (4 Credits)
Development of listening comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Native speakers and bilingual speakers will not receive credit for SPAN 111, SPAN 112, SPAN 113. Lec/rec.

SPAN 112. FIRST-YEAR SPANISH. (4 Credits)

An introduction to past and contemporary experiences of Latinos/as in the U.S. related to patterns of (im)migration as well as sociohistorical and political events that have shaped U.S. Latino identities. In addition, the course will explore the current social, political, economic and cultural status and experiences of Latinos/as in different regions of the United States. (Taught in English) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CFC – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity

SPAN 288. HISPANIC STUDIES, HISPANIC STUDY CENTERS. (1-12 Credits)
Section 1: Topics, Hispanic language; Section 2: Practical work (exercises); Section 3: Topics, Hispanic arts and letters; Section 4: Topics, Hispanic society.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

SPAN 299. SPECIAL STUDIES. (1-3 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

SPAN 311. ADVANCED SPANISH GRAMMAR. (3 Credits)
Students further develop language skills acquired in earlier courses while studying more complex structural aspects of the language through the application of grammar concepts in composition and other language tasks.
Prerequisites: SPAN 213 with C- or better or Spanish 311 with a score of 1
Equivalent to: SPAN 314

SPAN 312. INTERMEDIATE WRITING SKILLS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on written communication in Spanish. Authentic texts are used to identify writing processes and products and see how composition is informed by cultural considerations. Special attention will be paid to the author’s purpose and the distinctiveness of the target audience. Students will create original written works and reinforce oral communication skills through class discussions.
Prerequisites: SPAN 213 with C- or better or Spanish 312 with a score of 1
Equivalent to: SPAN 315
SPAN 313. SPANISH LANGUAGE THROUGH CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Development of Spanish language through an exploration of cultural products, perspectives and practices of Spanish-speaking communities around the world.

SPAN 314. THIRD-YEAR SPANISH FOR NATIVE SPEAKERS. (3 Credits)
Extensive practice in reading, writing, and speaking; refinement of spelling, grammar and vocabulary within a dynamic cultural context. Native speakers should take SPAN 314, SPAN 315, SPAN 316 instead of SPAN 311, SPAN 312, SPAN 313; credit is not allowed for both.
Equivalent to: SPAN 311

SPAN 315. THIRD-YEAR SPANISH FOR NATIVE SPEAKERS. (3 Credits)
Extensive practice in reading, writing, and speaking; refinement of spelling, grammar and vocabulary within a dynamic cultural context. Native speakers should take SPAN 314, SPAN 315, SPAN 316 instead of SPAN 311, SPAN 312, SPAN 313; credit is not allowed for both.
Equivalent to: SPAN 312

SPAN 316. THIRD-YEAR SPANISH FOR NATIVE SPEAKERS. (3 Credits)
Extensive practice in reading, writing, and speaking; refinement of spelling, grammar and vocabulary within a dynamic cultural context. Native speakers should take SPAN 314, SPAN 315, SPAN 316 instead of SPAN 311, SPAN 312, SPAN 313; credit is not allowed for both.
Equivalent to: SPAN 313

SPAN 317. DIRECTED READING AND WRITING IN SPANISH. (3 Credits)
Emphasis on reading comprehension and improving writing ability. Students will build on their language skills and cultural awareness using different forms of literary expression from the Spanish-speaking world.
Equivalent to: SPAN 327

SPAN 318. INTRODUCTION TO SPANISH LANGUAGE LITERATURE. (3 Credits)
Provides the literary background and analytical tools for students to discuss Spanish language literature with some depth and prepares students for more advanced literature courses. Some discussion of Latin American and Spanish history, politics and culture will provide a context for the readings.

SPAN 319. SPANISH FOR BUSINESS. (3 Credits)

SPAN 320. SPANISH CONVERSATION. (3 Credits)
Extensive listening and speaking practice in Spanish, and systematic contact with Latin culture. Emphasis on vocabulary, pronunciation, intonation, and comprehension. Native speakers of Spanish are not eligible to take this course. May be used to satisfy requirements for the major or minor.

SPAN 327. MEXICAN-AMERICAN LITERATURE AND COMPREHENSION FOR SPANISH HERITAGE LANGUAGE LEARNERS. (3 Credits)
Combines the study of fiction, drama, and poetry in Spanish language produced by people of Mexican origin in what is today the United States, with intensive practice in the writing of formal Spanish. Students are encouraged to develop their independent thinking and analytical ability. Designed for students from a Spanish-speaking background.
Equivalent to: SPAN 317

SPAN 331. *THE CULTURES OF SPAIN AND PORTUGAL. (3 Credits)
Historical development of the cultures and societies of the Iberian Peninsula. Taught in Spanish. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

SPAN 332. *THE CULTURES OF SPAIN AND PORTUGAL. (3 Credits)
Historical development of the cultures and societies of the Iberian Peninsula. Taught in Spanish. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

SPAN 333. CULTURES OF SPAIN AND PORTUGAL. (3 Credits)
Historical development of the cultures and societies of today's Iberian Peninsula. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 336. *LATIN AMERICAN CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Historical development of the cultures and societies of Latin America, with an emphasis on Spanish- and Portuguese-speaking peoples. Taught in Spanish. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

SPAN 337. *LATIN AMERICAN CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Historical development of the cultures and societies of Latin America, with an emphasis on Spanish- and Portuguese-speaking peoples. Taught in Spanish. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

SPAN 338. *LATIN AMERICAN CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Historical development of the cultures and societies of Latin America, with an emphasis on Spanish- and Portuguese-speaking peoples. Taught in Spanish. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

SPAN 339. MEXICAN IMMIGRANT EXPERIENCE IN THE UNITED STATES. (3 Credits)
An interdisciplinary analysis of the immigration from Mexico to the United States. It will include discussions of literary, cultural and political accounts. Emphasis on the development of presentational communication skills in Spanish. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 344. SELECTED TOPICS IN LITERATURE. (3 Credits)
Taught in Spanish. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. See Schedule of Classes for current term offering. This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

SPAN 345. MULTIMODAL LITERACIES: SPANISH. (2 Credits)
Introduction to the analysis and production of multimodal literacies. Study of semiotic resources such as language and images across modalities such as film, manga, and social media. Required of all majors in World Languages and Cultures. Taught in Spanish. Has to be taken in conjunction with the lecture session in English.
Corequisites: WLC 345

SPAN 350. PHONETICS AND PRONUNCIATION. (3 Credits)
An exploration of the organs of speech and hearing, acoustic analysis, and transcription of native and learner Spanish speech samples.

SPAN 351. HISPANIC LINGUISTICS. (3 Credits)

SPAN 365. MIGRANT NARRATIVES: SPANISH. (2 Credits)
An examination of migration and forced displacement through the study of personal narrative in Spanish. Includes discussion of the causes of displacement including persecution, ecological degradation, economic pressure, and conflict. This as a required course for the Spanish option in the WLC major in the Identities and Intersections thematic area.
Corequisites: WLC 365
SPAN 366. LANGUAGE AND IDENTITY: SPANISH. (2 Credits)
Examines specific ideologies, patterns of variation, and language contact situations involving Spanish using authentic oral and written texts. Learners carry out their own exploration in language communities. This is a required course in the Spanish option of the WLC major in the Identities and Intersections thematic area.

An examination of the history of Western imperialism and the rise of contemporary neocolonialism. Students explore the impact of colonization and the effects of neoliberalism and globalization in this Spanish discussion section through the use of historical source materials and current news articles focused on specific regions of the developing world. This is a required course in the Spanish option of the WLC major in the Social Architecture and Power thematic area.
Corequisites: WLC 376

SPAN 379. PROCTOR EXPERIENCE. (1 Credit)
Supervised practicum for advanced students, with assignments as proctors or tutors in lower-division Spanish language courses. No more than 2 credits may be used to satisfy degree requirements for a major in Spanish; no credit may be used to satisfy requirements for a minor in Spanish. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 3 credits.

SPAN 388. HISPANIC STUDIES, HISPANIC STUDY CENTERS. (1-12 Credits)
Section 1: Topics, Hispanic language. Section 2: Practical work (exercises). Section 3: Topics, Hispanic arts and letters. Section 4: Topics, Hispanic society.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

SPAN 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SPAN 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SPAN 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SPAN 403. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SPAN 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SPAN 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SPAN 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-15 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 15 credits.

SPAN 411. SPECIALIZED GRAMMAR OR LINGUISTICS TOPICS. (3 Credits)
Students develop an in-depth knowledge of various linguistic aspects of Spanish, particularly in regard to problematic grammatical structures and the development of writing proficiency. The main focus is on integrating a thorough understanding of grammatical structures into writing using selected literary works as models. Students analyze their own linguistic progress and apply this meta-knowledge to their writing.

SPAN 412. ADVANCED COMPOSITION. (3 Credits)
Emphasis on creative writing. Students will read and discuss a series of stories with the same theme, then write their own. The subjunctive and other advanced grammar topics will be reviewed and incorporated into the writing activities. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 413. ADVANCED COMMUNICATION SKILLS. (3 Credits)
Contextualized exploration of skills outlined in the National Standards Project’s.

SPAN 435. SPECIAL TOPICS IN LATIN AMERICAN CULTURE. (3 Credits)
Historical and contemporary aspects of the cultures of Latin America. May include material relevant to Spain and U.S. Latinos. See Schedule of Classes for current term offering. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

SPAN 446. RECENT LATIN AMERICAN LITERATURE. (3 Credits)
Recent fiction that goes beyond Magical Realism. Discussion includes literary techniques, as well as Latin American history, politics and cultural values. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 447. MEXICAN WOMEN WRITERS. (3 Credits)
Fiction by contemporary Mexican women, emphasizing how the writing reflects the authors' lives, as well as Mexican history, politics and cultural values. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 448. LATIN AMERICAN GREAT WORKS. (3 Credits)
Major works by Latin American writers, concentrating on literary style and technique, as well as Latin American history, politics and culture. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 453. SPANISH SOCIOLINGUISTICS. (3 Credits)
Provides a foundation of sociolinguistic theory from which various topics can be analyzed, discussed and applied to language situations that are specific to Spanish. These include language contact, Spanish varieties, language policy, and language attitudes. All topics are presented within the context of speech communities and the external and internal variables that affect these communities.
Prerequisites: SPAN 350 with C- or better

SPAN 455. INTRODUCTION TO SPANISH TRANSLATION. (3 Credits)
Combines beginning translation theory with hands-on practice using a variety of activities from several areas of professional specialization. Includes a brief introduction to simultaneous interpretation as it is done in professional conference or broadcast media settings. Participants must be highly proficient in both English and Spanish.

SPAN 456. SPANISH IN THE UNITED STATES. (3 Credits)
Provides a foundation for the study of Spanish in the United States. Focuses on the diverse identities of Latino/as and Spanish speakers as they define what it means to be bilingual locally, regionally, and nationally. Spanish and Spanish-English bilingualism will be studied from critical sociolinguistic, historical and political perspectives.
Prerequisites: SPAN 350 with C- or better

SPAN 462. FIFTH-YEAR SPANISH. (3 Credits)
Continued development of listening comprehension, speaking, and writing skills. Introduction to debate and platform speaking in Spanish, and to specialized interests of students, e.g., methods and philosophies of interpretation and translation, business Spanish, creative writing.

SPAN 470. *ADVANCED SPANISH COORDINATED STUDIES. (1-30 Credits)
Interdisciplinary examination of a topic related to points of contact between Spanish- and English-speaking populations in Oregon and beyond. Includes the study of literature, culture, language skills, and a service-learning component. Constitutes a full-time course load. Taught in Spanish. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
This course is repeatable for 30 credits.

SPAN 488. HISPANIC STUDIES, HISPANIC STUDY CENTERS. (1-12 Credits)
Section 1: Topics, Hispanic language. Section 2: Practical work (exercises). Section 3: Topics, Hispanic arts and letters. Section 4: Topics, Hispanic society.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

SPAN 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
May be repeated for credit when topic varies. See Schedule of Classes for current offerings and prerequisites. Not offered every year.
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.
SPAN 545. SELECTED TOPICS IN THE LITERATURE OF LATIN AMERICA. (3 Credits)
Representative prose, poetry, and drama of Spanish America and/or Brazil, with an emphasis on the mid-19th century to the present. Topics and language of instruction may vary. Not offered every year. See Schedule of Classes for current term offering. May be repeated for credit when topic varies.
This course is repeatable for 18 credits.

SPAN 546. RECENT LATIN AMERICAN LITERATURE. (3 Credits)
Recent fiction that goes beyond Magical Realism. Discussion includes literary techniques, as well as Latin American history, politics and cultural values. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 547. MEXICAN WOMEN WRITERS. (3 Credits)

SPAN 548. LATIN AMERICAN GREAT WORKS. (3 Credits)
Major works by Latin American writers, concentrating on literary style and technique, as well as Latin American history, politics and culture. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 552. INTRODUCTION TO SPANISH SOCIOLINGUISTICS. (3 Credits)
Provides a foundation of sociolinguistic theory in order to analyze, discuss and apply the theory to Spanish language situations, such as language contact, Spanish varieties, language politics, and language attitudes; all within the context of a speech community and the external and internal variables that affect it.

SPAN 553. SPANISH SOCIOLINGUISTICS. (3 Credits)
Provides a foundation of sociolinguistic theory from which various topics can be analyzed, discussed and applied to language situations that are specific to Spanish. These include language contact, Spanish varieties, language policy, and language attitudes. All topics are presented within the context of speech communities and the external and internal variables that affect these communities.

SPAN 555. INTRODUCTION TO SPANISH TRANSLATION. (3 Credits)
Combines beginning translation theory with hands-on practice using a variety of activities from several areas of professional specialization. Includes a brief introduction to simultaneous interpretation as it is done in professional conference or broadcast media settings. Participants must be highly proficient in both English and Spanish.

SPAN 556. SPANISH IN THE UNITED STATES. (3 Credits)
Provides a foundation for the study of Spanish in the United States. Focuses on the diverse identities of Latino/as and Spanish speakers as they define what it means to be bilingual locally, regionally, and nationally. Spanish and Spanish-English bilingualism will be studied from critical sociolinguistic, historical and political perspectives.

SPAN 561. FIFTH-YEAR SPANISH. (3 Credits)
Continued development of listening comprehension, speaking, and writing skills. Introduction to debate and platform speaking in Spanish, and to specialized interests of students, e.g., methods and philosophies of interpretation and translation, business Spanish, creative writing.

SPAN 562. FIFTH-YEAR SPANISH. (3 Credits)
Continued development of listening comprehension, speaking, and writing skills. Introduction to debate and platform speaking in Spanish, and to specialized interests of students, e.g., methods and philosophies of interpretation and translation, business Spanish, creative writing.

SPAN 563. FIFTH-YEAR SPANISH. (3 Credits)
Continued development of listening comprehension, speaking, and writing skills. Introduction to debate and platform speaking in Spanish, and to specialized interests of students, e.g., methods and philosophies of interpretation and translation, business Spanish, creative writing.

SPAN 569. TOPICS IN JOTERIA STUDIES. (3 Credits)
A space for engaging with arts, activism and scholarship emerging from queer Latin@/Chican@ experiences and consciousness is provided. Offered winter term in odd years. CROSSLISTED as ES 569, QS 569, WGSS 569
Equivalent to: ES 569, QS 569, WGSS 569
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

SPAN 570. GRADUATE SPANISH COORDINATED STUDIES. (1-15 Credits)
An intensive, team-taught course in which learners engage in advanced exploration of issues of importance to Spanish-speaking communities in Oregon and facilitate the learning of undergraduate native speaker and second language students. Topics change regularly. The course addresses all communicative areas (reading, writing, speaking and listening) and includes content in the areas of literature, linguistics, culture, civic engagement, and service-learning. Successful completion of the full 15 credits with a grade of B or higher meets requirements for the graduate minor in Contemporary Hispanic Studies.
Equivalent to: SPAN 510, SPAN 538, SPAN 545, SPAN 546, SPAN 562, SPAN 563
This course is repeatable for 30 credits.

SPAN 588. HISPANIC STUDIES, HISPANIC STUDY CENTERS. (1-12 Credits)
Section 1: Topics, Hispanic language. Section 2: Practical work (exercises). Section 3: Topics, Hispanic arts and letters. Section 4: Topics, Hispanic society.

SPAN 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

SPAN 808. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
ST 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (3 Credits)
This course can only be taken once unless instructor permission is provided.

ST 201. PRINCIPLES OF STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Study design, descriptive statistics, the use of probability in statistical arguments, sampling, hypothesis tests and confidence intervals for means and proportions. Lec/rec.

ST 202. PRINCIPLES OF STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Comparisons of means and proportions between two populations (t-tests, chi-square tests, nonparametric tests), simple linear regression, correlation. Lec/rec.
Prequisites: ST 201 with D- or better

ST 314. INTRODUCTION TO STATISTICS FOR ENGINEERS. (3 Credits)
Probability, common probability distributions, sampling distributions, estimation, hypothesis testing, control charts, regression analysis, experimental design.
Prequisites: MTH 252 with D- or better or MTH 252H with D- or better

ST 351. INTRODUCTION TO STATISTICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Study designs, descriptive statistics, collecting and recording data, probability distributions, sampling distributions for means and proportions, hypothesis testing and confidence intervals for means and proportions in one- and two-sample inference, and chi-square tests. Lec/lab.
Equivalent to: ST 351H

ST 351H. INTRODUCTION TO STATISTICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Study designs, descriptive statistics, collecting and recording data, probability distributions, sampling distributions for means and proportions, hypothesis testing and confidence intervals for means and proportions in one- and two-sample inference, and chi-square tests. Lec/lab.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: ST 351

ST 352. INTRODUCTION TO STATISTICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Randomization tests and other nonparametric tests for one- and two-sample inference, simple and multiple linear regression, correlation, one- and two-way analysis of variance, logistic regression. Lec/lab.
Prequisites: ST 351 with D- or better or ST 411 with D- or better

ST 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Section 1: Projects, graded P/N. Section 2: Teaching Experience, graded P/N. Section 3: Directed Work, graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 407. SEMINAR. (1 Credit)
Attendance at consulting practicum. Graded P/N.

ST 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 411. METHODS OF DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Graphical, parametric and nonparametric methods for comparing two samples; one-way and two-way analysis of variance; simple linear regression. Lec/lab.

ST 412. METHODS OF DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Multiple linear regression, including model checking, dummy variables, using regression to fit analysis of variance models, analysis of covariance, variable selection methods. Lec/lab.
Prequisites: ST 411 with D- or better

ST 413. METHODS OF DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Principles of experimental design; randomized block and factorial designs; repeated measures; categorical data analysis, including comparison of proportions, tests of homogeneity and independence in cross-classified frequency tables, Mantel-Haenszel test, logistic regression, log-linear regression. Introduction to multivariate statistics. Lec/lab.
Prequisites: ST 412 with D- or better

ST 415. DESIGN AND ANALYSIS OF PLANNED EXPERIMENTS. (3 Credits)
Principles of experimental design; uses, construction and analysis of completely randomized, randomized block and Latin square designs; covariates; factorial treatments, split-plotting; random effects and variance components.
Prequisites: ST 352 with D- or better or ST 411 with D- or better or ST 511 with D- or better

ST 421. INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Probability, random variables, expectation, discrete and continuous distributions, multivariate distributions.

ST 422. INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Sampling distributions, Central Limit Theorem, estimation, confidence intervals, properties of estimators, and hypothesis testing.
Prequisites: ST 421 with D- or better

ST 431. SAMPLING METHODS. (3 Credits)
Estimation of means, totals and proportions; sampling designs including simple random, stratified, cluster, systematic, multistage and double sampling; ratio and regression estimators; sources of errors in surveys; capture-recapture methods.

ST 435. QUANTITATIVE ECOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Overview of statistical methods that are useful for analyzing ecological data, including spatial pattern analysis, multivariate techniques, logistic regression, Bayesian statistics and computer-intensive methods. Consideration of special topics such as population dynamics, food webs and ecological indicators. Not offered every year.
Prequisites: ST 412 with D- or better or ST 512 with D- or better

ST 439. SURVEY METHODS. (3 Credits)
Survey design, data collection and analysis, general methodology.
Prequisites: ST 201 with D- or better or ST 351 with D- or better

ST 441. PROBABILITY, COMPUTING, AND SIMULATION IN STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Prequisites: ST 422 with D- or better or ST 522 with D- or better

ST 443. APPLIED STOCHASTIC MODELS. (3 Credits)
Development of stochastic models commonly arising in statistics and operations research, such as Poisson processes, birth-and-death processes, discrete-time and continuous-time Markov chains, renewal and Markov renewal processes. Analysis of stochastic models by simulation and other computational techniques.
Prequisites: ST 421 with D- or better or ST 521 with D- or better
ST 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
May be repeated for credit.
This course is repeatable for 8 credits.

ST 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

ST 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Section 1: Projects. Section 2: Teaching Experience. Section 3: Directed Work.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 507. SEMINAR. (1 Credit)
Section 1: Attendance at consulting practicum, 1 credit. Section 3: Research Seminar, 1 credit. Section 4: Computing Facilities, 1 credit. All sections graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

ST 509. CONSULTING PRACTICUM. (2 Credits)
The student provides statistical advice, under faculty guidance, on university-related research projects.
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

ST 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 511. METHODS OF DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Graphical, parametric and nonparametric methods for comparing two samples; one-way and two-way analysis of variance; simple linear regression. Lec/lab.

ST 512. METHODS OF DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Multiple linear regression, including model checking, dummy variables, using regression to fit analysis of variance models, analysis of covariance, variable selection methods. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: ST 511 with C or better

ST 513. METHODS OF DATA ANALYSIS. (4 Credits)
Principles of experimental design; randomized block and factorial designs; repeated measures; categorical data analysis, including comparison of proportions, tests of homogeneity and independence in cross-classified frequency tables, Mantel-Haenszel test, logistic regression, log-linear regression. Introduction to multivariate statistics. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: ST 512 with C or better

ST 515. DESIGN AND ANALYSIS OF PLANNED EXPERIMENTS. (3 Credits)
Principles of experimental design; uses, construction and analysis of completely randomized, randomized block and Latin square designs; covariates; factorial treatments, split plotting; random effects and variance components.

ST 516. FOUNDATIONS OF DATA ANALYTICS. (4 Credits)
Foundations of estimation and hypothesis testing; desirable properties of estimators; maximum likelihood; one- and two-sample problems; theoretical results are explored through simulations and analysis using R. Offered via Ecampus only.

ST 517. DATA ANALYTICS I. (4 Credits)
Methods for modeling quantitative data and statistical learning--simple and multiple linear regression; linear mixed effects models; data imputation; prediction and cross-validation; scaling up to large datasets. Simulations and data analysis using R. Offered via Ecampus only.
Prerequisites: ST 516 with C+ or better

ST 518. DATA ANALYTICS II. (4 Credits)
Statistical methods and data analysis techniques for count data. Topics include tests for tables of counts, logistic regression, log-linear regression, generalized linear mixed models, and issues for large datasets. Data analysis in R.
Prerequisites: ST 517 with C+ or better

ST 521. INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Probability, random variables, expectation, discrete and continuous distributions, multivariate distributions.

ST 522. INTRODUCTION TO MATHEMATICAL STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Sampling distributions, Central Limit Theorem, estimation, confidence intervals, properties of estimators, and hypothesis testing.
Prerequisites: ST 521 with C or better

ST 525. APPLIED SURVIVAL ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Statistical methods for analyzing survival data or time-to-event data, which may be censored and/or truncated. Specific topics can vary term to term, and could include Kaplan-Meier estimator; K-sample hypothesis tests for survival data; Accelerated failure time model; Cox proportional hazard regression model.
Prerequisites: ST 516 with C or better and ST 517 [C] and ST 518 [C]

ST 531. SAMPLING METHODS. (3 Credits)
Estimation of means, totals and proportions; sampling designs including simple random, stratified, cluster, systematic, multistage and double sampling; ratio and regression estimators; sources of errors in surveys; capture-recapture methods.

ST 535. QUANTITATIVE ECOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Overview of statistical methods that are useful for analyzing ecological data, including spatial pattern analysis, multivariate techniques, logistic regression, Bayesian statistics and computer-intensive methods. Consideration of special topics such as population dynamics, food webs and ecological indicators. Not offered every year.

ST 537. DATA VISUALIZATION. (3 Credits)
Perceptual principles for displaying data; critique and improvement of data visualizations; use of color in visualization; principles of tidy data; strategies for data exploration; select special topics.
Prerequisites: ST 512 with C or better or ST 517 with C or better or ST 552 with C or better

ST 538. MODERN STATISTICAL METHODS FOR LARGE AND COMPLEX DATA SETS. (3 Credits)
Provides students with the tools and experience to analyze big and messy data and work effectively in a data science team. Covers the tools to handle big data and answer statistical questions based on the data. Includes three big data analysis projects that students work on in groups. Focuses on proper use of modern data analysis techniques related to regression, classification and clustering for data coming from a variety of application fields. R will be the lingua franca.
Prerequisites: ST 512 with C or better or ST 517 with C or better or ST 552 with C or better or ST 412 with C or better

ST 539. SURVEY METHODS. (3 Credits)
Survey design, data collection and analysis, general methodology.
ST 541. PROBABILITY, COMPUTING, AND SIMULATION IN STATISTICS. (4 Credits)

ST 543. APPLIED STOCHASTIC MODELS. (3 Credits)
Development of stochastic models commonly arising in statistics and operations research, such as Poisson processes, birth-and-death processes, discrete-time and continuous-time Markov chains, renewal and Markov renewal processes. Analysis of stochastic models by simulation and other computational techniques.

ST 551. STATISTICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Properties of t, chi-square and F tests; randomized experiments; sampling distributions and standard errors of estimators, delta method, comparison of several groups of measurements; two-way tables of measurements.

ST 552. STATISTICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Simple and multiple linear regression including polynomial regression, indicator variables, weighted regression, and influence statistics, nonliner regression and linear models for binary data.
Prerequisites: ST 551 with C or better

ST 553. STATISTICAL METHODS. (4 Credits)
Principles and analysis of designed experiments, including factorial experiments, analysis of covariance, random and mixed effect models. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: ST 552 with C or better

ST 555. ADVANCED EXPERIMENTAL DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Designs leading to mixed models including split plots, repeated measures, crossovers and incomplete blocks. Introduction to experimental design in industry including confounding, fractional factorials and response surface methodology. Analysis of unbalanced data.
Prerequisites: ST 553 with C or better

ST 557. APPLIED MULTIVARIATE ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Multivariate data structures, linear combinations; principal components, factor and latent structure analysis, canonical correlations, discriminant analysis; cluster analysis, multidimensional scaling. Not offered every year.

ST 558. MULTIVARIATE ANALYTICS. (3 Credits)
Basics of matrix algebra, principal components analysis, cluster analysis, factor analysis, multidimensional scaling.
Prerequisites: ST 518 with C- or better

ST 559. BAYESIAN STATISTICS. (3 Credits)
Bayesian statistics for data analysis. Characterizations of probability; comparative (Bayesian versus frequentist) inference; prior, posterior and predictive distributions; hierarchical modeling. Computational methods include Markov Chain Monte Carlo for posterior simulation.

ST 561. THEORY OF STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Distributions of functions of random variables, joint and conditional distributions, sampling distributions, convergence concepts, order statistics. Lec/rec.

ST 562. THEORY OF STATISTICS. (4 Credits)
Sufficiency, exponential families, location and scale families; point estimation: maximum likelihood, Bayes, and unbiased estimators; asymptotic distributions of maximum likelihood estimators; Taylor series approximations.
Prerequisites: ST 561 with C or better

ST 563. THEORY OF STATISTICS. (3 Credits)
Hypothesis testing: likelihood ratio, Bayesian, and uniformly most powerful tests; similar tests in exponential families; asymptotic distributions of likelihood ratio test statistics; confidence intervals.
Prerequisites: ST 562 with C or better

ST 565. TIME SERIES. (3 Credits)
Analysis of serially correlated data in both time and frequency domains. Autocorrelation and partial autocorrelation functions, autoregressive integrated moving average models, model building, forecasting; filtering, smoothing, spectral analysis, frequency response studies. Offered winter term in even years.

ST 566. TIME SERIES ANALYTICS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on statistical and analytical tools for analyzing data that are observed sequentially over time. Specific topics can vary term to term, and could include methods for exploratory time series analysis, linear time series models (ARMA, ARIMA), forecasting, spectral analysis and state-space models. The focus will be on applied problems, though some mathematical statistics is necessary for a solid understanding of the statistical issues. This course is designed for students in Data Analytics MS and Certificate programs.
Prerequisites: ST 516 with C or better and ST 517 [C] and ST 518 [C]

ST 567. SPATIAL STATISTICS. (3 Credits)
The analysis of spatial data. Graphical tools for exploring spatial data, geostatistics, variogram estimation, kriging, areal models, hierarchical spatial models, and spatio-temporal modelling. Offered winter term in odd years.

ST 591. INTRODUCTION TO QUANTITATIVE GENOMICS. (3 Credits)
Provides an overview of how genomic data is generated and analyzed. It focuses on the underlying biological motivation, theoretical concepts, and analytical challenges associated with genomic research, especially the generation of statistics that summarize genomic data. The class is organized as a combination of lectures and group literature review discussions. Students are expected to actively participate in the class. Students from diverse backgrounds, including quantitative, biological, and computations sciences, are encouraged to enroll.

ST 592. STATISTICAL METHODS FOR GENOMICS RESEARCH. (3 Credits)
Lectures include an overview of statistical methods commonly applied in genomics research. Specific methods can vary term to term, and could include cluster analysis, decision trees, dimension reduction tools, regression models, multiple testing adjustment, variable selection methods, etc. Journal clubs include team-based review and presentations of landmark papers in both statistical methodology and genomics research. Research experience includes whole-term collaboration between students from statistics and other disciplines on real projects.
ST 595. CAPSTONE PROJECT. (3 Credits)
Provides an opportunity for students to integrate and apply the analytics skills learned in MS in Data Analytics program to solve real-world problems and to interpret and communicate their results. Student teams will engage in the entire process of solving data science projects in realistic settings, from placing the problem into appropriate statistical framework to applying suitable analytic methods to the problem. Problem solving, written and oral communication skills will be emphasized.
Prerequisites: ST 516 with C or better and ST 517 [C] and ST 518 [C] and ST 558 [C]

ST 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-4 Credits)
May be repeated for credit when topic varies. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

ST 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Section 1: Projects; Section 2: Teaching Experience, graded P/N; Section 3: Directed Work, graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

ST 623. GENERALIZED REGRESSION MODELS I. (3 Credits)
Maximum likelihood analysis for frequency data; regression-type models for binomial and Poisson data; iterative weighted least squares and maximum likelihood; analysis of deviance and residuals; overdispersion and quasi-likelihood models; log-linear models for multidimensional contingency tables.
Prerequisites: ST 553 with C or better and ST 563 [C]

ST 625. GENERALIZED REGRESSION MODELS II. (3 Credits)
Parametric methods for the analysis of censored survival data, based mostly on large-sample likelihood theory. Specific topics include the Kaplan-Meier estimator, the log-rank test, partial likelihood, and regression models, including the Cox proportional-hazards model and its generalizations.
Prerequisites: ST 553 with C or better or ST 563 with C or better

ST 651. LINEAR MODEL THEORY. (3 Credits)
Least squares estimation, best linear unbiased estimation, parameterizations, multivariate normal distributions, distributions of quadratic forms, testing linear hypotheses, simultaneous confidence intervals. Offered alternate years.

ST 652. LINEAR MODEL THEORY. (3 Credits)
Advanced topics including classification models, mixed-effects models and multivariate models. Offered alternate years.
Prerequisites: ST 651 with C or better

ST 661. ADVANCED THEORY OF STATISTICS. (3 Credits)
Exponential families, sufficient statistics; unbiased, equivariant, Bayes, and admissible estimation. Offered alternate years.

ST 662. ADVANCED THEORY OF STATISTICS. (3 Credits)
Uniformly most powerful, unbiased, similar, and invariant tests. Offered alternate years.
Prerequisites: ST 661 with C or better

ST 663. ADVANCED THEORY OF STATISTICS. (3 Credits)
First-order and higher-order asymptotics; likelihood ratio, score, and Wald tests; Edgeworth and saddlepoint approximations. Offered alternate years.
Prerequisites: ST 662 with C or better
SUSTAINABILITY (SUS)

SUS 102. INTRODUCTION TO ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE AND SUSTAINABILITY. (4 Credits)
An introduction to the science behind critical environmental issues and the biological basis of creating and maintaining sustainable ecosystems. Focus on such questions as: how do we decide what to believe about environmental issues? How do we quantify, restore, and value biodiversity? What is valid science in the global warming debate? Lec/lab. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPBS – Core, Pers, Biological Science

SUS 103. INTRODUCTION TO CLIMATE CHANGE. (4 Credits)
An introduction to the principles of climate change science with an emphasis on the empirical evidence for climate change. Students will learn critical thinking skills to assess such questions as: How do we determine the processes controlling global warming? How do we predict trends in climate change? How do we calculate and understand uncertainty in these predictions? What is valid science in the global warming debate? Lec/lab. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPPS – Core, Pers, Physical Science

SUS 304. SUSTAINABILITY ASSESSMENT. (4 Credits)
Explores theories and application of sustainability assessment techniques and analysis methods. Practical application of globally recognized assessment protocol, including checklists, footprinting, life-cycle analysis and the indicators used to conduct these analyses. Emphasis on ecological and social indicators, although economic indicators are explored. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society

SUS 325. AG AND ENVIRONMENTAL PREDICAMENTS: A CASE STUDY APPROACH. (3 Credits)
Analyze controversial agricultural and environmental issues, synthesize information from diverse sources, and apply scientific knowledge to recommend specific courses of action to solve real world problems. Develop oral and written communication skills through individual and group work. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC

SUS 350. SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITIES. (4 Credits)
Introduction to the concept of sustainable communities from a multidisciplinary perspective. Instructors from a broad array of disciplines and professions. Development of holistic thinking skills and innovative solutions to complex problems. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

SUS 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SUS 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

SUS 420. SOCIAL DIMENSIONS OF SUSTAINABILITY. (3 Credits)
Focuses on the social aspects of sustainability, including how the environment, the economy, social life interact to create the world we live in. Explores how social institutions (school, government, business, family) contribute to sustainability and promote or discourage social and environmental justice at local and global scales. Also offered at OSU-Cascades and via Ecampus.

SUS 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (3 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 15 credits.

SUS 512. TOPICS IN THE SCIENCE OF SUSTAINABILITY. (4 Credits)
Provides a graduate-level introduction to key concepts and issues in environmental science and sustainability, targeted at business-oriented graduate and post-bacc students who do not have a science background. The course is a core requirement of the Sustainable Business certificate program offered jointly by the College of Business (COB) and the College of Agricultural Sciences’ (CAS) Sustainability Double-Degree (SDD) Program.

SUS 514. SUSTAINABILITY PLANNING AND ASSESSMENT. (4 Credits)
Sustainability is fundamentally about balancing social, economic and ecological systems. This course examines a range of different methodologies for measuring and evaluating performance towards established sustainability criteria and indicators. Students will critically evaluate tools for making sustainable decisions and understand the limitations of individual assessment approaches in different contexts. Specific assessment techniques to be explored include ecological footprinting, sustainable community indicators, greenhouse gas emissions inventories, sustainability checklists, environmental management systems (ISO standards), life-cycle analysis, and business sustainability reporting. Students will leave the course with the fundamental skills required to complete sustainability assessments via globally relevant approaches.

SUS 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
SUSTAINABLE NATURAL RESOURCES (SNR)

SNR 506. INDEPENDENT PROJECT IN NATURAL RESOURCE SUSTAINABILITY. (2 Credits)
Students identify, pose, frame, and analyze the various components of an important natural resource sustainability problem within their country, region, or organization and, at the end of term, present a workplan for its resolution. Oral and written reports are expected. Graded P/N.

SNR 511. SUSTAINABLE NATURAL RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT. (1 Credit)
Using readings, class discussions, and field trips, we introduce the program sessions and pedagogical methods, familiarize students with basic working definitions of sustainability, and build capacity to work as a group on a common project.

SNR 520. SOCIAL ASPECTS OF SUSTAINABLE NATURAL RESOURCES. (3 Credits)
Using readings, personal experiences, and class discussions, students explore five principles of socially sustainable natural resource management, and review the role they play in creating natural resource-based sustainable communities.

SNR 521. ECONOMICS OF SUSTAINABLE NATURAL RESOURCE MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Focuses on the sources of market failure, the means of correcting market failure, and the real-world examples of making progress toward sustainable resource use by means of market mechanisms.

SNR 522. BASIC BELIEFS AND ETHICS IN NATURAL RESOURCES. (3 Credits)
Examines basic philosophies and ethical systems in American forestry, including Pinchot's agricultural/utilitarian approach and Leopold's biotic/ecological model, compares them to contemporary public attitudes and considers their implications for sustainability.

SNR 530. ECOLOGICAL PRINCIPLES OF SUSTAINABLE NATURAL RESOURCES. (3 Credits)
Focus an ecological sustainability and ecological concepts and principles, with examples drawn from forests and arid lands. Exploration of global ecosystems, ecological processes and services, factors that create and maintain diversity, ecosystem health and integrity. Principles for sustainable natural resource management and use.

SNR 531. SUSTAINABLE SILVICULTURE AND FOREST CERTIFICATION. (3 Credits)
Strategies for sustainable silviculture, and measuring and verifying environmental performance (including certification systems) are examined using classroom lectures, case studies, and field exercises. Part of the 18-credit Sustainable Natural Resources (SNR) Graduate Certificate; also open to other graduate students.

SNR 532. PLANNING AGROFORESTRY PROJECTS. (2 Credits)
Develop basic understanding and appreciation of agroforestry concepts, systems, technologies and practices as used and applied in tropical and temperate zones of the world.

SNR 533. ALTERNATIVE (NONTIMBER) FOREST PRODUCTS. (2 Credits)
Explores the economic, environmental, and sociocultural components of understanding and managing alternative forest products, also known as nontimber forest products (NTFPs), while considering other natural/social resources. Part of the 18-credit Sustainable Natural Resources (SNR) Graduate Certificate; also open to other graduate students.

SNR 534. REDUCED IMPACT TIMBER HARVEST. (2 Credits)
Explores planning, implementation, monitoring, and evaluation of reduced impact timber harvesting. Part of the 18-credit Sustainable Natural Resources (SNR) Graduate Certificate; also open to other graduate students.

SNR 535. SUSTAINABLE MANAGEMENT OF AQUATIC AND RIPARIAN RESOURCES. (3 Credits)
Explores integrated strategies for sustainable management of watersheds, estuaries, coastal zones, and aquatic resources. Special emphasis given to links between land uses and aquatic environments. Part of the 18-credit Sustainable Natural Resources (SNR) Graduate Certificate; also open to other graduate students.

SNR 540. GLOBAL ENVIRONMENTAL CHANGE. (3 Credits)
Explore biophysical and social sciences that underlie contemporary global change issues: global biogeochemical cycles, climate system, climate change, threats to biodiversity; human dimensions of climate change, globalization, land cover and land use change, global environmental governance and management tools.

SNR 808. WORKSHOP. (1-4 Credits)
Describes the policies, practices, and market mechanisms that enhance ecological, economic, and social sustainability of natural resource production and natural ecosystems. Sustainable natural resource management attempts to meet the needs of the present without compromising the future of people or the ecosystems on which they depend.

This course is repeatable for 4 credits.
THEATRE ARTS (TA)

TA 121. ORAL INTERPRETATION I. (3 Credits)
Analysis and presentation of literature. Exploration of emotional reactions, expressive vocal and physical responses, and performing techniques for effective communication. (FA)
Attributes: LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core

TA 144. PLAYREADING. (1 Credit)
Reading/discussion/examination of plays from world theatre of past and present from the perspective of production and theatre history.
This course is repeatable for 2 credits.

TA 147. *INTRODUCTION TO THE THEATRE. (3 Credits)
Origins, history, nature, elements, and style of theatre production; function of artists and craftspersons of the theatre. (FA) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core
Equivalent to: TA 147H

TA 147H. *INTRODUCTION TO THE THEATRE. (3 Credits)
Origins, history, nature, elements, and style of theatre production; function of artists and craftspersons of the theatre. (FA) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core
Equivalent to: TA 147

TA 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 242. VISUAL PRINCIPLES OF THEATRE. (3 Credits)
An introduction to visual creativity, creative thinking, and visual problem solving as applied to theatre arts as a whole, and to scene and costume design. (FA)
Attributes: LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core

TA 243. PRINCIPLES OF COSTUIMG FOR THE STAGE. (3 Credits)
Principles and techniques of costume construction; practical application in the costume shop on theatre production.

TA 244. SCENE CRAFTS. (3 Credits)
Constructing scenery and stage properties; practical experience in backstage procedures and scene painting. Lec/lab. (FA)
Attributes: LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core

TA 245. STAGE LIGHTING. (3 Credits)
Fundamentals of electricity as used in stage lighting; color and light, lighting instruments and control systems, theory and practice of lighting stage production.

TA 247. STAGE MAKEUP. (3 Credits)
Basic principles and theory with laboratory experience in most-used applications of theatrical makeup.

TA 248. FUNDAMENTALS OF ACTING I. (3 Credits)
Examination of basic principles and techniques of acting. Exploration of relaxation/focus, personal vocal/physical awareness, the actor’s craft, and the performance process. (FA)
Attributes: LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core

TA 249. FUNDAMENTALS OF ACTING II. (3 Credits)
Continued work in the basic principles and techniques of acting. Emphasis on improvisation, character analysis, and creation, the balance between truth and technique.
Prerequisites: TA 248 with D- or better

TA 250. WORKSHOP: THEATRE ARTS. (1-3 Credits)
Practical experience in performance, technical theatre, or design. Maximum for 6 credits may be applied toward graduation.
Equivalent to: TA 250H
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

TA 250H. WORKSHOP: THEATRE ARTS. (1-3 Credits)
Practical experience in performance, technical theatre, or design. Maximum for 6 credits may be applied toward graduation.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: TA 250
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

TA 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 330. *HISTORY OF THE THEATRE. (3 Credits)
The rise and development of the composite arts of the theatre in their cultural and social context. Origins to 1500. Offered alternate years. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

TA 330. HISTORY OF THE THEATRE. (3 Credits)
The rise and development of the composite arts of the theatre in their cultural and social context. 1500 to 1870. Offered alternate years. (H) (Bacc Core Course) (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

TA 344. PLAYSSCRIPT ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Study of major approaches to playscript analysis and detailed application of these systems to the theatrical production process. (H)
Attributes: LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Prerequisites: TA 147 with D- or better

TA 346. SCENE AND STAGE DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Designs for stage productions including elements of color, mass, line, and lighting for various types of theatre architecture and plays. Offered alternate years.

TA 348. ADVANCED ACTING: REALISM. (3 Credits)
Discussion, research, rehearsal, performance, and criticism of scenes from realistic drama. Emphasis on the craft of acting, emotional availability/honesty, personal awareness. Offered alternate years.
Prerequisites: TA 248 with D- or better

TA 349. ADVANCED ACTING: STYLES. (3 Credits)
Discussion, research, rehearsal, performance, and criticism of scenes from a range of period and genre styles. Offered alternate years.
Prerequisites: TA 248 with D- or better

TA 350. WORKSHOP: THEATRE ARTS. (1-3 Credits)
Advanced work in acting, directing or technical theatre in dramatic productions; laboratory experience. Maximum of 6 credits may be applied toward graduation.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

TA 351. PRINCIPLES OF PLAYWRITING. (3 Credits)
Basic principles and techniques of playwriting. Offered alternate years.
TA 352. PLAYWRITING WORKSHOP. (3 Credits)
Intensive work on student playscripts generated in TA 351, through rewrites, revision and rehearsals. Offered alternate years.

TA 354. FUNDS PLAY DIRECTION. (3 Credits)
History, theories and techniques of stage direction. Script analysis, study of the audience, staging, working with actors and designers, the production process. Emphasis on practical exploration and application. Offered alternate years.

TA 360. *MULTICULTURAL AMERICAN THEATRE. (3 Credits)
Examines the rich panorama of multicultural-American theatre (e.g., African-American, gay and lesbian, Hispanic, Asian American). (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: TA 360H

TA 360H. *MULTICULTURAL AMERICAN THEATRE. (3 Credits)
Examines the rich panorama of multicultural-American theatre (e.g., African-American, gay and lesbian, Hispanic, Asian American). (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
Equivalent to: TA 360

TA 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 402. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 403. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: TA 407H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 407H. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: TA 407

TA 408. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 410. THEATRE ARTS INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
One- to three-term residency in a producing theatre, for a maximum allowable total of 15 credits. Student works in a department of the theatre and in related production activities, according to areas of interest or specialization. Work supervised and evaluated by agency staff; academic evaluation by supervising department faculty member(s). Available to upper-division theatre arts majors and graduate students approved by faculty and selected by intern agency.
This course is repeatable for 15 credits.

TA 416. TOPICS IN THEATRE ARTS. (3 Credits)
Lectures and explorations of theories, issues, methods, problems, and applications in theatre arts. Concentrated work in a variety of selected theatre topics. Offered as demand and staffing allow.
Equivalent to: TA 416H
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

TA 416H. TOPICS IN THEATRE ARTS. (3 Credits)
Lectures and explorations of theories, issues, methods, problems, and applications in theatre arts. Concentrated work in a variety of selected theatre topics. Offered as demand and staffing allow.
Attributes: HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: TA 416
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

TA 443. COSTUME DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Theory and practice of designing costumes for a theatrical production.

TA 444. *THEORY AND CRITICISM OF THEATRE ARTS. (3 Credits)
Major theories that have influenced and motivated theatre practice in Western civilization throughout its development. Offered on alternate years. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC

TA 450. STUDIO: THEATRE ARTS. (3-6 Credits)
Advanced individual study on approved projects in one of the arts of the theatre: acting, directing or scene/costume/lighting design; or in stage or theatre management.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

TA 451. INTRODUCTION TO ARTS ENTREPRENEURSHIP. (3 Credits)
Survey of the business strategies behind a successful career in the arts. Emphasizes the importance of entrepreneurial thinking, engages students with the fundamentals of the arts "business", and explores ways to influence and shape the industry's future. (FA) CROSSLISTED as ART 451, MUS 451.
Attributes: LACF – Liberal Arts Fine Arts Core
Equivalent to: ART 451, MUS 451

TA 454. ADVANCED PLAY DIRECTION. (3 Credits)
Expanded exploration of directing theories and techniques. Practical application through the production of a one-act play in a laboratory theatre. Offered alternate years.
Prerequisites: TA 354 with D- or better

TA 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 502. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

TA 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TA 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
TA 510. THEATRE ARTS INTERNSHIP. (6-15 Credits)
One- to three-term residency in a producing theatre, for a maximum allowable total of 15 credits. Student works in a department of the theatre and in related production activities, according to areas of interest or specialization. Work supervised and evaluated by agency staff; academic evaluation by supervising department faculty member(s). Available to upper-division theatre arts majors and graduate students approved by faculty and selected by intern agency.
This course is repeatable for 15 credits.

TA 516. TOPICS IN THEATRE ARTS. (3 Credits)
Lectures and explorations of theories, issues, methods, problems, and applications in theatre arts. Concentrated work in a variety of selected theatre topics. Offered as demand and staffing allow.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

TA 543. COSTUME DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Theory and practice of designing costumes for a theatrical production.

TA 550. STUDIO: THEATRE ARTS. (3-6 Credits)
Advanced individual study on approved projects in one of the arts of the theatre: acting, directing or scene/costume/lighting design; or in stage or theatre management.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

TA 554. ADVANCED PLAY DIRECTION. (3 Credits)
Expanded exploration of directing theories and techniques. Practical application through the production of a one-act play in a laboratory theatre. Offered alternate years.
TRAL 115. OUTDOOR LIVING SKILLS. (2 Credits)
Educates and introduces students on how to travel safely in the backcountry through proper preparation, risk awareness, Leave No Trace ethics, terrain recognition, navigation, and camp craft. Classroom and field (lab) experience. Includes one mandatory weekend overnight outing. CROSSLISTED as PAC 115.
Equivalent to: PAC 115
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

TRAL 118. LABORATORY FOR OUTDOOR LIVING SKILLS. (1 Credit)
Practical field application of concepts learned in TRAL 115/PAC 115, Outdoor Living Skills. Field (lab) experience includes one mandatory weekend overnight. Introduces how to travel safely in the backcountry through proper preparation, risk awareness, Leave No Trace ethics, terrain recognition, navigation, and camp craft. CROSSLISTED as PAC 118.
Corequisites: TRAL 115
Equivalent to: PAC 118
This course is repeatable for 2 credits.

TRAL 130. INTRODUCTION TO OUTDOOR AND ADVENTURE PROFESSIONS. (3 Credits)
Outdoor and adventure professions will be explored. Introduces students to practical and conceptual aspects of land and water trips in outdoor tourism, adventure, and educational settings. Innovative people and products will be examined in the context of outdoor and adventure professions and their impact; past, present, and future.

TRAL 132. *FOUNDATIONS AND HISTORY OF OUTDOOR AND ADVENTURE PROFESSIONS. (3 Credits)
History, evolution, and theoretical underpinning of outdoor and adventure professions as an important and evolving feature of Western culture within the United States and beyond. Influential ideas, paradigm shifts, events, and developments that have led to professionalism, institutionalization, dissemination, and impact on other subject areas and professions. Impact of other cultures on current state of the professions.
(Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture

TRAL 172. ROCK SITE MANAGEMENT. (2 Credits)
Students will be introduced to a variety of basic skills, gear and systems that will allow them to safely manage and participate in a single pitch rock climbing environment. This class will present students with various technical skills that will serve as a foundation for future land-based outdoor disciplines. Students will be introduced to gear, such as software (ropes, webbing, harnesses) and hardware (carabiners, friction devices); skills, such as knots, belaying, rappelling; and systems such as anchors, raises, lowers. CROSSLISTED as PAC 172.
Equivalent to: PAC 172

TRAL 215. GROUP FACILITATION. (4 Credits)
Introduces facilitation, leadership, and management of groups. Group facilitation theory, techniques, and models for use in a variety of environments and with different populations. Prominent personality types and how to effectively facilitate these. Determining needs, utilizing appropriate techniques, sequencing, and processing to meet specific determined needs of groups.

TRAL 217. INTERMEDIATE ROCK. (2 Credits)
Begins by affirming rock site management foundational skills such as proper equipment, knots, belay techniques, rappelling, and basic climbing anchor systems. Then focuses on building upon those foundational skills by covering more complex anchor systems, belay techniques, vertical rescues, releasable rappels, and movement through various rock specific terrains.

TRAL 251. RECREATION RESOURCE MANAGEMENT. (4 Credits)
Overview of recreation resource management including study of land and water resources used for outdoor recreation. The planning and management of natural and cultural resources for long-term resource productivity, with a focus on rural and wildlife areas of the forest, range and coast.

TRAL 270. PRE-INTERNSHIP SEMINAR. (1 Credit)
Explore current issues and problems in outdoor recreation management and other practice areas in the tourism, recreation, and adventure leadership (TRAL) professions. Student preparation in planning, obtaining, and completing TRAL internships. The course is designed to assist undergraduate majors in TRAL prepare for the required internship. Graded P/N.

TRAL 280. OUTDOOR LEADERSHIP FUNDAMENTALS. (5 Credits)
A week-long outdoor expedition focusing on water-based and land-based skills while developing a comprehensive understanding of expedition behavior. Students will meet in the classroom to prepare for the week-long field expedition covering various topics such as risk management, expedition planning, navigation, water safety and other topics. The expedition will expose students to extended travel in the backcountry while further developing technical and interpersonal skills.
Prerequisites: PAC 110 with C or better and TRAL 115 [C] and TRAL 118 [C] and TRAL 215 [C]

TRAL 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
Topics of current importance in tourism, recreation, and/or adventure leadership education. Topics will change from term to term. May be repeated with different topics for credit.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TRAL 351. OUTDOOR RECREATION MANAGEMENT ON PUBLIC LANDS. (3 Credits)
Explores current issues and problems in outdoor recreation management on public lands and approaches to address these. Emphasis on day-to-day, field-based management of recreation resources, rather than broad-scale planning.
Prerequisites: TRAL 251 with C- or better or FES 251 with C- or better

TRAL 352. WILDERNESS MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Wilderness as land use concept. Wilderness history, preservation, planning and management. Wilderness in the context of other land uses.

TRAL 353. NATURE, ECO, AND ADVENTURE TOURISM. (3 Credits)
Introduces students to natural resource-based tourism issues in both domestic and international contexts. Explores distinctions between nature, eco, and adventure tourism and other forms of tourism, positive and negative impacts, and contemporary issues such as accreditation/certification, and sustainable design.

TRAL 354. COMMUNITIES, NATURAL AREAS, AND SUSTAINABLE TOURISM. (3 Credits)
Introduces students to macro-level community and regional issues associated with tourism in natural areas. Explores positive and negative community impacts associated with tourism, traditional government-based tourism management and policies; community-based tourism management, and partnerships and stakeholder collaboration. Domestic and international examples are used to illustrate concepts and principles.
TRAL 357. PARKS AND PROTECTED AREAS MANAGEMENT. (3 Credits)
Provides a broad yet comprehensive understanding of the theories, problems, and techniques of managing parks, wild and scenic rivers, wilderness, and other protected areas. Covers the evolution of policies and recent issues in management of these protected areas, in the United States and around the world.

TRAL 370. DESIGN AND MANAGEMENT OF OUTDOOR EXPERIENCES. (4 Credits)
Introduction to pedagogical, administrative, and organizational knowledge, skills, and dispositions for effective design and management of effective short and extended duration outdoor experiences in wilderness-like areas. Covers personnel logistics, site planning, itinerary planning, educational and skills progression, communication with volunteers and program contacts, budgets.
Prerequisites: TRAL 375 with C- or better or TOL 375 with C- or better

TRAL 372. ETHICS AND ADVENTURE LEADERSHIP. (3 Credits)
Examines ethical issues and situations inherent in adventure leadership and other experiential education settings. Leading adventure programs entails judgment-laden decisions that are made every hour of every day concerning participants, leaders, and programs. Students will become familiar with predominant ethical theories and apply these theories to practical situations with a view to assessing the values that influence their decisions and subsequent actions. Students will better understand how their decisions influence their professional work and those of others within the context of adventure leadership.

TRAL 373. WILDERNESS AND ADVENTURE EDUCATION. (4 Credits)
Rationale for and methods used in the application of wilderness and outdoor adventure education programs in education, recreation, corporate and human service settings. Covers historical and contemporary philosophies and practices in adventure education, with a primary emphasis on outdoor adventure education. Explores the educational, social, and ethical consequences of outdoor adventure education programs. Also explores the role of wilderness in the context of the United States and differing views of what constitutes wilderness from an international perspective.

TRAL 374. OUTDOOR ADVENTURE EDUCATION. (3 Credits)
Rationale for and methods used in the application of outdoor adventure education programs in education, recreation, corporate and human service settings. Historical and contemporary philosophies and practices in outdoor adventure education. Explores the educational, social, and ethical consequences of outdoor adventure education programs. Examines outdoor adventure education in the context of the United States and differing paradigms informing the practice in other cultures internationally. Presents current research in outdoor adventure education.

TRAL 375. EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION. (4 Credits)
Theory, techniques, and practice of experiential education. Students will define learning objectives, design curriculum, develop teaching materials, and effectively teach a variety of audiences. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC

TRAL 377. EXPEDITIONS I WATER. (5 Credits)
A field-based course that develops the knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed to safely and effectively lead, and participate in, an extended water-based backcountry expedition of one week or longer. Technical skill emphasis is on whitewater kayaks and/or rafts and/or canoes with an additional focus on swift water rescue skills.
Prerequisites: PAC 110 with C- or better and PAC 111 [C-] and TRAL 215 [C-] and TRAL 280 [C-]

TRAL 378. TOURISM AND RECREATION DATA ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
Introduces students to descriptive and inferential statistics. The focus is on 1) applying relevant statistical analyses to tourism and recreation data and 2) interpreting results.

TRAL 379. EXPEDITIONS II-LAND. (10 Credits)
Field-based course that develops the knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed to safely and effectively lead and participate in an extended land-based backcountry expedition of three weeks or longer. Includes a service component tied to a relevant local organization.
Prerequisites: (TRAL 277 with C- or better or TOL 377 with C- or better)

TRAL 380. EXPEDITIONS II-WATER. (3 Credits)
Field-based course that develops the knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed to safely and effectively lead and participate in an extended water-based backcountry expedition of one week or longer. Includes a service component tied to a relevant local organization.
Prerequisites: (TRAL 277 with C- or better or TOL 377 with C- or better)

TRAL 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
Topics of current importance in tourism, recreation, and/or adventure leadership education. Topics will change from term to term. May be repeated with different topics for credit.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TRAL 401. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TRAL 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TRAL 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Full-time supervised professional experience emphasizing functional proficiency under joint sponsorship of university and agency personnel. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TRAL 432. ECONOMICS OF RECREATION AND TOURISM. (3 Credits)
Applications of economic theory, concepts, and methods to outdoor recreation and nature-based tourism resources, projects and plans. Key topics include analyses of economic impacts, benefits and costs, demand and supply, and non-market valuation (e.g., revealed, stated, and benefit transfer methods).
Prerequisites: (AEC 350 with D- or better or ECON 201 with D- or better or ECON 201H with D- or better) and (ST 202 [D-] or ST 202H [D-])

TRAL 455. PLANNING FOR SUSTAINABLE TOURISM. (4 Credits)
Concepts related to the creation and design of outdoor recreation plans. Techniques for collecting data pertaining to visitor experiences and preferences. Recreation planning at several levels, both for public and private lands, with emphasis on larger scale site planning where recreation is integrated with other resource uses. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: TRAL 251 with C- or better or FES 251 with C- or better

TRAL 457. PLANNING FOR SUSTAINABLE RECREATION. (4 Credits)
Examines relationships among tourists, tourism developments, and the planning of tourist attractions and services. Focuses on planning tourist resources and programs within a geographic region, as well as at both the destination and site levels. Planning tools and design concepts are reviewed, analyzed, and applied. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: TRAL 251 with C or better or FES 251 with C or better

TRAL 474. ENTREPRENEURSHIP IN TOURISM, RECREATION, AND ADVENTURE LEADERSHIP. (3 Credits)
Creation and management of tourism and outdoor leadership businesses. Covers principles of running a successful business and includes special considerations for operations on public lands (e.g., concessionaires).
TRAL 476. RISK MANAGEMENT IN TOURISM, RECREATION, AND ADVENTURE LEADERSHIP. (3 Credits)
Risk management in tourism and outdoor leadership from an operational perspective. Focuses on risk in tourism and outdoor education programs as a contributing factor for learning, growth, and satisfaction of client motivations. Covers the nature of accidents in outdoor settings, addresses the practitioner’s perspective of risk in the field, and describes theories and methods of implementing risk management. Covers the ethics of utilizing risk and potentially dangerous activities as a basis for enhancing client education and experience.
Prerequisites: TRAL 478 with C- or better or TOL 478 with C- or better

TRAL 477. ADVENTURE THERAPY. (3 Credits)
Provides students with an overview of adventure therapy, including its history, theory, current status and future trends. Includes program design, ethical issues, and best practices in the field.

TRAL 478. LEGAL ISSUES IN TOURISM, RECREATION, AND ADVENTURE LEADERSHIP. (3 Credits)
Covers the legal dimensions of tourism and outdoor leadership activities. Students will learn about the civil and criminal judicial system from a tourism and outdoor leadership perspective. They will learn to apply risk management methodologies and instruments, such as contracts, insurance, waivers and releases to address legal liability. The basic principles of intentional and negligent torts will be discussed, with an emphasis on practical applications. Also covers employment issues and general business law, including business structure and the use of entities as liability shields.
Prerequisites: TRAL 375 with C- or better or TOL 375 with C- or better

TRAL 479. NATURE AND THE HUMAN EXPERIENCE. (3 Credits)
Examines the human experience with (and within) nature from biological, psychological, spiritual, and international/cultural perspectives. Identifies opportunities for fostering the human-nature connection to achieve organizational goals and individual and societal health. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

TRAL 493. ENVIRONMENTAL INTERPRETATION. (4 Credits)
Interpretation of natural and cultural features in parks, museums, and similar settings. Emphasis on learning and applying effective communication techniques in the development of brochures, exhibits, talks, museums, and visitor centers.

TRAL 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Topics of current importance in forest resources issues, education, policies, economics, management, business, social values, silviculture, and biometrics. Topics will change from term to term. May be repeated with different topics for credit. Section 8: Social aspects of natural resource management (3 credits) graded.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TRAL 593. ENVIRONMENTAL INTERPRETATION. (4 Credits)
Interpretation of natural and cultural features in parks, museums, and similar settings. Emphasis on learning and applying effective communication techniques in the development of brochures, exhibits, talks, museums, and visitor centers.
TOXICOLOGY (TOX)

TOX 360. *THE WORLD OF POISONS. (3 Credits)
Provides a basic understanding of how we are exposed and respond to chemicals, examples of human diseases associated with toxic insult, the role of technology and the interface of society and toxicology in risk perception and legislation. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society

TOX 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 411. FUNDAMENTALS OF TOXICOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the discipline of toxicology. Examination of the basic concepts that define how chemicals are absorbed, distributed, metabolized, and eliminated by the body. Overview of associated dose/response relations.
Prerequisites: BB 350 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or BB 450 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or BB 490 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better

TOX 413. ENVIRONMENTAL TOXICOLOGY AND RISK ASSESSMENT. (3 Credits)
Procedures for defining exposure and the use of toxicological data in defining risk assessment. Recent application of mechanistic concepts are reviewed.
Prerequisites: TOX 411 with D- or better

TOX 429. TOXIC SUBSTANCES IN FOOD. (3 Credits)
Toxicology and epidemiology of human exposures to pesticides and food toxicants.
Prerequisites: BB 350 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or BB 450 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or BB 490 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better

TOX 430. CHEMICAL BEHAVIOR IN THE ENVIRONMENT. (3 Credits)
Applications of chemical concepts in the definition and solution of pollution problems; analytical considerations, thermodynamic factors influencing movement of chemicals, physical and metabolic transformations occurring in the environment.
Prerequisites: CH 123 with D- or better or CH 331 with D- or better

TOX 435. *GENES AND CHEMICALS IN AGRICULTURE: VALUE AND RISK. (3 Credits)
A multidisciplinary course that examines the scientific, social, political, economic, environmental, and ethical controversies surrounding agricultural and natural resource biotechnologies. Lec/rec. CROSSLISTED as FES 435/FES 535, FES 435H, MCB 535. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society

TOX 435H. *GENES AND CHEMICALS IN AGRICULTURE: VALUE AND RISK. (3 Credits)
A multidisciplinary course that examines the scientific, social, political, economic, environmental, and ethical controversies surrounding agricultural and natural resource biotechnologies. Lec/rec. CROSSLISTED as BI 435H, FS 435H. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society/HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: FES 435, TOX 435

TOX 455. ECOTOXICOLOGY: AQUATIC ECOSYSTEMS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on transport, fate, and effects of toxic substances in freshwater ecosystems. There is special emphasis on impacts on fish.
Prerequisites: CH 331 with D- or better

TOX 490. ENVIRONMENTAL FORENSIC CHEMISTRY. (3 Credits)
Principles of Good Laboratory Practice Standards, methodology, utility and limitations of chemical forensic methods as applied to real investigations.

TOX 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

TOX 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 511. FUNDAMENTALS OF TOXICOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the discipline of toxicology. Examination of the basic concepts that define how chemicals are absorbed, distributed, metabolized, and eliminated by the body. Overview of associated dose/response relations.
Prerequisites: BB 550 (may be taken concurrently) with C or better or BB 590 (may be taken concurrently) with C or better

TOX 513. ENVIRONMENTAL TOXICOLOGY AND RISK ASSESSMENT. (3 Credits)
Procedures for defining exposure and the use of toxicological data in defining risk assessment. Recent application of mechanistic concepts are reviewed.
Prerequisites: TOX 511 with C or better

TOX 529. TOXIC SUBSTANCES IN FOOD. (3 Credits)
Examination of toxicological effects of chemicals at organ level. Normal physiology of the organ system is received.
Prerequisites: TOX 511 with C or better

TOX 530. CHEMICAL BEHAVIOR IN THE ENVIRONMENT. (3 Credits)
Applications of chemical concepts in the definition and solution of pollution problems; analytical considerations, thermodynamic factors influencing movement of chemicals, physical and metabolic transformations occurring in the environment.
Prerequisites: TOX 511 with C or better

TOX 535. GENES AND CHEMICALS IN AGRICULTURE: VALUE AND RISK. (3 Credits)
A multidisciplinary course that examines the scientific, social, political, economic, environmental, and ethical controversies surrounding agricultural and natural resource biotechnologies. Lec/rec. CROSSLISTED as FES 435/FES 535, FES 435H, MCB 535.
Equivalent to: FES 535, MCB 535
TOX 554. GENOME ORGANIZATION, STRUCTURE, AND MAINTENANCE. (4 Credits)
How diverse organisms store their individual sets of genetic information (genomes). Evolution of genomes and gene families. Structures of DNA and chromosomes. Biochemical and regulatory pathways that protect cellular genomes against environmental and endogenous damage and ensure transmission of faithful copies to progeny. Remodeling of genomes by recombination and transposition. CROSSLISTED as MCB 554.
Equivalent to: MCB 554

TOX 555. ECOTOXICOLOGY: AQUATIC ECOSYSTEMS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on transport, fate, and effects of toxic substances in freshwater ecosystems. There is special emphasis on impacts on fish.

TOX 575. ADVANCED XENOBIOTIC METABOLISM AND DISPOSITION. (2 Credits)
Course will focus on structure, function and regulation of specific proteins that function in uptake, distribution, metabolism, and excretion of drugs and other chemicals that are foreign to the body (xenobiotics). The course will focus on proteins which are termed Phase I and Phase II xenobiotic metabolizing enzymes and xenobiotic transporters. There will be an emphasis on Cytochrome P450 enzymes and hepatic and renal xenobiotic transporter proteins and their key roles in xenobiotic metabolism and excretion.

TOX 590. ENVIRONMENTAL FORENSIC CHEMISTRY. (3 Credits)
Principles of Good Laboratory Practice Standards, methodology, utility and limitations of chemical forensic methods as applied to real investigations.

TOX 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

TOX 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 611. TESTING FOR GENOTOXICITY. (4 Credits)
A lab-based course geared toward toxicology, biochemistry, biology, food science, nutrition, pharmacy and MCB students. Introduces principles and methods of several key assays used to screen for DNA damage and mutation. These tests will include the following: (i) Salmonella mutagenicity assay (Ames test'), (ii) single cell gel electrophoresis ('comet') assay, (iii) micronucleus assay, and (iv) PCR-based single strand conformation polymorphism (SSCP) screening for oncogene/tumor suppressor gene mutation in cancers. This 2-week, intensive lab/lecture class runs Mon-Fri in the LPSC during the first session of summer term. Each day includes laboratory work and a 2-hour lecture covering basic principles of the assays, as well as technical details of the experiment for the day.
Prerequisites: TOX 514 with C or better

TOX 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TOX 808. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
TCS 407. SEMINAR. (1-12 Credits)
Advanced study of selected topics related to issues and problems in the twentieth century introduced in TCS core course offerings. Section I seminars will be graded pass/no pass and carry 1 credit; other sections will be graded A-F and will carry variable credit.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

TCS 507. SEMINAR. (1-12 Credits)
Advanced study of selected topics related to issues and problems in the Twentieth Century introduced in TCS core course offerings. Section
I seminars will be graded P/N and carry 1 credit; other sections will be graded A-F and will carry variable credit.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
UNIVERSITY EXPERIENCE (UEXP)

UEXP 111. INTRODUCTION TO RESIDENTIAL EDUCATION. (2 Credits)
Provides an interactive learning environment where participants will both acquire and apply the fundamental knowledge necessary to effectively assist college students as they navigate through their collegiate experiences in a residential setting.

UEXP 199. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

UEXP 290. INFORMATION AND GLOBAL SOCIAL JUSTICE. (3 Credits)
In preparing for any trip, many questions come up. In this course you will ask yourself questions, from the simple to the more complex. We will begin class on the OSU campus and continue on location in Spain or Italy. In-country, you will immerse in the local culture via a homestay, participate in service-learning, visit museums, explore cultural and historic locations, and attend lectures. While seeking answers to our questions we will reflect on the forces (politics, access, linguistic, economic, etc.) that affect the information available to us. This class has no language requirement.

UEXP 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

UEXP 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

UEXP 406. SPECIAL PROJECTS. (2 Credits)
Trains new ambassadors to lead campus and housing tours. Creates educated, ethically and morally responsible, fully confident TOUR (Team of Undergraduate Recruiters) Ambassadors who are engaged, reflective, creative, and caring members of their communities who can contribute to the success of prospective and new students.

UEXP 407. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Equivalent to: AHE 407
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

UEXP 410. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

UEXP 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
VETERINARY MEDICINE BIOMEDICAL (VMB)

VMB 110. PREVETERINARY MEDICINE. (1 Credit)
Introduction to the profession’s role in society. Graded P/N.

VMB 328. WILDLIFE CAPTURE AND IMMOBILIZATION. (2 Credits)
Manual and chemical restraint methods are covered with an emphasis on darting equipment, animal and human safety, drug pharmacology and species specific recommendations. CROSSLISTED as FW 328. Lec/lab. Equivalent to: FW 328
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMB 415. ONE HEALTH IN PRACTICE. (3 Credits)
One health is the concept that human, animal and environmental health are all intertwined. The course will utilize current one health issues such as disease outbreaks and antimicrobial resistance to encourage students from diverse fields to develop interdisciplinary collaboration and communication skills. CROSSLISTED as BHS 415. Equivalent to: BHS 415

VMB 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Special studies course to allow different instructors the ability to teach a new class or one time class. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 503. THESIS. (1-12 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

VMB 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 511. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 512. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 513. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 514. VETERINARY MICROSCOPIC ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Structure and development of cells, tissues, organs, and organ systems of animals.

VMB 515. VETERINARY MICROSCOPIC ANATOMY. (3 Credits)
Structure and development of cells, tissues, organs, and organ systems of animals.

VMB 517. VETERINARY PHYSIOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Physiology of body fluids, muscles, membranes, intermediary metabolism, cardiovascular system, and metabolism.

VMB 518. VETERINARY PHYSIOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Physiology of gastrointestinal, endocrine and reproductive systems. Prerequisites: VMB 517 with C or better

VMB 519. VETERINARY PHYSIOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Physiology of respiratory and renal systems and acid-base balance. Prerequisites: VMB 518 with C or better

VMB 521. ANIMAL MODELS. (3 Credits)
Selection/use criteria for models describing animal or human diseases or processes with emphasis on experimental design, validation, transgenic technology, population dynamics, husbandry, and ethics.

VMB 523. ZOONOSES. (3 Credits)
Interactive examination of the molecular basis of diseases that are transmissible between animals and humans. Emphasis on bacterial, viral and parasitic pathogens of animals and humans.

VMB 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

VMB 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
One-credit section; VMB 607 Sect. 1. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 611. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 612. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 613. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 614. VETERINARY MICROSCOPIC ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Structure and development of cells, tissues, organs, and organ systems of animals.

VMB 615. VETERINARY MICROSCOPIC ANATOMY. (3 Credits)
Structure and development of cells, tissues, organs, and organ systems of animals.

VMB 620. VETERINARY IMMUNOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Clinical and diagnostic aspects of immunological mechanisms, serological reactions; hypersensitivity, allergy, and disorders of the immune system.

VMB 621. GENERAL PATHOLOGY. (4 Credits)
General principles of pathology, cell injury and death, inflammation and tissue repair, abnormalities of cell growth, and structures and mechanisms of disease.

VMB 622. PATHOLOGY LABORATORY. (1 Credit)
Laboratory instruction to complement VMB 621. Prerequisites: VMB 611 (may be taken concurrently) with C or better

VMB 627. ORNAMENTAL FISH MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
An introduction to the basic principles of ornamental fish medicine including basic husbandry, handling and clinical procedures. This is a 1-week intensive course held at the Hatfield Marine Science Center in Newport, Oregon. Graded P/N.

VMB 630. MECHANISMS OF DISEASE. (3 Credits)
Cellular and molecular events that contribute to the pathogenesis of disease in animals, including humans. Host interactions with infectious agents and the environment.

VMB 631. MATHEMATICAL MODELING OF BIOLOGICAL SYSTEMS. (3 Credits)
The use of mathematical modeling in biological sciences is studied. A variety of modeling techniques are covered including implementing the methods computationally.

VMB 640. SEMINARS IN LABORATORY ANIMAL MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
Prepares students for careers in laboratory animal medicine. Provides a review of medical conditions, diagnosis and treatment of research animals.
VMB 641. SEMINARS IN LABORATORY ANIMAL MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
Prepares students for careers in laboratory animal medicine. Provides a review of medical conditions, diagnosis and treatment for research animals.

VMB 642. SEMINARS IN LABORATORY ANIMAL MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
Prepares students for careers in laboratory animal medicine. Provides a review of medical conditions, diagnosis and treatment for research animals.

VMB 651. SELECTED TOPICS IN VETERINARY MEDICINE. (3 Credits)
Topics vary; check Schedule of Classes for particular topics.

VMB 653. VETERINARY VIROLOGY. (4 Credits)
Virology for the professional and graduate student.

VMB 659. VETERINARY BACTERIOLOGY AND MYCOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Veterinary bacteriology and mycology for the veterinary graduate student.

VMB 660. VETERINARY PARASITOLOGY. (5 Credits)
A study of the parasitic diseases of domestic animals with an emphasis on diagnosis and treatment. Fundamentals in host-parasite interactions, taxonomy and life cycle strategies are covered.

VMB 663. VETERINARY DIAGNOSTIC PATHOLOGY. (6 Credits)
Practical hands-on course training students in the diagnostic pathology utilizing case material received at the OSU Veterinary Diagnostic Lab. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMB 664. COMPARATIVE MICROSCOPIC PATHOLOGY. (1 Credit)
Case-based discussion course to train participants in the recognition, description, and pathogenesis of a wide variety of disease processes with an emphasis on microscopic features. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMB 665. READINGS IN VETERINARY PATHOLOGY. (1 Credit)
Group discussions of assigned readings central to understanding of veterinary pathology, including recent advances. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMB 666. VETERINARY MEDICINE AND PUBLIC HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Covers aspects of veterinary medicine that affect human health. An understanding of the contribution of the veterinary profession to human (public) health will enable students to play an effective role in this area, regardless of career direction.

VMB 667. VETERINARY EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
A course for veterinary students describing the factors determining the frequency and distribution of diseases, in a defined population of animals for the purpose of establishing programs to prevent and control their development and spread in this population.

VMB 669. INTRODUCTION TO GRANT PROPOSAL WRITING. (2 Credits)
To introduce students to the fundamentals of writing grant proposals to the National Institute of Health (NIH), different funding mechanisms, as well as the grant reviewing process. CROSSLISTED as PHAR 669. Equivalent to: PHAR 669 This course is repeatable for 20 credits.

VMB 670. INTRODUCTION TO SYSTEMS BIOLOGY. (2 Credits)
Students will gain a high-level overview of systems biology and bioinformatics, with an emphasis on biomedical applications, integration of "omics" approaches, and biological networks.

VMB 671. MOLECULAR TOOLS. (3 Credits)
Intended for personnel with some scientific background who are seeking basic- and advanced-level molecular biology knowledge and who wish to become involved with molecular biology-related and biotechnological research. CROSSLISTED as MCB 671. Equivalent to: MCB 671

VMB 672. MOLECULAR APPROACH TO CANCER. (1 Credit)
Overview of cancer pathogenesis and current molecular techniques to diagnose and treat various neoplasms is provided. Content will include both veterinary and human data and concepts. Discussion/Lab. Graded P/N.

VMB 673. COMPARATIVE IMMUNOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Examines immune system function in animals other than mice and men with a focus on adapting cutting-edge technologies.

VMB 674. VACCINES AND NEW THERAPIES. (3 Credits)
Provides students with a cohesive understanding of the basic research behind the discovery of new therapeutic targets and scientific advancements used in development of vaccines and new therapies.

VMB 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

VMB 701. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 705. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 706. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMB 709. VETERINARY MEDICINE ORIENTATION. (1 Credit)
An overview of veterinary medicine with emphasis on historical development, current veterinary medical issues, employment opportunities, and professionalism. Graded P/N.

VMB 711. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 712. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken. Lec/lab.

VMB 713. VETERINARY GROSS ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Systematic and topographic study and dissection of the dog, cat, horse, ruminant, pig, and chicken.

VMB 714. VETERINARY MICROSCOPIC ANATOMY. (4 Credits)
Structure and development of cells, tissues, organs, and organ systems of animals.

VMB 715. VETERINARY MICROSCOPIC ANATOMY. (3 Credits)
Structure and development of cells, tissues, organs, and organ systems of animals.

VMB 716. VETERINARY NEUROSCIENCES. (4 Credits)
Structural and functional relationships of the nervous system and organs of special sense with emphasis on general clinical application.

VMB 717. VETERINARY PHYSIOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Physiology of body fluids, excretion, respiration, acid-base balance, blood, muscle, bone, cardiovascular system, digestion, metabolism, endocrine system, reproduction, and lactation.

VMB 718. VETERINARY PHYSIOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Physiology of body fluids, excretion, respiration, acid-base balance, blood, muscle, bone, cardiovascular system, digestion, metabolism, endocrine system, reproduction, and lactation.

VMB 719. VETERINARY PHYSIOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Physiology of body fluids, excretion, respiration, acid-base balance, blood, muscle, bone, cardiovascular system, digestion, metabolism, endocrine system, reproduction, and lactation. Lec/lab.
VMB 720. VETERINARY IMMUNOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Clinical and diagnostic aspects of immunological mechanisms, serological reactions, hypersensitivity, allergy, and disorders of the immune system. Lec/lab.

VMB 721. VETERINARY PATHOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Basic mechanisms and concepts relating to reaction of cells and tissues to disease, with emphasis on cellular and tissue degeneration, inflammatory reaction, circulatory disturbance and neoplasia. Lec/lab.

VMB 722. RESEARCH READING SKILLS FOR VETERINARY STUDENTS. (1 Credit)
Training in critical evaluation of biomedical and clinical research studies, and understanding of laboratory diagnostic methods.

VMB 723. VETERINARY LEADERSHIP: INCLUSION, REFLECTION, DEVELOPMENT. (1 Credit)
Focusing on diversity and inclusion, self-compassion, and effective interpersonal communication in relationship to fostering leadership in veterinary medicine. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 10 credits.

VMB 726. PET BIRD AND SMALL MAMMAL MEDICINE AND SURGERY. (2 Credits)
Medicine and surgery of pet birds and small animals. Graded P/N.

VMB 727. ORNAMENTAL FISH MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
An introduction to the basic principles of ornamental fish medicine including basic husbandry, handling and clinical procedures. Graded P/N.

VMB 728. SPECIAL ANIMAL MEDICINE. (4 Credits)
Diagnosis, treatment, and management of special animals, including the common laboratory animals. This course is repeatable for 8 credits.

VMB 729. LAB ANIMAL/PRIMATE MEDICINE AND SURGERY. (3-12 Credits)
Designed to provide hands-on experience with a variety of laboratory animal species including primates, rodents, ungulates, fish, and reptiles. May be repeated up to 4 times for 3, 6, 9 or 12 credits per term. 12 credits maximum apply toward graduation. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

VMB 736. DIAGNOSTIC CLINICAL PATHOLOGY. (2 Credits)
One week clinical experience in clinical pathology, cytology, urinalysis, clinical chemistry interpretation and hematology. Lec/lab.

VMB 740. VETERINARY INTEGRATED PROBLEM SOLVING. (1 Credit)
The first of three 1-credit courses in problem solving and integration of clinical cases and basic sciences in the veterinary curriculum.

VMB 741. VETERINARY INTEGRATED PROBLEM SOLVING. (1 Credit)
The second of three 1-credit courses in problem solving and integration of clinical cases and basic sciences in the veterinary curriculum.

VMB 742. VETERINARY INTEGRATED PROBLEM SOLVING. (1 Credit)
The third of three 1-credit courses in problem solving and integration of clinical cases and basic sciences in the veterinary curriculum. Graded P/N.

VMB 743. VETERINARY INTEGRATED PROBLEM SOLVING. (1 Credit)
A course in problem solving and integration of clinical cases and basic sciences in the veterinary curriculum. Students learn through interaction with their peers and with independent study outside of class. Graded P/N. This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMB 744. VETERINARY INTEGRATED PROBLEM SOLVING. (1 Credit)
A course in problem solving and integration of clinical cases and basic sciences in the veterinary curriculum. Students learn through interaction with their peers and with independent study outside of class. Graded P/N.

VMB 745. COMMUNICATIONS FOR VETERINARIANS. (1 Credit)
Communications and problem solving for the third-year veterinary student. Graded P/N.

VMB 749. WILDLIFE SAFARI. (2 Credits)
Clinical training in the care of exotic and zoo animal species. Graded P/N.

VMB 750. SYSTEMIC PATHOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
Examines the principles of system and organ responses to injury and the consequent effects of these changes on the host.

VMB 751. SYSTEMIC PATHOLOGY II. (5 Credits)
Examines the principles of system and organ responses to injury and the consequent effects of these changes on the host.

VMB 753. VETERINARY VIROLOGY. (4 Credits)
Virology for the professional DVM student.

VMB 756. ADVANCED CLINICAL PATHOLOGY. (1 Credit)
One-week rotation in advanced clinical pathology: cytology, hematology and clinical chemistry interpretation. Graded P/N. Prerequisites: VMB 736 with C or better

VMB 759. VETERINARY BACTERIOLOGY AND MYCOLOGY. (5 Credits)
Bacteriology and mycology for the professional DVM student.

VMB 760. VETERINARY PARASITOLOGY. (5 Credits)
A study of the parasitic diseases of domestic animals with an emphasis on diagnosis and treatment. Fundamentals in host-parasite interactions, taxonomy and life cycle strategies are covered.

VMB 761. VETERINARY PHARMACOLOGY. (2 Credits)
Fundamentals of pharmacology as related to veterinary medicine presented in a systems-oriented approach with drug therapy in domestic animals.

VMB 762. VETERINARY PHARMACOLOGY II. (4 Credits)
Fundamentals of pharmacology as related to veterinary medicine presented in a systems-oriented approach with drug therapy in domestic animals.

VMB 763. VETERINARY CLINICAL PATHOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Clinical pathology for the professional DVM student.

VMB 765. VETERINARY TOXICOLOGY. (4 Credits)
A study of toxic agents, mechanisms of action, toxicosis and treatments, especially as related to domestic and wild animals, with principles of toxicity testing, clinical diagnosis, and identification of poisonous plants. Lec/lab.

VMB 766. EPIDEMIOLOGY AND PUBLIC HEALTH. (3 Credits)
Examination of the application of epidemiology to the field of veterinary medicine and the study of important veterinary public health issues.

VMB 767. VETERINARY EPIDEMIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Examines factors determining the frequency and distribution of diseases in a defined population of animals for the purpose of establishing programs to prevent and control their development and spread in this population.

VMB 768. BASIC HISTOPATHOLOGY. (1 Credit)
A rotation in histopathology at the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory. Emphasis is placed on case evaluation, diagnosis and report writing of biopsies of all species. Graded P/N. Prerequisites: VMB 751 with C or better

VMB 769. ANIMAL GENOMICS. (1 Credit)
Discussion about the dog and cow genomes, susceptibility to diseases, and the possibilities and techniques for treatment of medical conditions by gene transfer and modification.
VMB 772. INTERNATIONAL VETERINARY MEDICINE. (2 Credits) Veterinary students work with veterinarians and domestic animals in international settings. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMB 774. LABORATORY ANIMAL MEDICINE. (6 Credits)
Clinical experience related to diagnosis, treatment, and management of laboratory animals. Graded P/N.

VMB 786. ADVANCED HISTOPATHOLOGY. (2 Credits)
A rotation in histopathology at the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory.
Emphasis is placed on case evaluation, diagnosis and report writing of biopsies of all species.

VMB 795. DIAGNOSTIC SERVICES. (2 Credits)
Students will perform service duty in the necropsy area of the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory and will perform necropsies on delivered specimens. Other activities.
VETERINARY MEDICINE CLINICAL (VMC)

VMC 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 503. THESIS. (1-12 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

VMC 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 509. TEACHING PRACTICUM FOR VETERINARY PROFESSIONAL CURRICULUM. (1-6 Credits)
Provides veterinary specialty residents and graduate students a mentored experience in teaching of veterinary medical students. Experience can be gained with teaching of lecture and/or laboratory courses.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

VMC 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
One-credit section; VMC 607 Sect. 1. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 608. VETERINARY MEDICAL PRECEPTORSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Clinical experience in veterinary medicine for students in the combined DVM-MPH program. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 680. VETERINARY MEDICAL PRECEPTORSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Clinical experience in veterinary medicine for students in the combined DVM-MPH program. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 682. TOPICS IN INTERNAL MEDICINE. (2-4 Credits)
In-depth investigation of important topics in physiology, pathophysiology, treatment, diagnosis, and other aspects of internal medicine through investigation of primary literature and recent reviews.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 684. TOPICS IN SURGERY. (2-4 Credits)
In-depth investigation of important topics in physiology, pathophysiology, treatment, diagnosis, and other aspects of surgery through investigation of primary literature and recent reviews.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 701. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 705. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 706. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 711. CLINICAL CARDIOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
A one-week clinical elective rotation in cardiology at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital. May be repeated up to 4 times, two weeks or more is encouraged. Fourth-year standing in Veterinary Medicine required.
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMC 712. CLINICAL ONCOLOGY. (1-4 Credits)
A one-week clinical elective rotation in clinical oncology at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital. May be repeated up to 4 times, two weeks or more is encouraged. Fourth-year standing in Veterinary Medicine required.
Prerequisites: VMC 778 with C or better
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

VMC 714. SMALL ANIMAL DENTISTRY. (1 Credit)
A clinical course designed to provide students with hands-on training in diagnosis, treatment and prophylaxis of dental diseases of dogs and cats.

VMC 715. CASE STUDIES IN SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE I. (1 Credit)
A case-based course involving diseases and conditions of the endocrine, gastrointestinal and hepatobiliary systems as well as neoplastic and infectious diseases of small animals.

VMC 716. CASE STUDIES IN SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE II. (1 Credit)
A case-based course involving diseases and conditions of the cardiovascular, respiratory and urogenital systems as well as emergent diseases and conditions.

VMC 717. CASE STUDIES IN SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE III. (1 Credit)
A case-based course involving diseases and conditions of the dermatologic, neurologic, ophthalmologic, and hemolympathic systems.

VMC 718. SMALL ANIMAL PREVENTIVE MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
Introductory course to basic concepts in small animal preventive medicine including vaccine immunology, vaccine strategies, internal/external parasite control, nutrition in disease prevention, and wellness programs for dogs and cats.

VMC 719. CLINICAL CARDIOLOGY I. (2 Credits)
Hands-on practical experience in a clinical setting in taking a clinical history, performing a cardiovascular physical examinations, recording electrocardiograms, interpreting thoracic radiographs and echocardiograms, creating problem lists, compiling lists of differential diagnosis, formulating diagnostic and therapeutic plans, discussing treatment options, generating medical records, and discharging patients.
VMC 720. VETERINARY CLINICAL NUTRITION. (2 Credits)
To examine the nutritional needs of many species of veterinary importance. Emphasis is placed on designing feeding programs to optimize health and animal performance.

VMC 721. SMALL ANIMAL CLINICAL NUTRITION. (1 Credit)
Introduction to the concepts of small animal clinical nutrition and is designed for the third-year veterinary student.

VMC 723. ADVANCED FELINE MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
a one-week elective for senior students in the DVM curriculum. The course emphasizes aspects of internal medicine specific to the domestic cat. Graded P/N.

VMC 724. LARGE ANIMAL SURGERY. (6 Credits)
Selected surgical techniques and procedures related to equine and food animal species.

VMC 725. PRINCIPLES OF SURGERY. (4 Credits)
a basic course in the principles and techniques of surgery for the professional veterinary student. Lec/lab. Graded P/N.

VMC 726. SMALL ANIMAL THERIOGENOLOGY. (1 Credit)
Advanced clinical experience in small animal (canine) reproduction. Graded P/N.

Prerequisites: VMC 783 with C or better

VMC 727. ADVANCED SMALL ANIMAL SURGERY. (2 Credits) one-week of additional lectures and laboratories to improve surgical skills and acquire more advanced knowledge of specific surgical conditions. Lec/lab. Graded P/N.

VMC 729. CLINICAL THERIOGENOLOGY. (1 Credit)
Practical and theoretical training in reproductive management and disorders in all species; routine diagnostic and treatment procedures; clinic rounds.

This course is repeatable for 3 credits.

VMC 731. SMALL ANIMAL EMERGENCY CARE-DOVE LEWIS. (3 Credits) a two-week clinical rotation at the Dove Lewis Memorial Emergency Clinic in Portland, OR.

VMC 732. CLINICAL LARGE ANIMAL MEDICINE I. (3,6 Credits) clinical rounds and diagnostic procedures.

Clinical medicine training in diseases of food animals and horses; clinical rounds and diagnostic procedures.

This course is repeatable for 24 credits.

VMC 734. CLINICAL LARGE ANIMAL SURGERY I. (3,6 Credits)
Clinical surgery, treatment, and care of food animals and horses; clinical rounds; training in surgery, lameness, and diagnostic procedures. Lec/lab.

This course is repeatable for 24 credits.

VMC 735. RURAL VETERINARY PRACTICE I. (3,6 Credits) rural practice training in diseases of food animals and horses. Lec/lab.

This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 737. VETERINARY ANESTHESIOLOGY. (4 Credits) a three-week rotation in veterinary anesthesiology utilizing patients presented to the veterinary teaching hospital.

VMC 738. INTRODUCTION TO ANIMAL CARE. (3 Credits)
Feeding, housing, breeding and marketing systems related to animal care.

This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 739. VETERINARY MEDICAL ETHICS. (1 Credit)
Introduction of ethics in veterinary medicine, with specific attention to ethical theories, ethical decision making, moral status of animals, professional ethics, and practice issues.

VMC 740. SHEEP AND GOAT MEDICINE AND SURGERY. (3 Credits) discussions of economically important sheep and goat diseases, practical surgeries, and a review of nutrition and husbandry. Graded P/N.

VMC 741. LARGE ANIMAL GI SURGERY. (2 Credits)
a one-week course for 4th year veterinary students, with particular interest in gastrointestinal surgery. Graded P/N.

VMC 742. CAMELID MEDICINE AND SURGERY. (4 Credits) designed to give students an in-depth introduction to camelid health care via hands-on work, lectures, and discussion sections. Graded P/N.

VMC 743. ADVANCED EQUINE REPRODUCTION. (3 Credits)
a two-week course in advanced clinical experience in equine reproduction. Graded P/N.

VMC 744. ADVANCED LAMENESS IN EQUINE. (3 Credits) application of anatomy, lameness examination, nerve and joint anesthesia, diagnostic radiology, ultrasound and nuclear scintigraphy to diagnosis of lameness in horses. Graded P/N.

VMC 745. PRACTICE MANAGEMENT. (2 Credits)
a course in basic personal and business finances, career skills, and legal aspects of veterinary practice. Graded P/N.

VMC 747. VETERINARY ANESTHESIOLOGY II. (3 Credits) an additional two-week clinical rotation in veterinary anesthesiology utilizing patients presented to the Veterinary Teaching Hospital. Graded P/N.

VMC 748. EQUINE DENTISTRY. (2 Credits)
utilizing modern, motorized equipment, cadaver specimens, and live hospital and client horses, students will learn and perform modern methods of equine dental prophylaxis and treatment. Graded P/N.

VMC 749. CLINICAL IMAGING II. (3 Credits)
Advanced clinical course for 4th-year veterinary students in which they will assume additional responsibility for performing common radiographic procedures. Graded P/N.

Prerequisites: VMC 796 with C or better

VMC 750. EQUINE CLINICAL NUTRITION. (1 Credit)
a one-week course for veterinary students focusing on equine nutrition that can be used in veterinary practice. Graded P/N.

VMC 751. RUMINANT NUTRITION. (2 Credits) an advanced course in clinical ruminant nutrition dealing with nutritional problems of ruminants that might be encountered by a practicing veterinarian. Graded P/N.

VMC 752. CLINICAL LARGE ANIMAL MEDICINE II. (3-6 Credits) additional clinical medicine training. Graded P/N.

Prerequisites: VMC 732 with C or better

This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 753. CLINICAL ONCOLOGY I. (2 Credits) teaches students a realistic approach to the diagnosis and treatment of pets with cancer. Students will participate in rounds, case management and medical records keeping.

VMC 754. CLINICAL LARGE ANIMAL SURGERY II. (3,6 Credits) additional clinical surgery training. Graded P/N.

Prerequisites: VMC 734 with C or better

This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 755. RURAL VETERINARY PRACTICE II. (3-6 Credits)
one additional rural practice training. Graded P/N.

Prerequisites: VMC 735 with C or better

This course is repeatable for 6 credits.
VMC 757. SMALL ANIMAL SURGERY. (6 Credits)
Small animal medicine and surgical techniques and procedures. Graded P/N.

VMC 758. CATTLE PRODUCTION MEDICINE. (3 Credits)
Clinical application of production medicine practices to dairy and beef cattle practice. Graded P/N.
Prerequisites: VMC 735 with C or better

VMC 759. LARGE ANIMAL PALPATION. (1 Credit)
A laboratory for additional experience in rectal palpation of large animals, for third-year veterinary students. Graded P/N.

VMC 760. DIAGNOSTIC IMAGING. (4 Credits)
A lecture and laboratory course in diagnostic imaging covering physics or radiography and ultrasonography, radiation safety and image interpretation for small and large animals, presented by body systems.

VMC 765. ADVANCED CLINICAL RADIOLOGY. (1 Credit)
An elective advanced radiology case-based course for Year 3 veterinary medicine students that focuses on radiographic findings of commonly encountered clinical disease.

VMC 766. CLINICAL SMALL ANIMAL ULTRASONOGRAPHY. (2 Credits)
A 1-week overview of clinical small animal ultrasonography with particular emphasis on material relevant to a general or emergency practitioner. Students will be able to perform a FAST scan to identify peritoneal fluid. Students will listen to didactic lectures in the morning with practical sessions in the afternoon. At the end of the week, pairs of students will make a short presentation based on a literature search on a topic of interest.

VMC 768. PRINCIPLES OF ANESTHESIA. (4 Credits)
A basic course in the principles and techniques of surgery and anesthesia for the professional veterinary student. Lec/lab.

VMC 769. GENERAL MEDICINE. (2 Credits)
An introduction to medicine with a discussion of the principles of medicine that would be applicable to all species. Physical examination, clinical diagnosis, pathophysiology of signs of disease in domestic animals, therapeutic principles and diagnostic procedures.

VMC 770. LARGE ANIMAL MEDICINE I. (4 Credits)
The first of three courses in large animal medicine for third-year professional veterinary students covering diagnosis and treatment of domestic large animals.

VMC 771. LARGE ANIMAL MEDICINE II. (4 Credits)
Diagnosis, treatment and control of diseases of large domestic animals, specifically gastrointestinal, hepatobiliary diseases, weight loss, and introduction to production medicine, and some swine diseases.

VMC 772. LARGE ANIMAL MEDICINE III. (4 Credits)
Diagnosis, treatment and control of diseases of large domestic animals, specifically central nervous system, mastitis, musculoskeletal, sudden death, skin, and some swine diseases.

VMC 773. MEDICINE LABORATORY I. (1 Credit)
Laboratory experience for third-year veterinary students concurrent with the large and small animal medicine courses.

VMC 774. MEDICINE LABORATORY II. (1 Credit)
Laboratory experience for third-year veterinary students concurrent with the large and small animal medicine courses.

VMC 775. CLINICAL SMALL SPORTS MEDICINE AND REHABILITATION. (3 Credits)
Clinical training in small animal rehabilitation in the Veterinary Teaching Hospital.

VMC 776. SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE I. (5 Credits)
A course for veterinary students describing major topics of small animal internal medicine, using both a systems-based approach and a problem-based approach.

VMC 777. SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE II. (5 Credits)
A course for veterinary students describing major topics of small animal internal medicine, using both a systems-based approach and a problem-based approach.

VMC 778. SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE III. (5 Credits)
A course for veterinary students describing major topics of small animal internal medicine, using both a systems-based approach and a problem-based approach.

VMC 779. EQUINE SPORTS MEDICINE. (1 Credit)
One-week elective encompassing basic exercise physiology, sports-related injuries, injury rehabilitation, training and nutrition of equine athletes. Graded P/N.

VMC 780. VETERINARY MEDICAL PRECEPTORSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Theory of practice of veterinary medicine in a non-university situation. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 781. SEMINAR IN VETERINARY MEDICINE. (1-16 Credits)
Seminars and case discussions on selected topics by students, staff, and others. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

VMC 782. EMERGENCY CARE. (1 Credit)
One-week rotation in the Veterinary Teaching Hospital during non-regular hours. Practice and instruction in caring for critically ill patients.

VMC 783. THERIOGENOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
To present the clinical applications of reproductive physiology, anatomy, embryology, pathology and microbiology in domesticated animals.

VMC 785. SMALL ANIMAL SURGERY. (7 Credits)
A lecture and laboratory course covering the diagnosis, operative methods, and aftercare of common small animal surgical conditions.

VMC 786. ANIMAL BEHAVIOR. (1 Credit)
Diagnosis and treatment of feline, canine and equine problem behaviors including aggression, anxiety, house-soiling and compulsive behaviors.

VMC 787. 3RD YEAR CLINICS. (1 Credit)
An introductory clinical experience for third-year veterinary students.

VMC 788. BUSINESS APPLICATIONS IN PRIVATE SMALL ANIMAL PRACTICE. (1 Credit)
A hands-on elective course exploring the business of small animal general practice in a case-based approach.
This course is repeatable for 2 credits.

VMC 789. PET PRACTICE. (3 Credits)
Additional clinical training in primary care pet practice at a Banfield Pet Hospital. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.
VMC 790. CLINICAL EXPERIENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 48 credits.

VMC 791. CLINICAL SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE. (3,6 Credits)
A clinical rotation in small animal internal medicine at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital. Emphasis will be placed on patient evaluation, diagnosis and treatment of diseases of dogs and cats.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 792. CLINICAL SMALL ANIMAL MEDICINE II. (3-6 Credits)
A two-week, three-credit clinical elective rotation in small animal internal medicine at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital. Emphasis will be placed on patient evaluation, diagnosis and treatment of diseases of dogs and cats.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 793. CLINICAL SMALL ANIMAL SURGERY. (3,6 Credits)
Clinical training in small animal surgery in the Veterinary Teaching Hospital.
Prerequisites: VMC 725 with C or better and VMC 785 [C]
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 794. OHS SMALL ANIMAL PRIMARY CARE. (4 Credits)
Three-week rotation at OHS to gain experience with an emphasis on surgery, medical case workup, exam room protocol and behavior basics.

VMC 796. CLINICAL IMAGING. (3 Credits)
A clinical course for 4th-year veterinary students in which they will assume primary responsibility for performing common radiographic procedures.

VMC 797. SMALL ANIMAL CRITICAL CARE AND HOSPITAL SERVICE ROTATION. (1 Credit)
A one-week clinical rotation in small animal critical care managing small animal cases in the intensive care unit at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital.

VMC 798. CLINICAL SMALL ANIMAL SURGERY II. (3-6 Credits)
Clinical training in small animal surgery in the College of Veterinary Medicine, Lois B. Acheson Veterinary Teaching Hospital.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

VMC 799. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WATER RESOURCES ENGINEERING (WRE)

WRE 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 601. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 603. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

WRE 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 607. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 608. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 610. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRE 699. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WATER RESOURCES POLICY AND MGT (WRP)

WRP 501. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

WRP 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 507. SEMINAR. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 508. WORKSHOP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 509. PRACTICUM. (1-16 Credits)
This non-traditional class explores tools, models and concepts in the collaborative decision-making process in water resources. Emphasis is on group projects and self-directed practical application of community-based natural resources.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 517. WRITING IN WATER RESOURCES. (4 Credits)
An intensive summer course to develop proficiency in writing at a graduate level for the wide range of writing tasks common to water resource professionals. Students will complete individual in-class writing assignments and collaborate on a draft of a technical report. While it is designed for students in the Water Cooperation and Peace joint degree program (many of whom will be international students) the course will also be useful for other students. Lec/rec.

WRP 521. WATER CONFLICT MANAGEMENT AND TRANSFORMATION. (3 Credits)
Examines ways to work effectively in contentious water situations. Explores conflict tolerance, prevention, management, and transformation through collaborative structures as well as through models of negotiation and dialogue.

WRP 523. ENVIRONMENTAL WATER TRANSACTIONS. (3 Credits)
Covers the theory and practice of using water rights transactions to reallocate water rights to environmental purposes. Different transactional techniques and contexts appropriate to their use are presented through case studies primarily from the western United States, with some reference to the use transactions in other countries such as Australia.

WRP 524. SOCIOTECHNOLOGICAL ASPECTS OF WATER RESOURCES. (3 Credits)
Core curriculum, graduate-level course in the Water Resources Graduate Program focusing on an interdisciplinary approach to water resources research that integrates the human and the technological dimensions of water resource issues. It is comprised of lecture and discussion sessions with guest lectures by visiting seminar speakers.

WRP 544. MANAGING NATURAL RESOURCES FOR CLIMATE ADAPTATION. (3 Credits)
Students will work through series of case studies in resource management to identify strategies and approaches that promote or prevent resilience in resource management. Students participate in discussions and hands-on activities in addition to the lectures and will prepare daily reflections, a final reflection and a final essay due one week after the end of the classroom sessions. This course will use a lecture and discussion format, and draw from the international expertise of the instructor and guest lecturers.

WRP 548. CONDUCTING COLLABORATIVE PROJECTS. (3 Credits)
Focuses on development of the abilities needed to complete a directed water-related collaborative project, delivered through experiential learning. The course specifically addresses development of collaborative skills needed to work in interdisciplinary teams. The course activities are centered around a collaborative project on which students will be conducting research, collecting data synthesizing information; and providing classmates with constructive peer-review. Lec/rec.

WRP 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WRP 808. WORKSHOP. (1-4 Credits)

Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination

WGSS 496H. *FEMINIST THEOLOGIES IN THE UNITED STATES. (4 Credits)
Explores U.S.-based feminist critiques of traditional theologies and examines feminist constructions of theologies rooted in diverse human experiences. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: WGSS 495

WGSS 498. FEMINIST PRACTICE. (4 Credits)
For graduating seniors in women, gender, and sexuality studies. Building on knowledge and experiences acquired in required and elective women, gender, and sexuality studies courses, it focuses on central questions for feminist research and activism. In particular, the course helps students develop deeper understandings of the process of generating feminist knowledge and its application in diverse forms of feminist practice.
Prerequisites: WGSS 414 with D- or better and WGSS 416 [D-]

WGSS 499. TOPICS. (1-6 Credits)
Topics on contemporary research in women, gender, and sexuality studies. May be repeated for credit when topic varies.
This course is repeatable for 12 credits.

WGSS 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 502. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

WGSS 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 510. INTERNSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
The internship experience provides the opportunity to gain experience within or off-campus private, public, or community agency or organization which has as one of its goals the improvement of the status of women in society. Students work with an on-site mentor who guides their field experience in collaboration with the internship coordinator in the Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies program.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 511. ORIENTATION AND PROFESSIONALIZATION I. (1 Credit)
The WGSS 511, 512, 513 sequence prepares Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies graduate students to succeed in their courses of study and in their chosen profession. WGSS 511 provides knowledge about Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies as a discipline and as a course of study that helps students manage the transition to graduate school. Graded P/N.
Equivalent to: GRAD 511

WGSS 512. ORIENTATION AND PROFESSIONALIZATION II. (1 Credit)
The WGSS 511, 512, 513 sequence prepares Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies graduate students to succeed in their courses of study and in their chosen profession. WGSS 512 guides students in the development of an intellectual life with a focus on thriving and surviving as a scholar in Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. Graded P/N.
Equivalent to: GRAD 511

WGSS 513. ORIENTATION AND PROFESSIONALIZATION III. (1 Credit)
The WGSS 511, 512, 513 sequence prepares Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies graduate students to succeed in their courses of study and in their chosen profession. WGSS 513 focuses on helping students shape a future that utilizes the graduate degree in Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies. It helps students manage the transition to life after the Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Master’s program at OSU. Graded P/N.

WGSS 514. SYSTEMS OF OPPRESSION: STRATEGIES FOR RESISTANCE. (4 Credits)
Explores the ways different systems of oppression function in society. Applies feminist intersectionality approaches to examine interlocking systems of inequality and privilege.
WGSS 515. ADVANCED RESEARCH LITERATURE REVIEW. (3 Credits)
Provides graduate students with knowledge and experience in the advanced literature review process including construction of the literature review as product. One of the primary skills graduate students must master is advanced review of a body of literature for the research project. Mastery of the literature review process influences quality and sophistication of claims developed to justify research, with the written review clearly delineating the unique contribution of the student’s research and the knowledge gap that it fills. The literature review as a product is a strong written argument that builds a case from credible evidence based on previous research. CROSSLISTED as ANTH 515, CSSA 515, ES 515.
Equivalent to: ANTH 515, CSSA 515, ES 515

WGSS 516. THEORIES OF FEMINISM. (4 Credits)
Explores feminist conceptions about the nature of the world, women’s reality and visions for change. Analyzes major issues raised by the women’s movement and the development of feminist ideas, as well as provides a critical examination of feminist thought and different theories which comprise it.

WGSS 517. FEMINIST PHILOSOPHIES. (3 Credits)
Diverse forms of feminist philosophy, including a variety of critiques, especially those based on race and class, with in-depth consideration of selected social issues, such as rape and pornography. CROSSLISTED as PHL 417/PHL 517.

WGSS 518. FEMINIST RESEARCH. (4 Credits)
Explores the socio-political and historical context out of which traditional research methodologies emerge and the relationship of gender to scientific pursuits. Teaches what it means to do emancipatory anti-sexist and participatory research.

WGSS 521. FEMINIST LEADERSHIP. (4 Credits)
Examines theories of feminist leadership and applications in non-profit, governmental, and higher education institutions.

WGSS 522. GRANT AND FUND DEVELOPMENT FOR FEMINIST ORGANIZATIONS. (4 Credits)
Provides students with the skills needed to be successful in grant-writing and fundraising for feminist organizations. Students will address the politics of grant writing and fund raising in relation to the feminist movement’s aims and goals. They will also work directly with agencies to understand the trade-offs and value/need of securing funding for social change organizations.

Based on a social justice framework, this course explores the intersections of race, gender, ethnicity, disability and sexuality to provide a deeper understanding of how these factors shape health inequities in diverse communities nationally and globally.

WGSS 585. TRANSNATIONAL FEMINISMS. (4 Credits)
Introduces students to themes and theoretical principles of transnational feminism, with special emphasis placed on feminist movements of the global South. We will explore colonialism, globalization, nation-building, representation, global economies, militarism, human rights, and politics of gender, race, class, sexuality, and nation.

WGSS 586. GLOBAL EXPERIENCE I. (1 Credit)
Prepares students to participate in a short-term study abroad experience that emphasizes volunteer experiences in women's organizations and analysis from transnational feminist perspectives.

WGSS 587. GLOBAL EXPERIENCE II. (1 Credit)
Engages students in a short-term study abroad experience that emphasizes volunteer experiences in women's organizations and analysis from transnational feminist perspectives.

WGSS 588. GLOBAL EXPERIENCE III. (1 Credit)
Students reflect on their short-term study abroad experience by engaging in in-depth transnational feminist analysis of particular aspects of the study abroad experience.

WGSS 595. GLOBAL FEMINIST THEOLOGIES. (4 Credits)
Explores the connections between women's religious experiences around the world and the global problems addressed by feminist theology and spirituality.

WGSS 596. FEMINIST THEOLOGIES IN THE UNITED STATES. (4 Credits)
Explores U.S.-based feminist critiques of traditional theologies and examines feminist constructions of theologies rooted in diverse human experiences.

WGSS 599. TOPICS. (1-6 Credits)
Topics on contemporary research in women, gender, and sexuality. May be repeated for credit when topic varies. This course is repeatable for 12 credits.
WGSS 601. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
Individual and collaborative research and scholarship under the supervision of faculty.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 602. INDEPENDENT STUDY. (1-16 Credits)
Independent study in some field of special interest under the supervision of a faculty member.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 603. THESIS. (1-12 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

WGSS 605. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
Independent reading in specialized topics, guided by discussions in conference with faculty.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 606. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
Special project initiation and participation under the supervision of faculty. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WGSS 610. INTERNSHIP. (1-6 Credits)
The internship experience provides opportunities to gain experience in a private, public, or community agency or organization, which has social justice advocacy as one of its goals. Students work with an on-site mentor who guides their field experience in collaboration with the internship coordinator in the WGSS program. One feature of graduate internships is the opportunity to shadow key personnel in order to meet internship goals. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 6 credits.

WGSS 611. COLLOQUIUM. (1 Credit)
Provides presentations of feminist research by OSU faculty and graduate students and faculty members from other institutions. Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

WGSS 616. MULTIRACIAL, TRANSNATIONAL, AND QUEER FEMINISMS I. (4 Credits)
Introduces doctoral students to foundational and emerging themes and texts in women, gender, and sexuality studies, with particular emphases on women of color feminisms, transnational feminisms, and queer feminist critiques. The first seminar in a two-part sequence (WGSS 616 and 617).

WGSS 617. MULTIRACIAL, TRANSNATIONAL, AND QUEER FEMINISMS II. (4 Credits)
Introduces doctoral students to foundational and emerging themes and texts in women, gender, and sexuality studies, with particular emphases on women of color feminisms, transnational feminisms, and queer feminist critiques. The second seminar in a two-part sequence (WGSS 616 and 617).
Prerequisites: WGSS 616 with B or better

WGSS 619. DECOLONIZING METHODS. (4 Credits)
Navigates from feminist philosophy of science interventions to postcolonial, Chicana/Latina, and critical race criticisms of methodological stances in "normal" science. Standpoint methodologies, racialized and gendered origins of modern statistical methods, longstanding affinity between colonial inequalities and Eurocentric scientific inquiry, and successor sciences/sciences from below constitute the main themes of the course.

WGSS 620. SOCIAL JUSTICE THEORY AND PRACTICE. (4 Credits)
An examination of social justice theories and practices. Specifically engages with issues of power and privilege, systems of oppression, intersectionality, and social activism. Explores the practices of social justice movements.

WGSS 618. FEMINIST PARTICIPATORY ACTION RESEARCH. (4 Credits)
An examination of theories, principles and strategies of PAR, and appreciation of advantages and limitations of this approach and skills necessary for participating effectively in PAR projects.
WOOD SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING (WSE)

WSE 111. RENEWABLE MATERIALS FOR A GREEN PLANET. (2 Credits)
Renewable materials are an integral part of modern lifestyles, and current societal trends point to increased use of renewable materials. This course provides an overview of renewable materials and their current applications in society. As an overview course, it covers a breadth of renewable material uses and exposes students to life-cycle thinking.

WSE 210. *RENEWABLE MATERIALS TECHNOLOGY AND UTILIZATION. (4 Credits)
Characteristics and uses of renewable fiber products including wood, bamboo and grasses; manufacturing processes; effect of tree growth and harvesting on renewable products manufacturing and properties. Wood identification. Lec/lab. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPPS – Core, Pers, Physical Science

WSE 211. WOODTURNING WITH SCIENCE I. (4 Credits)
An introduction to scientific woodturning. Students will get a grounding in tools, lathes, sharpening, and set-up, and then will transition into turning basic forms (spindle and bowl). Particular relevance will be placed upon grain orientation, wood moisture content, wood anatomy, wood chemistry, wood species and extractive effects, and how all of these attributes affect both form and function. Class instruction will be entirely studio based. CROSSLISTED as ART 211.
Prerequisites: WSE 210 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better
Equivalent to: ART 211
This course is repeatable for 8 credits.

WSE 225. PRINCIPLES OF ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN WITH RENEWABLE MATERIALS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to architectural design, considering the different building requirements and the solutions available, with a focus on wood-based products and other ligno-cellulosic materials.
Prerequisites: WSE 210 with D- or better

WSE 250. CAD: COMPUTER AIDED DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Provides students with the tools and techniques to design and render products, furniture, and structures using Solidworks, as well as create technical drawings that facilitate communication between designers, engineers, and clients. The techniques developed during this course are applicable to a wide variety of industrial CAD and product design industries worldwide. Lec/lab/studio.
Prerequisites: WSE 210 with D- or better

WSE 266. *INDUSTRIAL HEMP. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the botany, biology and agronomy of the hemp plant, and the origins, historical contexts and implications of contemporary legal and social issues surrounding its use for food, fiber, and building products. Taught via Ecampus only. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst; CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture

WSE 299. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WSE 320. ANATOMY OF RENEWABLE MATERIALS. (3 Credits)
Examination of macroscopic and microscopic anatomy of renewable (plant based) materials commonly used by society. Learning activities including lecture and the hands-on study of the various plant materials and their components with naked-eye, hand lens, and microscopic examination. Lec/lab.

WSE 321. CHEMISTRY OF RENEWABLE MATERIALS. (3 Credits)
Chemical structures and chemical properties of renewable plant-based materials will be taught at molecular levels. Chemical compositions of different renewable materials will be covered. Chemical and biochemical modifications and applications or renewable materials will be discussed in detail. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: CH 122 with D- or better or CH 202 with D- or better or CH 232 with D- or better or CH 232H with D- or better

WSE 322. PHYSICAL AND MECHANICAL PROPERTIES OF RENEWABLE MATERIALS. (4 Credits)
Introduction to thermodynamics and mechanics of plant fibers, solid wood and bio-based composites: hygroscopicity; heat and mass transport; statics, elasticity and strength of materials; mechanical properties.
Prerequisites: WSE 321 with C- or better

WSE 324. RENEWABLE MATERIALS LABORATORY. (3 Credits)
Integrates the knowledge gained in the core science courses (WSE 321 and WSE 322) to help students obtain a deeper understanding of how chemistry, physics, and anatomy affect renewable material properties. The course uses renewable fiber materials such as hardwoods, softwoods, natural fibers, bamboo, composite wood products (e.g. OSB, plywood, MDF, etc.) and fiber-based products (e.g. wood-plastic composites, natural fiber composites, straw panels, paper, etc.) to examine the intricate relationships between fundamental properties and performance. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: WSE 321 with C- or better and WSE 322 [C-]

WSE 350. SECONDARY PRODUCTS DESIGN AND MANUFACTURING. (3 Credits)
Provides students with hands-on experience designing and manufacturing wood furniture. Includes how to safely operate and properly maintain wood working equipment, as well as how to design for consumers with efficient manufacturing processes in mind. Lec/lab/studio.
Prerequisites: WSE 250 with C- or better

WSE 351. ADVANCED CAD: COMPUTER AIDED DESIGN. (3 Credits)
Develop advanced techniques using industry standard CAD software as it relates to wood based product, furniture, and structural design. Build upon the skills acquired during WSE 250 CAD: COMPUTER AIDED DESIGN and learn advanced Solidworks techniques. Introduction to Rhinoceros 3D software and various parametric plugins. Lec/studio.
Prerequisites: WSE 250 with C- or better

WSE 352. CAM FOR THE CNC ROUTER AND LASER ENGRAVER. (3 Credits)
Process G-code using CAM software for CNC routing operations, as well as create raster and vector drawings for laser cutting/engraving applications. Each student will work through the design process researching and conceptualizing ideas, 3D modeling designs, developing working prototypes, and fabricating a final product. Lec/lab/studio.
Prerequisites: WSE 350 with C- or better

WSE 385. *EVALUATING SUSTAINABILITY THROUGH LIFE CYCLE ANALYSIS. (3 Credits)
With increased focus on sustainability, it has become important to quantify a sustainability metric of a material, process, or a system. To that end an understanding of life cycle analysis (LCA) is needed that can be used to determine a sustainability metric. This Ecampus course presents the use of LCA to gain insights on the environmental and social impacts of the choices we make. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
WSE 392. *BAMBOOLOOZA: THE FASCINATING WORLD OF BAMBOO. (3 Credits)
An exploration of the world of bamboo and its application to renewable products. This course provides an in-depth understanding of a renewable material bamboo from its native form to processed products. Additionally, this course discusses the utilization and perception of bamboo in different societies of the world. Taught via Ecampus only. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSST – Core, Synthesis, Science/Technology/Society
WSE 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WSE 401. RESEARCH. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WSE 403. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WSE 405. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WSE 406. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.
WSE 413. WOODTURNING WITH SCIENCE II. (4 Credits)
An in-depth look at how character in wood (figure, spalting, knots, etc.) affects machinability and output in both functional and aesthetic turning. Students will work with a wide range of spalted wood types and figure across numerous species while working on advanced turning forms. Particular emphasis will be placed upon how figure affects grain orientation, how spalting affects density and stability, and how the challenges with character wood can be overcome without specialty tools. Class instruction will be entirely studio based. CROSSLISTED as ART 413.
Prerequisites: WSE 210 with C- or better and WSE 211 [C-]
Equivalent to: ART 413
This course is repeatable for 8 credits.
WSE 414. *ART AND DESIGN CAPSTONE. (4 Credits)
For the final term of a student's last year in the Renewable Materials Industrial Design program, this course brings together the basic collaborative design elements and technical background of each student in the creation of collaborative design projects with the intention of giving students real-world, problem-based design experience. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
WSE 425. TIMBER TECTONICS IN THE DIGITAL AGE. (4 Credits)
An exploration of the advances in design, construction and fabrication of timber buildings. Includes experimentation with both physical and digital models and a final project, in collaboration with UO Architecture students. Lec/lab/studio.
WSE 430. FUNDAMENTALS OF ENGINEERING MECHANICS. (4 Credits)
An introduction to fundamentals of engineering mechanics for RM students selecting Science and Engineering option. While in most aspects the course follows standard introductory mechanics courses for engineers, special attention is paid to elasticity and strength in cellular and anisotropic materials like solid wood and bio-based composites. The overall objective of this course is to provide fundamental knowledge and practical skills in the area of engineering mechanics and mechanical principles behind some of the most important methods of characterization, processing, and utilization of renewable biomaterials; commonly used today, emerging and future. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: MTH 254 with D- or better and WSE 324 [B-]
WSE 444. STRAND-BASED COMPOSITES MANUFACTURE. (1 Credit)
The strand-based composites manufacturing process uses the results of research projects and the instructor's mill experience. All aspects of the process from wood procurement through pressing are discussed. This course will be valuable to those interested in a manufacturing career.
WSE 450. ENTREPRENEURIAL PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT I. (3 Credits)
Provides an entrepreneurial experience in product development, in which students design, produce, market, and sell a product in a business setting. Working as a team, students will design a product using renewable materials and are expected to perform and understand manufacturing techniques and processes to produce the product in limited quantities.
Prerequisites: WSE 250 with C- or better and WSE 455 [C-]
WSE 451. ENTREPRENEURIAL PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT II. (3 Credits)
Provides an entrepreneurial experience in product development, in which students design, produce, market, and sell a product in a business setting. Working as a team, students will design a product using renewable materials and are expected to perform and understand manufacturing techniques and processes to produce the product in limited quantities. Lab/studio.
Prerequisites: WSE 250 with C- or better and WSE 450 [C-] and WSE 455 [C-]
WSE 453. *FOREST PRODUCTS BUSINESS. (3 Credits)
Provides students with the skills necessary to operate effectively in the global forest products industry. (Writing Intensive Course)
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
WSE 455. INDUSTRIAL MARKETING IN THE FOREST SECTOR. (3 Credits)
Marketing relies heavily on effective communication, so this course concentrates on written and oral communication. The course will arm students with the skills necessary to apply basic concepts of marketing of forest products. Application will be highlighted through examples and industry speakers relating course work to the day-to-day work in business.
WSE 458. DESIGN OF WOOD STRUCTURES. (3 Credits)
Study of basic wood properties and design considerations. Design of wood connectors, beams, columns, and beam columns. Introduction to plywood and glue laminated members. Design of structural diaphragms and shear walls. Taught via Ecampus only.
Prerequisites: CE 381 with C or better
WSE 461. BIO-BASED PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING. (4 Credits)
First of a 3-term series exploring technologies and management practices associated with manufacturing products from wood and other renewable materials. Subjects covered include the major processing steps for the conversion of raw materials such as wood, bamboo, hemp, and cereal straws into products.
Prerequisites: WSE 210 with C- or better and WSE 321 [C-] and WSE 324 [C-]
WSE 462. ADVANCED MANUFACTURING 1. (4 Credits)
Second of a 3-term series exploring technologies and management practices associated with manufacturing products from wood and other renewable materials. Subjects covered include process design elements, quality control, and approaches to continuous process improvement.
Prerequisites: WSE 461 with C- or better
WSE 463. ADVANCED MANUFACTURING 2. (4 Credits)
Third of a 3-term series exploring technologies and management practices associated with manufacturing products from wood and other renewable materials. Subjects covered include process control, optimization, automation, and contemporary topics such as Big Data and the Internet of Things and the potential impacts of the trends on manufacturing enterprises.

Prerequisites: WSE 462 with C- or better

WSE 465. RENEWABLE MATERIALS MANUFACTURING EXPERIENCE. (2 Credits)
Learning about and visiting a number of renewable materials industrial and commercial operations representing all parts of the renewable materials value chain. The class will meet daily for one 5-day week immediately prior to the start of fall term. During the week, the students and at least one instructor will meet daily. Lectures will precede visits to industrial plants, mills and sites. At the end of the day, an instructor will participate in a debriefing session, reiterating what was learned during the day. Students will then submit a report on the day’s activities. The class includes daily travel and overnight stays.

This course is repeatable for 4 credits.

WSE 470. FORESTS, WOOD, AND CIVILIZATION. (3 Credits)
Multidisciplinary examination of issues related to the roles of forests, trees, and wood in civilization, as providers of commodities, ecosystem services, and spiritual and artistic inspiration. Issues include global supply and demand, wood ownership and political power, and perceptions and uses of forest resources in different societies. (Bacc Core Course)

Attributes: CSSI – Core, Synth, Global Issues

Equivalent to: WSE 470H

WSE 470H. FORESTS, WOOD, AND CIVILIZATION. (3 Credits)
Multidisciplinary examination of issues related to the roles of forests, trees, and wood in civilization, as providers of commodities, ecosystem services, and spiritual and artistic inspiration. Issues include global supply and demand, wood ownership and political power, and perceptions and uses of forest resources in different societies. (Bacc Core Course)

Attributes: CSSI – Core, Synth, Global Issues; HNRS – Honors Course Designator

Equivalent to: WSE 470

WSE 471. RENEWABLE MATERIALS IN BUILDING CONSTRUCTION. (3 Credits)
Building construction is a major application of renewable materials, primarily wood. This course explores material selection options, applications, and performance characteristics. Residential construction is emphasized, but non-residential construction applications will also be discussed. Concepts and interpretation of life cycle assessment are introduced.

WSE 473. BIOENERGY AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT. (3 Credits)
Explores world’s use of wood biomass fuels, their potential to contribute to our region’s energy supply, and conversion technologies such as direct combustion, pyrolysis, and thermochemical modification. Also examines emissions and other environmental impacts of utilizing renewable materials to generate energy and manufacture products.

Prerequisites: (MTH 111 with D- or better or MTH 112 with D- or better or MTH 231 with D- or better or MTH 241 with D- or better or MTH 245 with D- or better or MTH 251 with D- or better or MTH 251H with D- or better) and (CH 122 [D-] or CH 222 [D-] or CH 232 [D-] or CH 232H [D-])

WSE 475. ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT OF BUILDING MATERIALS. (4 Credits)

WSE 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

WSE 501. RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WSE 503. THESIS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 999 credits.

WSE 505. READING AND CONFERENCE. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WSE 506. PROJECTS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

WSE 507. SEMINAR. (1 Credit)
Section 1: Beginning Seminar. Section 2: Seminar. Graded P/N.

This course is repeatable for 99 credits.

WSE 514. ART AND DESIGN CAPSTONE. (4 Credits)
For the final term of a student’s last year in the Renewable Materials Industrial Design program, this course brings together the basic collaborative design elements and technical background of each student in the creation of collaborative design projects with the intention of giving students real-world, problem-based design experience.

WSE 520. THE GLOBAL CONTEXT OF THE FOREST SECTOR. (3 Credits)
Provides a broad knowledge base of business and marketing practices in the global forest industry. Includes a module on research ethics that fulfills OSU Graduate School requirements.

WSE 521. WOOD SCIENCE I. (4 Credits)
A comprehensive overview and integration of wood anatomy, wood physics, wood chemistry and wood mechanics; global contemporary issues impacting the wood and fiber sector; integration of basic wood sciences to understand the complex relationships between environment and wood material properties, and the influence of both on the use of wood-based materials.

WSE 522. WOOD SCIENCE II. (4 Credits)
Continuation of the comprehensive overview and integration of wood and fiber anatomy, physics, chemistry, and mechanics; integration of basic wood science to understand relationships with wood and fiber properties and their impact on final use. Focus on biological, chemical and physical degradation of wood; adhesion; and physical and engineering properties of wood. Lec/lab.

WSE 525. TIMBER TECTONICS IN THE DIGITAL AGE. (4 Credits)
An exploration of the advances in design, construction and fabrication of timber buildings. Includes experimentation with both physical and digital models and a final project, in collaboration with UO Architecture students. Lec/lab/studio.

WSE 530. POLYMER COMPOSITES. (3 Credits)
A comprehensive survey of the material and mechanical properties of polymer-based composite materials including failure mechanisms, interfacial and nanoscale effects, and transport and thermal properties.

WSE 535. POLYMER SYNTHESIS AND STRUCTURE. (3 Credits)
A comprehensive overview of various synthetic methods for various synthetic polymers; structures of various synthetic and natural polymers.
WSE 553. FOREST PRODUCTS BUSINESS. (3 Credits)
Provides students with the skills necessary to operate effectively in the global forest products industry.

WSE 555. INDUSTRIAL MARKETING IN THE FOREST SECTOR. (3 Credits)
Marketing relies heavily on effective communication, so this course concentrates on written and oral communication. The course will arm students with the skills necessary to apply basic concepts of marketing of forest products. Application will be highlighted through examples and industry speakers relating coursework to the day-to-day work in business.

WSE 558. WOOD DESIGN. (4 Credits)
Study of basic wood properties and design considerations. Design and behavior of wood connectors, beams, columns and beam columns.
Introduction to plywood and glue laminated members. Analysis and design of structural diaphragms and shear walls. Lec/lab. CROSSLISTED as CE 584.
Equivalent to: CE 584

WSE 561. BIO-BASED PRODUCTS MANUFACTURING. (4 Credits)
First of a 3-term series exploring technologies and management practices associated with manufacturing products from wood and other renewable materials. Subjects covered include the major processing steps for the conversion of raw materials such as wood, bamboo, hemp, and cereal straws into products.

WSE 562. ADVANCED MANUFACTURING 1. (4 Credits)
Second of a 3-term series exploring technologies and management practices associated with manufacturing products from wood and other renewable materials. Subjects covered include process design elements, quality control, and approaches to continuous process improvement.

WSE 563. ADVANCED MANUFACTURING 2. (4 Credits)
Third of a 3-term series exploring technologies and management practices associated with manufacturing products from wood and other renewable materials. Subjects covered include process control, optimization, automation, and contemporary topics such as Big Data and the Internet of Things and the potential impacts of the trends on manufacturing enterprises.

WSE 571. RENEWABLE MATERIALS IN BUILDING CONSTRUCTION. (3 Credits)
Building construction is a major application of renewable materials, primarily wood. This course explores material selection options, applications, and performance characteristics. Residential construction is emphasized, but non-residential construction applications will also be discussed. Concepts and interpretation of life cycle assessment are introduced.

WSE 573. BIOENERGY AND ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT. (3 Credits)
Explores world’s use of woody biomass fuels, their potential to contribute to our region’s energy supply, and conversion technologies such as direct combustion, pyrolysis, and thermochemical modification. Also examines emissions and other environmental impacts of utilizing renewable materials to generate energy and manufacture products.

WSE 575. ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT OF BUILDING MATERIALS. (4 Credits)
Study of sustainability in the built environment from a building material perspective. Understanding the ecology of building materials and assessing their environmental sustainability performance using life cycle analysis. Critical discussion of case studies and future of LCA in the built environment.
WORLD LANGUAGES AND CULTURES (WLC)

WLC 159. *LANGUAGE, RACE AND RACISM IN THE US: AN INTRODUCTION. (4 Credits)
Students in this course will unpack language, race and racism—as well as the intersections between those ideas—as cornerstones to understanding identity and society as inherently socially constructed notions. (Bacc Core Course) CROSSLISTED as ANTH 159 and ES 159.
Attributes: CPDP – Core, Perspective, Difference/Power/Discrimination
Equivalent to: ANTH 159, ES 159

WLC 221. *MASTERPIECES OF GERMAN CINEMA. (3 Credits)
An introduction to the serious study of German cinema, 1920 to present. Class lectures discussing key works of German cinema will offer a variety of historical, critical and theoretical approaches. Weekly screenings of important films accompany the lectures. Taught in English. Film fee will be required. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts
Equivalent to: WLC 221H

WLC 221H. *MASTERPIECES OF GERMAN CINEMA. (3 Credits)
An introduction to the serious study of German cinema, 1920 to present. Class lectures discussing key works of German cinema will offer a variety of historical, critical and theoretical approaches. Weekly screenings of important films accompany the lectures. Taught in English. Film fee will be required. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; HNRS – Honors Course
Equivalent to: WLC 221

WLC 222. *WOMEN IN ITALIAN CINEMA. (3 Credits)
An exploration of filmic portrayals of women as participants in social, economic and political life in Italy. Examines Italian cinema as a reflection of Italian culture. Focuses on women as protagonists, symbolic figures and filmmakers. Analysis will be presented through a variety of historical, critical and theoretical approaches. Taught in English. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts
Equivalent to: WLC 220H

WLC 230. *FRANCE TODAY: CULTURES WITHIN AND BEYOND ITS BORDERS. (3 Credits)
An exploratory study of French culture and society since 1945. Topics include: decolonization, immigration, Francophone intellectual currents, France’s European vocation, and social conflict today. Conducted in English. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: WLC 230H

WLC 230H. *FRANCE TODAY: CULTURES WITHIN AND BEYOND ITS BORDERS. (3 Credits)
An exploratory study of French culture and society since 1945. Topics include: decolonization, immigration, Francophone intellectual currents, France’s European vocation, and social conflict today. Conducted in English. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; HNRS – Honors Course
Equivalent to: WLC 230

WLC 231. *GERMAN DICTATORSHIPS: NAZIS AND COMMUNISTS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the two best-known dictatorships in German society, National Socialism of the Third Reich from 1933-1945 and Socialism in the German Democratic Republic from 1949-1989 via the study of visual media (feature films, documentaries, newsreels, etc.) and other primary and secondary sources. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture
Equivalent to: WLC 231H

WLC 231H. *GERMAN DICTATORSHIPS: NAZIS AND COMMUNISTS. (3 Credits)
Introduction to the two best-known dictatorships in German society, National Socialism of the Third Reich from 1933-1945 and Socialism in the German Democratic Republic from 1949-1989 via the study of visual media (feature films, documentaries, newsreels, etc.) and other primary and secondary sources. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; HNRS – Honors Course
Designator

WLC 232. *INTRODUCTION TO JEWISH CULTURE. (3 Credits)
An overview of Jewish culture from its origins to the present day. Students will compare and contrast the lifestyles, ideologies, religious and cultural practices of Jews living in Israel and the United States; two divergent cultures that developed from similar roots. Taught in English. Taught via Ecampus only. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity

WLC 233. *RUSSIAN CULTURE I. (3 Credits)
Introduction to basic features of Russian culture originating in the past and continuing into the present. Aspects of history, politics, economics, geography, art, music, literature, and everyday life. Compares Russian culture with Western European and American culture. WLC 233: Old Russia; WLC 234: 19th Century; WLC 235: 20th Century. Taught in English. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

WLC 234. *RUSSIAN CULTURE II. (3 Credits)
Introduction to basic features of Russian culture originating in the past and continuing into the present. Aspects of history, politics, economics, geography, art, music, literature, and everyday life. Compares Russian culture with Western European and American culture. WLC 233: Old Russia; WLC 234: 19th Century; WLC 235: 20th Century. Taught in English. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core

WLC 235. *RUSSIAN CULTURE III. (3 Credits)
Introduction to basic features of Russian culture originating in the past and continuing into the present. Aspects of history, politics, economics, geography, art, music, literature, and everyday life. Compares Russian culture with Western European and American culture. WLC 233: Old Russia; WLC 234: 19th Century; WLC 235: 20th Century. Taught in English. (H) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture; LACH – Liberal Arts Humanities Core
WLC 241. *GRIMMS' FAIRY TALES. (4 Credits)
We will read a selection of the most popular Grimms' fairy tales and consider why they have remained so popular. What is it about fairy tales that has made them such a lasting source of creative inspiration into our time? Students will learn to understand and critique fairy tales and their role in Western cultures through analysis of the tales and creative adaptation of a tale for a modern audience. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture

WLC 261. *MASTERPIECES GERMAN CINEMA. (3 Credits)
An introduction to the serious study of German cinema, 1920 to present. Class lectures discussing key works of German cinema will offer a variety of historical, critical and theoretical approaches. Weekly screenings of important films accompany the lectures. Taught in English. Film fee will be required. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts
Equivalent to: WLC 261H

WLC 261H. *MASTERPIECES GERMAN CINEMA. (3 Credits)
An introduction to the serious study of German cinema, 1920 to present. Class lectures discussing key works of German cinema will offer a variety of historical, critical and theoretical approaches. Weekly screenings of important films accompany the lectures. Taught in English. Film fee will be required. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: WLC 261

WLC 301. *INTRODUCTION TO WORLD LANGUAGE AND CULTURE STUDIES. (4 Credits)
Addresses the structure, histories, and cultures associated with world languages and presents skills for learning languages more effectively. Includes related topics such as globalization, colonialism, and language justice; language policy, linguistic diversity, and language death; immigration and migration; race and racism. This is a required course in the WLC major in the Literacies thematic area. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst

WLC 320. *FRANCOPHONE CULTURES IN FILM. (3-9 Credits)
An exploration of the different cultures of France and the Francophone world through film. Students will delve into the heart of these societies and discover their socio-historical, political, economic and cultural context. Students’ analytical and critical skills will be thoroughly solicited through various research and writing activities. Taught in English. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity
Equivalent to: WLC 320H
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

WLC 320H. *FRANCOPHONE CULTURES IN FILM. (3-9 Credits)
An exploration of the different cultures of France and the Francophone world through film. Students will delve into the heart of these societies and discover their socio-historical, political, economic and cultural context. Students’ analytical and critical skills will be thoroughly solicited through various research and writing activities. Taught in English. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; HNRS – Honors Course Designator
Equivalent to: WLC 320
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

WLC 321. *MODERN SPAIN THROUGH SPANISH CINEMA. (3 Credits)
Examines the history of modern Spain and its cinematography via the study of key Spanish films and cineastes in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPLA – Core, Pers, Lit and Arts; CPWC – Core, Pers, West Culture

WLC 331. *CHINESE CULTURE I. (3 Credits)
Introduction to basic features of Chinese culture from ancient times to the 9th century. Topics include philosophy and religion, the Chinese language, literature and the arts, science and technology, government, family and gender, social and economic conditions, contacts with the outside world. Taught in English. Open to all students. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

WLC 332. *CHINESE CULTURE II. (3 Credits)
Introduction to basic features of Chinese culture from the 10th through the 19th centuries. Topics include philosophy and religion, literature and the arts, science and technology, government, family and gender, social and economic conditions, daily life, and contacts with the outside world. Taught in English. Open to all students. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

WLC 333. *CHINESE CULTURE III. (3 Credits)
Survey of important developments of Chinese society and culture from the early 20th century to the present. Topics include wars and revolutions, economic, political, and social conditions, the new culture movement, changing family structure and women’s status, relationships within greater China (Mainland China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong). Taught in English. Open to all students. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

WLC 334. FRENCH FASHION AND GLAMOUR. (3 Credits)
This course, taught in English, allows students who have not studied French to enter the glamorous world of French fashion, exploring its origins and history, what’s new and exciting in French fashion today and French attitudes about fashion and beauty that have given them the inside track on chic for centuries.

WLC 335. *JAPANESE CULTURE I. (3 Credits)
An introductory survey of Japanese history, arts, literature, society, and traditions from the ancient to the mid-19th century. Taught in English. May not be offered every year. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

WLC 336. *JAPANESE CULTURE II. (3 Credits)
An introductory survey of Japanese history, arts, literature society, and traditions from the ancient to the mid-19th century. May not be offered every year. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core

WLC 337. *JAPANESE CULTURE III. (3 Credits)
A survey of Japan from the mid-19th century to the present in areas including arts, literature, business, education, society, politics, and foreign relations. Taught in English. May not be offered every year. (NC) (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPCD – Core, Pers, Cult Diversity; LACN – Liberal Arts Non-Western Core
WLC 338. *DEAF CULTURE. (4 Credits)
Introduction to Deaf culture in the United States. Includes discussion and analysis of issues relevant to Deaf culture, including politics, language, education, art, literature, media representations, and contemporary life in the Deaf community. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CPSI – Core, Pers, Soc Proc & Inst

WLC 345. MULTIMODAL LITERACIES IN WORLD LANGUAGES AND CULTURES. (2 Credits)
Introduction to the analysis and production of multimodal literacies. Study of semiotic resources such as language and images across modalities such as film, manga, and social media. Required of all majors in World Languages and Cultures. Taught in English.
Prerequisites: CHN 213 with D- or better or FR 213 with D- or better or GER 213 with D- or better or JPN 213 with D- or better or SPAN 213 with D- or better or SPAN 216 with D- or better or SPAN 217 with D- or better

WLC 360. INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL. (3 Credits)
Critical study of a selection of films screened at the Oregon State University’s International Film Festival. Topics include acting, sound, special effects, cinematography. CROSSSLISTED as FILM 360.
Equivalent to: FILM 360
This course is repeatable for 9 credits.

WLC 361. (RE)FRAMING RACE THROUGH FILM PRODUCTION. (4 Credits)
A critical engagement of ways race and ethnicity are treated in nonfiction short film as students produce their own short film as a means of challenging dominant racial representations and narratives. Requires a basic understanding of ways that notions about race and ethnicity combine with ideologies about gender, sexuality, ability, class, etc. to perpetuate unjust systems and institutions. Prior filmmaking experience is welcome but not required. CROSSSLISTED as ES 361, QS 361, WCSS 361.
Equivalent to: ES 361, QS 361, WCSS 361

WLC 365. MIGRANT NARRATIVES. (2 Credits)
An examination of migration and forced displacement through the study of personal narrative. Includes discussion of the causes of displacement including persecution, ecological degradation, economic pressure and conflict. This is a required course in the WLC major in the Identities and Intersections thematic area.
Prerequisites: FR 365 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or GER 365 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or SPAN 365 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better

WLC 366. LANGUAGE AND IDENTITY. (2 Credits)
An examination of the connections between ideology and linguistic behavior as well as the fundamentals of structural linguistics needed to discuss variation and contact phenomena. This is a required course in the WLC major in the Identities and Intersections thematic area.
Prerequisites: FR 366 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or GER 366 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better or SPAN 366 (may be taken concurrently) with D- or better

WLC 373. APPROACHES TO SOCIAL JUSTICE. (3 Credits)
Students study various ways of thinking about social justice and evaluate these in case studies and current events. As a basis for the Social Justice minor, students write a research paper on the theoretical and practical aspects of a social justice issue. CROSSSLISTED as ANTH 373, ES 373, WCSS 373.
Equivalent to: ANTH 373, ES 373, WCSS 373

WLC 375. LITERATURES OF POWER AND RESISTANCE. (2 Credits)
An examination of the relationships between individuals or groups and institutional power (government, ecclesiastical, etc.) across different historical periods and geographies. Language-specific discussion sections cover specific works dealing with such topics as colonization, forced disappearance, and social resistance. This is a required course in the WLC major in the Social Architecture and Power thematic area.

WLC 376. EMPIRES AND GLOBALIZATION. (2 Credits)
An examination of the history of Western imperialism and the rise of contemporary neocolonialism. Students explore the impact of colonization and the effects of neoliberalism and globalization through the use of historical source materials and current news articles focused on specific regions of the developing world. This is a required course in the WLC major in the Social Architecture and Power thematic area.
Prerequisites: FR 376 with C- or better or GER 376 with C- or better or SPAN 376 with C- or better

WLC 399. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
Graded P/N.
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

Literacy studies in multidisciplinary contexts. Examines historical, theoretical, and practical relationships among reading, writing, language, culture, and schooling.

WR 597. DIGITAL LITERACY AND CULTURE. (4 Credits)
From pencils to pixels, telegraphs to texts, and semaphores to social networking, Digital Literacy and Culture focuses on the relationships between human expression and the technologies that provide context, meaning, and shape to those expressions.

WR 599. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)
This course is repeatable for 30 credits.
ZOOLOGY (Z)

Z 319. *CRITICAL THINKING AND COMMUNICATIONS IN THE LIFE SCIENCES. (3 Credits)
Teaches students the practice of biological science. Topics cover scientific theory, written and spoken communications, ethics and critical evaluation. (Writing Intensive Course) CROSSLISTED as BI 319.
Attributes: CWIC – Core, Skills, WIC
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) and (ST 351 [D-] or ST 351H [D-]) and ST 352 (may be taken concurrently) [D-]
Equivalent to: BI 319

Z 349. *BIODIVERSITY: CAUSES, CONSEQUENCES, AND CONSERVATION. (3 Credits)
The earth's biodiversity is a precious inheritance that is threatened by an unprecedented extinction crisis. This course examines the evolutionary and ecological processes that have created this unique diversity of life, the importance of biodiversity in maintaining the earth's ecosystems, and methods used to conserve biodiversity for future generations. (Bacc Core Course)
Attributes: CSGI – Core, Synth, Global Issues
Z 350. ANIMAL BEHAVIOR. (3 Credits)
Concepts of behavior; sensory receptors, internal mechanisms governing responses; learning and habitation; social organization and communication.
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-])

Z 361. INVERTEBRATE BIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Exploration of the diversity and evolutionary relationships among major invertebrate phyla with an emphasis on morphological features, functional aspects, and life history for each phylum.
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-])

Z 362. INVERTEBRATE BIOLOGY LABORATORY. (2 Credits)
Morphology and anatomy of representative invertebrates introduced in Z 361; diversity within phyla. Study is by dissections and both microscopic and macroscopic examination; field trip fee. Lab fee. Lec/ lab.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) and Z 361 (may be taken concurrently) [C-])

Z 365. BIOLOGY OF INSECTS. (4 Credits)
Introduction to the study of insects, focusing on the biological attributes responsible for the success and dominance of insects. Emphasis on taxonomy, morphology, behavior, ecology, and coevolutionary interrelationships. Required field trips. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-])

Z 371. VERTEBRATE BIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Overview of vertebrate origins and phylogeny integrating several disciplines (anatomy, ecology, genetics, developmental biology, physiology, behavior, and evolution) to explore the structural and functional adaptations and evolutionary history of vertebrates. Lec.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-])

Z 372. VERTEBRATE BIOLOGY LABORATORY. (2 Credits)
Classification, identification, and natural history of vertebrates. Includes laboratory examination of specimens and frequent field trips (fee charged) emphasizing Oregon fauna. Lab fee.
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]) and Z 371 (may be taken concurrently) [D-]

Z 422. COMPARATIVE/FUNCTIONAL VERTEBRATE ANATOMY. (5 Credits)
Phylogenetically-based study of the form and function of vertebrate organ systems, including integumentary, musculoskeletal, cardiopulmonary, digestive, and sensory. Lab emphasizes comparative form through dissection, and function through non-invasive experimentation. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) and (CH 332 (may be taken concurrently) [D-] or CH 335 (may be taken concurrently) [D-])

Z 423. ENVIRONMENTAL PHYSIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Comparative environmental physiology of animals with emphasis on adaptations to such aspects of the physical environment as temperature, water, ions, and gases. Consideration given to interactions between physiology and environment that influence the local and geographic distribution of animals.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-])

Z 425. EMBRYOLOGY AND DEVELOPMENT. (5 Credits)
Prerequisites: BI 311 with D- or better or BI 311H with D- or better or BB 314 with D- or better or BB 314H with D- or better

Z 431. VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY I. (4 Credits)
Systems/concepts covered include motor reflexes, autonomic nervous system, digestion/metabolism, renal and osmoregulatory, endocrine and reproductive systems. First in Z 431, Z 432/442 series. Lec/rec.
Prerequisites: (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) and (CH 332 (may be taken concurrently) [C-] or CH 335 (may be taken concurrently) [C-])

Z 432. VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY II. (3 Credits)
Systems/concepts covered include blood, immune, lymphatic, cardiovascular, and pulmonary. Second in the Z431, 432/442 series.
Prerequisites: Z 431 with C- or better
Z 437. VERTEBRATE ENDOCRINOLOGY. (4 Credits)
An exploration of vertebrate endocrinology that examines principles of hormone action, inter- and intracellular signaling mechanisms within endocrine axes, and comparative endocrine physiology, emphasizing concepts of homeostasis and methodologies for evaluating normal and physiological function. Students are provided multiple forums for class participation, in the form of scientific presentations and "mini-reports.
Prerequisites: BB 314 with D- or better or BB 314H with D- or better

Z 438. BEHAVIORAL NEUROBIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]) and (CH 123 [C-] or (CH 233 [C-] or CH 233H [C-]) and (CH 263 [C-] or CH 263H [C-]))

Z 440. INSECT PHYSIOLOGY. (3 Credits)
Fundamentals of insect physiology from the behavioral to the molecular level. Cellular physiology and hormonal control of molting, metamorphosis and reproduction. Overview of body functions: respiration, circulation, digestion, metabolism, and osmoregulation. Physiological basis of behavior: muscles and flight, structure and functions of the nervous system, sensory physiology and chemical communication. The contributions of insect physiology to general physiological principles and bioregulatory methods of insect pest control are discussed.
Prerequisites: (( (BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]) and (CH 123 [C-] or ((CH 233 [C-] or CH 233H [C-]) and (CH 263 [C-] or CH 263H [C-])))

Z 442. VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY LABORATORY. (2 Credits)
Experiments and exercises in vertebrate physiology covering systems studied in Z 431 and Z 432. Available to Biology majors. Lab fee.

Z 461. MARINE AND ESTUARINE INVERTEBRATE ZOOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Comparative survey of eight major invertebrate phyla and many lesser-known phyla. Areas of emphasis will be 1) invertebrate identification, 2) natural history (diversity, habitat, feeding, behavior), and 3) comparative anatomy (adaptive significance of morphological structures). Laboratories and field trips will strongly supplement lecture material. Lec/ lab. Taught at Hatfield Marine Science Center.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]) and CH 123 [C-] or ((CH 233 [C-] or CH 233H [C-]) and (CH 263 [C-] or CH 263H [C-]))

Z 473. HERPETOLOGY. (3 Credits)
World families and distribution of amphibians and non-avian sauropods; evolution, population biology, life histories, current literature.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]))

Z 474. SYSTEMATIC HERPETOLOGY. (2 Credits)
A survey of the phylogenetic diversity of amphibians and reptiles of the United States. Identification through the use of keys will be stressed. Field trip fee. Lab fee. Lec/lab.

Z 475. INSECT BIODIVERSITY SURVEY. (4 Credits)
Through lectures, laboratories and an intensive field survey, students learn about insect diversity, natural history and evolution, as well as the important role of biological collections in modern biodiversity research. The survey takes place in the two weeks prior to fall term at a remote Pacific Northwest field station. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]))

Z 477. AQUATIC ENTOMOLOGY. (4 Credits)
Biology, ecology, collection, and identification of aquatic insects. Two required Saturday field trips. Lec/lab.
Prerequisites: ((BI 211 with C- or better or BI 211H with C- or better) and (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and (BI 213 [C-] or BI 213H [C-]) or (BI 204 [C-] and BI 205 [C-] and BI 206 [C-]))

Z 499. SPECIAL TOPICS. (0-16 Credits)
Topics and credits vary.
Equivalent to: Z 499H
This course is repeatable for 16 credits.

Z 499H. SPECIAL TOPICS. (1-16 Credits)

DIVISION OF STUDENT AFFAIRS

Departments and Offices

The Division of Student Affairs has numerous departments dedicated to your success as a student. Get involved on campus, find support for a challenging class, discover your community, explore a passion, connect with new friends or obtain help during a hard time. Our programs and services are here to assist you.

- Academic Achievement: http://oregonstate.edu/studentaffairs/academic-achievement These units work to increase and equalize student success, support retention, help students graduate and foster the holistic development of students.
- Academics for Student Athletes: http://studentathlete.oregonstate.edu This office provides academic and personal support to all student athletes at Oregon State University.
- Academic Success Center: http://success.oregonstate.edu The Academic Success Center creates opportunities for students to learn how to learn throughout their academic careers. Services include academic coaching, workshops and supplemental instruction.
- Associated Students of Oregon State University: http://asosu.oregonstate.edu ASOSU is the student government body at Oregon State. It supports the varied interests of OSU students through democratic representation.
- Career Development Center: http://oregonstate.edu/career The Career Development Center provides comprehensive professional development to all OSU students through presentations, workshops and appointments. The center also hosts the quarterly Career Expo and maintains Handshake, a networked platform that connects students with employers and thousands of job and internship opportunities.
- Center for Fraternity & Sorority Life: http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/cfsl The Center for Fraternity & Sorority Life advocates for the interests of the Greek community at OSU by providing advice to governing chapters. The center serves as the direct university contact for organization headquarters staff.
- College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP): http://camp.oregonstate.edu This program provides financial and academic support to first-year students with the goal of preparing them for success in college. CAMP works with faculty, student services and community-based agencies to improve educational opportunities.
- Counseling & Psychological Services: http://oregonstate.edu/counsel Counseling & Psychological Services provides individual, couples and group counseling for OSU students, as well as outreach and education on topics like mindfulness, stress management and suicide prevention.
- Craft Center: http://sli.oregonstate.edu/craft The Craft Center supports an enriched experiential learning experience where students can foster their own creativity. The center offers ceramic, glass, jewelry, woodworking and photography classes, in addition to fluctuating craft events and activities.
- Cross-Campus Strategic Initiatives: http://studentaffairs.oregonstate.edu/ccsi This office engages in project management, collaboration and assessment of advising related activities.
- Disability Access Services: http://ds.oregonstate.edu/home Disability Access Services facilitates access to university programs and services for individuals with disabilities through accommodations, education, consultation and advocacy.
- Educational Opportunities Program: http://eop.oregonstate.edu EOP provides a welcoming environment that supports the full development of the personal and academic potential of students who have traditionally been denied equal access to higher education. EOP services include a summer bridge program, tutoring services in the cultural resource centers and assistance through the admissions process and locating financial resources.
- Diversity & Cultural Engagement: http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/dept/iss Diversity & Cultural Engagement is committed to the development of underserved students by creating and advocating for inclusive and educationally purposeful initiatives that enhance learning, academic success, cross-cultural fluency and self-efficacy.
- Family Resource Center: http://familyresources.oregonstate.edu Located in Champinefu Lodge, the Family Resource Center provides a welcoming place for families to spend time on campus with their children. The center advocates for and supports students with families by focusing on quality early education and children's care centers, lactation support and financial assistance.
- Human Services Resource Center: http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/hsrc The Human Services Resource Center provides low-income students with the resources they need to be academically successful. HSRRC services include food insecurity, housing and textbook expense support.
- Louis Stokes Alliance for Minority Participation: http://lsamp.oregonstate.edu LSAMP is dedicated to increasing the number of traditionally underrepresented students successfully completing science, technology, engineering and mathematics baccalaureate degree programs.
- Memorial Union: http://osumu.org The Memorial Union is the community center of OSU and serves students, alumni, staff and guests. The MU complements students’ academic experience through cultural, educational, social and recreational programs.
- Military & Veteran Resources: http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/veterans The Military & Veteran Resources provides support to military service members, veterans and their families studying at OSU. The office helps navigate the requirements of higher education to ensure awareness of available benefits and services and foster a successful learning experience.
- New Student Programs & Family Outreach: http://oregonstate.edu/soar New Student Programs & Family Outreach serves as a campus leader in facilitating the transition process for new students and their family members, promoting and enhancing successful transitions through collaborative programs and outreach.
- Office of International Services: http://international.oregonstate.edu This office supports international students from admissions through graduation with advising services and guidance on settling in at Oregon State. Staff are available to help you with questions and locate other services on campus, as needed.
- Orange Media Network: http://mu.oregonstate.edu/orangemedianetwork Orange Media Network provides students with innovative and accessible hands-on media and leadership experiences that engage the community and challenge views. Publications include Beaver's Digest http://www.orangemedianetwork.com/beavers_digest, DAMchic

University Degree Requirements
Current degree requirements are printed each year in the “Academic Regulations and Procedures” section of the Registration Information Handbook and in the electronic or printed General Catalog, along with other information on a wide range of topics from minimum credits for full-time status to adding courses. All students are encouraged to review this part of the Registration Information Handbook and electronic or printed General Catalog each year for the most current information about OSU requirements and procedures.

Students with questions about baccalaureate degree requirements are encouraged to contact their advisor. Students needing assistance in selecting a major or selecting an advisor may wish to call or stop by the college office.

Catalog Year Policy
Graduation Requirements/Catalog Contract Policy
When determining the graduation requirements for a given student:

• Students must meet all applicable degree requirements from the published catalog(s).
• The student’s catalog year for institutional and baccalaureate core requirements is established by his or her first term of attendance (matriculation date) at Oregon State University as an admitted student.
• The student’s catalog year for college/major/option/minor requirements is based on the date of declaration of the major/option/minor.
• A student’s major and option(s) must be in the same catalog year. If an option(s) is declared in an academic year subsequent to the catalog year associated with the major, the option(s) will be aligned with the catalog year of the major. If the option(s) did not exist in the catalog year of the major, the major will roll forward to the catalog year of the option(s). A second major and option(s) may be declared by the student for a catalog year which differs from the first major and option(s).
• Additionally, while the student’s first major/option must be in the same catalog year, any additional declarations of majors/creatively, and to synthesize ideas and information when evaluating major societal issues. Importantly, the bacc core promotes understanding of interrelationships among disciplines in order to increase students’ capacities as ethical citizens of an ever-changing world.

The Baccalaureate Core

The Oregon State University Baccalaureate Core (p. 1188) is continually enriched. It emphasizes critical thinking, writing, world cultures, appreciation of differences, the arts, sciences, literature, lifelong fitness, and global awareness in 15 course categories. Over 250 courses are available to meet core requirements. Students must complete a total of 48 credits plus a Writing Intensive Course (WIC) of at least 3 credits.

The Faculty Senate Baccalaureate Core Committee determines which courses will satisfy each of the requirements above. WIC courses will be reviewed by the WIC Director and the Faculty Senate Baccalaureate Core Committee. The core is governed by the following rules: (1) No more than two courses from any one department may be used by a student to satisfy the Perspectives category of the core. (2) No single course may be used by a student to satisfy more than one subject area of the core even though some courses have been approved in more than one area. (3) Both Synthesis courses may not be taken in the same department. 4) The WIC course must be taken in the student’s major. Each interdisciplinary major has a list of approved WIC courses for that major. (WIC Rationale (http://wic.oregonstate.edu/wic-learning-outcomes)) A current list of approved Baccalaureate Core courses can be found in the OSU Catalog (p. 1188).

The purpose of the writing intensive requirement is to insure that each graduate is prepared to write in the discourse, conventions, and genres of his or her major field.

A student completing requirements for two majors, including double degrees as well as dual majors (one degree with two majors), may request that one WIC course satisfy the WIC requirement for graduation in both majors. This opportunity is available if and only if:

1. The discourse, written conventions, and genres of the two majors are closely related, and
2. The substitution of a WIC course from one major for that in another major is approved in writing by the chairs or heads of both departments involved and the approval is placed in the student’s academic file.

Students and advisors should be aware that in some cases, the WIC course in a major is an integral part of the degree and substitution may not be appropriate. The final decision rests with the department chair or head.

Baccalaureate Core Requirements

No single course may be used by a student to satisfy more than one area of the Baccalaureate core even though some courses are approved for more than one area.

Skills Courses (lower division except WIC) (15)

To support students’ success in all courses, the following first-year Skills courses are to be taken and completed satisfactorily within the first 45 hours of OSU-generated credits:

- Mathematics: MTH 105, *Intro to Contemporary Mathematics, or higher level mathematics (3)
- Writing I (WR 121, must earn at least C–) (3)
- Speech (3)

To prepare for the upper-division Writing Intensive Course in the major, the following Skills course is to be taken and completed satisfactorily within the first 90 hours of OSU-generated credits:

Writing II

For transfer students with sophomore standing or above, Writing II and Speech must be completed within the first 45 hours of OSU-generated credits. These requirements apply to all students, whether full time or part time.

Additional skill course category to be completed:

- Fitness (3)

Perspectives Courses (lower and upper division) (24)

No more than two courses from any one department may be used by a student to satisfy the Perspectives category of the core. GEO courses listed under Physical Science are considered to be from a different department than GEO courses listed under any other Perspective category. Choose an additional course from either Physical Science or Biological Science.

- Biological Science (including lab) (4)
- Physical Science (including lab) (4)
- Plus choice of additional physical or biological science (including lab) (4)

Take a minimum of one course in each of the following areas:

- Cultural Diversity (3)
- Literature and the Arts (3)
- Social Processes and Institutions (3)
- Western Culture (3)

Difference, Power, and Discrimination Courses (3)

Synthesis Courses (upper division) (6)

Both synthesis courses may not be taken in the same department. One course is from each of the following areas:

- Contemporary Global Issues (3)
- Science, Technology, and Society (3)

WIC (Writing Intensive Course, upper division, included in credits for major) (3)

The WIC course must be taken in the student’s major. Each interdisciplinary major has a list of approved WIC courses for that major.

Total (48) + WIC (3) = 51

Approved Baccalaureate Core Courses

For the current and complete list of approved baccalaureate core courses (p. 1188).
Monitoring Degree Progress with MyDegrees

MyDegrees is a web-based degree checklist program and academic advising tool designed to assist students and advisors in reviewing degree progress. It organizes a student's academic transcript chronologically and categorically, identifying courses they have completed and courses still needed to fulfill the degree requirements.

The Office of the Registrar works with advisors to update and maintain an accurate degree audit that will be used to clear student degree requirements during the final term of the students' undergraduate year.

Major Program

In-depth study in at least one area is required in each baccalaureate degree. Major requirements often include not only courses within the given discipline but also necessary prerequisites and work in related areas.

Students must satisfy all the requirements of their major department and major college. The dean's certification of fulfillment of all requirements of the major college is required.

Upper-Division Courses

1. Credits in upper-division courses: minimum 60 (exclusive of upper-division physical education activity courses).
2. Credits in each major: minimum 36, including at least 24 in upper-division courses.

For further details on upper-division course requirements, see Academic Regulation 25c (p. 16), Institutional Requirements for Baccalaureate Degrees.

Practicum Courses and Internships

Academic performance is not the sole criterion for admission to and continuation in certain courses and programs at the university, particularly practicum courses and internships. The university may find it necessary to evaluate a person's behavior and background to determine the ability to maintain the standards of professional conduct which are necessary in some disciplines. An evaluation may take into consideration current performance as well as past experiences and actions which could affect the ability to perform in the particular course or program.

Grade-Point Average (GPA)

A minimum GPA of 2.00 on OSU cumulative grade-point average is required. See Academic Regulation 25e (p. 16), Institutional Requirements for Baccalaureate Degrees.

Total Credits

A minimum 180 earned credits, which must include,1,2

1. Credits in upper-division courses: minimum 60 (exclusive of upper-division physical education activity courses).

2. Credits in each major: minimum 36, including at least 24 in upper-division courses.

Some degree programs may require more than 180 credits.

U unbearded credits are those courses for which a grade of F, N, U, I, W, AUD, or WAU are assigned as a final grade for that course. All other grades are calculated as earned credit.

For further information on total credits required, see Academic Regulation 25c (p. 16), Institutional Requirements for Baccalaureate Degrees.

Academic Standing

Oregon State University expects students to maintain satisfactory academic progress toward degree completion. At the conclusion of each term, grade-point averages are calculated and academic standings determined for students seeking a baccalaureate degree according to the criteria outlined in the Grades, Regulations, and Records section of this catalog.

Academic Residence Requirement

Academic Regulation 25f (p. 16), Academic Residence, Institutional Requirements for Baccalaureate Degrees, states:

- A minimum of 45 of the last 75 credits, or 150 total credits, must be completed while the student is in academic residence at OSU. "Academic Residence" is defined as OSU courses taken as a degree-seeking student of OSU or courses through one of the following approved special programs: Professional degree programs which require that the student enroll in another institution while finishing the bachelor's degree at OSU or an international study program sponsored by Oregon State University.
- A minimum of 15 upper-division credits used to meet the preceding residency requirement (1) must be taken in each of the student's majors.
- Credits earned by special examination for credit (AR 23) are not considered in academic residence.

Other Graduation Requirements

BA Degree Requirements

The bachelor of arts (BA) degree is conferred for broad and liberal education in various approved areas of studies (typically humanities, arts, social science, and sciences). Requirements for the BA degree differ from those for a bachelor of science (BS) degree in the same department. Many departments offer only one or the other of the two baccalaureate degrees. Check departmental curricula for detailed information. The BA degree requires second language proficiency, including American Sign Language (ASL), equivalent to that attained at the end of the second year course in the language as certified by the School of Language, Culture, and Society. See the Academic Regulations for more details.

Concurrent and Subsequent Baccalaureate Degrees

Academic Regulation 26 (p. 16)

1. Concurrent Baccalaureate Degrees: An undergraduate student may be granted two or more baccalaureate degrees (for example the BA or BS) at the same graduation exercise. The student must:
   a. Complete institutional, college, and departmental requirements for the degree;
b. Complete, for each additional degree, a minimum of 32 credits more than the requirements of the curriculum requiring the least number of credits; and

c. Complete each additional 32 credits in residence.

2. Subsequent Baccalaureate Degree: A student who has received a previous baccalaureate degree from either OSU or another accredited university may be granted a subsequent baccalaureate degree. The student must:

   a. Complete, for a BA degree, the requirements for foreign language proficiency (AR 25d);

   b. Achieve a minimum of 2.00 on OSU cumulative grade-point average;

   c. Complete requirements of the major college and receive the dean's certification; and

   d. Meet the requirements for a concurrent degree as specified in AR 26a, if a previous baccalaureate degree has been received from OSU. The additional credits may be taken at any time prior to or subsequent to the granting of a previous OSU baccalaureate degree. Students with a baccalaureate degree from another institution must meet the Academic Residence requirement in AR 25f.

3. A student seeking a baccalaureate degree under the provisions of either AR 26a or AR 26b also must satisfy the appropriate residence requirements as defined in AR 25f.

Subsequent Credentials: Minors, Certificates, Options, and Majors

Academic Regulation 27 (p. 16)

1. Subsequent Minors and Certificates: A student who has received a previous baccalaureate degree from either OSU or another accredited university or college may be granted a subsequent minor or certificate. The student must:

   a. Complete current requirements for minor or certificate and receive the dean's approval;

   b. Achieve a minimum of 2.0 OSU cumulative grade-point average on work taken for subsequent credential;

   c. Academic residence: minimum 15 credits in residence.

2. Subsequent Options and Majors: A student who has received a previous baccalaureate degree from OSU may be granted a subsequent option or major credential:

   a. Complete current requirements for option or major and receive dean's approval;

   b. Achieve a minimum of 2.0 OSU cumulative grade-point average on work taken for subsequent credential;

   c. Academic residence: minimum 15 credits in residence.

3. Additional credits necessary for subsequent credentials may be taken prior to or subsequent to the granting of a previous baccalaureate degree.

Requirements for Certificates

See individual certificate programs described in this catalog.

Requirements for Advanced Degrees

For advanced degree requirements see the Graduate School section of this catalog or contact the Graduate School. Students who take courses they wish to apply toward an advanced degree before they have received baccalaureate degrees may have a limited number of credits reserved by petition. Also see Reserving Credits in the Graduate School section.

A graduate student also may obtain baccalaureate degrees from Oregon State University by satisfying the requirements for subsequent degrees.

Applying for Undergraduate Graduation

Graduation Application

To become a degree candidate:

- You must be a current OSU student with senior standing of 135 or more credits

- You may make a formal application for the degree with the Office of the Registrar up to three terms before your expected graduation term.

- The deadline to apply is the end of the second full week of the term in which you expect to complete your degree requirements.

- Graduation applications are submitted through MyOSU, https://myosu.oregonstate.edu.

Before you apply to graduate, check if you’ve completed your degree requirements:

Meet with your advisor and review your MyDegrees Checklist and confirm that general university requirements are met:

1. Log in to MyOSU at https://myosu.oregonstate.edu

2. Select Student

3. Under My Student Stuff, choose ‘MyDegrees’

Confirm the following is correct:

1. Major, Minor and Option is correctly stated
2. Degree type (BS, BA, BFA, etc.) is correct
3. The total of your Credits Required and Credits Applied
4. Upper-division credits required and earned (this will not appear in MyDegrees if the requirement is met)
5. Degree requirements that have not yet been met

The Office of the Registrar checks for total credits, academic residency, total upper-division credits and grade-point average.

With your advisor, determine which term you will complete your studies and submit your application to graduate. If you will be completing multiple degrees (see below) you will need to submit a separate application for each degree.

1. Log in to MyOSU at https://myosu.oregonstate.edu

2. Select Student

3. Under My Student Stuff, choose ‘Apply to Graduate’

To change your graduation date or program information after the first application, you must cancel your existing application for graduation and file an new application in accordance with the stated deadline.

Commencement exercises are held annually in June and attendance is optional. Students who have graduated in the previous summer, fall or winter terms and senior-level students who have a pending graduation application for spring, summer, or fall terms may participate in the June Commencement exercises.

Ecampus students planning to travel to Corvallis for Commencement can contact Ecampus Student Services for additional information.
Additionally, please be aware that all corresponding transcripts are sealed, meaning the academic record cannot be altered, by the Office of the Registrar 90 days after the conferral of a degree. This ensures that the academic course work that reflects the components that substantiated the awarding of the degree is accurately and permanently recorded.

Double Degrees

A student may earn multiple, different degrees simultaneously. Additional degrees may also be earned after your first degree was awarded. The degrees may be offered by the same college, or by different colleges. To earn a double degree, for each additional degree, a student must complete a minimum of 32 credits above the minimum number of credits needed for one of the degrees. Each degree application is reviewed by the appropriate academic advisor. Advisors complete a separate graduation audit for each of the degrees.

On the student’s academic record, each degree awarded will be recorded as a separate degree with its major, e.g., Bachelor of Science in Mathematics, Bachelor of Arts in English. The student will also receive a separate diploma for each degree awarded (See Academic Regulation 26).

Some double-degree programs — Education (BA, BS, HBA, HBS), Innovation Management (BA, BS, HBA, HBS), Sustainability (BS, HBS), International Studies (BA, HBA) — require that a primary degree be completed in order for the secondary degree to be awarded. When multiple degrees are not dependent on one another, one of the degrees may be awarded even though requirements for the other degree have not yet met. The double degree may be earned concurrently or subsequently. (See Academic Regulation 26.)

Dual (or Multiple) Majors

A student may earn two or more majors within a single degree program (a particular combination of degree, college, and campus, e.g., BA degree from the College of Liberal Arts on the Corvallis campus). It is sometimes possible to complete two or more majors within the minimum number of credits required for a degree, but usually the student must complete additional credits to complete requirements for all of their majors. For this reason, dual (or multiple) majors are obtained within the same college. The advisor must complete one graduation audit that includes all of the majors. The student’s academic record will list one degree with two or more majors, e.g., Bachelor of Science in Mathematics and Chemistry. The student receives one diploma. Dual (or multiple) majors may be obtained concurrently with the completion of the degree, or in some cases may be earned as a credential subsequent to completion of the degree. (See Academic Regulation 27 (p. 16.).)

Note: Occasionally, with careful planning, a student can complete two majors from separate colleges in less than the 212 credits required for two degrees. When this occurs a student can petition for an exception, and graduate with two majors from separate colleges. The student must pick one college as their home college and all majors will be associated with the home college. The student must have the support of advisors from both major programs to have their petition considered.

Honors Degrees

Students completing the honors college curriculum receive an honors degree in the college of their major, e.g., HBS Honors Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, or HBA Honors Bachelor of Arts in English. In some cases it might be possible for an Honors College student to earn multiple degrees simultaneously by following the double degrees requirements outlined in Academic Regulation 26.

Students seeking an honors degree must meet the requirements of the Honors College in order to receive their degree. Students that complete an Honors degree will have the honors degree recorded on their academic record. The student’s diploma will also include the honors degree designation (e.g., Honors Bachelor of Science, etc.).

Note: Honors degrees are not currently available to Ecampus students.

Degrees with Distinction

Graduates who have completed at least 90 credits at OSU or sixty upper-division credits at OSU, and who have an OSU cumulative GPA of 3.5 or higher, are awarded an OSU degree with distinction as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Academic Distinction</th>
<th>OSU GPA Range</th>
<th>Graduation Honor Cord Color</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cum Laude</td>
<td>3.50-3.69</td>
<td>Orange</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Magna Cum Laude</td>
<td>3.70-3.84</td>
<td>Gold</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summa Cum Laude</td>
<td>3.85-4.00</td>
<td>White</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

These distinctions are noted on diplomas.

Undergraduate Research/Arts Fellow Honor Distinction

Oregon State University recognizes significant engagement and accomplishment in undergraduate research and the arts by awarding an honor distinction of “Undergraduate Research/Arts Fellow” to students of all majors upon completion of a significant research or creative arts experience under faculty mentorship. “Research” here is intended to encompass modes of scholarship and inquiry as they are variously practiced and defined in OSU’s academic disciplines. Students completing significant creative projects in the arts may receive the honorary distinction “Undergraduate Arts Fellow.” The distinction will be noted on the student’s transcript, and the student will receive a blue honor cord to be worn at graduation ceremonies.

To qualify for the Undergraduate Research/Arts Fellow distinction:

1. Students must demonstrate involvement in all major phases of their project including conception, implementation, and presentation. This involvement will generally consist of sustained work over multiple quarters or the summer resulting in an original contribution relative to the discipline.
2. The project presentation must be to an audience that extends beyond the immediate research group or creative context, for example at a public performance, symposium/seminar, the annual CUE (Celebration of Undergraduate Excellence) at OSU, a professional meeting, or through publication in a journal.
3. Evidence of the presentation must be submitted with the final honorary distinction application and deposited into the OSU Scholars Archive.
4. The faculty mentor must endorse the application, verifying satisfaction of the criteria described above.

To apply for the distinction, students should complete the OSU Undergraduate Research/Arts Fellow Honor Distinction Application, which is available at: http://undergraduate.oregonstate.edu/research/transcript-notation. Students that complete a thesis in the University Honors College, International Education, Physics, BioResource Research... or the Bioenergy Minor should submit Form A while form B is to be used for all other research/creative activities. The Form B which application requires submission of a detailed description of the project and the student’s involvement in specific research/creative tasks, a timeline of the student’s project engagement, details of the public presentation, and the faculty mentor’s endorsement. Applications are submitted to the head advisor in the students’ major college, who will sign the application and transmit to the Director for Undergraduate Research for signature before it is sent to the Office of the Registrar for processing. Applications may be submitted at any time during the undergraduate’s career but no later than three weeks prior to a student’s anticipated graduation date.

Dissertation/Thesis

Upon completion and acceptance of a dissertation/thesis at the conclusion of a program of study, the dissertation/thesis will be recorded on a student’s transcript, noting the title and term/year that the dissertation/thesis was accepted by the university.

Re-Enrolling Students

Re-enrolling students are reminded that graduation requirements may have changed. Students are responsible for consulting their college for changes in their curriculum. If a program has been discontinued, students cannot expect to continue pursuit of that program. Re-enrolling students are also reminded that individual retention and re-enrollment standards of specific colleges may be in effect.

Oregon Transfer Students

Oregon community college students entering OSU who have completed the Associate of Arts Oregon Transfer (AAOT) degree (meeting the block transfer agreement between Oregon community colleges and Oregon public universities) will satisfy the lower-division requirements of the baccalaureate core (except those in the synthesis requirement) and have junior standing for registration.

When entering OSU, Oregon community college students who have completed the Associate of Arts Oregon Transfer (AAOT) degree will have junior standing for registration and will satisfy the lower-division requirements of the baccalaureate core, except those in the synthesis requirement. The AAOT degree meets the block transfer agreement between Oregon community colleges and Oregon public universities.

For more information about how OSU accepts any of the transfer degrees, call OSU Admissions at 800-291-4192.

Washington Transfer Students

The Direct Transfer Associate degree awarded by any community college in Washington state will satisfy lower-division general (core) requirements at OSU. Students will receive junior level standing with an earned Washington Direct Transfer Associate degree of 90 transferable quarter hours or more. The minimum requirements are: 2.0 GPA on 90 earned quarter hours of transferable credit. OSU will accept a maximum of 12 credits in professional, vocational, and technical courses. You must still meet requirements in your chosen major, minor, or professional program.

For more information about how OSU accepts any of the transfer degrees, call OSU Admissions at 800-291-4192.

California Transfer Students

OSU accepts the Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC) to satisfy lower-division (general) core requirements. The IGETC was developed for community college students who plan to transfer to a four-year institution but are undecided about which one and/or undecided about a major. Students interested in the IGETC path to transfer are strongly advised to see an academic advisor prior to enrollment. The minimum requirements are: 36 quarter (24 semester) academically transferable hours, 2.25 cumulative GPA, IGETC Area 1 Group A English requirement (C– or higher grade), IGETC Area 2 Mathematical Concepts requirement (C– or higher grade), and student must be admissible to the last institution they attended.

For more information about how OSU accepts any of the transfer degrees, call OSU Admissions at 800-291-4192.

Transfer Credits

Decisions on transfer courses meeting specific baccalaureate core (general education requirements) will be made by the Office of Admissions with the Faculty Senate and the Office of Academic Programs. Some requirements may be met by advanced placement or international baccalaureate. For more information, contact the Office of Admissions. Articulation tables for baccalaureate core courses can be found on the Web at http://admissions.oregonstate.edu/baccalaureate-core-course-equivalencies.

The OSU Ecampus Research Unit (ECRU) makes research actionable through the creation of evidence-based resources related to effective online teaching, learning and program administration toward the fulfillment of the goals of Oregon State’s mission.

Specifically, the ECRU conducts original research and provides resources to encourage faculty research and external grant applications related to online teaching and learning.

Established in 2015, the ECRU regularly publishes the results of national and local studies, and it produces a weekly podcast, “Research in Action (https://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/research/podcast),” to address topics and issues facing researchers nationwide.

In late 2017, the ECRU created the Online Learning Efficacy Research Database, a new repository of academic studies that allows users to explore whether the learning outcomes of online education are equivalent to face-to-face environments. As of September 2018, the Online Learning Efficacy Research Database has 219 citations across 74 discrete disciplines from 161 academic journals. The database is updated each month with additions of new studies that fit the database parameters.

The Research Unit houses a competitive award program to fund Oregon State faculty in their online learning research endeavors. Learn more about the Ecampus Research Fellows (ECRF) program, its goals, timeline and the materials you’ll need to apply online (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/research/fellows).

To make college more affordable and accessible for students, Ecampus Open Educational Resources works with university faculty to create no-cost and low-cost course materials to be used in classes on-campus and online with OSU Ecampus.

Ecampus Open Educational Resources aims to take advantage of OSU’s national reputation in the field of online learning to establish a competitive open educational resources (OER) program that focuses on reusable digital components. In partnership with OSU Libraries and Press, Ecampus Open Educational Resources partners with faculty to adopt, adapt and author open textbooks that are freely available online to students and faculty at Oregon State and worldwide.

ECAMPUS – Top-ranked degrees online

As a leader in online education, Oregon State University Ecampus works with OSU faculty to provide access to exceptional learning experiences that transform the lives of students in Oregon and around the world. Thousands of online and distance students enroll in Ecampus’ nationally ranked degree programs and courses each year, all of which are developed by Oregon State University faculty. In the 2017-18 academic year, a total of 23,362 OSU students took at least one Ecampus class online.

OSU Ecampus is widely regarded as one of America’s best providers of online education and has been ranked nationally by numerous publications (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/online-degrees/promotion/top-ranked.htm) in each of the last eight years. In January 2018, Oregon State’s online bachelor’s programs were ranked in the top 10 in the nation (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/in-the-news/release/us-news-top-10-2016.htm) for the fourth consecutive year by U.S. News & World Report. The recognition was based on student engagement; faculty credentials and training; student services and technology; and peer reputation.

Students interested in pursuing an Oregon State degree online can choose from more than 50 programs, including bachelor’s degrees in business administration; fisheries and wildlife sciences; Spanish; computer science (post-baccalaureate); agricultural sciences; and various liberal arts disciplines. Oregon State’s online and hybrid graduate-level offerings feature four MBA tracks that include organizational leadership and innovation management; master’s programs in industrial engineeering and data analytics; a Master of Natural Resources; and a variety of education programs. Find a complete list of degree and certificate programs here (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu). Ecampus delivers more than 1,200 courses online throughout the year. A complete list of classes is available online (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/soc).

Ecampus is also helping expand Oregon State’s presence in the Portland region. Not only do students have access to OSU-signature programs and courses online through Ecampus, but now they can also study in a dynamic, hybrid learning environment that includes face-to-face interaction with OSU faculty and students as well as on-site support services at the OSU Portland Center (https://portland.oregonstate.edu) near Pioneer Square.

Oregon State’s distance learners include full- and part-time students, working and retired professionals, community college students, active-duty and retired military, high school students and individuals who want to further their education with a single college course. Ecampus students and graduates hail from all 50 states and more than 50 countries worldwide.

All curricula for Ecampus courses and degree programs are designed by Oregon State faculty and are held to the same rigorous academic standards as the university’s on-campus classes. OSU is accredited by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities, and all Ecampus students who complete degree requirements receive the same diploma and transcript as campus-based students.

Ecampus works closely with more than 800 OSU faculty members and department heads in order to provide students with enriching educational opportunities. Our current online offerings include courses in more than 100 subjects, from anthropology and chemistry to economics and public health. Oregon State partners with 20 community colleges throughout the state and in Hawaii as a way to help students progress toward a four-year degree. The Degree Partnership Program allows students to take community college and OSU classes concurrently in order to meet the course-load requirement for financial aid and to access other OSU services, including advising. Learn more about taking Ecampus online classes with the Degree Partnership Program (http://partnerships.oregonstate.edu).

Ecampus also provides assistance by email, phone or in person to prospective and current students who are interested in taking Oregon State courses online and at a distance.

Services for Faculty

The Ecampus staff provides an array of services for faculty, including course development training workshops, facility coordination and liaison activities with partnering community colleges and universities. Find a complete list of training sessions and workshops online (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/faculty/training).

The Ecampus Faculty Forum is an annual showcase of excellence in online teaching that features interactive, wide-ranging discussions on how Oregon State applies its academic prestige to online education. Held each spring on campus, the event gives faculty the opportunity to hear colleagues discuss innovative teaching methods, best practices and relate their experiences in online course development. More than 200 OSU faculty, administrators and staff attend the event annually.

Ecampus operates a program called QM Online Course Design, which seeks to improve student success in online courses by focusing on continuously improving course design. Using the independent and research-based Quality Matters (QM) peer review process, the faculty-driven QM program examines course design, not the content itself or the teaching.

Having an online course peer reviewed is an ideal way for OSU faculty to receive fresh ideas from colleagues who can offer positive feedback to create more active learning. The Ecampus Course Development and Training team conducts training sessions (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu/faculty/qm) year-round, and stipends are awarded when one reviews a peer’s course.

The Office of Financial Aid is here to help you invest in your future. It’s a good idea to apply for financial aid at the same time that you apply for admission to OSU. Although we won’t review your financial aid information until after your admission application is filed, you can still apply for financial aid before you have been admitted to OSU. Learn more about your options at OSU by choosing a category below.

Financial aid is based on the premise that you, and in the case of dependent students, your parents are primarily responsible for providing for your educational expenses, and it is intended to supplement student and family contributions toward educational costs. Financial aid comes from many sources, including federal and state government, private organizations, and Oregon State University’s institutional funds. These funds consist of grants, scholarships, federal work study, subsidized loans, unsubsidized loans, and parent loans.

Eligibility/Application Procedures
To be eligible for federal financial aid, a student must:

1. Fill out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), beginning October 1st using previous year tax data (for example the 2018–2019 application will use 2016 tax information). Parents and students are encouraged to use the IRS data retrieval tool to update their income information and submit it by the OSU priority deadline of February 28. The FAFSA application process allows for the completion of tax information questions from the IRS directly from your return! Follow the prompts while completing the application to authorize this information exchange. Always remember that there is no fee to apply for federal aid.

2. List Oregon State University as a school that you would like your information to be sent to on the FAFSA. Oregon State’s federal school code is 003210.

3. The priority FAFSA application deadline for OSU is February 28th. This date is used to determine eligibility for some need-based aid programs as well as state and institutional funds. Applications received after the priority deadline will still be eligible for federal aid such as the Pell Grant and Direct Loans. Graduate students are not eligible for federal Title IV grants or subsidized loans.

4. Make sure you are eligible to receive financial aid. In order to receive federal funding you must:
   - Have a high school diploma or a General Education Development (GED) certificate, or complete a high school education in a home school setting that is treated as such under state law.
   - Be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a degree or approved certificate program (e.g., not special admit)
   - Be a U.S. citizen or eligible noncitizen.
   - Have a valid Social Security Number.
   - Register with the Selective Service if required. You can register at http://www.sss.gov, or you can call 1-847-688-6888. (TTY users can call 1-847-688-2567.)
   - Maintain satisfactory academic progress as defined by Oregon State University once in school.
   - Are not in default on a federal student loan and do not owe money on a federal student grant.
   - The Higher Education Act of 1965 as amended (HEA) suspends aid eligibility for students who have been convicted under federal or state law of the sale or possession of drugs, if the offense occurred during a period of enrollment for which the student was receiving federal student aid (grants, loans, and/or work-study).

5. Apply for admission to Oregon State University. Apply Online. You will not be considered for any financial aid award until you have applied to the university.

What happens AFTER I apply?

Once you have submitted your FAFSA application online you will receive a confirmation of receipt from Federal Student Aid. They will also send you a Student Aid Report that will give you a summary of your application and inform you of any problems you might need to resolve. You should read this report carefully and resolve problems in a timely manner. If you receive notification that something on your FAFSA is missing or incorrect, you can check your financial aid information through MyOSU Financial Aid Information or email the OSU Office of Financial Aid for further information.
Students whose aid application was received by the end of February may expect to receive an initial award letter by approximately April 1. Aid applications are then completed on a rolling basis by date of receipt with award notifications being sent out as files are completed.

You will receive an email or letter once your financial aid award has been completed. You will also be notified if you need to provide further information in order for us to complete your application. All correspondence will be sent to your ONID email account, so be sure to keep your information up to date!

The award notification will show the type and amount of aid available to you for the coming school year. To reserve these funds, the student must read and accept the award within 30 days. The accepted award indicates the student has read and agrees to the terms of the award as outlined.

Understand Before You Accept

By accepting your award, you are stating that you have read, understand, and accept the Terms and Conditions (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/review_termsconditions) of your award. As a recipient of financial aid, you must meet certain requirements to maintain financial aid eligibility. The Office of Financial Aid reserves the right to revise a financial aid award during any time of the year if there are changes in your financial aid eligibility. You will be notified through your OSU student email if new requirements have been established or revisions have been made. Your aid eligibility may change based on FAFSA Verification (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/verification-faqs), Satisfactory Academic Progress (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/review_satisfactoryacademicprogress), withdrawing (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/receive_withdrawal) from courses, course participation (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/course-participation), Census Date enrollment (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/receive_censusdate), reaching aid limits (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/aid-limits-undergraduates), and other factors. If you will be less than fulltime (12 credits as an undergraduate/post-bacc or 9 credits as a graduate student) please submit an enrollment revision form (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/forms) to let us know.

Acceptance Deadlines

The acceptance deadlines listed on your award letter do not apply to federal Ford Direct subsidized and unsubsidized loan offers. If you are still deciding how much to accept in Ford loans, you may wait until closer to the start of the term to accept that portion of the aid offer.

Students Who Are Not Yet Admitted

You will not be able to login and accept your aid offer until you have received your Admission’s letter and your OSU student ID number. If you have not yet received your ID number and cannot login to MyOSU, you may disregard the acceptance deadline listed on your award letter. Just be sure to accept or decline your aid offer once the Admission’s process is complete.

How to Accept Your Aid Offer

To accept your financial aid, login to MyOSU (http://oregonstate.edu/main/online-services). Log in using your ONID username and password. If you need assistance with this information, you can contact the OSU Computer Help Desk at 541-737-3474.

You can then accept, reject, or revise your Financial Aid Award through MyOSU (http://oregonstate.edu/main/online-services) by completing the following steps:

- Select the Paying for College tab
- Select Financial Aid Awards
- Select the appropriate year (ex. 2018-2019)
- Answer and submit any relevant questions on the Resources/Additional Information Tab
- Review your Terms & Conditions by selecting the Terms and Conditions tab
- Then select Accept Award Offer tab
- Click Submit when done
- Go to www.studentloans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action) to complete any necessary Entrance Counseling and Master Promissory Notes (these are both required in order to receive federal student loans)
- If you will be enrolled less than fulltime submit an enrollment revision form (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/forms)

*You may accept all or a portion of aid awarded to you. You are also not required to accept the maximum loan amount offered to you. To borrow a lesser amount, indicate the total amount of loan you wish to borrow for the academic year. When deciding what amount to accept, please note that your loans must be divided up equally throughout the academic year.

*You are responsible for notifying the OSU Office of Financial Aid in the event that you receive any additional awards from any other source. The OSU Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships will then make any required revisions to your aid package. The receipt of additional aid may result in a reduction or elimination of aid from university-administered programs, even if it has already been paid.

*If you are considered a dependent student, your parents can also apply for a Parent PLUS loan up to the remaining cost of attendance by completing a PLUS loan application and Master Promissory Note available for them through the Federal Student Loans website. (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action)

*Important notice about Parent PLUS loan applications: The PLUS loan application will not be available for 2018-2019 until March 29, 2018. If you attempt to apply prior to that date you will be told that OSU does not participate in the program. Rest assured, OSU DOES participate in the Federal Direct Parent PLUS loan program. Applications for parent PLUS loan requires a credit check each time the parent applies for the loan and is only valid for 180 days. Applying too early may cause delays with processing and disbursements. Students can review their file status by logging into their ONID account.

Types of Financial Aid

Federal Programs

Federal Pell Grant

A need-based grant from the federal government intended for high need undergraduate students seeking their first bachelor’s degree.

- After the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is filed, the Department of Education sends you a Student Aid Report (SAR) or an Information Acknowledgement if you filed online. These documents will indicate if you are Pell eligible and it is important to review them for accuracy.
• Based on the Congressional approval of year round Pell, students may now receive up to 150% of their Pell eligibility in a single year. You may be eligible to receive a fulltime Pell Grant for 4 terms of the academic year. Terms in which a student is attending less than halftime (fewer than 6 credit hours) may not be counted towards this additional eligibility.
• Students may receive the Pell grant for a maximum of 18 terms/12 semesters. Utilizing year round Pell will use this lifetime eligibility (https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/grants-scholarships/pell/calculate-eligibility) more quickly.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG)

• A need-based grant from the federal government intended for high need undergraduate students seeking their first bachelor’s degree.
• Administered by the OSU Office of Financial Aid. Funds are limited and eligibility is based in part by meeting the OSU priority FAFSA submission deadline of February 28.

Federal College Work-Study Program (FWS)

Federal College Work-Study Program (FWS) program helps provide part-time jobs for students with financial need to help them pay for their education.

• The program is administered by the OSU Office of Financial Aid. Funds are limited and eligibility is based on need and in part by the OSU priority FAFSA submission deadline of February 28.
• Being awarded FWS funds allows you to apply for jobs that specifically have the Work-Study designation. If you are awarded FWS and secure a Work-Study job, you will be paid monthly for hours worked.
• The amount of FWS indicated on your award is the maximum amount you may earn for the academic year. Funds are paid monthly on the basis of hours worked in the pay period not to exceed 20 hours per week.
• Students not awarded FWS may still apply for jobs both on and off campus.

Please review our Work-Study Page (https://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/Work_Study) for more detailed information.

LOANS

Loans: Federal Aid THAT DOES HAVE TO BE REPAID

Federal Loan Basics

• Federal Student Loans are aid that must be repaid.
• You must file a FAFSA each year to receive a federal loan offer.
• On Subsidized Loans, the U.S. Department of Education pays the interest while you are attending school at least half time.
• On Unsubsidized Loans, you are responsible for paying the interest during times of deferment.
• Parent Plus and Graduate Plus loans require a credit check and separate application each year.
• Minimum halftime enrollment is required each term to receive federal loans.
• Find interest rate and origination fees for all federal loans online at https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/interest-rates.
• There are yearly, aggregate, and timeframe maximums for federal loans.

• The Perkins Loan program has not been extended beyond the 2017-2018 aid year. Repayment and deferment options are handled by the OSU Business Affairs Student Loan Office (https://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/perkins). Please see our Perkins disclosure page (https://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/federal-perkins-loan-program-extension-act-additional-disclosures) if you have an existing Perkins loan.

Types of Federal Loans

Subsidized Federal Ford Direct Student Loan

• Subsidized means the U.S. Department of Education pays the interest (https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/interest-rates) while you are attending school at least half time.
• Awarded to undergraduate students with financial need.
• The amount you are awarded is determined by your financial need and class rank.
• If you have not received a Federal Ford Direct Loan at OSU in the past, you must complete Entrance Counseling and a Master Promissory Note online at StudentLoans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action).
• Repayment begins 6 months after graduation or dropping below half time enrollment.
• Has yearly, aggregate, and timeframe limits.

Unsubsidized Federal Ford Direct Student Loan

• Unsubsidized means you are responsible for paying the interest (https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/interest-rates) during times of deferment.
• Awarded to undergraduate and graduate students.
• The amount you are awarded is determined by your class rank and dependency status.
• If you have not received a Federal Ford Direct Loan at OSU in the past, you must complete Entrance Counseling and a Master Promissory Note online at StudentLoans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action).
• If you are a dependent student and your parent has been credit denied for the Parent Plus loan this year, you may submit a Student Loan Revision form to request an increase in the Ford Direct unsubsidized student loan.
• Repayment begins 6 months after graduation or dropping below half time enrollment.
• Has yearly and aggregate limits.

Parent PLUS Federal Loan

• The Federal Direct Parent PLUS Loan is a credit based loan borrowed by the parent on behalf of a dependent undergraduate or post-bacc student for educational expenses.
• Has no yearly or aggregate limits but amounts must fit into the expected cost of attendance.
• The loan is unsubsidized meaning you are responsible for paying the interest (https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/interest-rates) during times of deferment.
• The parent borrower must complete a Direct PLUS Loan Application and Master Promissory Note (MPN) online at StudentLoans.gov.
• The credit check, run as part of the application, is only valid for 180 days. Do not complete the application more than 180 days before the start of the term, or before May of the respective year if attending summer term.

*For applicants who have been determined to have an adverse credit history, but qualify for a Direct Parent PLUS loan by documenting extenuating circumstances or obtaining an endorser must complete the PLUS Counseling online at StudentLoans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action). Students can review their file status by logging into their MyOSU (https://main.oregonstate.edu) account.

*If a Parent Plus loan has been credit denied for this year, the student may submit a Student Loan Revision form (https://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/forms) to request an increase in the Ford Direct unsubsidized student loan.

Graduate PLUS Federal Loan

- The Federal Direct Grad PLUS Loan is a credit based loan borrowed by graduate students to assist with educational expenses.
- Has no yearly or aggregate limits but amounts must fit into the expected cost of attendance.
- The loan is unsubsidized meaning you are responsible for paying the interest (https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/interest-rates) during times of deferment.
- You must complete a Direct PLUS Loan Application and Master Promissory Note (MPN) and Entrance Counseling online at StudentLoans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action).
- The credit check, run as part of the application, is only valid for 180 days. Do not complete the application more than 180 days before the start of the term, or before May of the respective year if attending summer term.

*For applicants who have been determined to have an adverse credit history, but qualify for a Direct Graduate PLUS loan by documenting extenuating circumstances or obtaining an endorser must complete the PLUS Counseling online at StudentLoans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action).

FEDERAL LOAN LIMITS

Dependent Undergraduate Ford Direct Student Loan Maximum Per Year:

- $5,500 freshman ($3,500 of that may be subsidized if eligible)
- $6,500 sophomore ($4,500 of that may be subsidized if eligible)
- $7,500 junior/senior ($5,500 of that may be subsidized if eligible)

* If a Parent Plus loan has been credit denied for this year, the student may submit a Student Loan Revision form (https://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/forms) to request an increase in the Ford Direct unsubsidized student loan. The maximum increase is $4,000 for fresh/soph and $5,000 for jr/sr.

Independent Undergraduate Ford Direct Student Loan Maximum Per Year:

- $9,500 freshman ($3,500 of that may be subsidized if eligible)
- $10,500 sophomore ($4,500 of that may be subsidized if eligible)
- $12,500 junior/senior ($5,500 of that may be subsidized if eligible)

Graduate Ford Direct Loan Limits

Graduate Ford Direct Student Loan Maximum Per Year:

- $20,500 (unless seeking certain medical or professional degrees)

Graduate Ford Direct Student Loan Aggregate Maximum (Limit for all years combined):

- $138,500 (unless seeking certain medical or professional degrees)

* The credit hour maximum timeframe (MTF) is an additional limitation beyond the federal aggregate aid maximums. More information about the MTF may be found on the Satisfactory Academic Progress (https://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/satisfactory-academic-progress) section of our website.

* The Subsidized Federal Direct Ford Loan is need-based with the government paying the interest on the loan while the student is enrolled. Effective July 1, 2013 there will be a limit on the amount of time that a student is allowed to borrow subsidized loan funds which will be tied to their program length. Students that exceed 150% of their program length will no longer be eligible to receive subsidized loan funds, regardless of any extensions granted based on the Satisfactory Academic Progress appeal process through the Office of Financial Aid. Find more details on the federal loan webpage.

Independent Undergraduate Ford Direct Student Loan Aggregate Maximum (Limit for all years combined):

- $57,500 Ford Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans Combined (no more than $23,000 of that may be subsidized)

* The credit hour maximum timeframe (MTF) is an additional limitation beyond the federal aggregate aid maximums. More information about the MTF may be found on the Satisfactory Academic Progress (https://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/satisfactory-academic-progress) section of our website.

Campus Scholarships

These limited merit and need based scholarships are administered by the Office of Scholarships and the Office of Financial Aid. Incoming students are considered based on completion of the scholarship portion of the admissions application. Eligibility is limited to students who have completed fewer than 12 terms and submit the application for Admission by February 1. Recipients must be enrolled full-time and are notified of their awards in writing. Criteria are available on the scholarships (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/explore_osuscholarships) page.

Departmental Awards

Each department on campus administers their own awards. Contact the department or donor directly for specific information regarding the award. For a searchable database of scholarships, visit: https://scholarship.ucsadm.oregonstate.edu/prod/search_schol.php.

Private Awards

These awards come from outside donors and can affect your financial aid package. Outside scholarship checks should be mailed to: Student Accounts, Oregon State University, PO Box 1086, Corvallis, OR 97339. If you have not already submitted notification to the Financial Aid Office regarding your outside scholarships, please submit the Reporting Additional Sources of Assistance form located on the Financial Aid Forms page.

State of Oregon Opportunity Grant

The Opportunity Grant is a state grant administered by the Office of Student Access and Completion (OSAC) and awarded to undergraduate Oregon residents based on need and allowable funding. Students must complete the FAFSA (https://fafsa.ed.gov) or ORSAA (https://oregonstudentaid.gov/fafsa-orsaa.aspx) each year in order to be considered. Twelve terms of eligibility are possible. This grant is not available during summer term.

OSAC Scholarship Application

Start your OSAC Scholarship Application (https://app.oregonstudentaid.gov), final deadline is March 1 of each year. In the event that it falls on a weekend or holiday, the deadline will automatically be extended to 5:00 p.m. (PST) of the following business day.

Oregon Student Child Care Grant

You may apply for the Oregon Student Child Care Grant (https://app.oregonstudentaid.gov) if you are an Oregon student seeking financial support for college students with children in daycare.

Other Programs

Private Supplemental/Alternative Loan

Students needing additional funding for school, whose aid package has not fully met their cost of attendance, may opt to apply for funding through a private lending agency. These loans have a variable interest rate, and a credit check must be done on all applicants. OSU cannot recommend lenders for private/alternative loans. More information may be found on our webpage (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/review_aidtypes_private loans).

Graduate Students

Based on the FAFSA application, graduate degree seeking students may be eligible to receive Unsubsidized Direct Loans. The annual loan maximum for non-professional students is $20,500 per academic year. The aggregate borrowing limit is $138,500. This includes all Federal Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized loans borrowed for undergraduate and graduate study. Students must be enrolled at least half time (5 credits) and repayment begins six months after graduation, withdrawal, or if you drop below half-time enrollment. Interest rate and origination fee information may be found on the FSA webpage (https://studentaid.ed.gov/sa/types/loans/interest-rates). For more information, visit our graduate student webpage (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/graduate-student-aid).

In addition to Unsubsidized Direct Loan, Graduate Students can apply for a credit based Graduate PLUS loan at studentloans.gov (https://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action). If credit approved for this loan, graduate students may accept up to their remaining cost of attendance for that year.

Before you can receive a PLUS Loan, your school must have determined your maximum eligibility for Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loans.

In addition to these Federal Aid Programs, the Graduate School offers additional information on Assistantship, Grant and Scholarship Opportunities on their webpage (http://gradschool.oregonstate.edu).

Receipt of Aid Funds

OSU Office of Business Affairs is responsible for disbursing refunds from student accounts once financial aid has been applied. You must be registered and have your tuition and fees billed to your account for financial aid to be applied. Aid funds are never made available in advance. Textbooks cannot be charged to a student’s account. It is assumed that the student will purchase textbooks out-of-pocket and use any refund to “reimburse” themselves for the costs. If a credit balance remains on your student account after current university charges are paid, you will be issued a refund. Federal Work-Study earnings are paid by payroll check to you each month for hours worked. You may receive a refund and still have an outstanding balance on your account. For more information about your bill or refund, visit the Business Affairs website.

Delayed Disbursements

There are several ways in which your aid may be delayed. Here are the most common reasons:

- You may be required to complete Entrance Counseling and sign a Master Promissory Note (MPN) for your Ford Direct Loans. You would have been notified of these requirements via an email to your ONID email account.
- Dropping classes (below 12 for undergraduates, 9 for graduates). All students are assumed to be full-time unless they notify Financial Aid in writing that they will be less. If you are not enrolled at full-time and have not notified us, your aid will not disburse.
- Registering late for classes.
- Being waitlisted for classes. These classes do not count toward your enrollment level until you are actually enrolled in them.
- Having unsatisfied requirements with your financial aid file. Check your status through MyOSU/Financial Aid/My Eligibility.

You are responsible for managing your Financial Aid experience, so be sure to check MyOSU frequently and review any emails you receive from us as they may include requests for additional information or action.

Requesting Changes

It is understood that you want as much grant and scholarship money as possible. When you are awarded your financial aid, your award will reflect your eligibility for available grant aid. When accepting your award, you may always request a lesser loan amount. Please note that loan... funds are divided into equal disbursements, based on your enrollment at OSU within the given year. You may replace your Federal Work-Study funds with a Direct Ford loan, however this is dependent upon your loan eligibility. In addition, if you initially decline loan funds but find later that you in fact need them, you may also request that the loan be reinstated up to the total of your original offer. Please request any changes in writing by submitting a Loan Revision Request form to the financial aid office. Be aware that not all budget requests can be accommodated.

Additional Costs
In certain instances, your cost of attendance may be adjusted to include other allowable costs incurred to meet your educational needs. Requests are reviewed on a case-by-case basis to determine approval. Documentation of the additional expense must be included for consideration. If approved, additional expenses are usually funded with "self-help" assistance in the form of loans. Adjustments are not made for consumer debts, car payments, or private school tuition.

Adjustments may include, but are not limited to:

- Medical or dental cost not covered by insurance
- Computer expense (one time allowance)
- Child care cost for children 12 and under
- Commuting costs from outside the Corvallis area
- Costs related to students with disabilities
- Study abroad program fees

Parent or Student Expected Contributions (EFC)
The information you reported on your FAFSA is used to calculate a number called the Expected Family Contribution (EFC). The EFC is not the amount of money that your family must provide. The school uses the EFC to determine the amount of your federal grants, loans, or work-study awards for which you may be eligible.

Changes in Your Situation
Financial Aid offices may consider special or unusual circumstances that impact your family situation. Please contact us with any questions you might have regarding your eligibility for a review.

Renewing Aid
You must apply for financial aid every year by submitting a FAFSA application. Applications must be received before February 28 at the central processor to be considered for priority funding. You may apply for aid online after October 1st for the following academic year.

Dropping Courses and the Census Date
Dropping courses impacts your financial aid in several ways. Aid is based on your enrollment level on the Census Date (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/receive_censusdate) of each term. For undergraduates, full-time status is 12 or more credits, 3/4 time is 9-11 credits, 1/2 time is 6-8 credits, and less than halftime is 1-5 credits. Less than fulltime enrollment may affect your financial aid eligibility. Students enrolled less than halftime are not eligible to receive most types of aid including federal student loans. If you plan on being less than fulltime you must submit an enrollment revision form (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/forms) to the Office of Financial Aid.

Financial aid eligibility each term is based on your level of enrollment on the Census Date (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/receive_censusdate). On this date, budgets and financial aid are adjusted and locked based on your enrollment level at that time. If your aid was paid at the full-time amount and you are less than fulltime on the Census Date, your budget will be revised and your aid may need to be reduced to reflect your Census Date enrollment. This revision may create a new bill on your OSU student billing account.

The summer term is unique because there are sessions that do not span the entire 11 week term. During the summer term, if you drop a course before that course session began, we are required to reverse any Pell Grant payments made for that course. Reversed Pell will be returned to the Department of Education. This reversal of aid may create a new bill on your OSU student billing account.

Dropping or withdrawing from courses after the census date, may also impact your financial aid eligibility for the current and future terms. Withdrawing (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/receive_withdrawal) from all courses, failing to complete courses (unofficially withdrawing), or not participating (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/course-participation) in courses, may result in the partial or full loss of aid eligibility for that term. Future term eligibility will depend on continuing to make Satisfactory Academic Progress. (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/review_satisfactoryacademicprogress)

What Happens If I Withdraw?
What Happens If I Withdraw From or Do Not Complete One Or More Courses in a Term?
The impact of a partial withdrawal (official or unofficial) will vary greatly by term, student status, type of aid awarded, participation, and other factors. Students, who plan to drop, withdraw, or not complete one or more course, should contact the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships for a personalized evaluation of how a partial withdrawal will impact their current and future aid eligibility.

Students are expected to understand the terms, conditions, and requirements that relate to their financial aid award. Additional information on retaining full financial aid eligibility may be found on the Financial Aid Web page:

What Happens If I Withdraw From All Courses or Do Not Complete Any Courses in a Term?
The information below is a brief summary of the process that takes place when a student withdraws from all courses or fails to receive a passing grade for a given term. The policies and procedure listed are subject to change without advance notice based on changes in federal or institutional policies. This is not an exhaustive list of the rules pertaining to the Return of Title IV funds. Further guidance regarding these policies and procedures may be obtained by contacting the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships. Reference material relating to the federal rules for this process may be found in Volume 5 of the Federal Student Aid Handbook.

Federal financial aid is awarded based on the expectation that a student will participate in all of their courses through the last day of the term. When a student does not complete the term, the Office of Financial Aid is required to review their eligibility for aid that has been or could be
A student is considered to have earned the full amount of disbursed federal aid if they participated in all courses and completed at least 61% of the term. In cases where full participation and 61% term completion cannot be verified, a return of federal Title IV and other types of aid may be required.

An official withdrawal may impact a student’s eligibility for current or pending financial aid. Students who withdraw from the university after the start of the term must complete a Withdrawal Form through the Registrar’s Office (click “Withdraw for the Term”) and should contact the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships regarding the impact on their eligibility. The date of official withdrawal (as reported by the Registrar’s Office) will be used to determine the amount of aid that must be returned based on the percentage of the term that they completed. If a return of funds is required, the Office of Financial Aid is required to review participation reported by OSU and partner school instructors. This participation information is used to establish a last date of participation that may be utilized in the federal Return of Title IV funds calculation.

Financial aid funds were used to pay tuition and fees, and a student withdraws, any refundable tuition amount is returned to the appropriate financial aid sources (refer to the tuition/fee refund schedule in the OSU Schedule of Classes).

A student is considered unofficially withdrawn if they fail to receive any passing grades in a given term. In the case of an unofficial withdrawal, the Office of Financial Aid is required to review participation reported by OSU and partner school instructors. This participation information is used to establish a last date of participation that may be utilized in the federal Return of Title IV funds calculation.

Return of Title IV Funds Calculation and Withdrawal Record

Students who withdraw from the university after the start of the term must complete a Withdrawal Form through the Registrar’s Office. Students should also notify the Office of Financial Aid of their current and future term enrollment plans with an enrollment revision form (http://financialaid.oregonstate.edu/forms). If financial aid funds were used to pay tuition and fees, and a student withdraws, any refundable tuition amount is returned to the appropriate financial aid sources (refer to the tuition/fee refund schedule in the OSU Schedule of Classes).

Return of Title IV Funds Calculation and Withdrawal Record

OSU is required to calculate the Return of Title IV financial aid funds for students that officially or unofficially withdraw during the academic term. Students who do not intend to complete the term for which they are enrolled should follow the official withdrawal process as outlined by university regulations.

The Return of Title IV Funds calculation determines the amount of federal funds that must be returned by the institution as well as how much aid the student must return for the period of non-enrollment. For students who completed 60% or less of the term, a pro-rated schedule is used to determine the amount of aid that must to be returned. That means the percentage of aid that a student is eligible to retain for the term is based on the percentage of the term that they completed. If a return of aid amount is calculated, the funds must be repaid to the financial aid programs in the following order:

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Ford Loan
Federal Direct Ford Loans
Federal Perkins Loan
Federal Direct PLUS Loan
Federal Pell Loan
FSEOG

The amount of federal aid that you must repay is determined via the Federal Formula for Return of Title IV funds (Section 484B of the Higher Education Act). This law also specifies the order in which funds are to be returned to the financial aid programs from which they were awarded, starting with loan programs.

You may be required to make a repayment when cash has been disbursed from financial aid funds, in excess of the amount of aid that you earned (based on the date of your total withdrawal or last date of participation) during the term. The amount of Title IV aid earned is determined by multiplying the total Title IV aid (other than FWS) for which you qualified by the percentage of time during the term that you were enrolled.

If less aid was disbursed than was earned, you may submit a request to receive a late disbursement for the difference.

If more aid was disbursed than was earned, the amount of Title IV aid that you must return (i.e. not earned) is determined by subtracting the earned amount from the amount actually disbursed.

The responsibility for returning unearned Title IV aid is shared between the university and you. It is allocated according to the portion of disbursed aid that could have been used to cover university charges, and the portion that could have been disbursed directly to you once those charges were covered. OSU will distribute the unearned aid back to the Title IV programs, as specified by law. The return of funds will be completed within 45 days of the date the determination of the withdrawal. You will receive a letter by postal mail if the Return of Title IV Funds calculation was completed and a return of funds was required. If the Return of Title IV Funds calculation was not required but funds needed to be returned for other reasons, you will be notified through your OSU student (onid) email.

You will be billed for the amount that you owe to the Title IV programs, as well as any amount due to the university, as a result of Title IV funds that were returned that would have been used to cover university charges.

Withdrawing (official or unofficially) from a term may also impact a student’s eligibility for financial aid in future terms. Students should familiarize themselves with the Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements for federal aid and should contact the Office of Financial Aid regarding how federal and other types of aid may be impacted.

Additional Rules for Short Sessions (Courses in Modules)

OSU has multiple short sessions that do not span the entire length of our usual 11 week term (mostly during summer). These shorter sessions are considered “modules” for federal financial aid purposes and these modules have unique rules that may impact federal aid eligibility.

A student may be considered withdrawn if they do not complete all days in the payment period they were scheduled to complete. For a student enrolled in sessions not spanning a full 11 week term, the payment period they are expected to complete is made up of the combined calendars for all sessions that they were paid aid on.

If a student drops courses in a future session while they are enrolled in a current session, they are not considered withdrawn from the term. An aid adjustment may be required for those drops but a Return of Title IV calculation would not be required.

A student who drops, withdraws from, or does not complete their current sessions, will be considered withdrawn from the term even if they are still enrolled in a future session. Students must monitor their student email for the Summer Survey request. Students will be required to submit that survey in order to verify their intent to participate in those future sessions. If this intent to participate survey is not received, a Return of...
Title IV Calculation must be done even if the student has successfully completed other coursework for the term and is enrolled in future sessions.

For courses in modules, the calendar used in the Return of Title IV funds calculation includes all days within the period that the student was scheduled to complete (including those completed by the student) prior to ceasing attendance. For example, a student enrolls in 2 summer sessions (session 2 spans 6/25-7/20 and session 5 spans 8/20-9/7). If they drop session 5 (a session that has not yet started) before they withdraw from session 2, we calculate using only the session 2 calendar. If they were still enrolled in session 5 when they withdraw from session 2, we calculate on both calendars combined. Calculating on the combined calendars may reduce the completion percentage which may increase the amount of funds that needs to be returned.

Below are 3 examples of how drops, withdrawals, and non-completion can impact aid in modules:

EX 1. Mary enrolls in 2 summer sessions (session 2 spans 6/25-7/20 and session 5 spans 8/20-9/7). She withdraws from session 2 on 6/1 and remains enrolled in session 5. In this case Mary will be considered withdrawn from the term if she does not complete the summer survey to confirm her intent to attend session 5. As long as Mary submits that survey and successfully completes session 5, a Return of Title IV calculation is not required.

EX 2. Joe enrolls in 2 summer sessions (session 2 spans 6/25-7/20 and session 5 spans 8/20-9/7). He receives a B grade in his session 2 course but, after that course had ended, decides he no longer wants to take the course in session 5. Joe had been paid federal aid with the expectation that he would complete the entire payment period that spanned both sessions. Because he decided not to complete session 5 after session 2 had ended, a Return of Title IV calculation is required and he may end up owing aid money back for the term.

EX 3. Barry enrolls in 2 summer sessions (session 2 spans 6/25-7/20 and session 5 spans 8/20-9/7). While enrolled his session 2 course he decides he no longer wants to take the course in session 5 and drops that course. Barry had been paid federal aid with the expectation that he would complete the entire payment period that spanned both sessions. Because he dropped his session 5 course while he was still attending session 2, a Return of Title IV Calculation is not required but his Pell Grant is still reduced for the session 5 course he never attended.

Withdrawals and the Degree Partnership Program

In cases of unofficial withdrawal an instructor reported last date of participation may be required to determine a student’s aid eligibility. The OSU Office of Financial Aid is not able to contact partner school instructors directly to obtain this information. After a term has ended DPP students may be contacted with instructions on how to complete this participation verification process. Due to the time sensitive nature of this process, it is very important for DPP students to check their OSU Student (ONID) email regularly to look for these financial aid notifications. Failure to verify participation may result in the reduction or full loss of financial aid eligibility for the term.

Student Responsibilities

Reporting Changes

Your financial aid is based on the information submitted to our office for the current academic year in which you requested aid. To keep your file current and accurate, you are required to report the changes to the OSU Office of Financial Aid. You should expect a revision of your award in most cases. Reasons for changes can include but are not limited to:

- Additional financial assistance: scholarships, grants, loans, fee waivers, Tribal Assistance, tuition/book support, social security benefits or any other monetary award not reported previously.
- Receipt of graduate teaching or research assistantship, and/or fellowship.
- Receipt of resident advisor position.
- Changes in enrollment hours and/or withdrawal from the university.
- Changes in residency status for tuition purposes.
- Change in course load if below full time.

Entrance and Exit Interview

All Federal Direct Ford loan recipients are required to complete an entrance interview prior to receiving the first disbursement of their loan proceeds. They are also required to complete an exit interview during their last term of attendance. (For further information, visit www.studentloans.gov (http://studentloans.gov/myDirectLoan/index.action)).

Appeals

Students who are not satisfied with a decision of a financial aid staff member may appeal that decision, in writing, and then in person to the following staff in the order indicated: the director of Financial Aid, and then the Financial Aid Appeals Subcommittee. The decision of the director and/or Financial Aid Appeals Subcommittee will be considered final.

Student Enrollment Levels

Federal financial aid eligibility and deferment of student loans are affected by enrollment levels. Summer enrollment levels are the same as other terms.

Undergraduate

Full Time: 12 or more credits in a term
Three Quarter Time: 9 to 11 credits in a term
Half Time: 6 to 8 credits in a term

Graduate

Full Time: 9 or more credits in a term
Half Time: 5 to 8 credits in a term

Scholarship Management System (SMS)

In an effort to maximize student access to OSU scholarship opportunities, we have a searchable database that consolidates all available departmental scholarships into a centralized location. Each department administers and awards their own scholarships based on established criteria. The Scholarship Management System consists of a searchable database and an application for scholarships available to continuing OSU students. In the database, click on the name of the scholarship for specific criteria and which department oversees that award. Visit a department’s website for more details on their specific scholarship awarding process. For further information about the Scholarship Management System, please email the Scholarship Office at scholarship.office@oregonstate.edu.

Oregon State University provides diverse educational opportunities through the undergraduate and graduate programs of its 13 colleges. Academic choices include studies in scientific, technological, interdisciplinary and professional as well as liberal arts fields. A land grant, sea grant, space grant and sun grant university with beginnings in the 1850s, OSU is now home to more than 30,000 undergraduate, graduate and first professional students, representing more than 100 countries, every state in the nation and every county in Oregon.

In addition to its regular educational programs, the university is responsible for Oregon’s land grant mission of research, education and outreach. The OSU Extension Service delivers educational programs in all of Oregon’s 36 counties, reaching out to communities with programs as diverse as Master Gardeners, 4-H, and community leadership. Working in collaboration with Extension Service faculty, the researchers in Oregon’s Agricultural Experiment Station conduct scientific, social and economic research at 11 branch stations at 15 locations across the state, including one of the nation’s only urban experiment stations, the Food Innovation Center in Portland.

Oregon State University Ecampus provides learners with access to an OSU education no matter where they live. Ecampus offers accredited courses and degree programs online, with hybrid and continuing education classes offered at various sites throughout the state. There are currently more than 20 undergraduate degree programs, more than 20 undergraduate minors and nearly 30 graduate programs available online. The Ecampus website is ecampus.oregonstate.edu.

In addition to these extended campus opportunities, OSU has established a dual-enrollment Degree Partnership Program (DPP) with all 17 Oregon community colleges and several others in Hawaii. The DPP allows students to take classes at both institutions simultaneously. Students complete just one application, pay one application fee and have the freedom to select courses from either institution’s schedule of classes. The DPP website is oregonstate.edu/partnerships.

OSU’s educational partners include all Oregon community colleges, Eastern Oregon University, the Oregon Center for Advanced Technology Education, Oregon Health & Science University, Portland State University, Southern Oregon University, University of Idaho, University of Oregon and Washington State University.

OSU-Cascades in Bend, Oregon — the first branch campus in the state — began offering undergraduate and graduate degree programs in 2001 in partnership with Central Oregon Community College. Students earn an Oregon State University degree in their choice of 18 undergraduate majors, 12 minors and three graduate programs. In 2015, OSU-Cascades will become a full four-year branch campus and will begin enrolling freshmen and sophomores. The OSU-Cascades website is osucascades.edu (http://osucascades.edu).

History of OSU

Founded in 1858 as a small, private academy called Corvallis College, Oregon State University has developed into an internationally recognized public research university.

College-level courses were introduced into the curriculum about 1865, and two men and one woman fulfilled the requirements for baccalaureate degrees in 1870, becoming the first graduates of a state-assisted college in the western United States.

Signed into law by President Abraham Lincoln on July 2, 1862, the Morrill Act provided grants of land to be used by states for the sole purpose of endowing, supporting and maintaining public colleges. The Oregon Legislative Assembly designated Corvallis College as the state’s land grant institution on October 27, 1868. This was the first state support for higher education in Oregon. Permanent adoption as the state’s agricultural college came in 1870.

For many years, the institution was known as Oregon Agricultural College. The name was changed to Oregon State College in 1953 and to Oregon State University in 1961.

Following the designation of the college as a land grant institution, agriculture was added to the existing arts and science curriculum in 1869. The curriculum continued to expand, with professorships in commerce (1880), agriculture (1883), household economy (1889) and engineering (1889) resulting in the establishment in 1908 of the professional schools of commerce, agriculture, engineering and mechanic arts and domestic science and arts. The first summer session was also held in 1908.

Curricular growth continued with the schools of forestry (1913), mines (1913), pharmacy (1917), education (1918), basic arts and sciences (1922) and health and physical education (1931).

In 1932, the Oregon State Board of Higher Education established the School of Science for the state system at Corvallis, eliminated the School of Mines, and reduced the School of Health and Physical Education to a division. Major work in business administration was discontinued but was reinstated when the College of Business was established (first as a division) in 1943. The College of Liberal Arts was established (as the School of Humanities and Social Sciences) in 1959. The Department of Oceanography was established in 1959, became the School of Oceanography in 1972 and the College of Oceanography in 1983. In 1992, the Department of Atmospheric Sciences in the College of Science was merged with the College of Oceanography and renamed the following year as the College of Oceanic and Atmospheric Sciences. In 2011, the Department of Geosciences in the College of Science was merged with COAS, and the college renamed the College of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences. The College of Health and Physical Education (now the College of Public Health and Human Sciences) was reinstated (as a school) in 1974, and the College of Veterinary Medicine was established (as a school) the following year. In 1983, all schools of the university, except the School of Education, were re-designated as colleges. In 1989, the School of Education became a college. In 1991, the College of Education merged with the College of Home Economics, and within the College of Home Economics and Education, was renamed the School of Education. In 1999, the University Honors College was established. In 2002, the College of Health and Human Performance and the College of Home Economics and Education were merged into the College of Health and Human Sciences. As part of this restructuring, the new School of Education became an independent academic unit. In 2005, the School of Education was renamed the College of Education. The College of Health and Human Sciences was renamed the College of Public Health and Human Sciences in 2011.

Following the approval of legislation adopted by the 2013 Oregon Legislature, Oregon State University made the decision to have its own institutional board of trustees. That board was appointed by Oregon Governor John Kitzhaber in the fall of 2013 and assumed all of its official duties on July 1, 2014.

Presidents of the institution since its founding:

- William A. Finley, 1865–72;
- Benjamin L. Arnold, 1872–92;
- John M. Bloss, 1892–96;
- Henry B. Miller, 1896–97;
- Thomas M. Gatch, 1897–1907;
- William Jasper Kerr, 1907–32;
- George Wilcox Peavy, 1934–40;
- Frank Llewellyn Ballard, 1940–41;
- August Leroy Strand, 1942–61;
- James Herbert Jensen, 1961–69;
- Robert William MacVicar, 1970–84;
- John V. Byrne, 1984–95;
- Paul G. Risser, 1996–2002;

Acting presidents of the institution since its founding:

- Joseph Emery, 1872
- John D. Letcher, 1892
- George Wilcox Peavy, 1932–34
- Francois Archibald Gilfillan, 1941–42
- Roy Alton Young, 1969–70
- Timothy P. White, 2003

Organization of the University

The president is the chief executive officer of the university and is appointed by the Oregon State Board of Trustees. Subject to the Board, the president is responsible for the overall leadership and direction of the university. The provost and executive vice president is the chief academic and operating officer and is responsible for the daily operations of the university.

In November 2009, four new divisions were created as part of OSU's Strategic Alignment and Budget Reduction Implementation Plan: the Division of Arts and Sciences, Division of Business and Engineering, Division of Earth Systems Science, and the Division of Health Sciences.

The academic programs of Oregon State University are divided among 11 colleges, the Graduate School, and the University Honors College, each with a dean responsible for all faculty, staff, students, and academic programs.

The 11 colleges are the College of Agricultural Sciences; College of Business; College of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences; College of Education; College of Engineering; College of Forestry; College of Public Health and Human Sciences; College of Liberal Arts; College of Pharmacy; College of Science; and the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Colleges are divided into departments or schools administered by a department head, chair, or director. Each department may offer several programs of study leading to degrees, certificates, options, or minors requiring a specific group of courses for completion.

Some courses and programs described in the OSU General Catalog are offered throughout the year online and at a distance by OSU Ecampus. A list of online and distance education courses and programs are available on the Web at http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu.

OSU Extended Campus also is home to OSU Summer Session, which serves more than 10,000 students annually on the Corvallis campus, online and at the OSU Hatfield Marine Science Center on the Oregon coast. Summer session courses are published annually in the OSU Summer Session Planning Guide and listed in the online schedule of classes. The OSU Summer Session website is http://summer.oregonstate.edu.

This OSU General Catalog lists requirements for each program, as well as all regular courses offered by Oregon State University. A number of special temporary or 'X' courses are also offered each year and are listed in the online Schedule of Classes at https://catalog.oregonstate.edu/course-search/.

The Graduate School (p. 39) section of this catalog offers a summary of graduate programs and general regulations.

Programs and courses offered by OSU-Cascades on the Central Oregon Community College campus in Bend, Oregon, are available on the Web at http://osucascades.edu/.

OSU Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees of Oregon State University governs Oregon’s only university with a statewide presence and helps guide OSU’s mission to serve the state and the needs of its citizens in a growing global economy.

The board harnesses the talent and energy of education, civic and business leaders to help guide OSU’s future as a leader and innovator in excellence in teaching, discovery and service as an internationally recognized public research university. The first 14 members of the board were confirmed by the Oregon Senate in November 2013. OSU President Ed Ray is also a trustee (ex officio and non-voting), for a total of 15 members.

The following list contains the members of the Oregon State University Board of Trustees, as of January 1, 2017:

- Edward Ray, president, Oregon State University, Ex Officio
- Patricia Reser, chairman of the board, Reser’s Fine Foods, Inc., Beaverton
- Kirk Schueler, chief executive officer and president, Brooks Resources Corporation, Bend
- Michael Thorne, wheat farmer, Pendleton

Equal Opportunity

Oregon State University, in compliance with state and federal laws and regulations, does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status in any of its policies, procedures, or practices. This nondiscrimination policy covers admission and access to, and treatment and employment in, university programs and activities, including but not limited to academic admissions, financial aid, educational services, and employment. Inquiries regarding the university’s equal opportunity policies may be directed to the Equal Opportunity and Access, 541-737-3556 or visit http://eoa.oregonstate.edu/.

Equal Opportunity
ACCREDITATION

Oregon State University is accredited by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (NWCCU). The university is authorized to offer baccalaureate, master's, doctorate, and first professional degrees, as well as undergraduate-, postbaccalaureate-, and graduate-level certificates. The NWCCU reaffirmed the accreditation of Oregon State University in Spring 2011. The next comprehensive NWCCU evaluation is scheduled for April 15 - 17, 2019.

In the College of Agricultural Sciences, the Rangeland Sciences program is accredited by the Society for Range Management (SRM). The Department of Food Science and Technology's undergraduate curricula are approved by the Higher Education Review Board (HERB) of the Institute of Food Technologists (IFT). The Agricultural Education major is accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC).

In the College of Business, the Business Administration programs (undergraduate and graduate) are accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB—International).

The College of Education programs are accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC) for the preparation of elementary and secondary teachers. The graduate programs in Counseling are accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP).

In the College of Engineering, the Bachelor of Science degrees in Bioengineering, Chemical, Civil, Ecological, Electrical and Computer, Energy Systems, Environmental, Industrial, Manufacturing, Mechanical, and Nuclear Engineering baccalaureate programs are accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET, Inc. The Construction Engineering Management program is accredited by the American Council for Construction Education (ACCE). The Bachelor of Science degree in Computer Science-Computer Systems Option is accredited by the Computing Accreditation Commission of ABET, Inc. The Bachelor of Science degree in Radiation Health Physics is accredited by the Applied Science Accreditation Commission of ABET, Inc.

In the College of Forestry, BS degrees in Forestry, Forest Engineering, and Forest Engineering-Civil Engineering are accredited by the Society of American Foresters (SAF). In addition, the BS degree in Forest Engineering and the BS double degree in Forest Engineering-Civil Engineering are accredited by the Engineering Commission of ABET. The BS degree in Renewable Materials is accredited by the Society of Wood Science and Technology (SWST).

In the College of Liberal Arts, the Music Education Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) degree program in the School of Arts and Communication is accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and by the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC); in the School of Public Policy the Master of Public Policy (MPP) is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration (NASPAA).

The College of Pharmacy's PharmD program is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE). The College also offers PGY1 and PGY2 community pharmacy residency programs. The PGY1 program is jointly accredited by the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists (ASHP) and the American Pharmacists Association (APhA). The PGY2 programs are accredited by the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists (ASHP).

The College of Public Health and Human Sciences received accreditation in June 2014 by the Council on Education for Public Health (CEPH). The Athletic Training major is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE). The Dietetic option in the Nutrition major is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics (ACEND) of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, as is the transcript-visible post-baccalaureate Dietetic Internship. The graduate Physical Education Teacher Education licensure program is accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC). The Health Management and Policy undergraduate program is certified by the Association of University Programs in Health Administration (AUPHA). In Human Development and Family Sciences, the OSU Child Development Center in Bates Hall is accredited with the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC). HDFS participates in a double degree program in Early Childhood/Elementary Education that is accredited through the College of Education's teacher education programs. The Double Degree pathway includes all the course work and field experiences necessary to qualify for an Oregon Initial Teaching License granted by the Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC).

In the College of Science, the Bachelor of Science in Chemistry Track One is approved by the American Chemical Society (ACS) and has two options: advanced biochemistry and advanced chemistry. Also, the Bachelor of Science in Biochemistry and Biophysics, and the Bachelor of Science in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology are both accredited by the American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology (ASMBMB).

The Carlson College of Veterinary Medicine’s DVM program is accredited by the American Veterinary Medical Association, Council on Education (COE). In addition to the DVM degree, the Oregon Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory is accredited by the American Association of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians, and the Small Animal Teaching Hospital is accredited by the American Animal Hospital Association.

Student Health Services is accredited by the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care (AAAHC) and is a member of the American College Health Association (ACHA). The Student Health Services Laboratory is accredited by the Commission on Office Laboratory Accreditation (COLA).

The university’s Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) office is accredited by the International Association of Counseling Services, Inc. (IACS), and the pre-doctoral training program at CAPS is accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA).

The Oregon State University Institutional Animal Care and Use Program is fully accredited by AAALAC International. OSU's participation in the rigorous AAALAC International accreditation process demonstrates a campus-wide commitment to humane and responsible animal use in research, instruction, production and testing and a dedication to excellent science. This institutional accreditation encompasses the entire campus animal research enterprise and all OSU sites where university-owned animals are housed or maintained. All colleges and research programs are included, with the largest programs being in Agricultural Sciences, Pharmacy, Public Health and Human Sciences, Science, the Carlson College of Veterinary Medicine, the Eastern Oregon Agricultural Research Centers, the Hatfield Marine Science Center, the Oregon Hatchery Research Center, and the Laboratory Animal Resources Center (LARC).
The Academic English and General English programs at INTO OSU are accredited by the Commission on English Language Program Accreditation (CEA). INTO OSU agrees to uphold the CEA Standards for English Language Programs and Institutions. CEA is recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education as a national accrediting agency.

For further information about OSU's accredited programs, visit https://leadership.oregonstate.edu/provost/university-accreditation.
The following terms are used throughout the catalog and Registration Information Handbook.

Academic Probation: Students who have completed two or more terms at OSU and have an OSU cumulative GPA below 2.0 will be placed on probation. Students who attain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better are removed from academic probation.

Academic Suspension: Students who are on probation and have a subsequent term GPA of less that 2.0 will be placed on suspension. A student who has been suspended from OSU is prohibited from enrolling in classes, and must fulfill specified criteria before being re-admitted to the university (see Academic Regulation 22 (p. 16). Academic suspension is recorded on the student’s academic record.

Academic Warning: Students with a term GPA below 2.0 will be placed on academic warning.

Academic Year: The time period containing the academic terms fall, winter, and spring (currently September through June). When summer term is considered as part of an academic year, or when it is considered as part of the Banner Student Information Systems (SIS), summer term is the first term of the academic year.

Add/Drop: Students may add or drop classes in accordance with the dates outlined on the Academic Calendar (https://registrar.oregonstate.edu/osu-academic-calendar).

Advanced Placement: Advanced placement and/or credit may be granted to an entering student who has satisfactorily completed College Board Advanced Placement Examinations taken during high school.

Advanced Standing Report: A summary of courses and credits completed by a student at one postsecondary institution and accepted by another institution at the time of admission. The advanced standing report is used to determine the number of required and elective credits needed to complete degree requirements.

Advisor: A faculty member appointed by a program, department, school, or college to advise students during their college experience.

Baccalaureate Core: The university’s general education requirements consisting of skills courses; perspectives courses; difference, power and discrimination courses; synthesis courses; and writing intensive courses. A baccalaureate core course is designated with an asterisk, *, a writing intensive course with a caret, ^. See Earning a Degree at Oregon State University (p. 1743) in this catalog.

Baccalaureate Degree: An approved academic award given for the satisfactory completion of an instructional program requiring at least four but not more than five years of full-time equivalent college-level academic work that includes the following:

1. institutional general education requirements (i.e., baccalaureate core);
2. major area of study requirements; and
3. may include option, minor, supporting area, or elective requirements.

A minimum of 180 credits is required for most degree programs. Some majors may require more. The conditions and conferral of the award are governed by the faculty and ratified by the Oregon State Board of Higher Education.

BA Degree: The Bachelor of Arts degree is conferred for broad and liberal education in humanities, arts, social sciences, and sciences. College BA requirements provide:

1. a breadth of preparation in these fields that is significantly greater than that required of all undergraduates through the baccalaureate core; and
2. foreign language proficiency certified by the School of Language, Culture, and Society as equivalent to that attained at the end of the second year course in the language.

Proficiency in American Sign Language equivalent to that attained at end of the second year also meets the BA language requirement.

BFA Degree: The bachelor of fine arts is a professional degree requiring a minimum of 105 credits in the visual arts.

BS Degree: The Bachelor of Science degree is conferred for focused curricula that emphasize scientific ways of knowing and quantitative approaches to understanding in the sciences and social sciences, and for curricula in professional fields.

Blanket-numbered Courses: Reserved number courses such as 401/501/601. See Reserved numbered courses.

Certificate Program (undergraduate): A specified interdisciplinary program of study leading to an official certificate and notation on the transcript. A certificate program draws courses from more than one department, rather than a single department (as with most minors). An undergraduate certificate program must be taken in conjunction with a formal degree program. An undergraduate certificate requires a minimum of 27 credits.

Certificate Program (postbaccalaureate): A specified program of study of undergraduate courses leading to an official certificate and notation on the transcript. A completed baccalaureate degree program from an accredited institution is required. A postbaccalaureate certificate program requires a minimum of 27 credits.

Certificate Program (graduate): A structured progression of graduate-level courses that constitute a coherent body of study with a specifically defined focus within a single discipline or a logical combination of disciplines. It is designed for students who have completed a baccalaureate degree and are in pursuit of advanced-level learning. A graduate certificate requires a minimum of 18 graduate credits.

Certificate Program (professional): A site-based training and professional development certificate that is not transcript visible.

College: A subdivision of the university offering degree programs within a specific subject area. For example, the College of Forestry offers degree programs in forest engineering, forest resources, forest science, and wood science and technology.

Commencement: A term used to refer to the graduation ceremony held in June.

Corequisite: A course that must be taken concurrently with another course.

Course: An organized unit of instruction or research. Types include lectures, recitations, seminars, laboratories, discussions, internships, clerkships, reading and conference, independent study, and other categories of courses.

Course Designator (subject code): An abbreviation representing the department, college, or program offering the course. Example: MB indicates that the course is offered through the Department of Microbiology.

Course Reference Number (CRN): A five-digit number used to select a specific course, lab, and/or recitation.

CRED (Credential): A student who has received a previous baccalaureate degree from either OSU or another accredited university or college may be granted a subsequent minor, certificate, major, or option under the guidelines of Academic Regulation 27 (p. 16). It indicates the student is not seeking a degree, but rather a credential to accompany an existing degree.

Credit: Credits vary, depending upon the type of course and level at which it is offered. One credit is generally given for three hours per week of work in and out of class. For example, each hour of class lecture is generally expected to require two hours of work out of class. One credit would be given for a lecture course that met for one 50-minute period each week over a 10-week period; i.e., 10 contact hours between faculty and students. One credit is typically given for a laboratory course that meets for two to three hours per week for an entire term. Equivalent credits are given for recitations, discussions, and other types of courses. All credits given in the Academic Catalog refer to quarter credits. When transferring in course work from a semester system institution, multiply the number of credits by 1.5 to determine how many quarter credits will be transferred (3 semester hours x 1.5 = 4.5 quarter credits). If planning to transfer OSU credits out to a semester system institution, multiply the number of quarter credits by .67 to determine how many credits will transfer (4 quarter credits x .67 = 2.68 semester credits).

Curriculum: (plural curricula) An organized program of study and courses required for a specific degree or certificate program.

Degree: An academic award granted upon satisfactory completion of a set of collegiate-level educational requirements.

Discipline: A field of study in which a student may concentrate, such as sociology, anthropology, or mathematics.

Doctoral Degree: An approved academic award given as a sign of proficiency in scholarship and for the satisfactory completion of an instructional program requiring at least three years of full-time equivalent academic work beyond the baccalaureate degree, the completion of which signifies recognized competence, original research and/or the capacity to do independent advanced graduate-level analysis. A minimum of 108 credits is required beyond the baccalaureate degree. [Note: The total number, above the minimum, will vary by degree program.] The conditions and conferral of the award are governed by the faculty and ratified by the Oregon State Board of Higher Education.

Double Degrees: A student may earn multiple, different degrees simultaneously. Additional degrees may also be earned after your first degree was awarded. The degrees may be offered by the same college, or by different colleges. To earn a double degree, or for each additional degree, a student must complete a minimum of 32 credits above the minimum number of credits needed for one of the degrees. Each degree application is reviewed by the appropriate academic advisor. Advisors complete a separate graduation audit for each of the degrees.

On the student’s academic record, each degree awarded will be recorded as a separate degree with its major, e.g., Bachelor of Science in Mathematics, Bachelor of Arts in English. The student will also receive a separate diploma for each degree awarded (See Academic Regulation 26 (p. 16)).

Some double-degree programs — Education (BA, BS, HBA, HBS), Innovation Management (BA, BS, HBA, HBS), Sustainability (BS, HBS), International Studies (BA, HBA) — require that a primary degree be completed in order for the secondary degree to be awarded. When multiple degrees are not dependent on one another, one of the degrees may be awarded even though requirements for the other degree have not yet met. The double degree may be earned concurrently or subsequently. (See Academic Regulation 26 (p. 16).)

Dual (or Multiple) Majors from Same College: A student may earn two or more majors within a single degree program (a particular combination of degree, college, and campus, e.g., BA degree from the College of Liberal Arts on the Corvallis campus). It is sometimes possible to complete two or more majors within the minimum number of credits required for a degree, but usually the student must complete additional credits to complete requirements for all of their majors. For this reason, dual (or multiple) majors are obtained within the same college. The advisor must complete one graduation audit that includes all of the majors. The student’s academic record will list one degree with two or more majors, e.g., Bachelor of Science in Mathematics and Chemistry. The student receives one diploma. Dual (or multiple) majors may be obtained concurrently with the completion of the degree, or in some cases may be earned as a credential subsequent to completion of the degree. (See Academic Regulation 27 (p. 16).) Note: Occasionally, with careful planning, a student can complete two majors from separate colleges in less than the 212 credits required for two degrees. When this occurs a student can petition for an exception, and graduate with two majors from separate colleges. The student must pick one college as their home college and all majors will be associated with the home college. The student must have the support of advisors from both major programs to have their petition considered.

Electives: Courses students may select, either for general knowledge or for fulfilling specific degree requirements. They are generally chosen and used by students to supplement or enrich the required curriculum.

Endorsement: An endorsement is the subject matter (content area) or specialty in which an individual is licensed to teach. Endorsements can be part of an initial teaching license or can be added later.

First Professional Degree: An academic award granted for an instructional program the completion of which: (1) signifies completion of the academic requirements to begin practice in the profession; (2) requires at least two years of full-time equivalent college-level work prior to entrance; and (3) usually requires a total of at least five years of full-time equivalent academic work to complete the degree program, including prior required college-level work plus the length of the professional program itself (examples, DVM in veterinary medicine and PharmD in pharmacy). The conditions and conferral of the award are governed by the faculty and ratified by the state of Oregon Higher Education Coordinating Commission.

Freshman: A student who has completed 44 of fewer term credits toward an undergraduate degree.
Grade-point Average (GPA): Total number of grade points received for A, A–, B+, B, B–, C+, C, C–, D+, D, D– or F grades divided by total number of credits attempted. OSU uses a 4-point grade scale.

Grade Points: Quality points assigned for one term credit of each grade: A = 4.0; A– = 3.7; B+ = 3.3; B = 3.0; B– = 2.7; C+ = 2.3; C = 2.0; C– = 1.7; D+ = 1.3; D = 1; D– = .7; F = 0.0. Grades of I, P, N, S, U and W are not computed.

Graduation Audit: An evaluation of a student's academic record to determine if the graduation requirements set forth by the university, college, and major department have been fulfilled.

Graduate Area of Concentration: A graduate area of concentration is a subdivision of a major or minor in which a strong graduate program is available. Areas of concentration may be referenced on the student's program of study, but they are not listed on the student's transcript. "Areas of concentration" can only be used in association with graduate programs.

Graduate Major: A graduate major is the area of academic specialization, approved by the State Board of Higher Education, in which the student chooses to qualify for a graduate degree. Upon completion of a graduate degree, the degree awarded and the graduate major are listed on the student's transcript.

Graduate Option: Options are for students of a specific major. An option is one of several distinct variants of course aggregations within a major that focus on an area of study designed to provide a student with specialized knowledge, competence, and skills while sharing a minimum core of courses.

A graduate option consists of a minimum of 12 designated quarter credits of related course work (excluding thesis credits), comprised of course work offered by the sponsoring unit as well as by other academic units. The option may be comprised of specific courses, completion of a designated number of credits from a longer list of alternative courses, or a combination of specific and alternative course lists. Approved options may be added to a graduate program of study, and approved by the faculty advisor(s) and the director of the sponsoring unit. On the program of study, there should be no overlap in course credits between options (the same course cannot be used to satisfy credit requirements in multiple options). When the unit submits the final examination card to validate awarding of the major to the Graduate School, the unit will also validate that the requirements of the option have been completed.

Hybrid Course: A hybrid course includes both regularly scheduled on-site classroom meetings and significant online, out-of-classroom components that replace regularly scheduled class meeting time. A substantial portion of the course learning activities are delivered online; face-to-face meeting time is generally reduced by approximately 50% compared to a traditional on-campus course. For further information, visit http://ctl.oregonstate.edu/hybrid-learning/osu-hybrid-faqs.

Interdisciplinary: A course or program that integrates concepts, knowledge, or faculty from several fields of study.

Junior: A student who has completed at least 90 but not more than 134 term credits toward an undergraduate degree.

Lower-division Courses: Course offerings at a level of preparation usually associated with freshmen and sophomore students (e.g., 100- and 200-level courses).

Major (graduate): See Graduate major above.

Major (undergraduate): An extensive program of study in a designated subject area.

Master's Degree: An approved academic award given as a mark of proficiency in scholarship and for the satisfactory completion of an instructional program requiring at least one but not more than two years of full-time equivalent academic work beyond the baccalaureate degree. A minimum of 45 credits is required beyond the baccalaureate degree.

Minor (undergraduate): A graduate minor is an academic area that clearly supports the major. Master's program minors must include a minimum of 15 quarter credits of graduate course work; doctoral minors require a minimum of 18 credits. On a master's or doctoral program, a minor may be:

1. an academic area available only as a minor,
2. a different major,
3. the same major with a different area of concentration, or
4. an integrated minor.

An integrated minor consists of a series of cognate courses from two or more areas. These courses must be outside the major area of concentration, with most of the courses being outside the major department. The graduate faculty member representing the integrated minor must be from outside the major department. Graduate minors are listed on the student's transcript.

Minor (graduate): A secondary field of specialized study that may be offered by an academic unit for its own majors and/or majors from other academic units. Minors require at least 27 credits, 12 of which must be at the upper-division level. An approved minor is placed on the student's transcript.

Option (undergraduate): Options are for students of a specific major. Options consist of at least 21 designated credits of course work, 15 of which must be at the upper-division level. If all requirements have been met, the option may be listed on a student's transcript.

Perspectives Courses: Baccalaureate core courses that integrate fundamental knowledge from science and liberal arts disciplines to develop cultural, historic, and scientific perspectives.

Postbaccalaureate Student: A student holding a baccalaureate degree who is admitted to work toward a second baccalaureate degree or teaching certificate is classified as a postbaccalaureate student (AR 4 (p. 16)).

Pre-professional Program: Curriculum generally offered at the freshman and sophomore levels. A pre-professional program is designed to ensure students have the aptitude, motivation, and discipline to successfully complete advanced course work as well as achieve the standards for a chosen career field.

Prerequisites: Requirements that must be completed before enrollment in a particular course. The instructor may waive a prerequisite.
Professional Program: Curriculum generally offered at the junior and senior level, designed to prepare students for a professional career within a specific field (e.g., engineering, pharmacy). Admission to professional programs, often based on prior course work and/or work experience, is competitive.

Program: Academic studies that comprise the core, required and elective courses that lead to a degree or qualification. At OSU, this includes majors, minors, options and certificates.

Reading and Conference: A course focused on reading assignments to be completed in conferences with the instructor.

Reserved Numbered Courses: Certain blocks of numbers that have been assigned for specific courses that may be taken for more than one term. The credits being granted vary according to the amount of work done.

- 100–110 and 200–210: Survey or foundation courses in the liberal arts and sciences
- 401/501/601: Research and Scholarship
- 402/502/602: Independent Study
- 403/503/603: Thesis/Dissertation
- 404/504/604: Writing and Conference
- 405/505/605: Reading and Conference
- 406/506/606: Special Problems/Special Projects
- 407/507/607: Seminar
- 408/508/608: Workshop
- 409/509/609: Practicum/Clinical Experience
- 410/510/610: Internship/Work Experience

Senior: A student who has completed 135 or more term credits toward an undergraduate degree.

Sequence: Two, three, or four closely related courses that are usually taken in numerical order and through more than one term.

Skills Courses: Baccalaureate core courses designed to give the student fundamental mathematical, communication, and fitness competence.

Sophomore: A student who has completed at least 45 but not more than 89 term credits toward an undergraduate degree.

Special Topics Courses (X99): Like reserved numbered courses, special topics courses may be repeated as specified by the academic unit responsible for the course offering. It is implied that the course content is different each time the student takes the course. In the schedule of classes, section titles are listed as "ST/" followed by the topic covered in the section.

Student Enrollment Levels: The levels below establish enrollment levels for federal financial aid eligibility and the deferment of student loans. Summer enrollment levels are the same as other terms.

- Full Time: 12 or more credits in a term
- Three Quarter Time: 9 to 11 credits in a term
- Half Time: 6 to 8 credits in a term

Syllabus: A list of course objectives, lecture topics, assigned reading, exams, etc., prepared and distributed by a professor at the beginning of the term.

Synthesis Courses: Baccalaureate core upper-division courses that emphasize interdisciplinary, critical thinking approaches to global, technological, and societal issues.
READING COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Reading a Course Description
The elements of a typical course description found under department/school headings in the colleges are illustrated by the microbiology course example below:

Science Course Example:
MB 479. FERMENTATION MICROBIOLOGY (3).
An introduction to industrial microbiology with a focus on the physiology of fermentation and use of microorganisms for the production of food ingredients, fermented foods, and beverages. FST students need to take BB 350 and MB students need to take BB 450 for their respective majors. CROSSLISTED as FST 479/FST 579. PREREQS: (BI 212 [C-] or BI 212H [C-]) and CH 331 [C-] and CH 332 [C-] and (BB 350 [D-] or BB 450 [D-]) and MB 302* [D-]

Course Designator (Subject Code): (MB) an abbreviation representing the department, college, or program offering the course. MB indicates that the course is offered through the Department of Microbiology.

Number: (479) indicates the level of the course. This is an upper-division, undergraduate course. 400-level courses are offered for undergraduate credit. Courses numbered at the 500- or 600-level may be taken for graduate credit. Courses numbered 500–599 are generally taken by master’s candidates and courses numbered 600–699 are taken by doctoral candidates. (See Course Numbering System below.)

Title: FERMENTATION MICROBIOLOGY

Credit: (3) the number of credits awarded for successful completion of the course.

Course description: A brief description of what will be taught in the course. "An introduction to industrial microbiology..."

CROSSLISTED: CROSSLISTED as FST 479/FST 579 means the same course is also offered through another department; course numbers, titles, credits, descriptions, and prerequisites are the same for both courses. Only the course designator (subject code) is different.

REQ: A requirement for that course, such as field trips.

PREREQUISITE: Prerequisites a student must have completed or be currently enrolled in before registering for the course. The registration system and/or instructor may not allow students to enroll for the course unless they have the prerequisite on their transcripts or are currently enrolled in the prerequisite. Students may be administratively dropped after registering for their courses if they have not met the prerequisites of a course. These courses are the background necessary for successful performance in the course.

MINIMUM PASSING GRADE: The grade appearing in brackets is the minimum grade required to pass the prerequisite successfully, e.g., [C-].

* (Asterisk): An asterisk after a prerequisite (MB 302*) indicates that it may be taken concurrently with the course described.

COREQS: A course that must be taken simultaneously with the course described.

This course is repeatable: Some courses may be taken again for additional credit that applies toward the student’s academic program.

Liberal Arts Course Example:
HST 202H. HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES (4). Provides an overview of the development of the U.S. from the pre-Columbian era to the present. Attention is given to economic, political, and social trends, as well as to international relations. Covers 1820 to 1920. HST 202H and HST 203H need not be taken in sequence. (H) (SS) (Bacc Core Course PREREQS: Honors College approval required.

Letter suffix: (HST 202H) "H" signifies an Honors College course. An "X" signifies an experimental course.

Liberal Arts Core: Students pursuing College of Liberal Arts majors are required to complete courses in certain study areas. Four abbreviations are used in the college to indicate courses that may be used to fulfill requirements in each of these areas:

- (FA) Fine Arts Core
- (H) Humanities Core
- (NC) Non-Western Core
- (SS) Social Studies Core

Additional Curricular Terms
See the Academic Programs website at http://oregonstate.edu/admin/aa/apaa/academic-programs/curriculum/curricular-policies-and-procedures.

Course Numbering System
State universities in Oregon follow this basic course numbering system:

0–99. Noncredit or credit courses of a remedial, terminal, or semiprofessional nature that are not applicable toward degree requirements.

100–299. Undergraduate, lower-division courses.

300–499. Undergraduate, upper-division courses.

500–599. Graduate courses offered primarily in support of a master’s degree but which are also available for doctoral-level credit. Undergraduates of superior scholastic achievement may be admitted on approval of the instructor and department head. An undergraduate student may apply to reserve these courses for later use on a graduate degree program.

600–699. Graduate courses offered principally in support of doctoral-level instructional programs but also available for master’s program credit.

700–799. Professional or technical courses that may be applied toward a professional degree (such as DVM or PharmD) but not toward other graduate degrees (such as PhD).

800–899. In-service courses aimed at practicing professionals in the discipline. These courses may not be applied to graduate or professional degree programs.
001NC–099NC. Non-credit courses offered through the INTO Oregon State University Intensive English program.

Commonly Numbered Courses. House Bill 2913 directed the Oregon University System (defunct since June 30, 2015) and Oregon community colleges to jointly develop, to the extent possible, a common course numbering system for lower-division transfer courses. The "Commonly Numbered Course List" represents a good faith effort to meet the requirements of the legislation. The list of courses is recommended for use by campuses' faculty and administration as they develop or revise academic programs to better facilitate students transferring from community colleges to public four-year institutions. OSU agreed to this list after review by all affected departments. The "Commonly Numbered Course List" includes course descriptions in addition to the course numbers and titles. Course numbers and title should follow the usage in the list. Descriptions may vary. The list is at: http://oregonstate.edu/admin/aa/apaa/academic-programs/curriculum/curricular-policies-and-procedures#76.

Equivalent Courses List

Some courses at OSU have equivalent versions with different subject prefixes or course numbers. Such courses are equivalent for degree clearance purposes, in other words, taking either version will meet the requirements for an academic program. Students may only take one of the versions for credit, not both.

Students will not earn credit for a course if they have previously taken its equivalent. Doing so is the same as repeating a course, see Academic Regulation 20 (p. 16), Repeated Courses.

Examples of equivalent courses include:

- Regular and Honors College versions of the same course.
- Crosslisted courses with the same title, course description, and course number (e.g., CS 372 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER NETWORKS and ECE 372 INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTER NETWORKS).
- Transfer courses treated as equivalent to OSU courses.
- Courses that have been replaced by a new subject code (e.g., NFM courses were replaced by NUTR courses).

Equivalent Courses List is in the Registrar’s Office website at http://registrar.oregonstate.edu/equivalent-courses.
When determining the graduation requirements for a given student:

- Students must meet all applicable degree requirements from the published catalog(s).
- The student's catalog year for institutional and baccalaureate core requirements is established by his or her first term of attendance (matriculation date) at Oregon State University as an admitted student.
- The student's catalog year for college/major/option/ minor requirements is based on the date of declaration of the major/option/ minor; consequently, a student's first (primary) major/option must be in the same catalog year. If a primary option is declared in a subsequent academic year, the primary option will be aligned with the catalog year of the primary major. If the primary option did not exist in the catalog year of the primary major, the primary major will roll forward to the catalog year of the primary option.
- Additionally, while the student's first major/option must be in the same catalog year, any additional declarations of majors/ options/minors will be determined by the declaration dates (and corresponding catalog years) established by the change of academic program process. A student, in collaboration with an advisor, can also choose to graduate under a subsequent (to their most recent major declaration date) catalog year within the same major/option.
- At the time of graduation, all students, including transfer students, must use a catalog that is not more than ten years old. Students may petition to the head advisor of their college for an extension of a catalog greater than ten years prior to their expected graduation term.
- Current policy requires a student to reapply after not enrolling at OSU for four consecutive terms (not including summer terms); the published catalog for the resulting readmission/matriculation date will become the catalog of record for graduation requirements. The Planned Educational Leave Program defined in AR 13.c beginning with 2011–2012 academic year, provides a mechanism for a student to sustain their original catalog of record during a planned absence.
- For Degree Partnership Program students, the first term the student is admitted to OSU will be the matriculation date and will determine the catalog year for institutional and baccalaureate core requirements. The catalog year for college/major/option/ minor requirements will be the same as all other OSU students.
- Every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of information in the OSU General Catalog. However, Oregon State University or the Oregon State Board of Higher Education may find it necessary from time to time to make changes in courses, curricula, or degree requirements. Students already admitted to a program in which such changes have been made will be reasonably accommodated, if possible, to ensure their normal progress toward a degree. A student may, however, still be required to conform to changes in courses, curricula, or degree requirements as deemed necessary by Oregon State University or the State Board of Higher Education.

Grading System

Grades

The grading system consists of:

- A = Exceptional, 4.0 grade points per credit.
- A– = 3.7 grade points per credit.
- B+ = 3.3 grade points per credit.
- B = Superior, 3.0 grade points per credit.
- B– = 2.7 grade points per credit.
- C+ = 2.3 grade points per credit.
- C = Average, 2.0 grade points per credit.
- C– = 1.7 grade points per credit.
- D+ = 1.3 grade points per credit.
- D = Inferior, 1.0 grade point per credit.
- D– = 0.7 grade point per credit.
- F = Failure, 0.0 grade point per credit.
- G = Reserved for Graduate Credit, no grade points.
- I = Incomplete, no grade points or credits.
- I/Alt Grade = Incomplete, no grade points or credits. If not resolved after 12 months or degree conferral, the “I” reverts to the alternate grade.
- N = No credit, no grade points or credits.
- NG = No basis for a grade, no credit or grade points.
- P = Pass, credit given, no grade points.
- R = Thesis in Progress, credit given, no grade points.
- S = Satisfactory, credit given, no grade points.
- TR = Accepted Transfer Credit.
- U = Unsatisfactory, no credit or grade points.
- W = Withdrawal (passing), no credit or grade points.
- WC = Complete withdrawal, no credit or grade points.
- AUD = Audit, no credit or grade points.
- WAU = Withdrawal from Audit, no credit or grade points.

When a requirement of a course has not been completed for reasons acceptable to the instructor and the rest of the academic work is passing, a report of I (incomplete) may be made and additional time granted. The I is only granted at the discretion of the instructor. The instructor must submit the grade the student will earn if the missing work is not completed. That alternate grade will become the default grade if the missing work is not completed. The instructor documents the deficiency and the deadline for completing the missing work. A record of the deficiency shall be kept on file in the unit or department office. The allotted time awarded shall not exceed one calendar year except by petition or the time of the degree conferral, whichever comes first. To remove the I grade, the student must complete the deficiency within the allotted time and the instructor will then submit the appropriate grade. If the student fails to complete the work within the allotted time, the Office of the Registrar will automatically change the I grade to the alternate grade submitted by the instructor at the time the I was given. The alternate grade will be included in the grade-point average. Under no circumstances shall a student who earns an A–F grade or an N or U grade have his or her grade changed retroactively to an I grade.

An instructor may move to correct a grade by filing a Change of Grade in the Registrar’s Office. Grade changes for students of a permanently separated instructor will be managed by the department chair of the course involved. Upon permanent separation from the University an instructor’s change of grade will not be accepted by the Office of the Registrar. The Office of the Registrar will routinely review grade changes.

Students may withdraw from a course. In such cases, a grade of W is assigned. A student who discontinues attendance in a course without official withdrawal receives a grade of F in the course. 1

A student may petition via the Office of the Registrar for an extension of the one calendar year deadline with the concurrence of the faculty. An approved petition will grant an extension of a single additional term, with a maximum of three total extensions being possible. An approved petition for an extension of time to remove an incomplete will be voided at the time of degree conferral.

Grade Points

Grade points are computed on the basis of 4 points for each credit of A grade, 3.70 for each credit of A– grade, 3.30 for each credit of B+ grade, 3.00 for each credit of B grade, 2.70 for each credit of B– grade, 2.30 for each credit of C+ grade, 2.00 for each credit of C grade, 1.70 for each credit of C– grade, 1.30 for each credit of D+ grade, 1.00 for each credit of D grade, .70 for each credit of D– grade, and 0 for each credit of F.

Marks of I/Alt, W, WC, P, N, NG, R, S, and U are disregarded in the computation of points. The grade-point average (GPA) is the quotient of total points divided by total credits; total credits are the number of term credits in which grades A, B, C, D, and F are received.

Academic Standing

Satisfactory Academic Standing (Undergraduate Students) (AR 22)

Oregon State University expects students to maintain satisfactory academic progress toward degree completion. At the conclusion of each term, grade-point averages are calculated and academic standings determined for students seeking a baccalaureate degree according to the criteria outlined below. Students whose standings evidence a lack of satisfactory progress will be warned of this condition and advised to seek help from their academic advisors. Any student who is not on Academic Warning, Academic Probation, or Academic Suspension is in good standing.

1. Academic Warning: Students with a term GPA below 2.0 will be placed on Academic Warning.

2. Academic Probation: Students who have attempted 1 24 or more credits at OSU and have an OSU cumulative GPA below 2.0 will be placed on Academic Probation. Students who attain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better are removed from Academic Probation.

3. Academic Suspension: Students who are on Academic Probation and have a subsequent term GPA below 2.0 will be placed on Academic Suspension. Academic Suspension is recorded on the student’s academic record. Students who are academically suspended are denied all the privileges of the institution and of all organizations in any way connected to it, including any university-recognized living group.

4. Reinstatement to the University: Suspended students will be considered for reinstatement to the university after two years or completion of a minimum of 24 quarter credits of transferable college-level work at an accredited college or university, with a GPA of 2.5 or above.

The Faculty Senate Academic Standing Committee (http:// senate.oregonstate.edu/academic-standing-committee) is responsible for enforcement of the above regulations on Satisfactory Academic Standing. Additionally, this committee has discretionary authority to grant exceptions and to develop guidelines for administering these regulations.

1 An attempt comprises a final grade in a course where the grade is: A, A–, B+, B, B–, C+, C, C–, D+, D, D–, F, S, U, P, NP; I/Alternate Grade (where the Alternate Grade is one of these grades), W.

Attendance

An instructor has the privilege of considering class participation in arriving at a student’s grade, but it is not intended that attendance in and of itself normally be a factor in measuring a student’s academic accomplishment in a course.

Other Limitations

Academic performance is not the sole criterion for admission to and continuation in certain courses and programs at the university, such as practicum courses and internships. The university may find it necessary to evaluate a person’s background to determine his or her likelihood of maintaining standards of professional conduct that are necessary in the academic discipline or profession. An evaluation may take into consideration current performance, as well as past experiences and actions that could affect a student’s ability to perform in the particular course or program.

Student Conduct Regulations

Oregon State University aspires to stimulate a lasting attitude of civility, social responsibility and openness in our students as well as an appreciation for our values of accountability, diversity, respect, and truth. Consistent with that, all students enrolled at OSU are expected to follow student conduct regulations and university policies that have been developed to govern the behavior of students as well as members of the university community. These regulations and policies are formulated to guarantee each student’s freedom to learn and to protect the fundamental rights of others. The assumption upon which these regulations are based is that all people must treat others with dignity and respect in order for scholarship to thrive. The regulations and procedures for disciplinary action and appeal are available on the OSU website, http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/studentconduct/.

Violations of the regulations subject a student to appropriate disciplinary or judicial action. These regulations have been formulated by the Student Conduct Committee, the Student Activities Committee, the university administration, and the State Board of Higher Education.

Student Grades

Student grades may be obtained via MyOSU at https:// myosu.oregonstate.edu: select Student, then Student Grades. Or obtain an unofficial transcript under Academic Profile, and click on Transcript. Grades are not automatically mailed to the student.

You may request a transcript via the Web at no charge: http:// registrar.oregonstate.edu/transcripts.

Grades, GPA calculations, and academic standings are not complete and final prior to 8 a.m. on the Wednesday following the final exam week. Grades and GPAs appearing prior to that day may be incomplete.
Student Records

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, (20 U.S.C. 1232g) provides that Oregon State University students have the right to inspect and review the student’s education records within 45 days of the day the university receives a request for access; the right to request the amendment of the student’s education record that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading; the right to consent to disclosures of the personally identifiable information contained in the student’s educational record, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent; and the right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Oregon State University to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The Student Records Policy is available in the printed and electronic Registration Information Handbook and OSU General Catalog.

Progress Standards for Veteran Students

Programs at Oregon State University are approved for the use of VA benefits under the Montgomery GI Bill®, Dependents Educational Assistance, and Title 38 and Title 10 of the US Code, or benefits offered by the State of Oregon Department of Veteran Affairs. The university, through the Registrar’s Office, provides the certifying service to qualified students. The certifying official issues enrollment certification documents to the appropriate VA regional office and monitors students’ satisfactory progress for the VA. Any student receiving GI Bill® education benefits while attending Oregon State University is required to obtain transcripts from all previously attended schools and submit them to the school for review of prior credit.

1. OSU students who receive benefits from the Veterans Benefits Administration of the Department of Veteran Affairs are subject to the satisfactory progress standards as set forth in Chapter 38, U.S. Code sections 1674, 1724, 1775, and 1776, and to those defined by the university in Academic Regulation 22, Satisfactory Academic Standing:
   - Academic Warning: Students with a term GPA below 2.0 will be placed on Academic Warning.
   - Academic Probation: Students who have attempted 24 or more credits at OSU and have an OSU cumulative GPA below 2.0 will be placed on Academic Probation. Students who attain a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better are removed from Academic Probation.
   - Academic Suspension: Students who are on Academic Probation and have a subsequent term GPA below 2.0 will be placed on Academic Suspension. Academic Suspension is recorded on the student’s academic record. Students who are academically suspended are denied all the privileges of the institution and of all organizations in any way connected to it, including any university-recognized living group.
   - Reinstatement to the University: Suspended students will be considered for reinstatement to the university after two years or completion of a minimum of 24 quarter credits of transferable college-level work at an accredited college or university, with a GPA of 2.5 or above.

2. Students, who are placed on probation by the university, also will be notified that they are on probation insofar as Veterans Affairs’ progress standards are concerned. If a student’s deficiency is not corrected and they subsequently are placed on academic suspension, the university will notify Veterans Affairs of his or her unsatisfactory progress.

3. The university will recertify students who are suspended by the university and subsequently reinstated by the Academic Standing Committee.

4. Students dismissed from the university for unsatisfactory conduct will be reported as making unsatisfactory progress. The university will recertify the student only upon rescission of the dismissal by the university.

Options for Exemption from Nonresident Tuition

HB 2158 (2013) and HB 4021 (2014) section 1. ORS 352.375

A public university listed in ORS 352.002 or community college shall charge an enrolled student who is not a resident of this state, and who is attending classes as an undergraduate or graduate, tuition and fees no greater than the resident rate if the student:

1. Served in the armed forces of the United States; and
2. Was relieved or discharged from that service with either an honorable discharge or a general discharge under honorable conditions; and
3. Is an undergraduate student newly enrolled after September 15, 2013, or graduate student newly enrolled after September 15, 2014, and
4. Provides proof that the student has established a physical presence in Oregon within 12 months of being enrolled at the public university or community college.

Veterans Access, Choice, and Accountability Act (VACAA) of 2014

Students eligible for in-state tuition under Section 702 (“Choice Act”) include:

- A Veteran who lives in the state in which the institution of higher learning is located (regardless of their formal state of residence) and enrolls in the school within three years of being enrolled at the public university or community college.
- A spouse or child using transferred benefits who lives in the state in which the institution of higher learning is located (regardless of their formal state of residence) and enrolls in the school within three years of the transferor’s discharge from a period of active duty service of 90 days or more.
- A spouse or child using benefits under the Marine Gunnery Sergeant John David Fry Scholarship who lives in the state in which the institution of higher learning is located (regardless of their formal state of residence) and enrolls in the institution within three years of the servicemember’s death in the line of duty following a period of active duty service of 90 days or more.
- Anyone using transferred Post-9/11 GI Bill® benefits (38 U.S.C. § 3319) who lives in the state in which the institution of higher learning is located (regardless of their formal state of residence) and the transferor is a member of the uniformed service who is serving on active duty.

Choice Act eligible students will continue to receive in-state tuition rates after they have used all of their GI Bill® benefits or Marine Gunnery Sergeant John David Fry Scholarship benefits as long as the student remains continuously enrolled. If there is a break in enrollment, or if the student changes their program of study after exhausting their VA educational benefits, they will no longer receive in-state tuition rates.

Veterans who do not qualify under the Choice Act will likely qualify under HB 2158 (2013) and HB 4021 (2014) section 1. ORS 352.375 or HB 2787 (see above).

If you are a Veteran and need to apply for residency, you may need to complete a Residency Affidavit (https://admissions.oregonstate.edu/sites/admissions.oregonstate.edu/files/residency_affidavit.pdf) or the Exemption from Nonresident Tuition Veteran Form (http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/sites/studentlife.oregonstate.edu/files/hb_2158_and_hb_4021_form.pdf) depending on your circumstances.

Another helpful resource when applying for residency are the Instructions for Completing Residence Information Affidavit (https://admissions.oregonstate.edu/residency-frequently-asked-questions-faq/#military).

GI Bill® is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). More information about education benefits offered by VA is available at the official U.S. government Web site at https://www.benefits.va.gov/gibill

Military and Veteran Resources Advisor

William Elfering, MVRA
541-737-7662
william.elfering@oregonstate.edu
Website: http://studentlife.oregonstate.edu/veterans
Office of Student Life

The Military and Veteran Resources Advisor (MVRA) advocates for student-veterans to receive targeted support in navigating campus resources and pursuing academic goals and advises about internal and external support programs. The MVRA collaborates with School Certifying Officials to counsel students and parents concerning eligibility and benefits available under various programs at the local, state, regional, and federal level. The MVRA maintains an informative Military and Veteran Resources website and corresponds with prospective, currently enrolled, and alumni student-veterans to provide them with the latest news on benefits, processes, and procedures from the Veterans Administration.

School Certifying Official (SCO)

The School Certifying Official (SCO) certifies the enrollment of veterans and eligible dependents at Oregon State University. All veterans and eligible dependents, whether new, returning, or transfer students, who expect to receive educational benefits from the Veterans Administration must notify the SCO in the Registrar’s Office. For questions about benefits, contact veterans@oregonstate.edu.

The School Certifying Official also monitors and reports to the Veterans Administration the Satisfactory Progress Standards for students who are receiving VA education benefits. See Progress Standards for Veteran Students for more information.

Military Tuition Assistance Program

The School Certifying Officials (SCO) at Oregon State University are the direct contact points for students using the Military Tuition Assistance Program. SCOs process students’ tuition assistance authorizations and contracts and forward copies to OSU Business Affairs for billing the military branches. Depending on the branch of the military, requirements vary on how grades are reported. Grade reporting is done at the end of each academic term.

For questions about the Military Tuition Assistance Program, contact veterans@oregonstate.edu

Veteran and U.S. Military Service Recognition Cord

Recognition of U.S. Military Service

Oregon State University recognizes the significant contribution and sacrifices made by OSU students who are U.S. military servicemembers and veterans. Students may receive a red, white, and blue Military Service Recognition Cord to be worn at commencement.

Servicemembers and veterans may visit the Office of the Registrar in Kerr Administration Building during the month prior to commencement to request cords.

Undergraduate Planned Educational Leave Program

Students may find that a planned interruption or pause in their regular, full-time education is needed. PELP is designed to enhance the prospect of successful completion of an academic program by allowing a student to arrange a voluntary absence that temporarily suspends their academic work for a period of time. For detailed information please refer to Academic Regulation 13.
STUDENT RECORDS-RIGHT TO PRIVACY

Notice to Students Regarding Privacy of Records

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974 (Public Law 93-380), as amended, Oregon Revised Statutes 351.065, and Oregon Administrative Rule 580-013-0005 of the State Board of Higher Education afford students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days of the day the university receives a request for access. Students should submit to the registrar, dean, head of the academic department, or other appropriate official, written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The university official will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the university official to whom the request was submitted, that official shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed.

2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education record that the student believes are inaccurate or misleading. Students should write the university official responsible for the record, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate or misleading. If the university decides not to amend the record as requested by the student, the university will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the student when notified of the right to a hearing.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of the personally identifiable information contained in the student's educational record, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent. One exception that permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the university in an administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including health staff and members of the Law Enforcement Unit); a person or company with whom the university has contracted; a person or company acting as consultant or volunteer for the university; a person serving on the Board of Trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an educational record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by Oregon State University to comply with the requirements of FERPA.

The name and address of the office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20202-5920

Website: https://www2.ed.gov/policy/gen/guid/fpco/index.html

Revised directory information effective May 2014: Oregon State University will provide the following "directory" information to all inquiries without students’ written consent:

- student's name
- current mailing address and telephone number
- current OSU ONID email address
- campus office address
- class standing (e.g., freshman, sophomore, etc.)
- student level (undergraduate, graduate, etc.)
- college
- major field of study
- honors
- full-time or part-time enrollment status
- status as a graduate teaching assistant or graduate research assistant and hours of service.
- participation in officially recognized activities and sports
- dates of attendance
- anticipated graduation date
- degrees and awards received
- date(s) of degree(s)
- most recent previous educational institution attended by student

A student may request in writing that all of the above directory information be kept confidential. This option may be exercised by filing a written, dated, and signed request at the Office of the Registrar at any time. The restriction remains in effect until revoked by the student even if the student leaves the university or graduates.

The procedures for exercising the above rights are explained in Oregon Administrative Rules 576-020-0005 through 576-020-0065.

Release of Student Information to Military Recruiters (Solomon Amendment)

Oregon State University provides information about students that is requested by military recruiters under requirements of the Solomon Amendment (As of Oct. 23, 1998 [63 Fed. Reg. 56819] and the Interim Rule published Jan. 13, 2000 [65 Fed. Reg. 2056] by Department of Defense). Under this federal law military recruiters may request the following information: Name, current mailing address (as provided by the student) including email address, current telephone number (as provided by the student), age, class level (e.g., freshman, sophomore, etc.), and academic major. The information may be requested for the immediately previous term, current term, or future term for all students age 17 and older who are or were registered at OSU for at least 1 credit in the requested term. Recruiters may request this information each term. Recruiters may not obtain any information that is not in the above list of student recruiting information. For example, they may not request any of the following: Social Security Number or ID Number, place of birth, race/ethnicity/nationality, grades and GPA, grades of low-performing students, religious affiliation, names of students with loans in default, veteran status, or names of students no longer enrolled at OSU. Institutions that do not comply with the Solomon Amendment risk losing federal funding from the departments of Defense, Education, Health and Human Services, Labor, and Transportation. Institutions do not risk losing student-aid funding such as Perkins Loans, Federal SEOG or Work-Study funds.
Use of Social Security Number (SSN)
You are requested to provide voluntarily your Social Security Number to assist OSU (and organizations conducting studies for or on behalf of OSU) in developing, validating, or administering predictive tests and assessments; administering student aid programs; improving instructions; internal identification of students and alumni; collection of student debts; or comparing student educational experiences with subsequent workforce experiences. When conducting studies, OSU will disclose your Social Security Number only in a manner that does not permit personal identification of you by individuals other than representatives of OSU (or the organization conducting the study for OSU) and only if the information is destroyed when no longer needed for the purposes for which the study was conducted. By providing your Social Security Number, you are consenting to the use identified above. This request is made pursuant to ORS 352.004, ORS 352.107, and ORS 352.146. Provision of your Social Security Number and consent to its use is not required and if you choose not to do so you will not be denied any right, benefit, or privilege provided by law. You may revoke your consent to the use of your Social Security Number at any time by contacting: Office of the Registrar, Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR 97331-2130; 541-737-4331.

All access and use at Oregon State University of the Social Security Number is prohibited except for meeting federal or state requirements, compliance, and reporting.

Students Rights to Privacy of Records Tutorial (FERPA)
A brief online tutorial that explains students’ rights may be viewed at http://registrar.oregonstate.edu/ferpa-training-module.

OSU Directory
The OSU Campus Directory is a directory of staff and student names, addresses and telephone numbers. This information is extracted at the end of the second week of the fall term and is published annually and posted on the OSU website. To find students, faculty and staff, use the Search box for Find people and pages or go to http://directory.oregonstate.edu/.

Students who do not want information to be included in either the printed or electronic version should indicate that in their Directory Profile on the Web before the end of the second week of fall term. Just log in to MyOSU at https://myosu.oregonstate.edu and under Update Personal Profile select OSU Directory Preferences, then follow the instructions on that page.

Student Photo Roster
Getting to know students is an important means by which instructors and advisors can improve the quality of the learning environment.

Accessing Student Photo Roster System:
1. Login to MyOSU at https://myosu.oregonstate.edu.
2. Under Update Personal Profile, select OSU Directory Preferences.
3. Check or uncheck the checkbox "Photo Viewable to Advisor".
4. Check or uncheck the checkbox "Photo Viewable to Instructor".
5. Click the "Submit Changes" button to update your Directory Profile.

To view your choices regarding opting in or out of the Student Photo Roster System, please view it online using the instructions above.

Selecting the "opt in" option for instructors means that all instructors of record associated with the student’s current classes will be able to view the photograph.

Students can change their minds at any time.

INFORMATION SERVICES, COMPUTERS, AND ACADEMIC TECHNOLOGIES

Information Services supports OSU students by providing accounts, technologies, equipment checkout, printing, computing networks and computing labs. The IS Service Desk provides students with technical support for laptops, mobile devices, and campus systems like Canvas. If you need in-person support, please visit the Walk-up Service Desk in Milne Computer Center room 201.

Student employment opportunities are available from a variety of units within IS, including the IS Service Desk and Academic Technology, with the greatest opportunities announced just prior to each new term.

- Accounts & Technologies Guide for New Students: This guide is for new OSU students who need to get connected to OSU systems such as email and Canvas. Even if you are already connected to one or more OSU systems, we recommend you go through this guide, just to be sure you’ve covered the bases and know where to get computing help.

- ONID: ONID stands for OSU Network ID. It’s a universal computer account available to all OSU students, employees and associates. You use your ONID username and password to access Online Services, Canvas, email, the wireless network and many other university computing services.

- Box: Box is unlimited cloud storage and collaboration for all OSU students and employees.

- G Suite: ONID email is accessed via G Suite. All OSU students, instructors, and employees may access all the supported core apps: Drive, Mail, Calendar, Site and Groups.

- Office365 for OSU: Office365 allows students and employees to download and install up to 5 free copies of Microsoft Office on personal devices and to collaborate online using native Microsoft Office tools: Word, Excel, PowerPoint and OneNote.

O上班族 Oregon State University offers academic Pathway and English language training programs through the INTO OSU Center. Personalized support tailored to international students’ educational, social and cultural needs prepares them to progress with confidence as degree-seeking students. INTO OSU provides international students with learning experiences and services that promote academic, professional and personal success.

INTO established its first partnership in the U.S. at Oregon State University in 2008. Located in the new International Living-Learning Center, INTO OSU offers outstanding academic programs, technology-assisted learning, a welcoming, interconnected community of students from across the U.S. and the world, strong student support programs and state-of-the-art facilities. The innovative Pathway and English language programs offered at the INTO OSU Center are delivered by highly qualified OSU teaching faculty. INTO OSU also provides a breadth of academic preparation and support services designed specifically to meet the unique needs of its international students.

Facilities
The International Living-Learning Center opened in September 2011 and is the home for INTO Oregon State University. This state-of-the-art building offers a world-class student experience where international and domestic students live and learn together in the heart of the OSU campus. This building includes residential accommodations for more than 300 international and domestic students, 26 classrooms, a large and spacious auditorium, computer labs, a café, market and comfortable open spaces where students can socialize.

Student Services
The INTO OSU Student Services team provides a range of co-curricular programs and services promoting social, personal and academic well being. Upon arrival at OSU, the team helps students settle in to life in Corvallis, provide social opportunities and a variety of resources tailored to the specific needs of international students. Whether it’s a question about making an appointment with a doctor, finding a place to live, renewing your visa or anything else, there will always be someone available to help you.

International Student Orientation
Orientation involves a variety of important events that prepare students to be successful at OSU, including information about maintaining your visa status, registering for OSU classes, health requirements and insurance coverage. Attendance at International Student Orientation is required of all international students, both direct and INTO OSU.

Other important activities during orientation include: opening an OSU email account, getting an OSU ID card, learning about OSU community expectations and taking a tour of the campus. It’s also a great time to make new international and American friends and attend the many social events planned on campus.

Visa and Immigration Support
Upon arrival, the university’s Office of International Services (OIS) office, in conjunction with the INTO OSU Student Services team, will provide information, support and guidance on maintaining your immigration status while you are in the U.S. These can include questions about renewing a student visa, making sure your I-20 or DS-2019 status is always current, bringing your dependents, employment, traveling and more. During your program, in conjunction with the INTO OSU Academic Support and Finance teams, they will support you through your program and issue any documentation you may need to support your visa status. Students can come in for walk-in hours, or make individual appointments with an International Student Adviser or Sponsored Student Adviser at the Office of International Services (OIS). In addition, workshops are held throughout the year on topics such as employment, scholarships and travel.

OSU Office of International Admissions
The OSU Office of International Admissions is housed in the INTO OSU Center. The Office of International Admissions works closely with prospective international students from inquiry to admission for a variety of programs including: Academic English, Pathway Programs (Undergraduate and Graduate), Undergraduate, Post-Baccalaureate, Professional (MBA, PharmD, and DVM), and Non-degree Exchange Students. All other graduate programs (Master’s and PhD) are served by the Graduate School. Visit the Office of International Admissions online at http://admissions.oregonstate.edu/international.

Scholarships
Oregon State University and INTO Oregon State University are proud to offer a wide variety of scholarships for exceptional international students. Scholarships are available to undergraduate students, graduate students and Pathway students alike. For more information about these exciting scholarship opportunities, please visit http://admissions.oregonstate.edu/international/scholarships-international-students. Scholarships are available to undergraduate students, graduate students and Pathway and English language students.

Undergraduate Pathway and Transfer Programs
Undergraduate programs combine intensive language study, academic skills development and academic course work in a carefully constructed program designed to prepare students for rigorous OSU degree programs.

Four types of Undergraduate Pathway programs are available:

- Standard 3-term Pathway: leads students through their first year and upon completion of all progression requirements, students will move on to their degree-seeking program as second-year, freshman students.
2-term Accelerated Pathway. This program is composed of two terms of Pathway programming which count toward the student’s undergraduate degree.

1-term Accelerated Pathway. This program is composed of one term of Pathway programming which counts toward the student’s undergraduate degree.

4-term Comprehensive Pathway. Offers an intensive language curriculum for students to start their first year of study, allowing students to progress to their degree program after successfully completing progression requirements.

Undergraduate Transfer Program (UTP)

The Undergraduate Transfer Program offers customized programs for students who have earned university credits and wish to apply them towards their OSU degree. UTP students receive additional academic, language and cultural support to help be successful at OSU.

The Undergraduate Pathway program and Undergraduate Transfer Program are designed for students who:

• Want to study for an undergraduate degree in the U.S.
• Need to improve their English language skills
• May have lower GPAs than required of direct-entry students
• Desire additional academic, language, and cultural support in order to succeed during their first year at a U.S. university
• Apply previously earned university credit towards graduation at OSU (UTP only)

The Pathway and Transfer programs are for students who want to take the fast-track to success. Students receive the highest level of support during their transition abroad, making it an ideal choice for international students who are driven to achieve high academic goals.

Undergraduate Pathway and Transfer programs are available in:

• Business
• Engineering
• Science
• Computer Science
• Sustainable Planet
• Food Science and Technology
• Exercise and Sport Science
• General
• General – Liberal Arts Focus
• Public Policy
• Women and Gender Studies
• Both the 1-term and 2-term Accelerated Pathway programs lead to any undergraduate major at OSU. No specific tracks are offered.

Pathway Program

Core Academic Courses

The Undergraduate Pathway program is comprised of OSU credit-earning courses in math, science and writing. From the first day of classes, INTO OSU Pathway students study alongside domestic students in many of the same courses.

For more information please visit http://intoosu.oregonstate.edu.

Graduate Pathway Program

The innovative Graduate Pathway program is a pre-Master’s program that provides international students a direct path to various graduate degrees at the university. The program gives students the academic foundation, essential language skills and GMAT/GRE test preparation to successfully move on to the Master’s degree.

Direct admission to the Graduate School and respective department-based graduate programs at Oregon State University is highly competitive with only the best and most prepared students being selected. Many students who meet all the minimum entry requirements are not admitted because of the highly competitive nature of the programs.

The Graduate Pathway program is designed for international students who:

• Require additional preparation to be admitted directly to the Graduate School
• Fall short of meeting the minimum GPA or test score requirements
• Need further English development
• Need to improve study skills for success in their chosen field of study
• Any or all of the above

Graduate Pathway Programs are available in:

• Master of Business Administration (MBA)
• Chemical Engineering
• Chemistry
• Civil Engineering
• Comparative Health Sciences
• Computer Science
• Electrical and Computer Engineering
• Environmental Engineering
• Environmental Science
• Industrial Engineering
• Mechanical Engineering
• Mechanical Engineering with Materials Science Emphasis
• Public Health

Three types of Graduate Pathway Programs are offered:

• Standard 3-term Pathway (available for any track offered)
• 2-term Accelerated Pathway (available for the MBA Pathway) and Civil Engineering Pathway
• 1-term Accelerated Pathway (available for all Engineering Pathway programs, except Civil Engineering)

Core Academic Courses

The academic courses included in the Graduate Pathway programs are carefully chosen to ensure success in graduate-level studies. Students will be advised on which modules to follow during their academic orientation at the INTO OSU Center.

Program Outcomes
After finishing this intensive program successful students will be able to:

- Interact comfortably in the U.S. classroom with professors and fellow students
- Understand U.S. values in an academic setting
- Present their spoken and written ideas accurately and effectively in English
- Write research papers with proper use of citations and references
- Use the Internet and OSU library databases to conduct academic research
- Read, understand, and critically evaluate academic texts
- Understand and use vocabulary common to academic disciplines
- Take useful and accurate notes in academic lectures and presentations
- Develop and deliver oral presentations

Study Abroad with INTO OSU

Program Description
Study Abroad at INTO OSU is designed for students who want one or more terms of study abroad experience at a top US university. The program provides students with a classic American university experience while taking a variety of classes. Students will have access to all the support services available at the university and INTO OSU, including exceptional one-on-one tutoring, social and cultural trips and more.

With prior approval from your home university, the academic courses you will study at OSU can be used to gain credits toward your undergraduate degree in your home country. This program is not designed as a route to degree-seeking OSU programs, though your credits may apply to an OSU degree if you seek admission.

This program consists of three parts:

Study Abroad with English (SAWE) Part 1
Students study full-time in the Academic English program. Students have an opportunity to progress to Study Abroad with English Part 2 upon successful completion of Academic English level 4 and meeting internal progression criteria.

Study Abroad with English (SAWE) Part 2
Students are able to select from OSU undergraduate credit bearing courses offered by the College of Liberal Arts and study alongside domestic and international students while continuing to take 6-12 hours of academic English classes. Students have an opportunity to progress to the Visiting International Students Program upon successful completion of Academic English core level 6 courses or ALS 161 INTO OSU ACADEMIC LISTENING AND SPEAKING 6/ALS 162 INTO OSU READING AND WRITING IN ACADEMIC CONTENT AREAS and meeting internal progression criteria.

Visiting International Students Program (VISP)
Students can select from a range of OSU credit-bearing courses offered by the College of Liberal Arts. Optional academic English courses are also available.

All OSU undergraduate College of Liberal Arts courses taken through the VISP and SAWE Part 2 program are transferrable with prior approval from the student’s home university (except intensive English courses, if selected).

Departmental approval is required for students seeking to register for a course outside the College of Liberal Arts.
MISSION AND VALUES

Innovation, Leadership and Excellence for Oregon and the World
Oregon State University is a community of students, faculty, staff, alumni and supporters who aspire to make the world a better place. It is a community defined by innovation, leadership and excellence in academics, research and outreach to serve Oregon, the nation and the world.

With more than 31,000 students, including more than 5,600 students earning their degrees entirely online, Oregon State is the state’s largest university, welcoming a diverse student body from all 36 counties across Oregon, all 50 states and more than 100 countries.

Oregon State is the state’s land grant university and is one of only two universities in the U.S. to have land, sea, space and sun grant designations. As a premier international research university, with a record $336 million in external research funding in 2016, Oregon State’s impact reaches across the state and beyond.

Oregon State’s 2015 strategic plan reaffirms the university’s commitment to the three Signature Areas that draw from disciplines across the university and integrate research, engagement and teaching at both graduate and undergraduate levels:

• Advancing the Science of Sustainable Earth Ecosystems
• Improving Human Health and Wellness
• Promoting Economic Growth and Social Progress

Students Come First

• Oregon State is committed to diversity. Our students come from all walks of life and from all over the world. These students are extraordinarily bright and high-achieving contributors in the classroom and in their communities. Over the past five years, more of Oregon’s high school valedictorians and salutatorians have enrolled at Oregon State than at Oregon’s other public research universities.

• Oregon State offers a full range of strong scholarships, grants, work-study and loans from federal, state and university sources to help students get the best possible financial aid package.

• OSU Welcome Week begins at fall move-in and includes the first day of classes. This week is filled with events and activities for everyone, including Welcome Week Kick-off and Rec Night, new student convocation, student club events and many other educational and social activities geared toward connecting new students and welcoming returning students back to the university and Corvallis.

• Our First-Year Experience program helps new students transition into university life. A variety of small-group experiences is offered — including U-ENGAGE and first-year experience courses — to connect first-year students to faculty, current Oregon State students and other new students.

• The University Exploratory Studies Program allows students to explore a variety of disciplines before choosing an academic major.

• Our Diversity and Cultural Engagement office, cultural centers and Educational Opportunities Program work with African American, Asian American, Native American and Latino students to ensure that their Oregon State experience is positive.

• Oregon State is the only college or university in the state that offers ROTC programs for all four branches of the military — Air Force, Army, Marines and Navy.

• With more than 400 student organizations, plus club, intramural and Pac-12 Conference sports, students find it easy to keep busy at Oregon State.

Oregon Is Our Campus

• OSU Ecampus, with more than 45 undergraduate and graduate programs and over 1,000 courses, is consistently ranked in the top 10 among online bachelor’s degrees nationwide by U.S. News & World Report and is ranked number one in value by valuecolleges.com (http://valuecolleges.com).

• The OSU Extension Service has programs, staff and volunteers providing essential services in all 36 Oregon counties.

• Consistently ranked among the top college towns in the nation, Corvallis is a welcoming, vibrant city of 55,000 people, offering a wide range of community, recreation, dining, shopping and cultural opportunities. And the city is just an hour or more from the Oregon Coast, the snow-capped Cascade Range and Portland — Oregon’s largest city.

Mission

Preamble
Oregon State University is a comprehensive, public, internationally recognized research university. As one of only two land, sea, space and sun grant universities in the country (Penn State being the second), OSU offers programs and employs faculty and staff in every county of the state. OSU views the state of Oregon as its campus and works in partnership with all of Oregon’s community colleges and the state’s public and private colleges and universities to serve Oregonians’ educational needs.

Mission
As a land grant institution committed to teaching, research, and outreach and engagement, Oregon State University promotes economic, social, cultural and environmental progress for the people of Oregon, the nation and the world. This mission is achieved by producing graduates competitive in the global economy, supporting a continuous search for new knowledge and solutions and maintaining a rigorous focus on academic excellence, particularly in the three Signature Areas: Advancing the Science of Sustainable Earth Ecosystems; Improving Human Health and Wellness; and Promoting Economic Growth and Social Progress.

Vision
To best serve the people of Oregon, Oregon State University will be among the Top 10 land grant institutions in America.

Goals
1. Provide outstanding academic programs that further strengthen performance and pre-eminence in the three Signature Areas of Distinction: Advancing the Science of Sustainable Earth Ecosystems; Improving Human Health and Wellness; and Promoting Economic Growth and Social Progress.
2. Provide an excellent teaching and learning environment and achieve student access, persistence and success through graduation and beyond that match the best land grant universities in the country.
3. Substantially increase revenues from private fundraising, partnerships, research grants and technology transfers while strengthening our ability to more effectively invest and allocate resources to achieve success.

Core Values

Accountability. We are committed stewards of the human, fiscal and physical resources entrusted to us. We are also stewards of the loyalty and good will of the people of Oregon; the university's students, faculty, staff, alumni, and donors; and the communities in which we live and work.

Diversity. We recognize that diversity and excellence go hand-in-hand, enhancing our teaching, scholarship, and service as well as our ability to welcome, respect, and interact with other people.

Integrity. We value responsible, accountable and ethical behavior in order to maintain an atmosphere of honest, open communication and mutual respect throughout the Oregon State community.

Respect. We treat each other with civility, dignity and respect.

Social responsibility. We contribute to society's intellectual, cultural, spiritual and economic progress and well-being to the maximum possible extent.

Core Themes

The core themes and their objectives were selected to align with the OSU Strategic Plan, the university's mission and its three fundamental goals. The following core themes were chosen in early 2010:

- Undergraduate education
- Graduate education and research
- Outreach and engagement

Beginning in the fall of 2010, the university has introduced a Core Theme Planning process that will be conducted on an annual cycle and use continuous improvement principles to inform the campus community of how we are fulfilling our mission.

MUSEUMS, GALLERIES, AND COLLECTIONS

The educational resources of the university include art, galleries, collections, and exhibits of cultural and scientific materials. Research, teaching, and extension functions are combined in these collections, which serve both the institution and the general public.

Over the years, various departments and schools of the university have become repositories for extensive holdings of manuscripts; rare books; prints, paintings, and other art objects; costumes; textiles; historic artifacts; archaeological material; fossils; preserved plants and animals; wood products; and marine material. These collections serve many of the same functions as a library or make possible the identification of materials whose age, name, or significance is unknown.

Most university collections serve primarily research and teaching functions and may be viewed by prior appointment with their curators.

The Archaeological Collection consists of artifacts, field notes, maps, drawings, sketches, and photographs accumulated in archaeological investigations. Several thousand items of primary archaeological documentation comprise this collection. Location: Waldo Hall.
The College of Agricultural Sciences has sponsored Art About Agriculture since 1983, as a source for education, inspiration, and research enabling people to understand and value agriculture and natural resources through the universal language of visual arts. The program, in part, recognizes regional artists for investigating agriculture and natural resources themes as content and subjects for creating their works of art. It also enables the college to acquire art for a permanent collection of contemporary fine art now representing more than 150 artists with their more than 300 works of art. The Art About Agriculture permanent collection, selected through peer review, comprises fiber arts, mixed media assemblages, paintings, sculptures, watercolors, and works on paper including drawings, photographs, and prints. Many distinguished artists are represented in the Art About Agriculture permanent collection, including Harrison Branch, Sally Cleveland, Betty Feves (1918–1985), Sally Finch, Sally Haley (1908–2007), Carl Hall (1921–1996), Yuji Hiratsuka, Manuel Izquierdo (1925–2009), Analee Fuentes, Mary Josephson, Betty LaDuke, Marjorie McDonald (1898–1995), Jay Stratton Noller, John Henry Rock (1919–1993), Laura Ross-Paul, Nelson Sandgren (1917–2006), Robert Schlegel, Robert Weller, Phyllis Yes, and Renée Zangara.

In 2015, the College opened Gallery 440 in Strand Agriculture Hall, Rm 440. This reception and meeting space is dedicated for displays from the Art About Agriculture Permanent Collection. Additionally the gallery is a space for promoting artists represented in this collection by exhibiting their recent works of art in group and solo invitational shows.

Since the program began the college has collaborated with more than 50 galleries, primarily in Oregon, and also Washington, and British Columbia, Canada, for presenting the permanent collection, invitational art exhibitions, and regional art competitions. In 2006 the college cosponsored in partnership with the Oregon Historical Society a retrospective exhibition of the entire peer-reviewed Art About Agriculture permanent collection. The late Brenda Hood, in memory of her husband, the late Gordon Hood, sponsored This Bountiful Place: Art About Agriculture, the Permanent Collection, the exhibition catalog published in association with the Oregon Historical Press, 2006.

Accessions to the Art About Agriculture permanent collection are made possible from patron-donor partnerships. The College of Agricultural Sciences is grateful for support from the deans of OSU Extension Service, College of Agricultural Sciences, and College of Liberal Arts; Mark Abrahamson; Dan and Wanda Arp; Betty Brose; Gene and Cande Buccola; Capital Press; James and Stella Coakley; the late Marybeth Collins; William Cook and Gwil Evans; Dan and Sally Edge; The Ford Family Foundation; the Carl Hall Family Collection through Bill Rhoades; the late Margaret Hogg; the late Brenda and Gordon Hood; E.R. Jackman; Larry and Sherry Kaseberg; Don Kirby; Betty LaDuke; the Lamb Foundation; Ed Ray; Scott Reed; and the late Gayle Strome. All gifts made to the OSU Foundation-Art About Agriculture qualify as contributions under current state and federal tax codes, including the Oregon Cultural Trust, and may be made at any time.
The College of Business, Design Program houses a collection of historic Western and non-Western textiles and clothing. The collection consists of Euro-American clothing and accessories that span the 19th and 20th centuries. The non-Western artifacts include textiles and objects largely from the 16th through 20th centuries but including objects from Coptic Egypt and pre-Columbian Peru. The collection, with display cases on the 2nd floor of Milam Hall, supports the outreach missions of the College of Business Design Programs by providing an educational resource and creative inspiration for students, researchers, and the general public. Additional information is available by contacting Elaine L. Pedersen (Collection Manager) at pedersee@oregonstate.edu or Dawn L. Figueroa (Collection Assistant) at dawn.figueroa@oregonstate.edu, or visiting the collection on the website at: http://business.oregonstate.edu/sdhe/historic-collection.
DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES AND WILDLIFE'S MAMMALS AND FISHES COLLECTIONS

Doug Robinson, Curator of Birds
Brian Sidlauskas, Curator of Fishes
Clinton W. Epps, Curator of Mammals
Peter Konstantinidis, Curator of Vertebrates

The Department of Fisheries and Wildlife’s Birds and Mammals Collections include more than 9,000 specimens of birds and 10,000 specimens of mammals, as well as the Braly Ornithological Collection; Overton Dowell, Jr., Bird Collection; Alex Walker Ornithological Collection; and Oregon Game Commission Collection. The Ichthyological Collection contains more than 22,000 cataloged lots of fishes representing approximately 160,000 specimens and 620 nominal type specimens in 139 lots. In addition, there are about 100,000 uncataloged specimens available for study. More than 13,000 frozen tissue specimens are available for genetic analysis. The collection emphasizes fishes of the Pacific Northwest, but also holds specimens from many parts of the world including Guyana, Japan, Iran, Peru, Trinidad, Thailand and India. It recently added 13,000 specimens from a series of four expeditions to Gabon, including 2000 tissue samples for DNA analysis. The ichthyological collection also holds substantial series of marine and freshwater ichthyoplankton. The freshwater holdings are mainly from Oregon while the marine holdings are from the Pacific Northwest, the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean and Florida. Currently we are inventorying the larval fish collection to make it accessible for research. Use of the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife collections is restricted to qualified students and investigators. Location: Nash Hall.
FAIRBANKS ART GALLERY

Andrew Nigon, Gallery Coordinator
Website: http://liberalarts.oregonstate.edu/school-arts-and-communication/art/fairbanks-gallery-art

Fairbanks Gallery features exhibitions focusing on contemporary Northwest regional, national, and international artists, as well as Oregon State University art faculty and student exhibitions. The gallery provides the public, campus, and student communities diverse creative experiences and interactions with the inspired, inventive world of visual art. In many cases exhibitions are accompanied by gallery talks, and sometimes also by classroom workshops, critiques and public lectures. Past one-person exhibits have featured notable artists such as Ruth Bernhard, Sue Coe, Wolf Kahn, Jacob Lawrence, Robert Motherwell, Philip Pearlstein, Wayne Thiebauld, Jerry N. Uelsmann, Edward Weston, Jenny Schmid, and Bill Viola. Group shows have included artists Robert Colescott, Christo, Jim Dine, Eric Fischl, Roy de Forest, Helen Frankenthaler, Ann Hamilton, David Hockney, Jenny Holzer, Roy Lichtenstein, Henri Matisse, Peter Milton, Robert Motherwell, James Rosenquist, Frank Stella, Andy Warhol, and William Wegman.

Fairbanks Gallery is also host to many engaging and informative events. On the third Thursday of each month, the gallery is open extended hours in the evening as part of the Corvallis Arts Walk. Artist talks are frequently scheduled on that night, refreshments are offered and there is frequently a free, interactive activity. Upon request and schedule permitting, we can arrange for private group tours and gallery talks for visitors ranging from elementary school students to art museum docents.

Email list
If you would like to be added to the email list to be notified of Fairbanks Gallery events and the Visiting Artists and Scholars Lecture program, please email OSU.art@oregonstate.edu with “Add to Fairbanks Mailing List” in the subject line.

Location and Hours
Fairbanks Gallery is open from 8 a.m. – 5 p.m. Monday – Friday. The gallery is located on the first floor of Fairbanks Hall, 220 N.W. 26th St., on the Oregon State University campus in Corvallis, Oregon.

Parking on campus is available at Reser Stadium, a short walk to Fairbanks Hall, with shuttle service offered from the east side of the stadium. Shuttles run approximately every 10 minutes. After 5 p.m., permits are not required in “A” and “B” campus parking lots. There are also two 30-minute loading zone spaces directly behind Fairbanks Hall. Disabled permit parking is available directly behind Fairbanks, as well as along Jefferson Street near the building. There are two electric vehicle charging spaces directly behind the building.

The School of Arts and Communication's Fine Art Print Collection contains nearly 600 prints representing numerous countries and spanning several centuries. The collection's holdings includes work of various styles, including Japanese Ukiyo-e, modern Japanese woodblock, 20th century Latin American, German Expressionism, and 20th century American prints. Artists include Max Beckmann, Francisco Goya, Hideo Hagiwara, Hiroshige Utagawa, William Hogarth, Kathe Kollwitz, Kunisada, Mauricio Lasansky, Otto Mueller, Max Pechstein, Robert Rauschenberg, Jun’Ichiro Sekino, Edward Weston, Yeizan and others.

Prints in the collection have been largely donated over the last seventy years from various sources, including patrons, faculty members, international donors, professional artists, and former students. The collection began in earnest under the direction of Gordon Gilkey. Formerly the chair of OSU's former Department of Art, Gilkey became the dean of the College of Liberal Arts, and later became the curator of the Vivian and Gordon Gilkey Center for Graphic Arts at the Portland Art Museum. While chairman of the Department of Art at OSU, he hired numerous faculty who were talented printmakers. Berk Chappell, John Rock, Paul Gunn, Shepard Levine, Nelson Sandgren, and Demetrios Jameson not only made prints, but helped collect and find donations to add to the collection.

A World Print Competition portfolio of twenty prints was added in 1973. Portfolios of Latin American artists were organized as Actualidad Gráfica Panorama Artístico, and OSU was a recipient in 1975 and 1976. Photographs are included in this collection. In 1974, photography students petitioned the OSU Foundation to fund the purchase of an edition of The Edward Weston Fiftieth Anniversary Portfolio.

A six-year rejuvenation project of preservation, cataloging, and digital photography has culminated in a new collection website. The collection now serves as an educational resource for the students and faculty at OSU, and the prints are now also accessible via the Web for the general public and other educational institutions. The website also acts as a research center for art students, who can research prints and submit research papers to be Web published. The collection is housed in Valley Library, which offers important temperature and climate controls.
The Geological Collections include minerals, rocks, and fossils. The Edward Taylor Mineral Collections (F. Tepley, Curator) contain several thousand rare and fine specimens. Over 5,000 fossil specimens of Paleozoic, Mesozoic, and Cenozoic marine invertebrates comprise the outstanding John H. Howard and Earl L. Packard Collections in Paleontology (A.G Grunder, Curator). Location: Wilkinson Hall.
THE HERBARIUM

Aaron I. Liston, Director
Melanie A. Link-Perez, Curator

The Herbarium contains more than 450,000 named specimens of seed plants, ferns, mosses, algae, fungi, and lichens. Emphasis is on collections from western North America. The herbarium is the repository for the Morton E. Peck Herbarium of Willamette University, a research collection of Oregon flora consisting of more than 30,000 sheets, and the former University of Oregon herbarium. The mycological collections (J. Spatafora, Curator) consist of approximately 125,000 dried specimens of fungi and lichens, supplemented by microscope slides and a culture collection. These collections include the H.C. Gilbert Myxomycete Collection and the Forest Service Pathology Herbarium. The Herbarium is also the home of the Oregon Flora Project. Location: Cordley Hall. Website: http://oregonstate.edu/dept/botany/herbarium/.
HERPETOLOGICAL COLLECTION

Stevan J. Arnold, Curator

The herpetological research collection consists of more than 60,000 ethanol-preserved amphibians and reptiles, and approximately 24,000 frozen tissue samples. The collection has excellent representation for sites in the Pacific Northwest and includes the largest collection of garter snakes (Thamnophis) in the world. These and other aspects of the collection are described at the collection website http://people.oregonstate.edu/~arnoldst/herp%20collection.htm. The collection is searchable online thru the VertNet portal at http://portal.vertnet.org/p/oregon-state-university. Location: Cordley Hall.
THE J.C. BRALY NATURAL HISTORY COLLECTION

Robert T. Mason, Curator

The Natural History Collection includes 550 mounts of birds and mammals in the J.C. Braly Collection. A collection of specimen skins on the first floor is used mainly for teaching. In addition, over 1,000 preserved specimens of amphibians and reptiles from the Pacific Northwest constitute a considerable part of the teaching collection. Location: Cordley Hall.
THE LASELLS STEWART CENTER GALLERIES

Tina Green-Price, Curator and Associate Director of The LaSells Stewart Center

The LaSells Stewart Center
875 SW 26th Street (located directly across from Reser Stadium)
Corvallis, OR 97331
Oregon State University

The LaSells Stewart Center was constructed from patron-donor funds in 1981 and is the first performing arts venue and conference center on the campus of Oregon State University. The galleries at The LaSells Stewart Center offer visitors the opportunity to experience three distinct art galleries: Giustina Gallery, Murdock Gallery, and South Hall Display Case.

Giustina Gallery is located in the heart of The LaSells Stewart Center and is the largest art gallery in Willamette Valley. It proudly hosts 10 to 12 exhibits each year, featuring fine art of all mediums with over 450 local, regional and international artists represented. Giustina Gallery is recognized for cultivating creativity and building connections among the community and artists. Murdock Gallery provides art enthusiasts a more intimate art work experience—with nearly 64 linear feet of display area. South Hall Display Case features local artists in a two- and three-dimensional presentation case.

Collectively, the galleries provide the local and campus community diverse opportunities to view and display art work. Annual exhibits include: Vista and Vineyards, Art about Agriculture, Cultural Connections Exhibit, Community Art Exhibit, plus many more. Each exhibition is accompanied with a public art reception.

THE LITTLE GALLERY

Helen Wilhelm, Director
World Languages and Cultures
Oregon State University
210 Kidder Hall
Corvallis, Oregon 97331
helen.wilhelm@oregonstate.edu
541-737-2146

The Little Gallery, a space housed in The School of Languages, Cultures and Society, exhibits eclectic selections of art from well-established and emerging artists and visually advances different critical methods of seeing, crucial and transformative approaches to large intercultural questions. The gallery has a welcome place in an international language department, is bringing cultures together and has become a confluence of disciplines, a place for discussion and wonder. The Little Gallery hosts at least one exhibition per term with opening receptions with the artist present. The gallery is open M–F, 8 a.m.–5 p.m. and closed on the weekends and school holidays.

If you would like to be added to the email list to be notified of upcoming exhibitions, or would like to send in a submission for a possible exhibition opportunity, please contact Helen Wilhelm at helen.wilhelm@oregonstate.edu or call 541-737-2146.
MEMORIAL UNION ART COLLECTION

Susan Bourque, Curator
541-737-6371
Website: http://mu.oregonstate.edu/gallery

To see and interact with OSU Memorial Union Art Collection go to: http://www.facebook.com/pages/OSU-Memorial-Union-Art-Collection/17460794118

Throughout the Memorial Union are selections from its permanent art collection. The collection began in 1928 with a gift from the Board of Regents, but the foundation of the collection came in 1943 with a donation of fifty-three William Henry Price paintings. Currently among the 125 artists included in the collection are paintings and sculptures by J. Leo Fairbanks, works from the early nineteen hundreds by Carrie Gilbert depicting Native Americans, prints collected and donated by Gordon and Vivian Gilkey, and historic photographs of OSU (a number of which are on display in the mezzanine hall). Art work commissioned under the Oregon's Percentage for the Arts Programs includes murals by Hector Hernandez, Alex Hirsch, Henk Pender, Sherrie Wolf. The collection has over 300 works of art, half of which are on display at any one time throughout the building.
MEMORIAL UNION
CONCOURSE GALLERY

Susan Bourque, Exhibits Coordinator
541-737-6371
Website: http://mu.oregonstate.edu/art-gallery/

The Memorial Union Concourse Gallery is one of the largest exhibition spaces on the OSU Campus. Several contemporary art exhibits reflecting a diversity of styles, media and cultural perspectives are scheduled throughout the year. These exhibits feature the artwork of international, regional, local recognized artists, and the art of talented OSU students. This program provides the public, campus, and student communities an opportunity to experience and engage their visual senses as they walk the long concourse or take a break in one of the many seating options available. Some exhibits have related gallery talks, lectures, and/or receptions, when offered, detailed information will be available from our website. The gallery is located at the heart of campus in the historic and beautiful Memorial Union, on 26th and Jefferson Streets.

Gallery hours during the academic year: Monday–Saturday, 8 a.m.–11 p.m.; Sunday, 10:30 a.m.–11 p.m. Term breaks and summer: Monday–Friday, 8 a.m.–5 p.m.
OREGON STATE ARTHROPOD COLLECTION

David R. Maddison, Director
Christopher J. Marshall, Curator and Collection Manager
Website: http://osac.oregonstate.edu/

The Oregon State Arthropod Collection is a valuable research collection of nearly three million insect and mite specimens, chiefly from the Pacific Northwest. Collection strengths include Coleoptera, Hemiptera, Lepidoptera, and Hymenoptera. Areas of specialization include the Melville Hatch Beetle Collection, mites associated with insects and marine habitats, sphecid wasps and bees of the world, leaf hoppers and plant bugs of North America, aquatic insects, litter arthropods, butterflies, and moths of the Pacific Northwest. Specimens of historic importance include the Hopkins Collection of western forest insects and voucher material of the H.J. Andrews (LTER). Location: 4082 Cordley Hall.
SPECIAL COLLECTIONS AND ARCHIVES RESEARCH CENTER

Lawrence A. Landis, Director

The Special Collections and Archives Research Center within OSU Libraries maintains and makes available the university's unique collections of manuscripts, archives, photographs and books. Its holdings include collections pertaining to the history of science and technology; the historical records of OSU and papers of its prominent faculty members; collections documenting cultural and ethnic groups in Oregon; and collections documenting natural resources in the Pacific Northwest, especially agriculture and forestry. Also included are collections documenting Oregon's hops and craft brewing industries and a large collection of oral histories related to the center's collecting areas. The center also maintains a robust online presence through Oregon Digital, its digital collections platform. See https://oregondigital.org/catalog/.

The collections within the Special Collections and Archives Research Center are open to students, faculty, staff and the public for research from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The center encourages the use of its collections in undergraduate and graduate classes. Instruction services range from general orientation sessions to more specialized sessions with hands-on examination of archival materials in a classroom setting. Tours of the center are available upon request, and the center is located on the Valley Library's fifth floor. More information about the center's services and holdings is available at http://scarc.library.oregonstate.edu/.

Ava Helen and Linus Pauling Papers

The Ava Helen and Linus Pauling Papers are the center's cornerstone history of science and technology collection. It is an archival research collection of more than 500,000 items that chronicle the life and work of OSU alumnus Dr. Linus Pauling, the only person in history to have received two unshared Nobel Prizes (Chemistry, 1954; Peace, 1962). The collection, donated by Dr. Pauling in 1986, includes the original manuscript for Pauling's seminal 1931 paper, "The Nature of the Chemical Bond"; the research notebooks and working manuscripts for a number of Pauling's 1,100 journal publications and 13 books; and the original petition for nuclear disarmament presented to the United Nations in 1958, which contains the signatures of more than 9,000 scientists worldwide, including Nobel laureates Albert Schweitzer and Bertrand Russell. The papers also include Dr. Pauling’s numerous awards, more than 100 hours of audiovisual material, his mammoth correspondence with many of the most prominent figures of the 20th century, and a significant trove of molecular models constructed by Pauling. The collection serves the research interests of scholars from around the world. See http://scarc.library.oregonstate.edu/coll/pauling/index.html.

Nuclear History Collections

Another significant area within history of science and technology are the Nuclear History Collections. The collections cover nearly every facet of the topic. Included are the first published account of the discovery of radioactivity in 1896, writings on the Manhattan Project, the hearings of Robert Oppenheimer, and a formerly secret report of the effects of the atom bomb. It also features cultural aspects of the atomic age. See https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/atomic?hs=a.

University Archives

The Special Collections and Archives Research Center is the official repository for the historical records created by OSU. The University Archives component of the center was established in 1961 to collect, describe, preserve, make accessible to the public, and display historical records created or received in connection with the transaction of university affairs. Closely connected to the university records are the personal papers of several hundred OSU faculty members dating back to the 19th century. More than 300,000 historic photographs document campus buildings, university programs, special events, athletics, faculty and students. A large collection of memorabilia consists of individual historical items such as programs, posters, brochures and clippings. For information about collections and other resources pertaining to OSU's history, see https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/c.php?g=730610.

Oregon Multicultural Archives

The Oregon Multicultural Archives was established by OSU Libraries in 2005 to assist in preserving the histories and sharing the stories that document the lives and activities of African American, Asian American, Latino/a, and Native American communities of Oregon. Significant collections and projects include the Urban League of Portland Records, the Braceros in Oregon Photograph Collection, the Japanese American Association of Lane County Oral Histories, and the 2012 Oregon Tribal Archives Institute. See https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/oma.

Oregon State University Queer Archives

The Oregon State University Queer Archives (OSQA) was established in 2014 to preserve and share the stories, histories and experiences of LGBTQ+ people within the OSU and Corvallis communities. These archives foster intersectional community activism, resist erasure of queer and trans narratives, and position the collection as a space to imagine alternative futures for LGBTQ+ communities. See https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/osqa.

Natural Resources Collections

The center's holdings include numerous collections pertaining to natural resources in the Pacific Northwest. A core collection in this area is the Gerald W. Williams Collection, which includes the personal papers and collected historic photographs of Williams, former chief historian for the U.S. Forest Service. Other significant natural resources related collections include the papers of wildlife conservationist William L. Finley, the Pacific Northwest Stream Survey Records, the Alderman Farms Films, the Oregon Tilth Records, and the Oregon Century Farm and Ranch Program Records. For information about collections related to natural resources, see http://scarc.library.oregonstate.edu/natural-resources.html.

Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives

The Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives, established in 2013, is the first in the U.S. dedicated to collecting, preserving and sharing materials that tell the story of hops farming and craft brewing in Oregon. It also highlights related research at OSU dating back to the 1890s. The archive includes oral histories with growers, brewers and scientists; research reports; grower association records; photographs; and label art from breweries throughout Oregon. See https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/brewingarchives.
McDonald Collection

The McDonald Collection is the university's premier collection of rare books. Fine examples of typography, incunabula, works of famous illustrators, numerous fine bindings, and several first editions are represented in the collection. See http://scarc.library.oregonstate.edu/omeka/exhibits/show/mcdonald. Other significant rare book collections pertain to the history of the Pacific Northwest and the history of science. For information on all of the center's rare book holdings, see http://scarc.library.oregonstate.edu/rare-books.html.
VALLEY LIBRARY NW ART COLLECTION

Ruth Vondracek, Librarian and Archivist

The Valley Library’s Northwest Art Collection consists of more than 140 contemporary artworks by Northwest artists. The majority of the works were added to the collection during the 1999 library renovation through the Oregon Percent for Art law and selected in collaboration with the Oregon Arts Commission; other pieces were donated or commissioned.

Located throughout the six floors of the Valley Library, the permanent collection includes paintings, sculptures, photographs, lithographs, prints and other media. A brochure with maps showing the location of each piece of art is available in the brochure rack just inside the main entrance to the Valley Library. A notebook with more extensive info about the pieces in the collection is available at the Information Desk on the library’s second floor. Images of most of the artworks and information about the artists is available online at http://osulibrary.oregonstate.edu/nwart. Location: Valley Library, all floors.
VISITOR CENTER OF THE OSU MARINE SCIENCE CENTER

Hatfield Marine Science Center
2030 SE Marine Science Dr.
Newport, OR. 97365-5296
541-867-0167
Website: http://hmsc.oregonstate.edu/visitor-center

The Visitor Center of the HMSC at Newport features aquariums, interactive exhibits, and hands-on displays that bring to life the marine research conducted by OSU scientists. Special events, educational programs, guided tours and walks are available on request to teach visitors about the ocean and its inhabitants, from undersea volcanoes to the tiniest tide pool creatures.

The Visitor Center serves as a social laboratory for OSU Sea Grant's "Free-choice Learning" initiative.
THE XYLARIUM (WOOD COLLECTION)

Barbara Lachenbruch, Curator
541-737-4213
Website: http://woodscience.oregonstate.edu/xylarium

The Xylarium (Wood Collection) contains approximately 2,500 species of wood, primarily from North and South America, Southeast Asia, and Africa.
OSU LIBRARIES AND PRESS

http://library.oregonstate.edu

Faye A. Chadwell, the Donald and Delpha Campbell University Librarian and OSU Press Director, faye.chadwell@oregonstate.edu, 541-737-7300

OSU Libraries and Press cultivates excellence in scholarship and creativity, empowers discovery, and preserves and disseminates knowledge. OSU Libraries supports the instructional and research needs of OSU students, faculty and staff through both traditional and innovative services and collections. We develop user-focused services, share our expertise through teaching and research, and build gateways to unique resources to further the growth of the OSU community, the people of Oregon, and the global scholarly community.

Policies for OSU Libraries can be found online (https://library.oregonstate.edu/policies).

Resources for Students, Faculty and Staff

Oregon State University Libraries is the second largest research library system in Oregon and has three locations:

- Valley Library at the center of main campus in Corvallis
- Marilyn Potts Guin Library in Newport at the Mark O. Hatfield Marine Science Center
- OSU-Cascades Library in Bend

Hours at the Valley Library have been extended while classes are in session to 24 hours a day, five days a week. Reference assistance (https://library.oregonstate.edu/reference) is available in person and by phone, by email, by text message, and by instant message during most hours when the Valley Library is open. Subject specialists are available by appointment for individual research consultation.

OSU Libraries extends services and resources to the campus and off-campus community in a variety of ways. The collections can be accessed both online and through mobile devices, and the Valley Library has wireless throughout the building. In addition to the primary research collection, a robust resource-sharing program ensures access to information for research and teaching. OSU Libraries is a federal depository library and maintains print and electronic holdings for both state and federal government documents. OSU Libraries has digitized thousands of documents, photographs, and maps to make them accessible online for researchers, students and the general public.

The Valley Library collection includes materials in all subject areas and contains:

- nearly 1.5 million physical volumes including books, journals and audio-visual material
- more than 600,000 electronic books are available via the OSU Libraries’ catalog
- subscriptions to more than 85,000 online journals
- subscriptions to 150 full-text and index databases
- 500,000 maps and government documents
- hundreds of video and DVD recordings and online access to thousands more

Laptop computers and tablets are available to OSU students, staff and faculty for six-hour checkout and can be used with the wireless network throughout the library. OSU students, faculty and staff can also check out a variety of other technologies, equipment and board games (https://library.oregonstate.edu/loanable-equipment). Storage lockers are available, and a key for a locker can be borrowed from the Circulation Desk on the second floor.

Named the “Library of the Year” by Library Journal magazine in 1999 after a major remodel and expansion, the Valley Library is enhanced by a notable collection of contemporary Northwest artwork with more than 140 works of art by more than 80 different artists. More info about the Valley Library’s Northwest Art Collection is available in the Museums, Galleries and Collections section of this catalog.

The Marilyn Potts Guin Library in Newport houses the research and teaching collection that supports OSU’s Hatfield Marine Science Center. The Guin Library’s collection of more than 35,000 books and journals covers a broad range of marine-related topics including fisheries, aquaculture, oceanography, geology, environmental studies and biology. A particular focus is collecting material on marine fisheries, marine mammals and information specific to the area of the Pacific Ocean off of Oregon and Washington.

The OSU-Cascades Library in Bend is housed in Tykeson Hall and serves OSU-Cascades students, faculty and staff. In addition, the McDowell Veterinary Medicine Library serves the Carson College of Veterinary Medicine on the Corvallis campus. OSU Libraries does not have direct administrative oversight of these two libraries, although these locations are supported by OSU Libraries through coordinated licensing and purchasing of electronic resources as well as centralized acquisitions, cataloging and other technical services.

Learning Spaces

The Valley Library provides a flexible learning environment that supports community and engaged learning. Two of its learning spaces are the Learning Commons and the Undergrad Research and Writing Studio, and both are located on the second floor. The Learning Commons (https://library.oregonstate.edu/floormaps/learning-commons-computer-stations) offers a variety of spaces for groups to collaborate and more than 130 computers (both Macs and Windows OS) that give students access to a wide variety of software. A variety of related services includes back-and-white printers, a color printer, 3-D printers, scanners and photocopiers.

The Undergrad Research and Writing Studio (http://writingcenter.oregonstate.edu/undergrad-writing-studio) is a partnership between OSU’s Writing Center and the Libraries, and it offers support for undergraduates as they work on writing projects. Trained peer consultants are available to guide students through their research and writing process. Faculty are welcome to bring their classes to the studio after scheduling this in advance.

Located near the Circulation Desk, Student Multimedia Services (https://is.oregonstate.edu/sms) provides students with access, along with training and support, to video editing and multimedia productions software, large format printing, video cameras, microphones and audio recording equipment, and much of this equipment can be borrowed.

Peer tutors and graduate teaching assistants from the College of Science are available to assist students with chemistry during scheduled hours in the Chemistry Studio, known affectionately as the Mole Hole, which is located on the Valley Library’s third floor. The Math Learning Center offers tutoring support (https://library.oregonstate.edu/clc) for math in the same area.

In addition, the Valley Library has 29 group-study rooms available for three-hour time slots, 37 research rooms that are available for 90-day periods, three long-term research rooms, one media preview room and areas for quiet study on floors four, five and six. A drop-in day care facility, Our Little Village, is available on the third floor.

Teaching Librarians Offer Workshops, Consultations and Answers to Questions

Reference assistance (https://library.oregonstate.edu/reference) is available in person, by phone, email, text message, and by live chat. Library faculty are available by appointment for individual research consultation, and students, faculty, staff and community members can consult with a librarian in person, by phone, through chat, or via email.

Teaching librarians (https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/TED) provide course-integrated instruction, workshops (https://library.oregonstate.edu/graduate-students), tutorials, and course and research guides (https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/?b=s) to help students develop research skills. In partnership with faculty from departments outside of the library, they provide targeted learning experiences in classes and lend their expertise to assignment design and assessment projects to enhance student success in learning and to support critical thinking and lifelong learning. More than 7,200 students participate in more than 400 library classes and workshops each year.

OSU Libraries and Press offer various internships and students can obtain credit for internships with the Library 410/510 course.

The Valley Library has two classrooms on its third floor: Willamette East and Willamette West. These two classrooms are separated by a divider that can be removed to double the capacity of the space. Each space can sit 20 people, and each room has a computer workstation and projector system. Willamette East also has a conferencing system installed so that presentations, classes and meetings can be broadcasted to external participants.

The Autzen electronic classroom on the Valley Library’s second floor is an enhanced electronic classroom for library-related instruction. It provides a hands-on setting with 24 networked Mac workstations, white boards, clickers, six large-format projectors and screens, and built-in sound. Additional furniture provides seating for classes up to 50 students.

Collections

OSU Libraries supports faculty and student research through the purchased collection and through unique and rare materials held by the Libraries’ Special Collections and Archives Research Center (http://scarc.library.oregonstate.edu). Content in signature collecting areas is made freely accessible on the web for use by students, faculty and other researchers. This includes extensive documents from the Ava Helen and Linus Pauling Papers, the History of Science Collections, the Oregon Multicultural Archives, OSU Queer Archives, the Natural Resources Collections, the Oregon Hops and Brewing Archives, and the University Archives. For more info about the Special Collections and Archives Research Center, see the separate entry in the Museums, Galleries and Collections section of this catalog.

OSU Libraries also manages the university’s institutional repository, ScholarsArchive@OSU. This database makes a wide variety of information resources produced at OSU freely available on the web.

Contents include faculty articles, OSU theses and dissertations, and all publications by the OSU Extension Service and experiment stations. ScholarsArchive@OSU is consistently ranked among the top 10 institutional repositories in the United States (according to Webometrics).

Research Data Services

Library faculty can meet with students, faculty and staff in one-to-one sessions to assist with challenges of managing research data. This includes guidance on how to write data management plans for grant proposals; review of data management plan drafts; help with identifying repositories to preserve and make data sets publicly available; assistance with preparing data sets for deposit in ScholarsArchive@OSU or other repositories; and discussing best practices to organize, backup or control versions of research data. To learn more, visit the Research Data Services (https://guides.library.oregonstate.edu/research-data-services) webpages.

Collaborations and Partnerships to Share Resources

OSU Libraries collaborates with other academic and research libraries and cultural heritage organizations through various consortium memberships and partnerships:

- OSU Libraries is a member of the Orbis Cascade Alliance that includes 39 universities, colleges and community colleges in Oregon, Washington and Idaho with total holdings of 28.7 million titles.
- The Greater Western Library Alliance (GWLA), a consortium of 38 research libraries from 18 states, enhances library services and programs through collaborations focused on interlibrary loans, scholarly communications, shared acquisitions and digital collections.
- OSU Libraries is a founding member and active contributor to the Archives West, a consortium of 48 archives and special collections in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Alaska. Archives West provides enhanced access to archival and manuscript collections across the northwest through a union database of Encoded Archival Description (EAD) finding aids.
- The Oregon Statewide Database Licensing Program provides a suite of 22 general periodicals and reference database products from Gale/Cengage Learning, the current database vendor for the state of Oregon.
- As a member of the Center for Research Libraries (CRL), OSU Libraries can provide unlimited access to all CRL resources: approximately five million publications, archives and collections to supplement our holdings, especially in the areas of humanities and social science. OSU faculty can borrow CRL materials for extended periods.
- OSU Libraries is a member of the Western Regional Storage Trust (WEST), a distributed retrospective print journal repository program serving research libraries, college and university libraries, and library consortia in the Western U.S.
- OSU Libraries is a member of the Coalition for Network Information, the Council on Library and Information Resources, the Online Computer Library Center (the world’s largest library cooperative).
the Library Publishing Coalition, and the Scholarly Publishing and Academic Resources Coalition.

- A highlight of OSU Libraries' successful collaborations with the University of Oregon is Oregon Digital, a shared digital asset management system providing integrated online access to digitized materials from both research libraries.

For more info about the array of services and vast resources of OSU Libraries, visit our website (https://library.oregonstate.edu).

Faye A. Chadwell, OSU Press Director and the Donald and Delpha Campbell University Librarian

Thomas S. Booth, Associate Director

Founded in 1961, Oregon State University Press extends and advances OSU's land grant mission by cultivating scholarship, promoting creativity and disseminating knowledge. We publish works of global significance, regional importance and lasting cultural value.

The OSU Press specializes in books of importance to the Pacific Northwest, especially those dealing with natural resource issues and the history, natural history, cultures and literature of the region. The OSU Press has a long history of publishing books about the state and region, including natural history, field guides, biographies, memoirs, oral histories of cultural or historic importance, and literary works by some of the region's most accomplished writers. Outside of the Pacific Northwest, the OSU Press is known for its well-regarded scholarly books on environmental history and indigenous studies.

In 2007, OSU Press joined OSU Libraries. Oregon State University Libraries and Press has a dynamic culture that promotes innovation, values diversity, nurtures creativity and builds communities. Press staff work closely with library colleagues on projects and digital initiatives.

The Press publishes 20 to 25 new books each year and has approximately 200 titles currently in print. The Press also distributes select titles published by other small presses and partners with other nonprofit organizations in the state on some projects. Publishing decisions are made in consultation with a faculty advisory board after external peer review of each project.

Members of the OSU Press Editorial Board for the 2018–2019 academic year are:

- Peter Betjemann, board chair, Oregon State University; English
- Katrine (Katy) Barber, Portland State University; History
- Natchee Blu Barnd, Oregon State University; Ethnic Studies
- Susan Bernardin, Oregon State University; School of Language, Culture and Society
- Christina Eisenberg, Earthwatch Institute
- Ellen Eisenberg, Willamette University; History
- Kenneth Helphand, University of Oregon; Landscape Architecture
- Abby Phillips Metzger, Oregon State University; College of Earth, Ocean and Atmospheric Sciences

The OSU Press is a member of the Association of University Presses (http://www.aupresses.org). This nonprofit organization's purpose is to support university presses in their endeavor to make widely available the best of scholarly knowledge and the most important results of scholarly research; to provide an organization through which the exchange of ideas relating to university presses and their functions may be facilitated; and to afford technical advice and assistance to learned bodies, scholarly associations and institutions of higher learning.

The OSU Press offers an annual internship (http://osupress.oregonstate.edu/griffis-publishing-internship) position to an undergraduate or graduate student at OSU. This paid internship provides an outstanding introduction to scholarly book publishing, an opportunity to gain hands-on experience in the general operations of a university publishing house, and the opportunity to work with publishing and library professionals. The Griffis intern plays a vital role in the Press's success and is an indispensable member of the OSU Press publishing team.

Information for authors wishing to submit manuscripts is available online (http://osupress.oregonstate.edu/for-authors).

OSU Press books can be purchased from local and national booksellers as well as on our website (http://osupress.oregonstate.edu).
OSU OFFICE OF GLOBAL OPPORTUNITIES (OSU GO)

Caine Francis, Director
University Plaza
1600 SW Western Blvd., Suite 290
Oregon State University
Corvallis, Oregon 97333
541-737-6434
Website: http://international.oregonstate.edu/osugo

OSU Office of Global Opportunities (OSU GO) is the centralized hub for supporting students and faculty who wish to explore, travel, study, and go global: whether studying abroad in diverse countries, participating in specialized international internships, joining service-learning and experiential programs that delve into unique projects and communities, and/or conducting comprehensive and rigorous international research.

Overseas Study and Internship Programs

OSU students may broaden their education by taking part in one or a number of OSU GO’s international study programs. Many of the programs allow qualified students from a wide variety of disciplines to earn academic credit from Oregon State University while pursuing their studies internationally. For academic programs approved for OSU credit, financial aid may apply to help cover the costs. IE3 Global is the program development unit within OSU GO to support the strategic mission of education abroad.

IE3 Global offers wide and diverse program options for OSU: direct exchange, study abroad, faculty-led, international internships and research, and supports faculty sabbatical opportunities. Furthermore, IE3 Global partners with colleges and departments on new program opportunities, development, and implementation that align with OSU’s strategic internationalization goals and evolving international curriculum.

More information about OSU GO programs can be obtained by writing to caine.francis@oregonstate.edu or calling 541-737-6434.

Course Equivalency Database:

To assist students and academic advisors in the planning process, OSU GO manages a database of credits earned by OSU students participating in education abroad programs:

http://international.oregonstate.edu/osugo/course-equivalency
The OSU Research Office serves faculty involved in research, innovation, scholarship, and creativity in all OSU colleges and in a variety of multidisciplinary centers, institutes and programs. The office provides support to secure funding, comply with regulations, partner with industry, establish collaborations across the university and raise the profile of OSU.

Incentive Programs

Website: http://research.oregonstate.edu/incentive/

The Research Office provides funding for faculty success. The General Research Fund is for projects not otherwise supported by organized or directed programs. Faculty Release Time provides funding for developing external grant proposals or furthering scholarly activities. Research Equipment Reserve Funds help acquire, repair, renovate, or improve equipment. The Undergraduate Research, Innovation, Scholarship and Creativity Fund enables students to initiate scholarly relationships with faculty early in their academic careers.

OSU Advantage

Website: http://advantage.oregonstate.edu/home

The Oregon State University Advantage connects business with faculty expertise, student talent and world-class facilities to research solutions, bring ideas to market and launch companies. The OSU Advantage helps faculty take their research and projects into the marketplace where they can have real-world impacts, and provides opportunities to new sources of funding to carry on important and impactful work. Three aligned organizations offer this opportunity: Advantage Accelerator, Advantage Partnerships, and Advantage Impact.

Office of Sponsored Research and Award Administration

Website: http://research.oregonstate.edu/osraa

The Office of Sponsored Research and Award Administration (OSRAA) has central responsibility for proposal submission for sponsored research, scholarship, instructional and other activities at Oregon State University, and contractual compliance as it relates to sponsored research, the safety of all, and the ethical treatment of human and animal subjects.

Office for Commercialization and Corporate Development (OCCD)

Website: http://advantage.oregonstate.edu/advantage-impact

The OCCD leads OSU's industry-sponsored research efforts and the commercialization of OSU innovations by evaluating markets, developing an intellectual property protection strategy and executing... research, confidentiality, materials transfer, licensing and other industry agreements. The OCCD is the bridge to commercial entities—from Oregon-based startups to large international companies, the OCCD facilitates OSU research to impact the world.

Office for Research Development (ORD)

Website: http://research.oregonstate.edu/ord

The ORD provides leadership in strategic planning, implementation, coordination, and review of large research proposals across campus, and manages the University Limited Submission process. The primary responsibilities of the ORD are to identify and develop new external funding sources, increase funding support for the university, facilitate the development of research partnerships, research future grant opportunities, and provide education for faculty and administrators to encourage applications for grant funding.

Multidisciplinary Centers and Institutes

Website: http://research.oregonstate.edu/research-centers-and-institutes-osu

Addressing many of the world's most pressing challenges requires collaborative efforts of scientists, engineers, social scientists, and humanists to attain long-lasting, high impact results. OSU fosters these dynamic transdisciplinary collaborations through a variety of centers, institutes and programs. With particular strengths in material sciences, ocean and earth sciences, enterprise innovation and economic development, health sciences, and natural resources, OSU investigators, representing virtually every college on campus, team to conduct cutting-edge research, provide undergraduate and graduate education, and proactively engage communities throughout Oregon and the world in helping them address their greatest needs.

Signature Research Centers

Nanoscience. Drug discovery. Sustainable "green" technologies. These are the focus of OSU’s increasing collaboration with other Oregon research universities, the private sector, and state and federal agencies.

Oregon Nanoscience and Microtechnologies Institute (ONAMI)

Skip Rung, President and Executive Director

Email: skip@onami.us

Website: http://onami.us/

ONAMI is Oregon's first "signature research center" for the purpose of sustaining and growing Oregon's innovation economy. As is true of only three other states, technology is Oregon's largest employer, with an average wage twice the statewide average. Growth of these kinds of job opportunities is the single most effective thing we can do for state financial health, schools, public safety and human services.

Our strategy has been 10 years in the making, and the selection of "nanoscience and microtechnologies" was based on a careful analysis intended to discover the largest possible intersection among:

- nationally competitive research in our universities,
- future commercial opportunities/growing sectors of the national economy,
- the existing skills of Oregon industry and its surrounding value chain ecosystem.

ONAMI is now a nationally recognized model for state innovation initiatives, and is frequently featured at events and in publications by the National Science Foundation, National Governors Association, and other organizations concerned with keeping the United States competitive in the global innovation economy.

The state of Oregon so far has invested $47 million in ONAMI, including $5.2 million from the Oregon Innovation Council (OECID) for fiscal year 2012–2013. These funds are invested in OSU research and commercialization capacity in the form of matching funds for competitive extramural proposals, facility operations, and "gap" grants to assist in the formation of successful new products and startup companies.

ONAMI Staff and Leadership

ONAMI’s leadership (executive director, research co-directors, 501c3 board) combines senior-level executive experience in both industry and academia.

President and Executive Director Robert D. "Skip" Rung worked for Hewlett-Packard for 25 years, most recently as director of Advanced Research and Development for HP’s Corvallis, OR, facility, which is both the headquarters for HP’s world-leading inkjet technology, as well as HP’s most advanced and capable facility.

Working with Mr. Rung are Vice President of Operations Cindy L. Dahl (formerly area director for CH2M Hill), High-Tech Extension Director Janet M. Teshima (formerly Semiconductor Business VP for FEI Company), and Gap Fund Manager Jay M. Lindquist (formerly Corporate Development
ONAMI Leadership Team Core Members:

Prof. Brian Paul, OSU/PNNL Microproducts Breakthrough Institute co-director. Dr. Paul is a professor of mechanical, industrial and manufacturing engineering at OSU, and a specialist in microfabrication technologies for MECS (Microtechnology-based Energy and Chemical Systems).

Prof. Goran Jovanovic, OSU/PNNL Microproducts Breakthrough Institute co-director. Dr. Jovanovic is a professor of chemical, biological and environmental engineering at OSU, and a specialist in chemical processes for fuel production, medical devices (e.g., hemodialysis filters) and many other applications.

Dr. Ward TeGrotenhuis, OSU/PNNL Microproducts Breakthrough Institute co-director. Dr. TeGrotenhuis is a senior scientist and team leader for hydrocarbon processing at the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.

Prof. Douglas Keszler, OSU Distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Principle Investigator for the NSF Center for Sustainable Materials Chemistry (CSMC), is a pioneer in the preparation and characterization of new solid-state inorganic materials. Current efforts are directed to the development and study of laser hosts, nonlinear optical materials, phosphors, transparent conductors, wide band-gap semiconductors, and low-temperature deposition and crystallization of thin films. Professor Keszler’s pioneering work is the basis for Brilliant Technologies, Deep Photonics, Inpria and Amorphyx all local start-up companies.

Prof. David Johnson, University of Oregon professor of chemistry and CSMC co-PI, is a solid-state chemist who has pioneered new method of synthesizing valuable new materials which cannot occur naturally. He is equally a pioneer in developing graduate student programs geared to the real career needs of students (most of whom will not become academics) and shared user facilities, which maximize the public value realized from investments in sophisticated equipment.

Dr. John Carruthers, Portland State University distinguished professor of physics, has worked at Bell Laboratories, NASA, Hewlett-Packard Laboratories, and most recently Intel Corporation, where he was director of components research and development at Intel’s Hillsboro, OR, facility—the world’s most advanced semiconductor facility, e.g., the first to achieve 32nm production on 300mm substrates, now poised to take the lead on sub-20nm technology in its recently announced D1X facility.

Prof. Jim Hutchison, University of Oregon professor of chemistry and UO Associate VP for Research, is a pioneer of green chemistry and leading innovator in nanofabrication and assembly processes that maximize material yields and minimize use and release of harmful reagents. Professor Hutchison is the leader of ONAMI’s Safer Nanomaterials and Nanomanufacturing Initiative (SNNI), and also a founder of Dune Sciences, LLC.

ONAMI Inc. (501c3) board of directors members are senior executives from CH2M Hill, Intel Corporation, Hewlett-Packard Company, FEI Company, Life Technologies Corporation, PNNL/Battelle, Sharp Laboratories, and all four of Oregon’s major research universities. Ron Adams, former dean of the College of Engineering at OSU, was formerly director of research and development at Tektronix’ color printing operation (now Xerox), which is the world leader in solid inkjet printing, and Xerox’s most successful division.

Four Major Research and Commercialization Thrusts

Microtechnology-based energy and chemical systems. ONAMI researchers are developing and fabricating unique bulk fluidic microsystems that accelerate, miniaturize and distribute energy, chemical and biomedical processes. Applications include:

- Compact, highest-performance heat exchangers
- Novel miniaturized HVAC cycles
- Medical devices, e.g., dialysis filters
- Fuel processing, e.g., hydrogen reforming
- Fuel atomization for small engines using greener fuels
- Continuous production and direct deposition of nanomaterials
- Water sterilization

This work is based on the principle that mass and heat transfer are best accomplished in microchannels which, when fabricated (typically via micro-lamination) into massively parallel structures, enable “bulk” throughputs without pressure drop penalties. Revolutionary results—in terms of component size, weight and energy efficiency—can be applied to military energy, medical devices and other specialty chemical products.

A dedicated facility, the Microproducts Breakthrough Institute (http://atami.oregonstate.edu/), supports project activity for research and development by both institutional researchers and numerous companies. A good overview of several applications and fabrication capabilities may be found at http://atami.oregonstate.edu/.

Professors Goran Jovanovic, Brian Paul, and Kendra Sharp of Oregon State University and Dr. Ward TeGrotenhuis of the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory, jointly lead this team.

Nanoelectronics, Nanobiotechnology, and Nanometryology. ONAMI and Oregon’s strong industrial and academic experience in semiconductor electronics, microscopy and microanalysis, analytical tools, and test and measurement, remains engaged on key semiconductor industry challenges (new devices, more demanding measurement challenges). They are also being leveraged to enable large opportunities and confront serious measurement challenges in the emerging field of nanomedicine (the application of engineered nanomaterials and nanoscale electronic, magnetic, and optical devices for medical diagnostics and therapeutics). The long history of equipment and instrumentation advances in the engineering and physical sciences, enabling great breakthroughs in the medical and life sciences, suggest that this is a very opportune time for the physical, engineering and medical sciences to collaborate closely on developments in nanobiotechnology. Applications are emerging in single cell analysis at the point-of-use in real time for cancer and other disease diagnosis.

N3I research projects span the following areas:

Nanoelectronics

1. Carbon-based nanoelectronics
2. Analog memory applications of nanoscale devices
3. Nanoscale energy conversion and storage

Nanobiotechnology

1. Imaging/sensing/diagnostics at the nanoscale
2. Drug delivery/cell membrane behavior
3. Intracellular behavior and regenerative medicine
Nanometerology

1. Nanoscale optical near-field nanoscopy and photo-electron emission
2. Spatio-temporal-compositional imaging at the nanometer and femtosecond scales
3. Nanoscale electron crystallography
4. Nanoparticle characterization

Dr. John Carruthers, Distinguished Professor of Physics at Portland State University and former director of Components Research at Intel Corporation, heads up this research collaboration.

Safer Nanomaterials and Nanomanufacturing Initiative. The goals of ONAMI’s Safer Nanomaterials and Nanomanufacturing Initiative (SNNI) are to develop new nanomaterials and nanomanufacturing approaches that offer a high level of performance, yet pose minimal harm to human health or the environment. Research under the initiative merges the principles of green chemistry and nanomaterials design and synthesis strategies to produce safer nanomaterials and more efficient nanomanufacturing (including critical purification steps) processes in the context of producing nanoparticles and nanostructured materials for applications in fields such as photovoltaics, nanoelectronics, and sensors.

In addition to greening the production of nanomaterials, SNNI seeks to understand the biological and environmental impacts of nanoparticles. As part of an international research community, it is [i] working with organizations to develop reference materials and standard practices, [ii] creating well-characterized nanomaterial libraries and [iii] developing effective methods protocols for both physico-chemical characterization and biological effects assays for many different types of engineered nanomaterials. Distinctive features of our research portfolio are the critical importance of using only well-characterized nanomaterials and acquiring rich information sets from biological impacts studies. This approach establishes a foundation of fundamental knowledge and advances predictive strategies based upon structure-activity relationships. A long-term commitment to this strategy is required because it is simply not practical to test all significant permutations of nanoparticles (composition, size, shape, surface functionalization, etc.) in bioassays to assess safety.

Professor Jim Hutchison of the University of Oregon leads this initiative that is bringing together key scientists in the life sciences, materials sciences and engineering. Visit the Safer Nanomaterials and Nanomanufacturing website at http://greennano.org/.

Since 2005, SNNI has spearheaded the highly regarded Greener Nano series of annual conferences, with "GN11" coming in the late spring of 2011: http://greennano.org/GN11.

Center for Sustainable Materials Chemistry. ONAMI member researchers and collaborators in both academia and industry are leading a growing collaboration in the study and design of environmentally benign chemistry platforms for the fabrication of high-performance inorganic electronic devices. Beginning from groundbreaking work on transparent electronics and atomic-precision synthesis using both low-temperature solution chemistry and gas-phase assembly techniques, the range of applications for these greener (i.e., benign and earth-abundant elements, lower cost fabrication methods) materials platforms includes many aspects of electronics manufacturing, optics, sensors, thermoelectrics, magnetics, coatings and metrology standards.

ONAMI researchers have recently demonstrated atomically dense and atomically smooth solution processed inorganic films, functionally graded materials from modulated elemental reactants, and a growing range of composite electronic materials.

This work has direct implications for:

- Nanoscale patterning for semiconductors and other applications
- High-performance thin film electronic elements, e.g., MIM electronics
- Printed electronics on non-traditional substrates
- Large area and lower cost display backplanes
- High-performance thermoelectric cooling
- Low cost thin-film photovoltaics

Professors Douglas Keszler at Oregon State University and David Johnson at the University of Oregon lead this collaborative research initiative.

Facilities (NWNanoNet™)

Twenty million dollars of Oregon’s initial investment in ONAMI and several million dollars in matching funds have been applied to three user facilities, which are open to all Oregon academic users on equal terms, and to industrial collaborators at commercially competitive rates. The open/shared facility model not only supports diverse research projects with advanced and well-maintained fabrication and characterization tools, it provides an essential resource to Oregon companies, the vast majority of which cannot afford to buy such capabilities for dedicated in-house usage.

Among the many users of the ONAMI-affiliated facilities are the ONAMI gap fund portfolio companies (http://onami.us/index.php/onami_gap_fund_portfolio_companies_raise_20m_capital_funding_in_may_2011), which, led by Home Dialysis Plus, have raised over $70 million in leveraged investment since late 2006.

The NWNanoNet™ facilities are:

- The Microproducts Breakthrough Institute (http://mbi-online.org) in Corvallis enables research and product development for microchannel devices and other microfluidics-related fields. Laser micromachining, nano-imprinting/hot embossing, microlamination, diffusion bonding, nano-particle injection micromolding, electroplating, atomic layer deposition, and high temperature sintering under precision loads are among the staple processes.

- The Center for Advanced Materials Characterization (http://camcor.uoregon.edu/) in Eugene is the most capable university-based materials analysis and microscopy facility in the Pacific Northwest, offering user access and/or expert operator service for SEM (with e-beam lithography), HR-TEM, dual-beam FIB, Electron Microprobe, XRD, XPS, AFM, TOF-SIMS, UPS, FTIR, NMR, Mass Spec, and basic semiconductor device fabrication. CAMCOR serves clients all over the U.S.

- The Center for Electron Microscopy and Nanofabrication (http://www.pdx.edu/cemn/) in downtown Portland has been home to one of the most advanced TEMs (200kV) dual-beam FIBs in the Pacific Northwest. CEMN regularly serves over 40 companies in the silicon forest high-tech region centered around Portland, and also holds regular user training workshops.

- The OSU Electron Microscopy Facility (http://emfacility.science.oregonstate.edu/) at Oregon State University. The Electron Microscopy Facility (EMF) provides service to the research community of both life sciences and materials science related studies. The facility was first established in the Department of Botany and Plant Pathology in 1967, and has been in continuous operation. In addition to supporting faculty and students, the facility welcomes external academic and government institutions and industry. The facility maintains and operates the following instruments:
  - FEI Quanta 3D Field Emission Dual Beam Scanning Electron Microscope (SEM/FIB)
  - FEI Quanta 600F Field Emission Environmental SEM
  - FEI Nova NanoSEM 230 High Resolution SEM
  - FEI Titan 80-200/ChemiSTEM Transmission Electron Microscope (TEM)

All microscopes are equipped with X-ray Energy Dispersive Spectrometers (EDS) to conduct chemical analysis. The OSU EMF is located in the Linus Pauling Science Center, room 145, 2900 SW Campus Way, Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR 97331.

Corporate Partners
ONAMI is uniquely situated in the midst of the world’s most advanced collection of “small tech” research and development assets: Intel, Hewlett-Packard, FEI Company, CH2M Hill, ON Semiconductor Corp., Electro Scientific Industries, Xerox, Maxim, IDT, Sharp Labs, Microchip, Life Technologies/Invitrogen, Planar Systems, Wafetech, Flir, Mentor Graphics, Synopsys, Novellus, TriQuint, Siltronic, SEH America, Solarworld, Sanyo, Solaricx, Peak Sun Silicon and many exciting startup companies.

We have many opportunities to do joint research with nearby industries only a few minutes’ drive away for research faculty and graduate students, and it is quite possible that highly capable corporate partners can be found to participate in new ONAMI federal projects.

About OTRADI
OTRADI is a nonprofit research and development organization, supported in part by the state of Oregon that strives to promote bioscience industry growth and job creation in Oregon. OTRADI achieves this goal via collaboration with private and public sector entities in the bioscience community to discover, develop, and commercialize therapeutics, vaccines, diagnostics and other life sciences products important for human health. OTRADI's specialized high-throughput drug discovery robotic equipment is unique in the Northwest, offering previously out-of-reach drug screening capabilities as well as the expertise necessary to analyze results and quickly identify the best products to commercialize. OTRADI uses its equipment and expertise to rapidly screen thousands of chemical compounds developed by Oregon research laboratories and companies to identify new potential drugs, speeding progress on global health concerns, and bringing more economic development and scientific talent to Oregon.

A Unique Opportunity for Oregon Researchers
OTRADI brings the lab to the market via partnerships with Oregon universities, private bioscience companies, the life science industry, and public and private funders. Collaborating with OTRADI offers many advantages:

Collaboration
- OTRADI partners with university researchers and small biotech companies to help produce preliminary data in new areas and helps develop strategies and helps write grants.
- When grants are funded, OTRADI continues working with the investigator as a subcontractor on the grant.
- Investigators have access to opportunities for licensing and commercialization of novel chemicals and drug targets.

Training
- Researchers, faculty, postdocs and students
- Internships and fellowships

Expertise
- Experience and knowledge in assay development for cell biology, pharmacology, infectious diseases, cancer, inflammatory diseases, etc.

Specialized Equipment and Resources
- State-of-the-art drug discovery robotic equipment for high-throughput screening and high-content analysis
- Novel and commercially available chemical compound libraries comprised of more than 90,000 compounds for screening

Grant Partnering
- Actively involved in grant writing and attracting follow-on and new federal and private funding to Oregon universities and small businesses
- Supplied with the new experimental data that OTRADI produces, university researchers can provide federal granting agencies and/or pharmaceutical companies with the crucial evidence and support necessary (e.g., preliminary data) to prove that their discoveries have increased value and worth as possible drugs, drug targets or diagnostic agents. OTRADI’s activities have and will continue to increase federal grant funding success, spark small-business development in Oregon, foster student involvement in applicable research, accelerate connections between Oregon university researchers and biopharmaceutical companies and lead to the creation of high-paying jobs in Oregon.

How OTRADI Works
Every day, Oregon researchers make progress in the fields of biology, medicine, agriculture, marine biology and chemistry that may lead to promising new therapeutics or drug targets. While university researchers are experts within their own fields of science, they often lack the specialized scientific equipment and/or expertise necessary to translate their discoveries into potential new therapeutics. OTRADI brings the lab to the market by providing its partners with access to scientific expertise and equipment. It works to accelerate a product’s development and commercialization through strategic partnerships and access to its wealth of resources. OTRADI forms the integral connection or “glue” that links the scientific with the commercial, energizing and simplifying the connection to move medical advances forward, and helping to translate scientific research into tomorrow's discoveries.

The OTRADI Bioscience Incubator
Operated by Oregon Translational Research and Development Institute (OTRADI), the OTRADI Bioscience Incubator (OBI) is the state's first and only bioscience-specific incubator. Located in Portland, Oregon, the multi-client company bioscience complex provides startup and scientists with access to entrepreneurial mentoring and state-of-the-art bioscience facilities, meeting space and shared equipment.

The OBI serves emerging companies and scientists who have outgrown existing space, but who want to dedicate resources to commercializing their research rather than investing in build-out and equipment. The OBI provides scientists with access to a state-of-the-art facility while their companies reach the next phase of expansion and growth.

How to Partner with OTRADI
Oregon university researchers and small businesses are encouraged to join OTRADI as OTRADI-Affiliated Researchers and Companies. As such, Affiliated Researchers are pre-qualified to collaborate with OTRADI and utilize our resources. Partnering with OTRADI provides researchers and Oregon companies access to unique expertise and drug-discovery equipment as well as assistance with assay development, grant writing, business development, biomentoring and incubation. To learn more about OTRADI or the OTRADI Bioscience Incubator, see our website at http://www.otradi.org or contact OTRADI's Executive Director, Jennifer E. Fox, PhD, at jfox@otradi.org or 503-227-1814.

Oregon BEST

Global Impact, One Startup at a Time
Oregon BEST funds and supports innovative cleantech startups across Oregon. As an economic development catalyst, Oregon BEST connects startups with state and federal resources while preparing them for follow-on investment through a series of focused programs.

We invest strategically in public-private partnerships that rapidly transform university research into new clean technologies, companies, and jobs. The research, projects, and startups we support serve as a proving ground for leading-edge clean technologies while powering a vibrant innovation ecosystem.

Oregon BEST's work not only adds value and enhances competitiveness for Oregon businesses, it also grows the state's research revenue, expands research programs, enhances workforce development, and positions Oregon to recruit new cleantech companies.

Since its establishment as an independent, nonprofit organization by the Oregon Legislature in 2007, Oregon BEST’s 270+ Member Researchers (http://oregonbest.org/portfolio/) have attracted more than $135 million in research revenue to Oregon from federal, industry, and foundation sources. Building on Oregon’s international reputation as a sustainability innovator, Oregon BEST offers a range of programs, expertise, and research facilities described below.

Oregon BEST Labs
Cutting-edge research requires cutting-edge equipment and the expertise to operate it. Oregon BEST supports a network of nine shared-user research facilities (http://oregonbest.org/what-we-offer/expertise/labs) at Oregon State University, Portland State University, and the University of Oregon. These multi-million dollar labs offer our industry partners access to research tools, faculty expertise, and workforce development opportunities. The labs help Oregon businesses compete while helping universities grow research and educate graduates. By providing both financial and leadership support, Oregon BEST works to ensure that our community has access to advanced research facilities.

To date, Oregon BEST Labs includes the following facilities:

- Energy Studies in Buildings Laboratory (https://design.oregon.edu/) at the University of Oregon in Eugene and in Portland
- Green Building Research Laboratory (https://www.pdx.edu/greenbuilding/) at Portland State University
- Green Building Materials Laboratory at Oregon State University
- High Performance Environments (HiPE) Laboratory at the University of Oregon
- infraStructure Testing & Applied Research (iSTAR) Laboratory at Portland State University
- Multipurpose River Hydraulics Research Facility at Oregon State University
- Oregon Process Innovation Center (OPIC) (http://opic.oregonstate.edu) for Sustainable Solar Cell Manufacturing at Oregon State University
- OSU-Benton County Green Stormwater Infrastructure Research Facility at Oregon State University
- SuNRISE Photovoltaics Lab at the University of Oregon

Oregon BEST Member Researchers
A statewide network of 270+ Oregon BEST Member Researchers (http://oregonbest.org/portfolio/across four universities offer expertise to help Oregon companies — ranging from startups to existing firms — compete in the cleantech economy. The research expertise of Oregon BEST Member Researchers covers clean technologies of all kinds (http://oregonbest.org/about-us/this-is-cleantech/what-is-cleantech), as well as cleantech business expertise.

Oregon BEST Commercialization Program
This program accelerates the commercialization of technologies developed by universities and small businesses in Oregon. The program focuses on creating commercialization partnerships between industry and Oregon universities, leveraging existing collaborations between Oregon companies and Oregon BEST’s Member Researchers (http://oregonbest.org/portfolio/), and moving clean technologies from Oregon universities into the marketplace.

The commercialization collaborations that are catalyzed by Oregon BEST create much-needed jobs for Oregonians in the cleantech sector, which is expected to experience significant growth for decades to come. Simultaneously, the technologies commercialized help address the challenges of climate change, our nation's dependence on fossil fuels, the environmental impacts of energy generation and building materials production, and the quality of our indoor environments.

The Commercialization Program has three main elements:

- Oregon BEST University Research Grants are designed to move clean technologies out of Oregon universities and into startups and Oregon businesses. The grants fund technology development projects with a high potential for commercialization. Successful funded projects have the potential to receive additional Oregon BEST funding and assistance in startup creation.

- Oregon BEST Early-Stage Investments (http://oregonbest.org/funding-support/funding/early-stage-investments/) help bridge the gap between traditional R&D funding sources and the availability of private investment – a gap commonly known as the "valley of death." By working with Oregon BEST Member Researchers at partner universities, university tech-transfer offices, and small businesses, we identify opportunities for small investments to make a big impact. These investments assist new companies in moving products and services to market, securing follow-on financing, and gaining initial customer traction.

- Commercialization acceleration support services connect experienced Entrepreneurs-in-Residence on the Oregon BEST team with researchers and startups that need assistance in making the transition from "technology readiness" to "investment readiness" and "commercial viability." Oregon BEST provides consultation and mentorship to assist in the areas of business strategy, product strategy, acquisition of private capital, strategic business development, management team formation, and federal funding opportunities (see the Oregon BEST SBIR/STTR Support Center, http://oregonbest.org/funding-support/sbir/str/support-for-oregon-companies/). Oregon BEST also leverages a wide range of entrepreneurial support services available from other entities and provides a focal point for the development of cleantech products and cleantech companies.

Investment Opportunities: Oregon BEST Companies

Oregon BEST has awarded commercialization funding to more than 40 Oregon companies. Through a competitive process, Oregon BEST selects high-potential companies with strong technologies, viable business strategies, and passionate entrepreneurs. Many of these companies are strong investment candidates for angel investors, venture capitalists, and corporate strategic investors. To make them investor-ready, Oregon BEST companies typically have had the benefit of collaboration with a university researcher, a funded project to develop or demonstrate their technology, and mentoring from one of our Entrepreneurs-in-Residence or another ecosystem affiliate. By engaging with Oregon BEST, the companies we support offer greater potential and lower risk than typical cleantech startups.

Visionary Leadership

As an independent nonprofit established by the Oregon Legislature, Oregon BEST builds on Oregon’s reputation as an international leader in cleantech innovation. We provide leadership to map opportunities for high-impact clean technology development and establish priorities that result in jobs, greater sustainability, and economic prosperity for the region. Oregon BEST brings together representatives from industry, universities, government, and other organizations to identify targeted clean technology commercialization and industry development opportunities across many areas. We focus on areas of opportunity where existing organizations are not already addressing needs or are not positioned to lead and develop strategies. Working with a wide range of partners, Oregon BEST takes a leadership role in coordinating clean technology initiatives across Oregon. This work includes identifying strategic research focus areas that align with market opportunities and national policy priorities and that have the potential to create future economic activity in Oregon. We also reach beyond Oregon’s borders, collaborating with organizations in other states to increase regional impact and benefit Oregon.

Oregon BEST’s leadership (http://oregonbest.org/about-us/team/#board) includes executives from Portland General Electric, National Energy Technology Lab, and The Baker Group. These executives join research leadership from Oregon BEST’s founding partner universities (see below), venture capital and corporate investors, and members of the Oregon Legislature to make up a visionary Board of Directors, a Commercialization Advisory Board, and staff — all committed to advancing Oregon’s cleantech economy.

History and Founding Universities

Oregon BEST was established as an independent, nonprofit organization in 2007 as part of the Oregon Innovation Council’s legislative recommendations. Initial funding came from the Oregon Legislature, with additional support from the Oregon University System and the Meyer Memorial Trust. Founding partner universities include the Oregon Institute of Technology, Oregon State University, Portland State University, and the University of Oregon.

Additional Research Units & Consortia at OSU

These additional research units are organized under OSU’s colleges.

The Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station is a statewide research network of Oregon State University scientists working on the Corvallis campus and at 11 branch stations in the major crop, climate, and marketing areas of Oregon. These diverse locations ensure that the station’s research program is close to the people and the needs of Oregon’s agricultural and natural resources. Founded July 1, 1888, in accordance with the federal Hatch Act of 1887, the mission of the Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station is to conduct research and demonstrations in the agricultural, biological, social, and environmental sciences that contribute to the economic, environmental, and social welfare of Oregon. We are committed to:

- Helping build a sustainable economy by fostering economic growth and sustainability;
- Addressing ecological concerns by generating knowledge and information to improve and protect Oregon’s natural resources; and
- Expanding fundamental knowledge by advancing fundamental science relating to the environment, agriculture, and natural resources;
- Partnering with and enabling people and their communities to address a variety of issues including urban-rural economic dependencies, community food systems, land use, food security, poverty, and others

Current research emphases in the station are in five signature program areas that sustain and build on the College of Agricultural Sciences’ traditional strengths and link to stakeholder needs, but also look to key future opportunities. These signature areas also address contemporary and emerging forces or drivers facing Oregon's people and landscape. Overarching contemporary drivers comprise water, energy, climate change, health, and demographics. The signature program areas are:

- Sustainable food and agricultural systems;
- Environmental and human well-being;
- Plant sciences and systems biology;
- Natural resources stewardship;
- Bioproducts, biomaterials, and bioenergy for a sustainable bioeconomy.

The station conducts research in 12 academic departments (Applied Economics (formerly Agricultural and Resource Economics), Animal and Rangeland Sciences, Biological and Ecological Engineering, Botany and Plant Pathology, Chemistry, Crop and Soil Science, Environmental and Molecular Toxicology, Fisheries and Wildlife, Food Science and Technology, Horticulture, Microbiology, and Statistics), and colleges of Forestry, Public Health and Human Sciences, Science, and Veterinary Medicine. Research is supported in other units such as the Center for Genome Research and Biocomputing, Linus Pauling Institute, the Environmental Health Sciences Center, Agricultural Education and Agricultural Sciences, and Extension and Experiment Station Communications.

Branch stations provide opportunities for basic and applied field research programs at the following locations:

- Central Oregon Agricultural Research Center (Madras and Powell Butte)
- Columbia Basin Agricultural Research Center (Pendleton and Moro)
- Eastern Oregon Agricultural Research Center (Burns and Union)
- Food Innovation Center Experiment Station (Portland)
- Hermiston Agricultural Research and Extension Center (Hermiston)
- Klamath Basin Research and Extension Center (Klamath Falls)
- Malheur Experiment Station (Ontario)
- Mid-Columbia Agricultural Research and Extension Center (Hood River)
- North Willamette Research and Extension Center (Aurora)
- Southern Oregon Research and Extension Center (Medford)
- Coastal Oregon Marine Experiment Station (Newport and the Seafood Laboratory at Astoria)

The station collaborates with the OSU Extension Service, instructional programs within Oregon State University, Oregon state agencies, federal departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Energy, Interior, and Transportation, and other federal and state agencies on research programs of interest to the state, the Pacific Northwest, the nation, and other countries.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING RESEARCH AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

Irem Y. Tumer, Associate Dean for Research and Economic Development
Websites: http://red.engr.oregonstate.edu/

The Office of Research and Economic Development (RED) at the College of Engineering was established to promote and support research programs and faculty. The overall mission of the RED office is to build new bridges between faculty, external stakeholders and collaborators, help faculty find and apply for funding opportunities, boost the college's reputation for research, and grow industry funding. We specifically aim to foster high-impact research initiatives among our faculty, and develop strong relationships with our academic, industry, and government partners. This includes not only connecting faculty teams with funding opportunities and matching industry needs with Oregon State expertise, but also assembling teams that can build new programs in emerging areas that are responsive to global challenges.

Research is conducted by faculty and students from the following schools and departments:

- School of Chemical, Biological and Environmental Engineering
- School of Civil and Construction Engineering
- School of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science
- School of Mechanical, Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering
- School of Nuclear Science and Engineering
- Department of Biological and Ecological Engineering

Graduate students can complete their degrees in one of 14 graduate programs are offered through the CoE schools:

- Biological and Ecological Engineering
- Chemical Engineering
- Civil Engineering
- Computer Science
- Electrical and Computer Engineering
- Engineering Management Graduate Option
- Environmental Engineering
- Industrial Engineering
- Materials Science
- Mechanical Engineering
- Medical Physics (in partnership with OHSU)
- Nuclear Engineering
- Radiation Health Physics
- Robotics

The schools under the OSU College of Engineering collaborate with signature research centers, institutes, and facilities that bring together industry, academia, the investment community, and other key partners. These platforms of cooperation serve as a catalyst for new research and revenue streams that transform ideas into solutions.

AQUACULTURE COLLABORATIVE RESEARCH UNIT

Hillary S. Egna, Director
Website: http://aquafishcrsp.oregonstate.edu/ and http://pdacrsp.oregonstate.edu/

The Aquaculture Collaborative Research Support Program (CRSP), or Aquaculture Unit, a center within the College of Agricultural Sciences since 1999, has served as the home for international aquaculture programs such as the Feed the Future Innovation Lab for Collaborative Research on Aquaculture & Fisheries (formerly AquaFish CRSP), the Aquaculture Best Management Practices for Strategic Investment in Rapid Technology Dissemination project, the Aquatic Resource Use and Conservation for Sustainable Freshwater Aquaculture and Fisheries Project (USAID Mali/Bamako Mission), a USAID Cairo Mission Aquaculture Project, the Aquaculture CRSP, the Pond Dynamics/Aquaculture (PD/A) CRSP, and other projects. These diverse international aquaculture programs have been knitted together under independent grants, and have shared a common goal to reduce poverty in developing countries by improving access by the poor to fish and water resources.

The mission of the Unit is to enrich livelihoods and promote health by cultivating international multidisciplinary partnerships that advance science, research, education, and outreach in aquaculture and fisheries. The Unit’s research and outreach work focuses on developing comprehensive, sustainable, and economically viable aquaculture and fisheries management systems that contribute to food safety and food security in poorer countries. Challenges poorer countries face include pressures from global trade, environmental degradation, climate change, water use conflicts, and the mal-distribution of benefits. The Aquaculture Unit maintains a global experiment database of georeferenced data on tropical aquaculture, and a repository of over 550 peer-review publications emanating from its research programs. The Unit has worked with nearly 600 U.S. and host country universities, government, private companies, and non-governmental organizations to support research, development, and outreach activities in 34 countries including Bangladesh, Belize, Brazil, Bolivia, Burma, Cambodia, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Ghana, Guatemala, Guyana, Honduras, Indonesia, Kenya, Laos PDR, Malawi, Mali, Mexico, Nepal, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Rwanda, South Africa, Tanzania, Thailand, Uganda, U.S.A., and Vietnam.

FOREST RESEARCH LABORATORY–INSTITUTE FOR WORKING FOREST LANDSCAPES

Thomas Maness, Director
Anthony S. Davis, Associate Director
Roger D. Admiral, Associate Director
Website: http://www.forestry.oregonstate.edu/research/forest-research-laboratory

Research in the College of Forestry (CoF) is conducted under the broad umbrella of the Forest Research Laboratory (FRL), which was established by the Oregon Legislature in 1941. The FRL is partially funded by the Legislature as one of three Statewide Public Service Units (see Oregon Revised Statute 526.225). Faculty, staff, and students from the College of Forestry’s Departments of Forest Engineering, Resources, and Management; Forest Ecosystems and Society; and Wood Science and Engineering contribute to a diverse portfolio of fundamental and applied research and outreach activities.

In November 2013, the college launched the Institute for Working Forest Landscapes (IWFL) to focus FRL research programs on innovative approaches for managing landscapes that will enhance people’s lives and improve the health of communities, businesses and vital ecosystems. The IWFL’s program is organized under four broad thematic areas: Healthy People and Communities, Resilient Ecosystems, Intensively Managed Forests, and Competitive and Innovative Products. Initial efforts focus on the following opportunities:

- Improving the Health of Rural Communities and Citizens
- Increasing the Competitiveness of Oregon’s Private Landowners and Businesses
- Enhancing Ecosystem Health with a Landscape Approach
- Increasing Public Trust in Active Management of Public and Private Lands

In addressing these themes and opportunities, faculty are providing leadership in addressing many of society’s challenges at scales ranging from molecules to the globe, including topics such as:

- Determining the impacts of climate change on forests and how forests can lessen the severity of change
- Protecting the sustainability of forests and the ecosystem services they provide, including water, wildlife habitat, recreation, and wood
- Facilitating development and use of renewable "green" materials and energy
- Fostering operations and manufacturing processes that are environmentally and socially acceptable, and economically feasible
- Expanding the understanding and value of forests to society, especially in urban environments

Research provides information that supports scientifically informed decisions about the management, conservation, and use of Oregon’s public and private forest resources, and that enhances the competitiveness of Oregon’s forest-resource-based industries and businesses. Communication of results to science peers, land managers, policy makers, and the public is a high priority.

Activities benefit from collaboration with many other departments and colleges at Oregon State and elsewhere. The FRL, the Corvallis Forestry Sciences Laboratory of the U.S. Forest Service, the Corvallis-based Forest and Rangelands Ecosystem Science Center of the U.S. Geological Service, and related research conducted elsewhere on campus combine to form one of the largest concentrations of forest sciences research capacity in North America.

INTEGRATED PLANT PROTECTION CENTER

Paul Jepson, Director
Website: http://www.ipmnet.org/

The Integrated Plant Protection Center (IPPC) was established in 1991, to expand upon the range of activities of the International Plant Protection Center, that was chartered by Oregon State University in 1969 (see http://www.ipmnet.org/). The IPPC is partially supported by the Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Cooperative Extension Service. The IPPC focuses upon research, education and outreach activities associated with the adoption of sustainable integrated pest management (IPM) practices.
in agriculture. It is the home for a number United States Department of Agriculture (USDA)-funded programs associated with pest control and pesticide management, including the state IPM program, the Regional Pest Management Center program, the Pesticide and Environmental Stewardship program, and the Farm Safety program.

The IPPC provides leadership, coordination and support for scientists at OSU, in the Pacific Northwest region, and internationally, in the field of IPM. Its activities encompass pest, disease and weed management, and the rational management and use of pesticides. It also provides news and facilitates communications between university, state, and federal agencies through a number of media, including an electronic news alert system, and a newsletter (see http://oregonipm.ippc.orst.edu/ (http://oregonipm.ippc.orst.edu)).

IPPC activities include the provision of electronic tools that assist growers and their advisors in making pest management decisions within their crops. This includes online weather data and degree-day models, which forecast the developmental stages and epidemiology of a number of important crops pests and diseases (see http://pnwpest.org/wea/). In addition, the IPPC works collaboratively with scientists throughout the state, to manage online pest alerts to growers. These can be accessed via the IPPC home page (see http://www.ipmnet.org/).

The IPPC maintains a large and important collection of documents, monographs and books on IPM, much of which is searchable via the OSU Valley library online database. It also supports a unique service in international outreach, IPMnet, which includes, among a number of other resources, IPMnet NEWS, a monthly electronic newsletter that is distributed to scientists in 127 countries (see http://www.ipmnet.org/). IPMnet NEWS is supported by the Consortium for International Crop Protection (CICP) and a grant from the USDA.

The IPPC is expanding its activities in four areas at present, (1) biological control/biologically-based pest management, (2) enhanced diagnostic and forecasting tools, (3) pesticide management, rational use, risk mitigation and (4) information delivery, decision support and outreach. For further details please contact the director.

INTER-UNIVERSITY CONSORTIUM FOR POLITICAL AND SOCIAL RESEARCH (ICPSR)

Valery King, Official Representative (OSU Libraries)
Website: http://www.icpsr.umich.edu/icpsrweb/

Through funding provided by OSU Libraries, Oregon State University is a member of ICPSR, the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research. A unit within the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan, ICPSR was established in 1962 and maintains and provides access to a vast archive of social science data for research and instruction. OSU students, faculty and staff may access these data at no charge and may also deposit their own data into the collection.

ICPSR offers members reduced fees to attend the Summer Training Program in Quantitative Methods of Social Research, a comprehensive curriculum of intensive courses in research design, statistics, data analysis, and social methodology. Additionally ICPSR leads several initiatives that encourage use of data in teaching, particularly for undergraduate instruction, and offers user support to assist researchers in identifying relevant data for analysis and in conducting their research projects.

KIEWIT CENTER FOR INFRASTRUCTURE AND TRANSPORTATION

Jason Weiss, Director
Email: kiewit.center@oregonstate.edu
Website: http://cce.oregonstate.edu/research/

Background

The Kiewit Center for Infrastructure and Transportation was initially established in 1962 as the Transportation Research Institute. The Kiewit Center serves as the umbrella organization for all research within the School of Civil and Construction Engineering. The center is a key component in the College of Engineering’s drive to become a top 25 engineering program, coordinating multi- and interdisciplinary research projects.

For the last 150 years, civil engineers have built the infrastructure upon which American prosperity rests. Roads, bridges, airfields, dams, schools, and safe drinking water form the foundation for our quality of life. Today that foundation is crumbling. Americans experience this deterioration every day. A recent report by the American Society of Civil Engineers confirms what most Americans already know—the ASCE report gave the U.S. infrastructure an overall grade of D+.

The center is an interdisciplinary unit that provides research, education and public service related to the built environment and the systems that operate in that environment.

Facilities

Geotechnical Testing Laboratory
- Testing in support of both practice-oriented investigations and state-of-the-art research
- Advanced geo-mechanical modeling of soil-structure interaction
- Full scale, well-instrumented testing of field geo-systems

Highway Materials Laboratory
- Investigation of innovative highway construction materials
- Service life modeling and long term durability assessment
- Evaluation of recycled materials for use in construction

O.H. Hinsdale Wave Research Laboratory
- Impact of tsunamis and storm waves on coastal infrastructure
- Nearshore processes related to coastal erosion
- Tsunami and coastal hazard mitigation

Large Scale Structural Strong-Floor Facility
- Structural evaluation of full-size beams and columns
- Development of earthquake-resistant structural systems

National Center for Accessible Transportation
- Investigation of advanced technologies for accessible transportation systems

MARINE MAMMAL INSTITUTE

Bruce Mate, Director
Website: http:// MMI.oregonstate.edu/

The OSU Marine Mammal Institute is a multi-disciplinary faculty incorporating the work of academics from engineering, genetics, fisheries and wildlife (agriculture), aquatics, ecology, veterinary medicine, biology, and communications.
The MBI is performing research and development in arrayed microfluidics through the collaboration of federal laboratories and universities. PNNL’s thrust is Micro Chemical and Thermal Systems. Together, OSU and PNNL seek to model, through the development, phenomena and their technology embodiments.

The MBI is collaboration between the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory (PNNL) and Oregon State University (OSU). The MBI is one of three shared-user facilities within the Oregon Nanoscience and Microtechnologies Institute (ONAMI, http://onami.us/).

PNNL and OSU are leaders in the science, engineering, and technology development of nano- and micro-scale processes and systems. Collaboratively they conduct research and development projects ranging from fundamental science and technology investigations to assistance with commercial development and production. Areas of current research and development include photovoltaic manufacturing, hydrogen storage, nanomaterials synthesis, biofuel processing, miniature heat pumps and artificial kidneys among others.

Both PNNL and OSU are well established in arrayed microfluidic systems development. PNNL's thrust is Micro Chemical and Thermal Systems (MICROCATS) while OSU concentrates on Micro Energy and Chemical Systems (MECS). Together, OSU and PNNL seek to model, through the MBI, the way in which technology can be developed and commercialized through the collaboration of federal laboratories and universities.

The MBI is performing research and development in arrayed microfluidics and nanomanufacturing for:

- U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)
- National Institute of Health (NIH)
- Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA)
- U.S. Army
- National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)
- National Science Foundation (NSF)
- Private companies and corporations

O.H. HINSDALE WAVE RESEARCH LABORATORY

Pedro Lomonaco, Director
541-737-2875
Email: pedro.lomonaco@oregonstate.edu
Website: http://wave.oregonstate.edu/

The O.H. Hinsdale Wave Research Laboratory provides outstanding research and testing at the largest nearshore experimental facility at an academic institution in the US. The 6,100 ft² (570 m²) building is situated on the main campus and houses the Large Wave Flume (LWF), Directional Wave Basin (DWB), and 3,000 ft² (300 m²) of office space for staff, graduate students, visiting researchers, and clients. The laboratory conducts research on coastal and nearshore processes involving:

- Wave-structure interaction
- Nearshore hydrodynamics and sediment transport
- Marine renewable energy
- Tsunami and coastal hazards
- Fixed and floating structures

Through our work we deliver research, testing, and education and outreach opportunities to improve the resilience and sustainability of coastal areas, and to develop innovative solutions to the design of coastal infrastructure.

From January 2016, the HWRL is partially supported by the Natural Hazards Engineering Research Infrastructure (NHERI) program of the National Science Foundation.

OREGON CLIMATE CHANGE RESEARCH INSTITUTE (OCCRI)

Philip W. Mote, Director
Kathie Dello, Associate Director
Websites: http://occri.weebly.com/

The Oregon State Legislature established the Oregon Climate Change Research Institute (OCCRI) within the Department of Higher Education in 2007. OCCRI is a network of over 150 researchers at Oregon State University (OSU), the University of Oregon, Portland State University, Southern Oregon University, and affiliated federal and state labs. OCCRI is administered by OSU and has a staff of about 15.

OCCRI is tasked with:

- facilitating research by faculty at Oregon’s public universities on climate change and its effects on natural and human systems in Oregon
- serving as a clearinghouse for climate change information
At least every two years, the institute will also develop an assessment of climate change science as it relates to Oregon and the likely effects of climate change on the state. OCCRI helps Oregonians, government agencies, and the private sector understand the potential impacts of climate variability and change on the state. The institute also helps individuals, agencies, and companies develop new strategies to prepare for climate change.

In September of 2010, OCCRI was named as the anchor institution for two federally funded regional climate science centers. The Department of the Interior’s (DOI) Pacific Northwest Climate Science Center (CSC) is one of eight CSC’s. The CSC serves as a resource for DOI agencies and other partners in providing necessary science in advising policy decisions. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration’s (NOAA) Pacific Northwest Climate Impacts Research Consortium (CIRC) is one of 11 Regional Integrated Sciences and Assessments (RISA) projects. The CIRC is engaging a broad number of stakeholders, including municipalities, utilities, emergency management organizations, irrigators, agricultural and Sea Grant extension, and state and federal agencies. In support of these stakeholders, CIRC is working on developing regional downscaled climate scenarios using integrated climate, hydrological, and vegetation models; PNW region and basin scale climate impacts assessments; social science and network analysis; mountain climate hazard, risk and vulnerability assessments; decision scenario visualization and planning tools; climate extension; public health risk management guidance; and community level adaptation approaches.

Other major 5-year OCCRI projects include Regional Approaches to Climate Change for PNW Agriculture (https://www.reachpna.org/), Forest Mortality and Climate (http://terraweb.forestry.oregonstate.edu/FMEC.htm), and Willamette Water 2100 (http://water.oregonstate.edu/).

OREGON WOOD INNOVATION CENTER

Scott Leavengood, Director
541-737-4212

Chris Knowles, Assistant Director
541-737-1438

Website: http://owic.oregonstate.edu/

The Oregon Wood Innovation Center (OWIC) is a joint initiative of Oregon State University’s College of Forestry and Extension Service. OWIC’s mission is to improve the competitiveness of Oregon’s wood products industry by fostering innovation in products, processes, and business systems. A key function of the center is to serve as the primary link between university research and needs and opportunities in the forest industry.

Why an Innovation Center?
The forest products industry has undergone dramatic changes in recent years. The industry responded to reductions in raw material supply and the forces of globalization by consolidating, retooling production systems, and by focusing on improving efficiencies in manufacturing processes. However, it is clear that focusing solely on process innovation will be insufficient to maintain future competitive advantage. Firms must also focus on product and business systems innovation. OWIC helps foster such innovation by serving as a ‘clearinghouse’ to connect manufacturers to the research community, to other organizations that provide assistance to businesses, and to facilitate networking within the industry.

Facilities and Services
OWIC is housed within OSU’s Department of Wood Science and Engineering, a department with established capabilities in research, outreach, and technology transfer in a broad array of disciplines. Disciplines and accompanying laboratories and services include:

• Anatomy and Quality of Renewable Materials—laboratories for wood fiber characterization and wood identification; equipment including microscopes and an X-ray densitometer.
• Biodeterioration, Protection and Durability of Renewable Materials—pressure cylinder for impregnating materials with preservatives; equipment for assessing insect and decay resistance.
• Biomass and Biofuels—equipment for analyzing the physical characteristics and energy value (e.g., particle size distribution, ash content and composition, and calorimetric heating values) of biomass feed stocks; a ½-meter diameter dryer for biomass.
• Chemistry—adhesives development, testing, and troubleshooting; research and testing of plant materials for value-added chemical products.
• Nanotechnology—research in nanocomposites for advanced textiles, barrier films, membranes, coatings and sensors.
• Composite Materials—development and testing of wood and wood/ non-wood composites; equipment including presses (hot and cold), glue spreader, refiner, digester, blender, former, and wood-plastic extruder.
• Wood Drying—a 100 BF kiln for measuring volatile organic compound (VOC) emissions and 2,000 BF dry kiln for research in lumber drying.
• Timber Engineering and Structural Design—equipment for assessing strength properties of wood-based materials; scale varies from small specimens up to large members such as beams and full-scale wall systems.
• Green Building Materials Laboratory—a 5,000 sq. ft. shared research laboratory of Oregon Built Environment and Sustainable Technologies Center (Oregon BEST). Equipment for characterizing, developing and testing high performance sustainable materials for a wide variety of applications including buildings and transportation infrastructure. A multi-chamber modular environment conditioning (MCMEC) system was added in 2014. The MCMEC is designed for durability testing of full-scale building assemblies. One test configuration allows exterior and interior conditions (temperature range ~30 degrees to 40 degrees C, humidity range 10% to 95%) to be imposed simultaneously, including sunlight simulation and water spray.
• Forest Products Business and Marketing—research and outreach on innovation in the forest industry and assessment of market potential for new products.
• Environmental Impacts of Renewable Materials—research on the environmental impacts of renewable materials from ‘cradle to grave’ (life cycle inventory and analysis).
• Other facilities include environmental conditioning chambers (hot-dry, hot-wet, cold room, standards room), accelerated weathering.
chambers (Q-Lab QUV and an automatic boil test device for ASTM D3434 test of exterior wet use adhesives), as well as state-of-the-art classrooms for onsite or distance education programs.

SUN GRANT WESTERN REGIONAL CENTER

John R. Talbott, Director
541-737-2194
Email: john.talbott@oregonstate.edu
Email: sungrant@oregonstate.edu
Website: http://sungrant.oregonstate.edu/

The mission of the Sun Grant Initiative is to:

1. Enhance national energy security through development, distribution and implementation of biobased energy technologies;
2. Promote diversification in and the environmental sustainability of, agricultural production in the United States through biobased energy and products technologies;
3. Promote economic diversification in rural areas of the United States through biobased energy and product technologies; and
4. Enhance the efficiency of bioenergy and biomass research and development programs through improved coordination and collaboration among the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Energy, and the land grant colleges and universities.

A network of five land grant universities serve as regional Sun Grant Centers. These universities include Oregon State University (Western Region), South Dakota State University (North-Central), Oklahoma State University (South-Central), the University of Tennessee-Knoxville (Southeastern), and Pennsylvania State University (Northeastern). The centers facilitate federally funded research, extension, and education programs in their respective regions.

The Sun Grant Western Regional Center, located at Oregon State University in Corvallis, is the administrative unit for the region composed of the states of Alaska, Arizona, California, Hawaii, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, and Washington, and the Pacific Territories and associated Pacific island nations, including American Samoa, Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas Islands, Guam, Federated States of Micronesia, the Republic of Palau, and the Republic of the Marshall Islands.

The current program area priorities for the Western region include biomass production, conversion and processing technologies, the development and enhancement of bio-based products, and evaluation of the bioproduct supply chain and life cycle analyses.

Important aims for the center include distributed energy production, diversity of feedstocks and processing approaches, crop suitability assessment, co-product and local human capital development, and system approaches.

SURVEY RESEARCH CENTER

Virginia Lesser, Director
Website: http://stat.oregonstate.edu/src/survey-research-center

Established in 1973, the Oregon State University Survey Research Center (OSU-SRC) provides comprehensive survey services including proposal development, questionnaire design and layout, survey administration and data collection, survey analysis and professional report writing. Our staff offers customized options, working with our clients to determine the best approach to collect survey data based on the study objectives, population of interest, and budgetary concerns. Our past and current clients include federal, state, and local agencies, national non-profit organizations, and OSU-affiliated entities. The OSU-SRC maintains several contracts with clients to provide our services on a recurrent basis, from monthly, annually, to ever few years.

Operating as a center for research in survey methodology, the OSU-SRC routinely conducts experiments using self-administered surveys with an aim to contribute to survey methodology research. The OSU-SRC subsequently publishes related material in scientific journals and presents experimental findings at professional meetings. The OSU-SRC provides expertise using survey best practices to maximize response rates and reduce non-response bias. Various sampling plans are examined for each survey to minimize total survey error. The OSU-SRC also offers consulting for OSU community members on research-based survey design and analysis.

UNIVERSITY CORPORATION FOR ATMOSPHERIC RESEARCH (UCAR)

Jeffrey R. Barnes, OSU Member Representatives
Website: https://www2.ucar.edu/

Through its membership in this national research consortium, Oregon State University has access to extensive facilities and services in support of its research in atmospheric, oceanic, and related sciences. Chief among these is the National Center for Atmospheric Research (NCAR) in Boulder, Colorado. Under the support of the National Science Foundation, this national laboratory conducts significant programs of atmospheric, oceanographic, and solar research in cooperation with member universities, and operates a state-of-the-art super computer facility, which is accessible to member institutions. UCAR also operates facilities for scientific ballooning, and through NCAR, maintains instrumented research aircraft and an extensive research and data library.

In addition to using these facilities, OSU faculty and graduate students participate in numerous seminars, workshops, and scientific meetings and conferences that are held at NCAR throughout the year. Through the corporation, Oregon State also cooperates in various national and international initiatives for research, service, and training in the atmospheric and related sciences.

OSU Research Office Centers and Institutes

Center for Genome Research and Biocomputing

Brett Tyler, Director
Website: http://cgrb.oregonstate.edu/

Mission Statement

The Center for Genome Research and Biocomputing facilitates the development, application and training in computationally intensive, genome-enabled research at OSU and across the state. Research in the CGRB and faculty affiliate laboratories seeks to improve health, better utilize natural and agricultural resources, understand our global environment, and develop new bio-based products and energy sources. The center offers leadership and services to faculty, staff and students through core laboratories, computational facilities, seminars and technology workshops, and conferences. It also provides a focal point for researchers to establish contacts, initiate collaborations, and apply new technologies in their own laboratories.

Functions of the CGRB

Over 100 OSU faculty, all holding primary appointments in academic departments of the colleges of Agricultural Sciences; Engineering; Forestry; Pharmacy; Science; Veterinary Medicine; or Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences; are affiliate members of the center. The center was established in 1983 as a university resource to develop cell and molecular biology research. Today, the CGRB facilitates development, application and training in computationally intensive, genome-enabled research at OSU and across the state. The CGRB functions and facilities include:

1. Staffed Core Laboratory facilities that provide a variety of services in genomics, functional genomics, imaging and genotyping;
2. Staffed biocomputing facilities with an extensive hardware infrastructure, which includes a managed cluster and shared resources;
3. Computational scientists and staff to facilitate implementation of a computationally intensive research program;
4. Seminar Series that features leading scientists in molecular and genomic biosciences, and frequent technology training workshops that feature cutting-edge technologies;
5. Annual Fall Conference that brings together faculty, staff and students from across OSU;
6. Coordination of the OSU Computational and Genome Biology Initiative.

CGRB Core Laboratories

A key part of the center is the CGRB Core Laboratories that provide services, technical expertise, collaborative functions and share-use equipment for molecular bioscience research at OSU. The core labs are a fully staffed facility that serves as a focal point for acquisition and development of new instrumentation and technologies. A professional staff of five provides service in four areas:

- Genomics—DNA sequencing, high throughput sequencing (illumina), genotyping and fragment analysis;
- Functional genomics—NimbleGen and Affymetrix GeneChip microarray services for analysis of global gene expression patterns in all types of organisms;
- Biocomputing and bioinformatics—advanced computational resources for data mining, data analysis and database development;
- Imaging and image analysis—a confocal laser scanning microscope facility for high-resolution analysis of a wide variety of specimens. In addition, the center maintains a set of common-use instruments and computers for research and data presentation.

In addition, the CGRB provides shared instrumentation, including real-time PCR, scanners, robotics, and computational facilities for use by walk-in users.

- Seminars, conferences, training—Bi-weekly CGRB seminar, annual conference, Gene D. Knudson Lectures in Molecular Genetics, technology training (e.g., high-throughput sequencing, bioinformatics training, etc.). The center coordinates a seminar program in which faculty, staff and students can interact with outstanding scientists from other institutions and organizations. The center also sponsors a yearly conference for scientific exchange, building collaborations, strengthening ties across departmental and college boundaries, and social interaction.

- Consolidation and coordination of bioscience faculty—over 100 faculty members are affiliated with the CGRB. The CGRB provides a consolidating function to organize large equipment grant proposals and other activities that require participation by several faculty. In addition, the CGRB is perceived by the administration to represent the interests of these faculty, who are spread across eight colleges.
- Research—In the past, the CGRB has not had an in-house research program. This is changing as the focus of the center shifts away from simple service to more of a collaborative, enabling technology entity. In particular, the CGRB has developed significant capacity for genomic and computational biology.

The CGRB director reports to the vice president for research. Scientific and administrative oversight and guidance are provided by a scientific advisory board, which has two external members, and an administrative advisory board.

Center for Latino/a Studies and Engagement (CL@SE)

Ana Gómez-Diazgranados, Associate Director of Outreach and Engagement
Ana.Gomez@oregonstate.edu (Daniel.Lopez-Cevallos@oregonstate.edu)

Daniel López-Cevallos, Associate Director of Research
Daniel.Lopez-Cevallos@oregonstate.edu

Website: http://liberalarts.oregonstate.edu/centers-and-initiatives/center-latino-studies-and-engagement

Mission Statement

The mission of the Center for Latino/a Studies and Engagement is to promote engaged research and outreach devoted to advancing knowledge and understanding of Latinx life chances and the issues shaping their lived experiences in our state, region and beyond.

Overarching Goals

- To promote excellence in engaged research, teaching, and outreach in Latinx Studies.
- To establish an action-based agenda which will promote the economic, political, physical, and educational well-being and development of the Latinx community in rural and urban Oregon.
- To serve as a model for enhancing the university’s capabilities in similarly targeted research and engagement efforts.
- To foster engaged research that is collaborative, trans-disciplinary, and community oriented; furthering both theoretical and applied knowledge to solve real-world problems.

Established Areas of Expertise

- Youth and Community Empowerment
- Socio-Economic Well-Being
- Health and Wellness
- Education
- Cultural and Historical Awareness

Center for Research on Lifelong STEM Learning

Martin Storksdieck, Director
Storksdieck@oregonstate.edu

Julie Risien, Associate Director
The Center for Research on Lifelong STEM Learning at Oregon State University works to improve understanding of how all people learn STEM throughout the lifespan and across formal and informal settings. The center works across campus to enhance OSU's capacity to conduct applied research on learning and education in STEM disciplines (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics), and to provide OSU with the insights from past and current research on STEM learning. It serves a diverse and decentralized community of those who engage in STEM, or use learning research at OSU, by functioning as a central hub and institutional support structure. The center represents OSU STEM learning research at state, national and international levels.

The Center for the Humanities
Christopher McKnight Nichols, Director
Joy Jensen, Coordinator
Website: http://oregonstate.edu/dept/humanities/

The Center for the Humanities, established in 1984 through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, is primarily concerned with the advancement of interdisciplinary humanities research. The Humanities Center provides fellowships to visiting scholars and OSU faculty members engaged in research and writing projects in literature, history, philosophy, foreign languages, and related humanities fields. Its programs are supported by the OSU Office of Research and the Oregon State University Foundation. Fellowship applications are screened by an advisory board made up of former fellows and OSU faculty from the College of Liberal Arts. The Humanities Center also hosts or co-sponsors research conferences, seminars, films, lectures, and other public programs in the humanities. The Humanities Center's fundamental concern is the advancement of humanities research, teaching, and public presence at OSU. It is located in Autzen House, a gracious and historic building on the east edge of campus, 811 SW Jefferson Avenue. Contact: Center for the Humanities, 541-737-2450.

Cooperative Institute for Marine Resources Studies
Michael A. Banks, Director
Website: http://hmrc.oregonstate.edu/cimrs/

The Cooperative Institute for Marine Resources Studies was established in 1982 to foster collaborative research between the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and Oregon State University in fisheries, aquaculture, oceanography, and related fields. It also encourages education and training of scientists in disciplines related to marine resources.

Administered through the Vice President for Research, the institute is the academic home for a staff of 25 to 45 (total) research assistants, associate and full professors, research associates, and faculty research assistants and students. Headquartered at the Hatfield Marine Science Center in Newport, the institute hosts collaborative research with various NOAA investigators within OAR, NOS and NMFS, specifically, the Pacific Marine Environmental Laboratory, the Northwest Fisheries Science Center and the Alaska Fisheries Science Center, the West Coast Regional Office, as well as researchers from a broad range of colleges and departments within the entire OUS system.

Currently, the broad goal of the Cooperative Institute for Marine Resources Studies is to coordinate research focused on living and nonliving marine resources, under four primary themes:
1. Marine Ecosystems and Habitat
2. Protection and Restoration of Marine Resources
3. Seafloor Processes
4. Marine Bioacoustics

The institute works with projects that emphasize basic science and environmental impacts, including human dimensions. The geographic area of interest extends over the eastern Pacific Ocean from northern California to the Bering Sea. The institute promotes cooperative projects between government and the university. Its cooperative agreements with NOAA laboratories provide a mechanism for OSU faculty, staff and students to work with federal scientists on research that leads to improved understanding of global ocean processes and fisheries issues.

Environmental Health Sciences Center
Joseph Beckman, Director
Website: http://ehsc.oregonstate.edu/

The Environmental Health Sciences Center was established in 1967 with funding by the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS). As an organizational unit under the vice president for research, it provides resources for coordination and stimulation of interdisciplinary basic research and training related to the effects of environmental factors on human health.

Environmental quality problems and their resultant effects continue to challenge people's health and their ability to understand and manage the evolving impact of environmental agents. Solutions to environmental problems require the interdisciplinary scientific efforts of professionals in many fields, both to generate new knowledge and to develop a qualified cadre of scientists who can provide an improved basis for risk assessment.

The EHS Center currently brings together and uses a variety of professional capabilities of research and teaching faculty, staff, and students from numerous OSU departments, schools, and colleges within OSU. Academic areas include chemistry, biochemistry and biophysics, environmental and molecular toxicology, microbiology; molecular and cell biology, food science and technology, fisheries and wildlife, veterinary medicine, pharmacology, zoology, and statistics. The center's visiting scientists program complements research expertise in these areas.

The broad mission of the EHS Center encompasses coordinated ongoing research of its faculty and encourages research by the training and support of qualified graduate students, predoctoral candidates, and postdoctoral research associates. As one of 26 national research centers designated by NIEHS, the EHS Center at OSU enhances the collaborative scientific research of its investigators with specialized core facilities. The center serves as an interdisciplinary resource on human health as related to the environment; it periodically awards funding for pilot projects submitted by OSU faculty to encourage new approaches in environmental health research. Selected proposals receive funding for preliminary studies, many of which have led to agency funding as major projects. It sponsors conferences, symposia, seminars, and meetings for student training, faculty consultations, and public communication. The EHS Center, through the OSU Cooperative Extension Service and other existing mechanisms, has developed a Community Outreach and Education Program to communicate and heighten public awareness about environmental issues and the related recognition of risk to human health.

Examples of specific research areas include toxicology of environmental chemicals, cellular and biochemical toxicology, immunotoxicology, naturally occurring toxins, carcinogenesis of environmental chemicals, genetic toxicology, mass spectrometric ionization processes and methodologies, heteronuclear NMR studies, the chemical basis for solid waste and chemical waste disposal, and statistical studies, e.g., temporal aspects of cancer risks.

Federal environmental health legislation, particularly the Toxic Substances Control Act, has created a greater need for qualified toxicologists. To help meet this need, many EHS Center investigators serve as faculty within the OSU MS/PhD interdisciplinary graduate Toxicology Program, as well as being faculty for the ongoing predoctoral and postdoctoral training program supported by the NIEHS and administered by the center. The focus of the training and research in environmental toxicology emphasizes determination of the mode of action of environmental chemicals; the curricula encourage use of biochemical, pathological, and pharmacological approaches to acquire a mastery in aquatic, biochemical, comparative, environmental, food, as well as general toxicology.

The administrative office of the EHS Center is in the Agricultural and Life Sciences (ALS) building; the research and teaching facilities are in the cooperating departments on campus. The EHS Center office has information available upon request.

Hatfield Marine Science Center

The Hatfield Marine Science Center has over 50 years of accomplishment in research, education, and outreach. Originally established as a marine laboratory for Oregon State University, it has grown to encompass a large group of partners on its 49-acre site on Yaquina Bay in Newport, Oregon. Within OSU, HMSC includes researchers, students, and faculty from six colleges. It serves as home to several university programs, including the Coastal Oregon Marine Experiment Station, the Cooperative Institute for Marine Resources Studies, and the Marine Mammal Institute. It also includes important components of the Oregon Sea Grant program and the Northwest National Marine Renewable Energy Center. Our onsite partners include six state and federal agencies involved in research and management of the marine environment, and our cooperation includes faculty appointments for agency staff, as well as opportunities for students to work with agency scientists. We work closely with local coastal communities, including the fishing industry. HMSC's Visitor Center, with 150,000 visitors and 40,000 K-12 students each year, is a key asset for OSU in public education.

The dynamic nature of HMSC's programs is reflected in our mission statement:

The Hatfield Marine Science Center is Oregon State University’s campus for research, education, and outreach in marine and coastal sciences. Through its partnerships, HMSC improves scientific understanding of marine systems, coastal processes and resources, and applies this knowledge to social, economic, and environmental issues.

HMSC is integral to OSU’s Marine Studies Initiative, which brings OSU’s diverse marine studies programs together for interdisciplinary collaboration in research and teaching. HMSC conducts diverse research and instruction in oceanic, coastal and estuarine habitats, and serves a unique laboratory facility serving resident scientists and students, and as a base for oceanographic research. With a combined budget in excess of $40M, HMSC also plays an important economic role on the Oregon Coast.

Research facilities on the HMSC campus serve students and staff of OSU, partnering state and federal agencies, and visiting scientists from other institutions. Main buildings provide 200,000 square feet of office, library, classroom, wet and dry laboratory space and a Visitor Center. Ship support facilities and dock areas of the College of Earth, Ocean, and Atmospheric Sciences serve the R/V Oceanus, R/V Elakha, R/V Pacific Storm and other research vessels. There are also housing and kitchen facilities for up to 82 students and visiting scientists on the HMSC campus.

The university encourages all marine science research, instruction, or extension activities to take advantage of the center’s unique facilities.

Institute for Natural Resources

Lisa Gaines, Interim Director
Main Office: 541-737-9918
Website: http://inr.oregonstate.edu/

Created by the Oregon Legislature with the Oregon Sustainability Act of 2001, the Institute for Natural Resources (INR) is a cooperative enterprise bringing the scientific knowledge and expertise of the Oregon University System and other Oregon higher education institutions to bear on natural resource management.

Designated as the lead university to administer INR, Oregon State University (OSU) established INR as a research institute within OSU to help decision-makers identify and use relevant science in making policy choices. At INR’s foundation is the land grant mission — building bridges between theory and practice and effectively communicating knowledge to decision-makers. As such, INR seeks to:

- provide Oregonians with ready access to current, science-based information and methods for better understanding and making informed decisions about our natural resource management challenges;
- increase the utility of integrated, science-based information in the development and understanding of natural resource and environmental policy by bridging science and decision-making efforts;
- focus on interdisciplinary natural resource and environmental problems and develop new collaborative relationships to solve them;
- identify and investigate controversial natural resource issues that challenge resource management and/or governance; and,
- identify opportunities for applied policy-related research that benefits Oregon’s natural resources and environment.

INR’s success depends on a clear sense of our values and principles: ensuring integrity and objectivity, building partnerships, maintaining relevance, providing service, and creating excellence.
INR's focus areas, programs, and projects address Oregon natural resource issues in the local, regional, national, and international context.

Institute for Water and Watersheds

Todd Jarvis, Director

Kathryn Motter, Laboratory Manager

Email: iww@oregonstate.edu

Website: http://water.oregonstate.edu/

Oregonians are beginning to witness the difficulties caused by water quantity and quality constraints and face critical choices about fresh water. Earlier melting of the Cascades snowpack is changing “free water storage,” which has implications for snowmelt out of phase with existing water resource systems and ecosystems. Sustainable water supplies for development, ecosystem maintenance, and hydroelectric power generation may be adversely affected by increased population, climate change, and renegotiation of the Columbia River Treaty. Since water is “virtually” embedded in all Oregon products, whether natural or manufactured, the state's economic vitality is tied directly to water. Water quantity and quality issues in the Willamette and Klamath Basins are two of the state's top environmental priorities.

The aforementioned challenges are on an unprecedented scale and require solutions obtained by integrating several or more disciplines. The Institute for Water and Watersheds (IWW), Oregon's federally-designated water resources research institute, has over 125 affiliated faculty and pursues solutions to Oregon's water problems by assembling research teams from a broad spectrum of disciplines. The institute utilizes educational and outreach models to communicate the latest water science and policy options to stakeholders so that they can make informed intelligent decisions. The IWW's Water Collaboratory, an open analytical chemistry laboratory, provides faculty, staff, and students with a variety of analytical capabilities.

Email: larc@oregonstate.edu

Website: http://oregonstate.edu/dept/larc/

The Laboratory Animal Resources Center (LARC) supports and manages the care and veterinary oversight of vertebrate animals used in instruction, research, production, and testing on the Oregon State University campus and property throughout the state.

As the leading public research university in Oregon, the campus community is held to the highest standards of responsible animal care. The LARC is managed and operated in compliance with the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) Policy on Humane Care and Use of Laboratory Animals and the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Animal Welfare Act Regulations. The university is fully accredited by the Association for Assessment and Accreditation of Laboratory Animal Care (AAALAC International). All LARC policies and procedures adhere to the recommendations of the Guide for the Care and Use of Laboratory Animals (NRC 2011) and the Guide for the Care and Use of Agricultural Animals in Research and Teaching (FASS 2010).

The LARC staff is composed of veterinarians, animal technicians, and veterinary technicians all with specialty training and certifications specific to laboratory animal medicine. LARC employees are committed to providing an exemplary animal oversight program. This includes assuring humane care and use of animals through quality veterinary oversight, husbandry, social housing and environmental enrichment. The LARC staff facilitates campus research and instructional collaborations, through consultation, training, and provision of professional technical and clinical services, and by maintaining compliance with applicable federal and state regulations. The LARC upholds the university's academic mission and commitment to public service.

Linus Pauling Institute

Balz Frei, Director

307 Linus Pauling Science Center

541-737-5075

Email: lpi@oregonstate.edu

Website: http://lpi.oregonstate.edu/

The Linus Pauling Institute was co-founded in 1973 by Linus Pauling, the only individual to win two unshared Nobel Prizes (Chemistry, 1954; Peace, 1962). The institute moved to the campus of Oregon State University (Dr. Pauling's undergraduate alma mater) in 1996 and now operates as one of the university’s research centers and institutes. The program is principally supported by gifts from individuals, private corporations, and foundations; grants from federal and private agencies; and Oregon State University.

Researchers at the Linus Pauling Institute investigate the role that vitamins and essential minerals (micronutrients) and chemicals from plants (phytochemicals) play in human aging, immune function, and chronic diseases, especially heart disease, cancer, and neurodegenerative diseases. A major emphasis is to understand the role of oxidative stress and inflammation in disease etiology, and the preventive effects of dietary constituents with antioxidant or anti-inflammatory properties.

The goal of these studies is to understand the mechanisms by which diet, micronutrients, and dietary supplements affect disease initiation and progression and can be used in the prevention or treatment of human diseases, thereby enhancing lifespan and healthspan.

LPI’s research is organized into three major areas: Cardiometabolic Disease Prevention, the Healthy Aging Program, and the Cancer Prevention and Intervention Program. Specific research projects address:

- Dietary antioxidants, vascular inflammation, and heart disease
- Vitamin E in human health
- Metabolism of dietary and endogenous fats
- Vitamin C, lipid peroxidation, and oxidative stress
- Role of lipoic acid in vascular inflammation and atherosclerosis
- Aging, stress response, and mitochondrial decay
- Lou Gehrig's disease (ALS), peroxynitrite, and superoxide dismutase
- Vitamin D and immune function
- Aging and memory
- Rapamycin, protein homeostasis, and aging
- Cancer chemoprotection for the fetus and infant
- Zinc and antioxidants in cancer chemoprevention
- Dietary interventions for cancer prevention
- Role of drug-metabolizing enzymes in health and disease
• Vitamin E metabolism and mechanisms for chemoprotection and chemotherapy

The goals of these studies are to understand the mechanisms by which nutrition affects disease initiation and progression and how nutritional factors can be used in the prevention and treatment of diseases. Such an understanding will allow an increase in the human healthspan—the period in which people enjoy a healthy and productive life, full of vitality, with minimal suffering, and free of cancer and other debilitating diseases.

LPI maintains three core laboratories that provide analytical services to intramural and extramural researchers:

Cancer Prevention and Intervention Program Core Laboratory
The Cancer Prevention and Intervention Program (CPI) Core Laboratory provides genetic toxicity testing services. Its mission is to help investigators identify dietary compounds with chemoprotective properties and to elucidate their inhibitory mechanism(s). Several techniques, including the Salmonella mutagenicity assay (Ames test), single-cell gel electrophoresis assay (Comet assay), and micronucleus assay, enable investigators to assess the mutagenic, DNA-damaging, and clastogenic effects of chemicals. Using known mutagens or clastogens as positive controls, we study the potential beneficial activities of dietary compounds or other chemicals against those DNA-damaging agents. We also recently implemented a Histone Deacetylase (HDAC) assay to identify dietary HDAC inhibitors, which are of interest in cancer chemoprotection.

Oxidative/Nitrative Stress Core Laboratory
Oxidative and nitrative stress can be produced by inflammation, disease, or environmental exposure, including tobacco smoke. The resulting reactive oxygen and nitrogen species can react with lipids, proteins, and nucleic acids in the body to form molecules measurable by sensitive chemical analytical methods. These molecules can serve as "biomarkers" to reveal an individual’s state of health or the effectiveness of dietary or pharmaceutical interventions. For example, F2-isoprostanes and their metabolites are considered good biomarkers of free radical-induced lipid peroxidation. The Oxidative/Nitrative Stress Core Laboratory (ONSL) has several high-performance liquid chromatographs (HPLCs) coupled to UV, fluorescence, electrochemical, and single- and triple-quadrupole mass spectrometer detectors. ONSL also has several solid-phase extraction robots for sample preparation. These facilities provide LPI investigators with state-of-the-art chemical analysis of biomarkers, antioxidants, and drug metabolites.

Food Composition Laboratory
The Food Composition Laboratory provides chemical analyses of food composition and nutritional factors. We provide analyses of food, feed, or dietary supplement samples for vitamins, phytochemicals, and other compositional factors.

In addition to our research, we publish a free, semiannual research newsletter; maintain a website; provide peer-reviewed information about nutritional factors on our online Micronutrient Information Center, http://lpi.oregonstate.edu/mic; organize and sponsor scientific meetings, including the biennial Diet and Optimum Health Conference; and respond to inquiries from the public and the media as our means of building on Dr. Pauling's legacy. The Healthy Youth Program (http://lpi.oregonstate.edu/healthyouth) is designed to provide education and activities on diet and exercise to school children and their teachers and families to promote optimum health.

The Northwest National Marine Renewable Energy Center (NNMREC) is a U.S. Department of Energy-sponsored partnership between Oregon State University (OSU), the University of Washington (UW), and the University of Alaska Fairbanks (UAF). The three universities collaborate together with national laboratories on research, education, outreach, and engagement.

NNMREC’s mission is to facilitate commercialization of marine energy technology, inform regulatory and policy decisions, and close key gaps in scientific understanding with a focus on student growth and development. We work closely with a variety of stakeholders, including device developers, community members, ocean users, federal and state regulators, and government officials, to conduct research about wave energy, provide test sites for prototype devices, and assist developers with planning and permitting activities.

NNMREC’s objectives are to:
• Develop facilities to serve as an integrated, standardized test center for U.S. and international developers of wave and tidal energy;
• Evaluate potential environmental, ecosystem, and human dimension impacts, focusing on the compatibility of marine energy technologies in areas with sensitive environments and existing users;
• Facilitate and conduct research to inform adaptive management of marine energy technologies;
• Study and consult on device and array optimization for effective deployment of wave and tidal energy technologies;
• Improve forecasting of the wave energy resource; and
• Increase reliability and survivability of marine energy systems.

Oregon NASA Space Grant Consortium
Jack Higginbotham, Director
B092 Kerr Administration Building
Corvallis, OR 97331-2103
541-737-2414
Website: http://spacegrant.oregonstate.edu/

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) established Oregon Space Grant in 1991 as a part of the National Space Grant College and Fellowship Program. The objectives of the program are to establish a national network of universities with interest and capabilities in aeronautics, space, and related fields; encourage cooperative programs among universities, aerospace industry, and federal, state, and local governments; encourage interdisciplinary training, research, and public service programs related to aeronautics, space science, and technology; recruit and train professionals, especially women, underrepresented minorities, and persons with disabilities, for careers in aerospace-related science and engineering, and develop a strong science mathematics, and technology education base from elementary through university levels.

Oregon NASA Space Grant maintains a diverse array of programs to support space science and engineering education. Connecting educators with professional development opportunities, Oregon Space Grant aims to help develop a strong science, mathematics, and technology education base at all levels while fostering communication and continuity between the K–12 community and higher education. Through various research award programs available to students and faculty, Oregon Space Grant supports STEM education and development within the higher education community. Undergraduate scholarships are available for students at affiliate campuses statewide. Participation in a wide array of internship programs administered by the Oregon Space Grant offers undergraduate and graduate level students opportunities to develop research skills while conducting hands-on projects at NASA centers nationwide. Additionally, graduate fellowships attract excellent students to aerospace-related research programs at affiliate institutions across Oregon.

Oregon Sea Grant

Shelby Walker, Director
Website: http://seagrant.oregonstate.edu/

Oregon Sea Grant’s mission is to be a catalyst that promotes discovery, understanding and resilience for Oregon coastal communities and ecosystems.

Funding for Sea Grant comes from federal and state appropriations, as well as contributions from local governments and industry. The major support is a grant from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Program activities are conducted in four thematic areas; ecological, social and economic aspects of coastal development, adaptation to acute or chronic coastal hazards, human and natural dimensions of coastal and marine fisheries, and cultural beliefs, learning and valuation of coastal and marine issues.

Oregon Sea Grant’s competitive research grants program addresses coastal and marine issues of high importance and of potential benefit to society. The program prioritizes socioeconomic and biophysical research that is predictive (rather than explanatory) and meaningful collaboration with industry, agencies, communities, and other stakeholders. In addition, Sea Grant partners with state natural resource agencies, not-for-profit organizations, field labs and others to support undergraduate and graduate students as Sea Grant Scholars and to provide scholars with hands-on experience with important marine and coastal problems.

The program is driven by an ethic of public service and uses various approaches to engage our constituents. Interactions with a wide range of coastal stakeholders are continuous. An advisory council of coastal community leaders provides external review and counsel to the program. The Sea Grant outreach and engagement program offers professional, technical, and public education to the general public, to professionals seeking training, and to school-age children through hands-on programs and print, digital and electronic media. Oregon Sea Grant manages the Visitor Center of the Hatfield Marine Science Center as a public science learning facility; our Free Choice learning program uses the Visitor Center as a laboratory for studying how people learn in such settings.

Multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary in operation, the program involves faculty and students in several Oregon institutions of higher education. Recent participants in the program include the University of Oregon, Oregon Health and Science University, Portland State University, Linfield College, and Western Oregon University. In addition, Oregon Sea Grant maintains close relationships with several research facilities on the Oregon coast, including the Hatfield Marine Science Center in Newport and the Oregon Institute of Marine Biology in Charleston.

Radiation Center

Steve Reese, Director
Website: http://radiationcenter.oregonstate.edu/

The Radiation Center is a campus-wide instructional and research facility specially designed to accommodate programs involving the use of radiation and radioactive materials. Located in the center are major items of specialized equipment and unique teaching and research facilities, including a TRIGA Mark II nuclear research reactor (licensed to operate at 1,100 kilowatts when running at a steady power level and at 2,500 megawatts in the pulsing mode); a cobalt-60 gamma irradiator; a number of gamma radiation spectrometers and associated germanium detectors; and a variety of instruments for radiation measurements and monitoring. Facilities for radiation work include teaching and research laboratories with up-to-date instrumentation and related equipment for performing neutron activation analysis and radiotracer studies; laboratories for plant experiments involving radioactivity; an instrument calibration facility for radiation protection instrumentation; and facilities for packaging radioactive materials for shipment to national and international destinations.

The Radiation Center staff is available to provide a wide variety of services including instruction and/or consultation associated with the feasibility, design, and execution of experiments using radiation and radioactive materials, and with safety evaluations relating to experiments or devices involving the use of radioisotopes or other radiation sources. In addition, the center provides direct support and assistance to teaching and research programs involving nuclear engineering, nuclear and radiation chemistry, radiation health physics, neutron activation analysis, neutron radiography, radiation effects on biological systems, radiation dosimetry, production of short-lived radioisotopes, radiation shielding, nuclear instrumentation, emergency response, transportation of radioactive materials, instrument calibration, and radioactive waste disposal.

The center’s laboratories and instruments are available to all campus instructional and research programs requiring such support. The center also accommodates instructional and nuclear research and development programs requested by other universities, by federal and state agencies, and by industrial organizations. In addition, a special neutron activation analysis service for forensic studies is available to law enforcement agencies.

Superfund Research Center

Robert Tanguay, Director
Email: robert.tanguay@oregonstate.edu
541-737-6514
Website: http://superfund.oregonstate.edu/

The Superfund Research Center oversees the NIEHS-funded Superfund Research Program grant at Oregon State University. This grant supports a multidisciplinary research effort to address the re-emerging health threat of polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs) in the environment. PAHs are considered a re-emerging threat to environmental health due to the increased burning of fossil fuels (e.g., coal and petroleum products) for energy production. The SRP grant supports five research... projects and six support cores at Oregon State University and Pacific Northwest National Laboratory in Richland, WA, in a range of efforts involving human exposure to PAHs. In addition, research partners are located at San Diego State University, the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation and Pennsylvania State University. These research projects focus on determining the effect of PAHs on a variety of adverse human health outcomes employing animal models such as zebrafish to detect developmental toxicities. An additional collaboration with Lawrence Livermore National Laboratories allows for following the fate of PAHs in humans as well as animals. Research efforts are also aimed at developing passive sampling devices to identify, measure and track PAHs in the atmosphere and foods to assess exposure of Native American populations to PAHs through wood smoke used in food preservation. Following the Deep Water Horizon oil spill, we were one of the first research groups to determine the levels of PAHs in the Gulf of Mexico at multiple sites over time. We partner with the U.S. EPA through the Partners in Technical Assistance Program to assist communities in dealing with concerns of environmental pollutants at Brownfields, Superfund sites or Conservation and Recovery Act sites. Support cores provide expertise in analytical chemistry, and in biostatistics and bioinformatics. The SRP grant also has programs aimed at translating research results to stakeholders and outreach to the public and in training the next generation of environmental health scientists.
HOW TO READ SCHEDULE OF CLASSES

Courses in the Schedule of Classes are arranged alphabetically and numerically by course designator or subject code. For example, ENG for English, MTH for mathematics.

Schedule of Classes Terms and Abbreviations

Avail = Remaining seats available

Baccalaureate / WIC Courses

All baccalaureate core classes in the Schedule of Classes have an asterisk "*" in the title. The course description also contains the note, "(Bacc Core Course)".
All writing intensive course classes (WIC) have a carat ^ in the title. The course description also contains the note, "(Writing Intensive Course)".

Campus

"Dx" = Ecampus - Distance Ed = An Ecampus course (Additional abbreviations may follow indicating a specific location or course level such as "LD" for lower division and "UD" for upper division)
"B" = Oregon State - Cascades = OSU Cascades Campus in Bend, Oregon
"C" = Oregon State - Corvallis = Corvallis Campus
"N" = Newport/HMSC = Hatfield Marine Science Center in Newport, Oregon
"L" = EOU = OSU courses taught at Eastern Oregon University in LaGrande, Oregon
"PDX" = Oregon State - Portland

Cap = Seating Capacity

Curr = Current Enrollment

Comments

Special instructions, textbooks required, etc.

Courses with Labs/Recitations/Studios

If a course lecture is "linked" to a noncredit lab or recitation or studio, you must register for all parts of the course. Web registration will not permit you to register for one part without the other. Likewise, you may not drop only one part of a "linked" course; if you do so, the other part will be dropped automatically. If you want to change one part of a multi-part course, you should drop the part and add a new part at the same time before processing your requested changes. Be sure to process the request after specifying the drop and the add.

Course Numbers

100/200 = Lower Division, Undergraduate 300/400 = Upper Division, Undergraduate 500 = Graduate, primarily Master's 600 = Graduate, primarily Doctoral 700 = Professional, DVM, PharmD
800 = In-service courses for practicing professionals

The unique Course Reference Number identifying each class.

Cr = Credit

All credits listed in the Schedule of Classes refer to quarter credits.

If a course is taught for variable credits, for example 1–16 credits, Web registration will prompt you to enter the correct number of credits for which you want to enroll. If you need to change that number later, you may do so via the Web.

Day/Time/Date

Days of the week and hours the class meets (see Meeting Time below), and start and end dates of classes.

End Date

Last day of classes before finals week.

Fees

A list of course fee codes, their description, and the fee amounts are listed in the catalog under Tuition, Fees and Payment at https://catalog.oregonstate.edu/fees-residency-requirements/ and in the Registration Information Handbook under Tuition and Fees. Additional information is in the Business Affairs website at http://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/tuition-and-fee-information.

Instructor

Name of instructor or staff.

Location

See the campus map at https://map.oregonstate.edu/ for building abbreviations and locations. Or see the campus map at the back of the Registration Information Handbook.

Meeting Time

Days of the week are abbreviated as follows:

M = Monday
T = Tuesday
W = Wednesday,
Th = Thursday
F = Friday
S = Saturday
TBA = To Be Announced

NSHD

No-show-drop will appear in the Comments column. A student who is registered for such a course who attends no meetings of the course during the first five school days of the term will be dropped from the course by the instructor, unless the student has obtained prior permission for absence. See Academic Regulation 9b at https://catalog.oregonstate.edu/regulations/.

P/N = Pass/No Credit

A class is graded A–F unless P/N appears, in which case Pass/No Credit grading applies.

All courses registered via the Web are given the A–F or P/N grade option as appropriate. Any change of the A–F option (to S/U) is done in-person at the Office of the Registrar after completing the Change of Grading Basis form (http://oregonstate.edu/registrar/forms). The deadline for these changes is the end of the 7th week of classes. See the Academic Calendar at http://registrar.oregonstate.edu/osu-academic-calendar.

Registration Restrictions

Prerequisites
Prerequisites provide the background necessary for successful performance in a course. Students may attempt a course without having prerequisites if they have obtained the consent of the instructor to do so. If the instructor's consent is not obtained, then students who have not fulfilled published prerequisites may be disenrolled from the course during the first week of classes.

Departmental Approval
Special approval is required for this course; the student requests an "override" from the department teaching the course, and then the student registers for the course.

+ indicates "only." For example, under class limitation +1 means only freshmen. – indicates "no." Under college limitation, –1,7 means no students from College of Agricultural Sciences or the College of Pharmacy may register.

AL=Alphabetic Sections (Alpha sections for WR 121)
WR 121 course sections have registration limitations determined by the first letter of the student’s last name. These are marked in the comments or restrictions column with the following codes:

- AL+AG = Students whose last names range from A to G may register that term.
- AL+HN = Students whose last names range from H to N may register that term.
- AL+OZ = Students whose last names range from O to Z may register that term.

CL=Class Standing.
The catalog system translates these codes into the following terminology:

- 1 = Freshman
- 2 = Sophomore
- 3 = Junior
- 4 = Senior
- 5 = Undergraduate nondegree
- 6 = Graduate nondegree

OSU SUMMER SESSION

4943 The Valley Library
Corvallis, OR 97331-4504
541-737-1470
800-375-9359
Email: summer.session@oregonstate.edu
Website: http://summer.oregonstate.edu

OSU Summer Session serves more than 7,000 students annually on the Corvallis campus and at the OSU Hatfield Marine Science Center on the Oregon coast. Attending summer term is an ideal way to expedite the journey to graduation. It allows students the ability to take classes that are difficult to get into during other terms, stay on track or jump ahead, and gives students the opportunity to improve their GPAs, perform research with faculty, and seek professional development or enrichment courses.

During the summer term, Oregon State offers more than 1,700 on-site and online courses in over 100 subjects, from agriculture to zoology. Courses range in length from one week to 11 weeks, with most courses running in three-, four- or eight-week sessions. Sequential courses (e.g., general chemistry, biology or Spanish) enable students to complete a full year's worth of a subject in one term.

OSU Summer Session courses are held to the same rigorous academic standards as courses offered during the rest of the school year. Among the benefits of enrolling in the summer term are the smaller class sizes and increased accessibility to instructors.

The full-time summer course load for undergraduates is 12 credits; for graduate students, it is 9 credits. Undergraduates may, however, take up to 19 credits, and graduate students up to 16 credits with advisor approval.

Nonresident students enjoy considerable tuition savings during summer term because all students pay in-state tuition (not eligible for OSU Ecampus, VetMed or PharmD classes or INTO students).

Summer classes are open to all students who meet course requirements. Students who have been academically suspended from the university are ineligible to enroll in Summer Session. For application details, call the OSU Office of Admissions at 800-291-4192.

The OSU Summer Session planning guide, available in December, is the primary summer publication and contains important information regarding summer admission, registration procedures and deadlines, the summer calendar, tuition and fees, financial aid and housing. For a free copy of the Planning Guide, stop by the Office of the Registrar in the Kerr Administration building or the OSU Summer Session office on the fourth floor of The Valley Library, or call 800-375-9359. For the most current information, go online to http://summer.oregonstate.edu.

Beginning in December, updated descriptions and schedule information for OSU Summer Session courses are available online at http://summer.oregonstate.edu. Please refer to this website often, as course availability and offerings are updated throughout the summer.
TUITION, FEES, AND PAYMENT

Tuition and Fees and Payment: 2018-2019

For a full listing of tuition and fees, please visit OSU Business Affairs at http://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/tuition-and-fee-information.

Advance Tuition Deposit: $200.00
New undergraduate students will be requested to submit a tuition deposit of $200.00 after being admitted to the university. This deposit is the indication of a student’s intent to enroll at OSU.

• Fall Term only: Payment for your Advance Tuition Deposit is required to participate in the START program, which allows students to register for fall term classes. After May 1, the deposit is nonrefundable. Note: Not applicable to Ecampus students.

Mandatory Enrollment Fees
Students paying mandatory enrollment fees are entitled to services maintained by OSU for the benefit of students. These services include the use of the library; use of laboratory equipment and materials; medical attention and advice at the Student Health Center; use of gymnasium equipment; the student newspaper; admission to some athletic events; admission to concerts and lectures; and registration. No reduction in fees is made to students who may not wish to use these privileges. Employees paying staff fees are entitled to instructional and library privileges only.

Matriculation Fee: $350.00
All new students (except non-degree seeking) are charged a one-time fee of $350.00 at the start of their first term at OSU. This fee provides access to a variety of OSU programs and services at no additional charge. Programs and services included in the fee include, but are not limited to, open house programs, START, CONNECT, pre-enrollment advising, course drop/add/withdrawal, and official transcripts.

Other Fees
Subject to change without notice.

Current Student Accounts Office Website
Go to http://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/studentbilling.

Nondegree Students
(This category is designed for students not planning to complete a degree at OSU.)

Nondegree students may only enroll in 8 or fewer credits and pay tuition/fees at resident rates based on undergraduate or graduate course level. To be eligible to use Student Health Services, you must also pay the student health fee.

If a nondegree student were to enroll in 9 or more credits they would pay tuition/fees based on the undergraduate or graduate tuition fee schedule determined by the student’s status.

For more information, call Student Accounts at 541-737-3775.

Fee Payment Obligation
Web registration presents you with a confirmed class schedule. When you finish registering, your schedule is official. This obligates you to pay all tuition and fees for your classes. If you wish to cancel this commitment and reduce or eliminate tuition charges for the term, you must officially cancel your registration or withdraw from the term. See the Tuition Reduction Schedule at http://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/tuition-and-fee-information/tuition-reduction-schedule.

Electronic billing statements are processed around the 5th of each month. Notification that your statement is ready will be sent to your ONID email address. It is very important that your ONID address is active and that you are checking it regularly. You may also select to have your ONID email forwarded to an alternate address. You may view your monthly billing statements by logging onto the eBill website at http://mybill.oregonstate.edu. See "eBill and eCheck" at http://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/ecommerce-osu/ebill-and-echeck.

You may pay your tuition and fees in the following ways:
OSU currently accepts eCheck, paper checks, money orders and cash as acceptable payment methods. Students can use MyOSU, http://myosu.oregonstate.edu/, (Paying for College, Financial Services, Pay My Bill), as a convenience option for making credit card payments. Please see the Cashiers website for more details regarding all acceptable payment methods.

Accounts are "due upon receipt" of the monthly statement, and any unpaid balance remaining after the 1st of each month is subject to an interest charge of 1 percent per month (12 percent APR).

Registration/Transcript Hold Policy
If you are enrolled for the current term, you will be allowed to register for the following term only if your account balance consists of charges only from recent academic terms—the current term and one term prior—and your overall account balance does not exceed $2,200.00. If you are not currently enrolled, you must have your account balance paid in full in order to register.
Requests for transcripts cannot be processed until your account balance is paid in full.

Drop/Withdraw Refunds

Students who drop or withdraw from a class, or withdraw from the term may be eligible for a tuition refund. Refunds are based on assessed tuition, course fees, and mandatory fees, and are calculated from the date you officially drop, withdraw, or cancel your registration or reduce your class load, not the last date of class attendance. Please see "Registration Cancellation/Withdrawal from the Term."

Refunds are processed as a credit on your account. A check will be issued to you if any credit balance remains after other charges and financial aid repayments have been satisfied. No refunds are authorized for persons paying staff rates. Allow about two weeks for processing a refund. Your refund will be sent to your current mailing address. Be sure to update your current mailing address online in MyOSU, https://myosu.oregonstate.edu/.

The Tuition/Fee Reduction Schedule below follows those policies as established by Oregon State University (there are no refunds given for persons paying staff rates):

How to Handle an Error in Billing

If there appears to be an error on your monthly statement, use the following guidelines:

Graduate Assistants: Errors may occur due to incorrect rate codes. Please notify your department.

Residents Billed Nonresident Rates: Pay the amount appropriate for a resident and then go to the Office of Admissions to confirm your residency status. You will be advised as to the next action to take.

Financial Aid Not Applied: If financial aid has not been applied you should verify approval of scholarships and grants at the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships, A218 Kerr Administration Building, 541-737-2241, financial.aid@oregonstate.edu.

Support Payments Not Applied: Verify approval for support billing at Business Affairs, B100 Kerr Administration Building, ThirdPartyBilling@oregonstate.edu.

Housing: Verify the billed amount with the University Housing and Dining Office, Oxford House, 957 SW Jefferson Ave., 541-737-4771.

Any Other Billing Amount Errors: Pay based upon the correct amount, then contact the Business Affairs, B100 Kerr Administration Building for assistance, 541-737-3775, Accounts.Receivevable@oregonstate.edu.

Special Fees

Application Fee for Admission (not refundable)

- Undergraduate — $65.00
- Graduate — $60.00
- Nondegree-Seeking Student — $30.00

Archiving Doctoral Thesis

All doctoral candidates pay a minimum fee of $25, $80 if paying for copyright (optional), for archiving of the doctoral dissertation. See the Thesis Guide at http://gradschool.oregonstate.edu/progress/thesis-guide.

Auditor’s Fee

Fee to audit a course is the same as regular fees in all classes.

Collection Fee — $5.00 to $60.00

If you are enrolled Fall term 2018 and do not enroll Winter term 2019 and you leave school owing the university money and collection proceedings are initiated, you may be assessed a service charge. For balances of $10 to $99.99, the fee is $5; for $100 to $499.99, the fee is $20; for $500 or more, the fee is $60.

Course Fees

Certain courses have additional fees. Refer to the Schedule of Classes (https://catalog.oregonstate.edu/course-search) for individual course fees.

Diploma Mailing Fee— $25.00 ($40.00 out of country)

Duplicate Diploma — $40.00 (Covers mailing)

Assessed to cover the cost of special printing order and handling.

Examination for Credit

- $80.00 per exam

Examination for Waiver

- $80.00 per exam

FAX Service

- $20.00 per request to fax documents

Individual Music Lesson Fee

Consult the Music office in the School of Arts and Communication.

Late Registration Change — $20.00 per course changed

There is no charge to change registration (add, drop, withdraw from a course, change credits, change grade option, or change to audit) by the stated deadlines. Each registration change after the stated deadlines will be charged a $20.00 late registration fee. This applies to any late add, late drop, late withdrawal from a course, late change in grading basis, or late change in course credit. If you initially register after the end of the second week of the term, you will be charged a $100.00 late registration fee, but the $20.00 fee is not charged when the $100.00 late registration fee is charged. For any registration change thereafter, however, you will be charged the $20.00 fee.

Late Registration Fees — $50.00 and $100.00

A late registration fee of $50.00 will be assessed for all initial registrations during the first two weeks of classes. For registrations approved after the first two weeks of classes (i.e., after the end of the late registration period) a late fee of $100.00 will be assessed.

Library Fines and Fees

- Overdue fine for OSU circulating books is $0.25 per day; Summit and Interlibrary Loan are $1.00 per day.
- Overdue fine for Reserve Book Room material and Equipment checkout:
  1. Hourly Reserves, $2.00 per hour.
  2. Daily Reserves, $2.00 per day.
  3. Hourly Equipment, $1 to $10 per hour.
  4. Daily Equipment, $1 per day.

Borrowers failing to return regular materials within 42 days of the due date, or equipment and reserves within 6 days of the due date are charged the replacement cost of equipment or a generalized replacement cost of $70 for books, $140 for Reserve and AV materials. When such items are returned before the replacement has been ordered, the replacement cost will be refunded, and the borrower is only charged the amount of the fine (not to exceed the replacement cost). When such items are returned after replacement items have been ordered, no refund will be made. A charge at cost, to be determined by the library, may be made for repair or replacement of damaged or mutilated library material. For further details, see http://osulibrary.oregonstate.edu/borrowing/fines.

PELP Fee (Undergraduate Planned Educational Leave Program) — $25.00

Non-refundable application fee allows an undergraduate student to maintain their official standing as a student at OSU and reserves the student’s right to keep their original academic catalog active during their absence.

Re-Admission Fee: Graduate — Domestic Students $75.00; International Students $85.00

Required after an absence of one term unless on an approved and recorded leave of absence. See "Registration Requirements" in the Graduate School section of the catalog.

Re-Admission Fee: Undergraduate — $25.00

Required after an absence of one year. See "Eligibility to Register" in the How to Register section for details.

Reinstatement Fee — $50.00

If a student is suspended and wishes to be reinstated, the student must pay the reinstatement fee to return to the university.

Returned Check Fee — $25.00

If a check is returned because of any irregularity for which the student is responsible, a fine of $25.00 will be charged.

Senior Citizen Fee — for special materials only

Persons 65 or older may attend class on a noncredit, space-available basis.

Service Fee for International Programs

A $275.00 per term administrative management fee will be charged for international students supported under contractual arrangement with sponsoring agencies or entities requiring special administrative or management services beyond those normally provided. This program and finance fee will be assessed for these international student programs that are administered and managed by the International Student and Faculty Services office.

Special Examination Fee

See examination for credit/waiver in the list above.

Staff Fee (except staff auditors) — 30 percent of resident undergraduate tuition

Staff members or their dependents may register for courses at 30 percent of the per credit resident undergraduate tuition rate. Academic, professional, and classified employees whose appointment is equivalent to 0.50 or more, may take up to 12 credits a term at this rate. Payment of the staff fee entitles the staff members to instructional and library privileges only. The fee is non-refundable. The applicable course fees and resources fees are charged at 100 percent, and family members are subject to other mandatory enrollment fees. Eligibility for the staff rate must be approved by the Office of Human Resources (http://hr.oregonstate.edu).

If you are intending to enroll for course work at another state university in Oregon, you must submit the staff fee privileges approval form to OSU-HR two days prior to the first day of classes.

If you are transferring the staff fee privilege to your dependent, and they are intending to enroll for course work at another state university in Oregon, you must submit the staff fee privileges approval form to OSU-HR (http://hr.oregonstate.edu/benefits/stafffee) two weeks prior to the first day of classes.

Staff fees are nonrefundable.

Stop Payment Fee — $15.00

Fee assessed when the payee of an OSU check requests a stop payment order.

Student ID Card Services Fee — $25.00

Charged to all new and readmitted students their first term after admission or readmission. Ecampus students are not charged this fee unless they request an ID card (ID.Center@oregonstate.edu) or attend an on-campus class.

Student/employee Replacement ID Card Fee — $30.00

Transcripts — $10.00 or no fee, depending on delivery method

Official electronic transcripts or E-transcripts (PDF) are $10.00. Official paper transcripts and unofficial transcripts are free. Instructions on how to order transcripts are available at http://registrar.oregonstate.edu/transcripts. Please note that all obligations to OSU must be cleared before transcript orders can be processed.

Verification of Enrollment Fee — $15.00 per verification

See Certification of Enrollment or Degree "You can do it on the Web" for other options.

FINANCIAL AID

Scholarships, Student Loans, and Grants

Eligible students who have accepted scholarships, student loans and grant awards will have those funds applied automatically to their student billing account. You can monitor your financial aid eligibility and billing account through MyOSU.

If financial aid amounts exceed the amount of qualifying tuition/fees expenses owed, a refund will be generated if the surplus exceeds $1.00. Distribution of the refund can be made by direct deposit or check. Please note that federal financial aid cannot be posted toward the balance of the matriculation fee, accrued interest, printing charges, parking or library fines or student health service charges.

- If you would like direct deposit of your financial aid refund, complete the Direct Deposit form found through Online Services or Student Finance website (http://fa.oregonstate.edu/business-affairs/student-finance).
- If you would like your refund as a check, your current mailing address must be up to date for all check processing. You can do this through MyOSU (https://myosu.oregonstate.edu).

For full details, visit the Business Affairs Office Website. Click on Current Student.

Beginning the third week of the term, students eligible for refunds due to financial aid or scholarship disbursements may request a refund at the Cashier’s Office or through email at refund@oregonstate.edu.

Emergency Loans

Emergency loans, not to exceed $350.00 per term, are available to students in good financial standing, attending at least half time, and formally admitted to the university. Loans are to be repaid by the last day of the current term. Loan amounts become part of the revolving account balance and carry interest at 1 percent per month (12 percent APR). The Cashier’s Office reviews the applications and issues payment if approved. Application forms are available at the Cashier’s Office in the Kerr Administration Building. Be sure to have your OSU ID and a second photo ID to present with the application.

Ecampus students can email cashiers.office@oregonstate.edu to request the application. They will be asked to scan the completed form and email it back to the Cashier’s Office with accompanying identification.

Payment of Student Fees

Payment of Nonresident Instruction Fee (580-10-080)

1. All students classified as nonresidents shall pay a nonresident fee.
2. Refunds of the nonresident fee may be granted if the student shows that the classification previously assigned was in error. However, no such refund shall be made unless the student applies and submits all supporting information for residency status prior to the last day to register for the term in which the student seeks the change of status.

Enrollment of Spouse and Dependent Children (580-010-086)

The spouse and dependent children of regular department staff members with a full-time equivalent of at least .50 may enroll as students at resident fee rates in department institutions.

In-State Tuition for Veterans

The following individuals shall be charged the in-state rate, or otherwise considered a resident, for tuition and fees purposes:

- A Veteran using educational assistance under either chapter 30 (Montgomery G.I. Bill - Active Duty Program) or chapter 33 (Post-9/11 G.I. Bill), of title 38, United States Code, who lives in the State of Oregon while attending a school located in the State of Oregon (regardless of his/her formal State of residence) and enrolls in the school within three years of discharge or release from a period of active duty service of 90 days or more.
- Anyone using transferred Post-911 G.I. Bill benefits (38 U.S.C. § 3319) who lives in the State of Oregon while attending a school located in the State of Oregon (regardless of his/her formal State of residence) and enrolls in the school within three years of the transferor’s discharge or release from a period of active duty service of 90 days or more.
- Anyone using benefits under the Marine Gunnery Sergeant John David Fry Scholarship (38 U.S.C. § 3311(b)(9)) who lives in the State of Oregon while attending a school located in the State of Oregon (regardless of his/her formal State of residence) and enrolls in the school within three years of the Service member’s death in the line of duty following a period of active duty service of 90 days or more.
- Anyone described above while he or she remains continuously enrolled (other than during regularly scheduled breaks between courses, semesters, or terms) at the same school. The person so described must have enrolled in the school prior to the expiration of the three-year period following discharge, release, or death described above and must be using educational benefits under either chapter 30 or chapter 33, of title 38, United States Code.
RESIDENCY REQUIREMENTS

Residency: OSU Admissions Website

For further details about residency, please visit the OSU Admissions website (http://admissions.oregonstate.edu/residency) or email Residency@oregonstate.edu.

Appendix I: Residency Standards: A–G

A. Definitions

For the purpose of these Residency Standards the following definitions apply:

1. "Domicile" is a person’s true, fixed, and permanent home and place of habitation. It is the place where a person intends to remain and to which the person expects to return when the person leaves without intending to establish a new domicile elsewhere. In order to establish a domicile in Oregon, a person must maintain a predominant physical presence in Oregon for 12 consecutive months after moving to the state.

2. A "financially independent person" is a person who, at the time of application for residency status: (a) declares himself or herself to be financially independent; (b) has not been claimed as a dependent during the immediately preceding tax year; and will not be claimed as a dependent during the current tax year, on the federal or state income tax returns of any other person; and (c) has not received in the immediately preceding calendar year, and will not receive during the current calendar year, one-half or more of his or her support, in cash or in kind, from another person or persons, except for support received from his or her spouse.

3. A "financially dependent person" is a person who, at the time of application for residency status: (a) declares himself or herself to be financially dependent; and (b) has been claimed as a dependent on the federal and state income tax returns of another person during the immediately preceding tax year.

4. "University" or "Universities" are Oregon public universities listed in ORS 352.002.

5. "Residency Procedure" is the procedure attached as Appendix II to the Interinstitutional Residency Compact, including any subsequent amendments as described in that document.

B. Determination of Residence

1. For purposes of admission and instruction fee assessment, Universities who apply these Residency Standards shall classify a student as Oregon resident or nonresident. In determining resident or nonresident classification, the primary issue is a person’s intent in coming to Oregon. Intent is inferred from a person’s conduct and history as they relate to the requirements of these Residency Standards. If a person is in Oregon primarily for the purpose of obtaining an education, that person will be considered a nonresident. It is possible for an individual to qualify as a resident of Oregon for purposes of voting or obtaining an Oregon driver’s license and not meet the residency requirements established by these Residency Standards.

2. An Oregon resident is a financially independent person who, prior to the term for which Oregon resident classification is requested, has both: (a) established and maintained a domicile in Oregon for 12 consecutive months; and (b) during that period, has been primarily engaged in activities other than those of being a college student.

3. A student may be considered primarily engaged in educational activities regardless of the number of hours for which the student is enrolled. However, a student who is enrolled for more than 8 hours in any semester or quarter during the 12-month period referred to in section B.2 of these Standards shall be presumed to be in Oregon for primarily educational purposes. Such period of enrollment shall not be counted toward the establishment of a bona fide domicile of 12 consecutive months in this state unless the student proves, in fact, establishment of a bona fide domicile in this state primarily for purposes other than educational.

4. An Oregon resident is also a financially dependent person who is claimed as a dependent by another person who has both: (a) established and maintained an Oregon domicile for 12 consecutive months; and (b) during that period, has been primarily engaged in activities other than those of being a college student.

5. A financially dependent person who is claimed as a dependent by another person who has established and maintained an Oregon domicile shall be presumed to be a nonresident. This presumption may be overcome by evidence of the student’s long-standing presence in Oregon and demonstration of other factors under Section C of these Standards.

6. The criteria for determining Oregon resident classification shall also be used to determine whether a person who has moved from Oregon has established a non-Oregon residence.

7. If institution records show that the residence of a student or the person upon whom the student is dependent is outside of Oregon, the student shall continue to be classified as a nonresident until entitlement to resident classification is shown. The burden of showing that the residence classification should be changed is on the student requesting the change.

8. Notwithstanding section B.4 of these Standards, a student who is financially dependent on a non-Oregon resident may nonetheless be considered an Oregon resident if the student resides in Oregon for at least 12 consecutive months with a parent or legal guardian who has both: (a) established and maintained an Oregon domicile for 12 consecutive months; and (b) during that period, has been primarily engaged in activities other than those of being a college student.

1 Oregon law establishes two exemptions from non-resident tuition. ORS 351.641 provides an exemption for students who are not US citizens or lawful permanent residents, but who meet certain other qualifications, including attendance at an Oregon school and receiving a high school diploma or equivalent in Oregon. ORS 352.375 provides an exemption for qualified veterans of the U. S. Armed Forces. Students who qualify for either of these exemptions are not considered Oregon residents under these Residency Standards. However, they are exempt from paying non-resident tuition. Questions about these exemptions and the process for establishing eligibility should be directed to the appropriate official at each university.

C. Residency Consideration Factors

1. The following factors, although not necessarily conclusive or exclusive, have probable value in support of a claim for Oregon resident classification:

   a. Reside in Oregon for 12 consecutive months prior to the beginning of the term for which resident classification is sought and during that period be primarily engaged in activities other than those of a college student;
Residency Requirements

b. Reliance upon Oregon resources for financial support;
c. Domicile in Oregon of persons legally responsible for the student;
d. Acceptance of an offer of permanent employment in Oregon; and
e. Ownership by the person of his or her living quarters in Oregon.

2. The following factors, standing alone, do not constitute sufficient evidence to effect classification as an Oregon resident:
   a. Voting or registration to vote;
   b. Employment in any position normally filled by a student;
   c. The lease of living quarters;
   d. Admission to a licensed practicing profession in Oregon;
   e. Automobile registration;
   f. Public records, for example, birth and marriage records, Oregon driver’s license;
   g. Continuous presence in Oregon during periods when not enrolled in school;
   h. Ownership of property in Oregon or the payment of Oregon income or other Oregon taxes; or
   i. Domicile in Oregon of the student’s spouse.

3. Reliance upon non-Oregon resources for financial support is an inference of residency in another state.

D. Evidence of Financial Dependency
In determining whether a student is financially dependent, a student must provide:

   a. Evidence of established domicile of the person claiming the student as a dependent; and
   b. Identification of the student as a dependent on the federal and state income tax returns of the person claiming the student as a dependent. Additional documentation to substantiate dependency during the current calendar year may be required at a later time if deemed necessary by the institution.
   c. A student who provides evidence that he or she is a financially dependent person under these rules shall not be required to establish a 12-month domicile prior to classification of resident status, provided such a student may not be classified as a resident while receiving financial assistance from another state or state agency for educational purposes.

E. Residence Classification of Armed Forces Personnel
1. For purposes of these Standards, members of the armed forces means officers and enlisted personnel of:
   a. The Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard of the United States;
   b. Reserve components of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard of the United States;
   c. The National Guard of the United States and the Oregon National Guard.

2. Notwithstanding Section B, active members of the armed forces and their spouses and dependent children shall be considered residents for purposes of an institution’s tuition and mandatory enrollment fees if the members:
   a. Reside in this state while assigned to duty at any base, station, shore establishment, or other facility in this state;
   b. Reside in this state while serving as members of the crew of a ship that has an Oregon port of shore establishment as its home port or permanent station; or
   c. Reside in another state or a foreign country and file Oregon state income taxes no later than 12 months before leaving active duty.

3. An Oregon resident entering the armed forces retains Oregon residence classification until it is voluntarily relinquished.

4. An Oregon resident who has been in the armed forces and assigned on duty outside of Oregon, including a person who establishes residency under section E.2.c of these Standards, must, within a reasonable time, demonstrate intent to retain classification as an Oregon resident. Such intent may be shown by returning to Oregon within six months after completing service in the armed forces.

5. A person who continues to reside in Oregon after separation from the armed forces may count the time spent in the state while in the armed forces to support a claim for classification as an Oregon resident.

6. The dependent child and spouse of a person who is a resident under Section E.2 of these Standards shall be considered an Oregon resident. “Dependent child” includes any child of a member of the armed forces who:
   a. Is under 18 years of age and not married, otherwise emancipated or self-supporting; or
   b. Is under 23 years of age, unmarried, enrolled in a full-time course of study in an institution of higher learning, and dependent on the member for over one-half of his/her support.

F. Residence Classification of Members of Oregon Tribes
1. Students who are enrolled members of federally recognized tribes of Oregon or who are enrolled members of a Native American tribe which had traditional and customary tribal boundaries that included parts of the state of Oregon or which had ceded or reserved lands within the state of Oregon shall be assessed resident tuition regardless of their state of residence.

2. For purposes of these Standards, the federally recognized tribes of Oregon are:
   a. Burns Paiute Tribe;
   b. Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw;
   c. Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde Community of Oregon;
   d. Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians of Oregon;
   e. Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation;
   f. Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Indian Reservation;
   g. Coquille Indian Tribe;
   h. Cow Creek Band of Umpqua Indians;
   i. Klamath Tribes.

3. For purposes of this rule these Standards, the Native American tribes which had traditional and customary tribal boundaries that included parts of the state of Oregon or which had ceded or reserved lands within the state of Oregon are:
   a. CALIFORNIA:
      1. Benton Paiute Tribe;
      2. Big Bend Rancheria;
      3. Big Lagoon Rancheria;
      4. Blue Lake Rancheria;
      5. Bridgeport Indian Colony;
      6. Cedarville Rancheria;
      7. Fort Bidwell Indian Tribe;
      8. Hoopa Valley Tribe;
Appendix II: Residency Procedure: A–C

A. Definitions
Definitions in the Residency Standards shall also apply to this Residency Procedure.

B. Changes in Residence Classification
1. Unless otherwise specified in the Residency Standards, if an Oregon resident student enrolls in an institution outside of Oregon and later seeks to enroll in a University that applies these Residency Standards, the residence classification of that student shall be re-examined and determined on the same basis as for any other person.

2. A student who becomes eligible for resident tuition during a term of enrollment at a University will not qualify for resident tuition until the beginning of the next term.

3. Once established, classification as a resident continues so long as the student remains in continuous academic year enrollment in the classifying University.

4. A person who seeks eligibility for resident tuition under these rules shall complete and submit a notarized Residence Information Affidavit. The affidavit and all required supportive documents and materials must be submitted by the last day to register for the term in which resident status is sought.

5. Universities that apply this Residency Procedure are only bound by determinations of residency that follow this Procedure, including timely submittal of the notarized affidavit.

C. Review of Residence Classification Decisions
1. An inter-institutional residency committee (IRC) is established consisting of the officers who determine student residence classification at each University that applies this Residency Procedure. The chair of the committee shall rotate among the Universities with no chair serving more than two consecutive years. A majority of the members of the Committee shall constitute a quorum. A majority of a quorum may make recommendations.

2. Residence cases of unusual complexity, especially where there may be conflict of rules, may be referred by the originating classification officer to the IRC for its recommendation to the registrar or designee.

3. Any person who is aggrieved by the originating classification officer's classification decision may, within ten days of the date of mailing or other service of the classification decision, request that the IRC review the classification and make recommendations to the registrar or designee of the originating university. The appeal must be in writing and shall be filed with the originating University. An aggrieved person may supply written statements to the IRC for consideration in reviewing the case and may also make an oral presentation to the IRC on a date to be scheduled by the IRC. The IRC shall make a recommendation to the registrar or designee of the originating University. That registrar or designee shall then issue a decision. The decision of the registrar or designee shall be final unless appealed.

4. A person dissatisfied with the decision of the registrar or designee may, within ten days of the date of the mailing or other service of the decision, appeal the decision to the president or designee of the originating University. An appeal shall be in writing only. The decision of the president or designee shall be final.

5. A person granted a meritorious hardship exception to residency under the Oregon Administrative Rules regarding residency prior to July 1, 1990, shall not lose the exception solely because of the repeal of the exception authorization.

With the complementary mission of learning, discovery and engagement, Oregon State University is a powerful force for moving the country forward in the 21st century. OSU’s Outreach and Engagement enhances access to enrichment and problem solving through reciprocal relationships for the exchange of knowledge and resources in partnership with individuals, communities, businesses, industries, government and educational institutions.

Outreach and Engagement is an essential component of a contemporary land-grant university. It builds upon historic traditions in serving the state’s residents in innovative ways through a statewide presence in local communities and a worldwide presence through courses and programs. Engagement will increasingly be defined by learner and student involvement in community issues as a part of their academic experience and by working relationships among stakeholders.

The OSU Extension Service has a presence in 36 Oregon counties and delivers programs in agriculture and natural resources, family and community health, forestry and natural resources, Sea Grant and 4-H youth development. Our expertise and programming in these areas have a direct impact on Oregon’s economy and the lives of Oregonians.

OSU Open Campus is a collaborative, community-based approach to meeting emerging educational issues and needs.

OSU Extension’s Outdoor School program provides logistical support, curricular resources, program evaluation, equity and inclusion support, and professional development opportunities in addition to funding for local districts’ Outdoor School costs through state-appropriated Oregon Lottery funds.

Oregon State University’s Extension Service engages the people of Oregon with research-based knowledge and education that strengthen communities and economies, sustain natural resources, and promote healthy families and individuals. It carries out this mission by extending the research and knowledge bases of the university to people who need the information and provides leadership in applying this knowledge to the current and emerging issues and needs identified by Oregonians and their communities.

Anyone may participate in Extension offerings. Thousands of Oregon citizens volunteer to assist in Extension programs by leading and teaching groups, responding to questions, and providing educational information. OSU students support their communities, gain practical experience and learn through Extension placements, applying academic learning to address local community needs.

Extension educational programs are developed in response to the needs of people in Oregon. Needs are identified by OSU Extension faculty, who are located throughout the state. Off-campus faculty, who work with people to assess their needs, partner with members of Extension’s on-campus faculty to prepare and deliver useful educational programs. About two-thirds of OSU’s Extension faculty and staff are located in offices off campus. Financial support is from county, state, and federal governments, grants, and other sources.

There are five major Extension education program areas:

Agriculture and Natural Resources
Extension’s Agriculture and Natural Resources program provides education and technical assistance for people with agricultural interests. The major program emphasis is on food, feed, energy, fiber, seed, and ornamental production and management of animal and plant production systems. Programs include farm/ranch business management, marketing, value-added processing, natural resource use and conservation, community horticulture, human and environmental health, and bioethics. Audiences include urban and rural residents and businesses, government agencies and communities with wide-ranging interests in conservation, production, and community development.

Family and Community Health
Extension’s Family and Community Health program helps Oregonians improve their health, family, and community through education and community partnerships. Major programming extends knowledge related to public health, nutrition, exercise science, human development, family financial management, and aging to address important needs in Oregon’s communities.

Forestry and Natural Resources
Extension’s Forestry and Natural Resources program improves Oregonians’ knowledge of forestry and natural resources and their options for enhancing benefits from these resources. This educational program assists forest owners, managers, processors, users, and students in understanding the importance of both production and environmental benefits from Oregon’s forests. Priority subjects include reforestation, forest management, silviculture, forest health, wildland fire, intergenerational land transfer, harvesting and processing wood, protection of soil and water, wildlife habitat, and related natural resources use, management, and protection.

Sea Grant Program
Extension’s Sea Grant program provides education, training, and technical assistance to people with coastal-related needs and interests. Major efforts are concentrated in the areas of fisheries and wildlife, watersheds and other natural resource management, marine engineering, food science and technology, economics, business, resource management, education, and recreation. The program is primarily supported by the OSU Sea Grant Program and the OSU Extension Service.

4-H Youth Development

4-H helps young people learn and grow through an intentional process that builds competence, confidence, connection, compassion and character. Young people participate in 4-H through clubs, afterschool programs, camps, and school enrichment activities. These youth are supported by trained volunteers who work under the direction of local 4-H professionals located in all 36 counties. As the only nationwide youth development program with direct ties to the land grant university system, 4-H is uniquely positioned to ensure that its programs are based on what is known about how young people develop and learn.

OSU Open Campus, a community-based education partnership convened by Oregon State University, provides local access to learning to address the unique educational needs of Oregon’s communities. Through a statewide network of Open Campus education coordinators, working in partnership with community colleges, regional economic development groups, the K-12 education systems, business community and local government, the university is delivering education to underserved and place-bound Oregonians. This program builds on the foundation of the OSU Extension Service (http://extension.oregonstate.edu), providing an expanded way to access the university's resources. Open Campus compliments offerings available through Ecampus (http://ecampus.oregonstate.edu) and Professional and Continuing Education (https://pace.oregonstate.edu), making learning from Oregon State possible almost anywhere.

Students and faculty who have an interest in working with communities around the state can contact us for more information. Read the Open Campus Blog (http://opencampus.oregonstate.edu/programs/blog) to learn more about participating communities across the state.

The OSU Professional and Continuing Education unit provides continuing education and training for professionals, organizations, associations and K-12 students throughout the state and beyond.

PACE works with colleges, businesses and professional associations to develop new on-site and online educational offerings in formats that include workshops, webinars, short courses, conferences and certificate programs. Services for businesses and government agencies include fully customized workforce training (https://pace.oregonstate.edu/corporate-team-training-customized-your-organization) on a wide array of topics ranging from leadership and human resources to IT and much more.

Our list of renowned online and online offerings attracts learners from across Oregon and the nation, as well as around the globe. Featured course categories include:

- Innovative Gardening and Permaculture Design Courses (https://pace.oregonstate.edu/catalog/gardening)
- Business and IT Professional Certificates (https://pace.oregonstate.edu/catalog/business-entrepreneurship-and-leadership)
- Farm and Agriculture Management Courses (https://pace.oregonstate.edu/catalog/business-entrepreneurship-and-leadership)
- As part of PACE’s proud affiliation with OSU Extension, we offer a variety of flexible management and development solutions that support Oregon’s thriving farm and ranch industries.
- Our notable industry-specific partnerships include a series of online workshops for pharmacists (https://pace.oregonstate.edu/catalog/pharmacy) developed in partnership with OSU College of Pharmacy. These offerings include an innovative, first-in-the-nation online training to prepare pharmacists in Oregon to prescribe hormonal contraceptives. A number of other states are following Oregon’s lead in this area and are looking to our training as a national model.

Services for Learners, Faculty/Colleges and Partner Agencies (https://pace.oregonstate.edu/services)

PACE works with works with OSU colleges, businesses and government agencies on instructional design and program development for specific audiences, as well as enrollment management, customer relationship management, event management and marketing. PACE also provides assistance with grant writing and often partners with colleges or departments to provide an outreach vehicle for research in the form of an online continuing education program.

General Information: 541-737-9424

OSU's Precollege Programs offers a variety of on- and off-campus academic programs designed to enhance learning and introduce youth to the college community. During the summer months and throughout the academic year, K–12 students participate in programs that range from several hours to several weeks. Our Precollege Programs provide compelling experiences and stimulating learning environments for a diverse group of students.

TAG PROGRAMS
Specifically designed academic and social experiences for gifted, talented, and high-ability youth.

Adventures in Learning
Combines stimulating academic and social opportunities in a fun-filled 10-day experience exposing participants to exciting and sophisticated areas of interest not usually available during the regular school year. The program is designed for gifted, talented and high-ability learners who have completed grades 5 or 6 and who are interested in fast-paced, challenging opportunities.

Expeditions
Provides gifted, talented, and high-ability youth who have completed grades 3 or 4 a two-week, half-day educational experience with courses taught by experts in a variety of topics. Students are introduced to engaging, intriguing subjects in an enjoyable and nurturing environment.

Outside the Box
Enables gifted, talented, and high-ability youth who have completed grades 7 or 8 to pursue topics of interest through a unique combination of in-depth, challenging academic explorations and social interaction with intellectual peers. Program participants can anticipate excitement, discovery, and challenge in the program's offerings which are designed specifically to address their interests and abilities.

Winter Wonderings
Offers a variety of challenging Saturday courses designed specifically for gifted, talented, and high-ability 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th graders. Participants discover new and exciting areas of study in a fast-paced learning environment with their social and intellectual peers.

CAMPUS FIELD TRIPS PROGRAM
The Office of Precollege Programs hosts middle and high school visits to Oregon State University during the school year. Teachers and group leaders are encouraged to plan visits to explore careers, experience OSU, or enhance current curriculum. Register to request a visit using the Precollege website at http://precollege.oregonstate.edu.

STEM ACADEMY@OSU
STEM Academy@OSU offers educational enrichment opportunities that provide youth a direct connection to the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math) fields. Programs include after-school girls’ science and engineering clubs, summer day camps, workshops, and outreach programs. Classes are small, hands-on, informal, project-oriented, and open to all interested students. Tuition costs vary, depending on the program or activity.

For more information, contact catherine.law@oregonstate.edu or STEM.academy@oregonstate.edu Website: http://stemacademy.oregonstate.edu/

SUMMER EXPERIENCE IN SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING FOR YOUTH (SESEY)
SESEY is primarily for high school girls and ethnic minorities traditionally under-represented in science and engineering, and for science, math, or physics teachers who are interested in developing curricular materials to promote engineering activities in their classrooms.

Students come to the OSU campus for a one-week residential summer camp and are paired with a faculty mentor in engineering for a mini-research project in areas such as microscale technologies, plastics recycling, drug formulation and delivery, bioprocessing, microelectronics, and environmental engineering. There are also group learning activities (computer instruction, communication skills, field trips) and social activities. Students are exposed to science and engineering as viable and interesting career paths. Career counseling is provided by faculty mentors and OSU graduate and undergraduate students who work with the students throughout the week as research project advisors and friends. Students live in OSU housing, so they receive a complete college experience. For more information, contact Skip Rochefort, skip.rochefort@oregonstate.edu.

Science and Math Investigative Learning Experiences (SMILE) Program
SueAnn Bottoms, Director
sueann.bottoms@oregonstate.edu
541-737-8262
18 Gladys Valley Center
Website: http://smile.oregonstate.edu/

OSU's SMILE (Science and Math Investigative Learning Experiences) Program collaborates with 15 school districts and charter school partners in Oregon to increase the number of historically underrepresented minority, low-income, and other educationally underserved students who graduate from high school prepared to go on to college and pursue careers in math, science, engineering, health professions, and teaching. More than 700 students and 60 teachers in 38 schools across the state participated in SMILE last year. The program functions as a pipeline that takes students from 4th to 12th grade and on to postsecondary education in STEM programs and careers.

SMILE provides a comprehensive program of science and math enrichment and college readiness through weekly after-school clubs, field trips, on-campus college-connection challenge activities, a bridge-to-college summer program for SMILE graduates entering OSU, and professional development for classroom teachers serving as SMILE Club advisors.
ADDITIONAL YOUTH PROGRAMS

OREGON 4-H

Offers a variety of educational opportunities for youth ages 5-19. The program is part of the OSU Extension Service and is active in all Oregon counties. 4-H is based on a positive youth development (PYD) approach that recognizes all youth have interests, abilities, and strengths that can be enhanced by participation in 4-H programs. Research shows that participating in high quality 4-H programs increases thriving in youth, and thriving youth achieve important developmental outcomes, such as academic motivation and achievement. Opportunities abound for leadership development, community service, and learning about topics as diverse as natural sciences, foods and nutrition, animal science, STEM and more! All 4-H educational activities are designed to help participants develop lifelong skills through project based learning that will prepare them for future success. To learn more about local opportunities, contact the OSU Extension office in your county or call the State 4-H Office at 541-737-4444 (HHHH).

BUG ZOO

The Oregon State University Bug Zoo is a student group interested in educating its members, other students and the public about the joys and importance of insects, other arthropods and reptiles and amphibians. Bug Zoo educates through live displays and hands-on activities. For more information, contact Jessica Green, 541-737-9038, email: jessica.green@oregonstate.edu (sujaya@oregonstate.edu). Website: https://entomology.oregonstate.edu/entomology-program/outreach-0

DISCOVERY DAYS

Discovery Days is an outreach program involving many of the science departments at OSU as well as departments and schools from the College of Agricultural Sciences and the College of Engineering. This two-day event, held in both the fall and spring terms, features displays and hands-on activities from different departments that are suitable for all ages. For more information, contact Margie Haak, 541-737-6716, email: margie.haak@oregonstate.edu. Website: https://www.science.oregonstate.edu/node/36.

EDUCATION/K–12 OUTREACH/ CHEMISTRY OUTREACH

The Department of Chemistry has an active program to bring chemistry to the local community. Through the Outreach Committee, opportunities are available to tour labs, do hands-on experiments, and have chemistry faculty and students to bring chemistry to schools. For more information, contact Margie Haak, 541-737-6716, email: margie.haak@oregonstate.edu. Website: http://chemistry.oregonstate.edu/content/service-profession-outreach-community

HEALTHY YOUTH PROGRAM AT THE LINUS PAULING INSTITUTE

The Healthy Youth Program provides educational programs with hands-on activities to children (preschool–grade 12) highlighting the importance of healthful eating and physical activity. Our vegetable gardens provide fresh produce for all our programs, and link a healthy and active lifestyle with a sustainable environment. Contact: Caitlyn Reilley, Program Coordinator, Healthy Youth Program, Linus Pauling Institute, 307 Linus Pauling Science Center, Corvallis OR 97331. Email: caitlyn.reilley@oregonstate.edu (casey.bennett@oregonstate.edu); 541-737-8014. Website: http://lpi.oregonstate.edu/healthyouth

SUMMER DAY CAMPS

Chefs in the Garden: Ages 6–8 years. Children learn how to grow their own food, explore new recipes and fun ways to eat healthful foods, cook and eat lunch together in the garden, and learn how a healthy environment is part of a healthy lifestyle. They also get involved in environmental science activities, arts & crafts, and plenty of physical activities.

Junior Master Chefs: Ages 8–11 years. Children harvest fresh produce from the Pauling Pride Garden and engage all their senses as they explore and prepare a variety of recipes. They learn about kitchen safety, are exposed to various culinary techniques, eat lunch together, and engage in physical activity games outdoors.

Master Chefs: Grades 6th–8th. Youth explore and prepare recipes from around the world and end the week with a cooking competition. They harvest fresh produce from the nearby Pauling Pride Garden. Youth develop teambuilding skills, learn about kitchen safety, experiment with new foods, and learn various culinary techniques.

CLASSES DURING THE SCHOOL YEAR

Fresh Grown Cooking for Kids: Ages 6–11 years. Youth learn basic nutrition, cooking, and kitchen safety skills and engage all their senses as they explore nutritious recipes and prepare meals together. They work together in small groups to prepare two to three recipes at each class. Recipes incorporate seasonal produce, often harvested from the nearby Spartan Garden.

Master Chefs: Grades 6th–8th. Middle school students explore and prepare recipes from different parts of the world. In the last class of the session, students participate in a cooking competition with a judging panel. Participants develop teambuilding skills, learn about kitchen safety, and experiment with new foods and various culinary techniques.

Afterschool Garden Clubs: Grades K–12. Garden clubs are offered at Lincoln Elementary School, Linus Pauling Middle School, and Corvallis High School.

Healthy Sprouts: Preschool children with their parent. Preschool children and their parents listen to stories, engage in fun educational games, learn about the world around them, and get involved with arts & crafts and physical activity games to prepare them for kindergarten. During each class the children, together with their parents, prepare and enjoy a healthy and nutritious snack.

INNER CITY YOUTH INSTITUTE (ICYI)

ICYI is a collaborative partnership among the OSU College of Public Health and Human Sciences, the US Forest Service and Pacific Northwest Research Station. The program encourages urban youth to explore careers in natural resources, attain higher education in natural resource careers and understand the interrelationships between the use of natural resources, the people who use them and the land that sustains their community. For more information, visit http://extension.oregonstate.edu/washington/4h/icyi or contact Stacey Sowders, Program 4-H ICYI
OREGON WOOD MAGIC™
Oregon Wood Magic™ is a 2 hour 45 minute interactive experience designed to educate elementary school teachers and their students about the wonders of wood as a material. For more information, visit http://woodscience.oregonstate.edu/oregon-wood-magic or call Michelle Maller, 541-737-4259, Wood Magic Coordinator, michelle.maller@oregonstate.edu.

OSU SUMMER VETERINARY EXPERIENCE
The OSU Summer Veterinary Experience is a hands-on learning experience for academically talented high school students interested in veterinary medicine. Scholarships are available for students from low-income backgrounds, first-generation college students, and students with ethnic or cultural backgrounds underrepresented in the veterinary field. Mentors will work with each student to discover and explore her or his talents and understanding the basic sciences, animal and human health, and social sciences. For more information, visit http://vetmed.oregonstate.edu/osu-summer-veterinary-experience or contact Tess Collins, 541-737-6985, tess.collins@oregonstate.edu.

PET DAY AND OPEN HOUSE
Pet Day and Open House provides outreach and information about veterinary science, and careers in veterinary science and animal care. It is open to the general public the first Saturday in May at Magruder Hall on campus. For more information, contact Lyn Smith-Gloria, lyn.smith-gloria@oregonstate.edu, 541-737-3844.
